Curbing War Correspondents

U.S. EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea, Jan. 9—(AP)—This U.N. command announced today war correspondents violating censorship regulations will be subject to expulsion or trial by court martial. The announcement said such action would be taken in extreme cases "where investigation proves that the circumstances warrant." The Eighth Army's announcement was accompanied by a list of specific regulations by which censorship in Korea now will operate. Some of the points were covered in previous directives. Correspondents "may be subject to disciplinary action because of intentional violation of these and other regulations, either in letter or in spirit," the announcement added.

It said also that a correspondent "will be suspended from all privileges for the distortion of his dispatches in the office of the publication which he represents."

The Eighth Army said also it would suspend correspondents "for the use of words or expressions conveying a hidden meaning which would tend to mislead or deceive the censors."

The newly-formed press security division will scrutinize for security all news stories originating in Korea, the announcement said. The division will notify a correspondent of any security breach so that he may change his story or hold it until security no longer is involved.

All news stories must be submitted in English. If another language is used, an English translation must be presented also.

However, field correspondents not using the English language may submit their copy to the censors at MacArthur's headquarters in Tokyo.

The censor is required to make no changes in copy except deletions.

The release points out that "correspondents in the time of war accompanying the armies of the United States, both within and without the territorial jurisdiction of the United States, although not in military service, are subject to military law and are under control of the commander of the army force they accompany."

Truman Says Must Tax US 'Till It Hurts' For Defence

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9—(AP)—President Truman said today the United States must be taxed "until it hurts" to arm the free world against the menace of Communist aggression. Treasury Secretary John Snyder, it was learned, believes that despite widespread recommendations for "pay-as-you-go" financing, taxation steep enough to pay out of hand for the huge rearmament effort would rip the American economic fabric.

Any hope that sizeable new Federal deficits could be avoided by increased taxes appeared to be fading as members of the new Congress sized up probable outlay and came to a tentative conclusion that the government will need somewhere in the region of $75,000,000,000 in the coming fiscal year. That is $25,000,000,000 more than the record $50,000,000,000 collections of this year.

The President gave his warning that "it is necessary to tax until it hurts" in a conciliatory letter to Senator Harry Byrd (Dem. Va.), with whom Truman has often clashed. The Senator made the letter public today.

National Sales Tax?

The letter immediately aroused talk of a possible national retail sales tax, or other forms of taxation on all or most of U.S. commerce.

It was learned that Snyder told the armed forces: "Industrial College" here in a recent talk:

"We must recognize that it is impossible in fact to cover all the expenditures of a full-scale military effort through taxation of current incomes . . . in a system

2 Nuns Perish In Quebec Fire

ST. JANVIER, Que., Jan. 9—(CP).—Fire early today took the lives of two Nuns and destroyed a two-storey building here operated as a school by the Sisters of the Sacred Heart. Six other Nuns in the building escaped.

The dead:

Sister Rachel de Jesus, 19, born May Lucie Labelle, and Sister Annette Sauveur, 20, born May Gaetane Gauthier.

The two youthful Sisters died of asphyxiation.

Firemen at the scene reported the two Nuns were overcome during one of several trips they made into the burning school to save holy articles.

St. Janvier is a small centre on the main Montreal-to-the-Laurentians highway about 24 miles northwest of Montreal.

Doctors from nearby St. Jerome and St. Janvier attempted to revive Sisters Rachel and Annette by artificial respiration.

It was believed that an explosion in the coal furnace which heated the two-storey building caused the blaze.

Gen. Eisenhower Inspects Hdqts. At Fontainebleau

FONTAINEBLEAU, France, Jan. 9 — (AP). — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, military commander of the Atlantic Pact countries, arrived here today to inspect the headquarters of the five-power Brussels Pact Defence Alliance.

After meeting President Vincent Auriol in Paris early in the morning, Eisenhower made an unannounced stop in Versailles to inspect his Second World War headquarters in the Hotel Trianon.

Both Versailles and Fontainebleau have been mentioned as possible sites for the general's headquarters as leader of the 12-power army.

At Fontainebleau Ike received a half-hour briefing on air defence in Western Europe in a conference with Air Chief Marshal Sir James M. Robb, commander-in-chief of the Brussels Group's Air Section. Then he went for a tour of the headquarters and to lunch at the officers' mess.

Also present at the meeting with Robb were Lt.-Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, Eisenhower's Chief of Staff, and French Admiral Robert Jaujard, Brussels Pact Chief of Naval Defences.

Eisenhower was to return to Orly Field, Paris, to enplane for Brussels, second stop on his tour of the Atlantic Pact powers which will supply his arm.

He plans to go also to the Netherlands, Denmark, Norway, Britain, Portugal, Italy, West Germany, and Luxembourg, before returning to Paris. Then he flies home by way of Ireland and Canada to complete the circuit.

The General spent Monday talking to military leaders of France, one of the 12 Atlantic Pact countries which are building an international defence wall against possible aggression by Russia. An authorized source said "all the problems of defending Europe" were discussed.

Police Seize Red Propaganda

MONTREAL, Jan. 9—(CP)—Sixteen thousand Communist books, leaflets and circulars have been seized by Quebec Provincial and Montreal police in a series of raids aimed at smashing the Labor-Progressive party's propaganda centre here.

The raids were carried out by swiftly-moving squads of the two forces in three different places, including the headquarters of the L.P.P.

Acting Provincial Police director Hilaire Beauregard, disclosing results of the raids today, said police had uncovered evidence that local Communists were working in close touch with the Reds of Russia, Czechoslovakia, Bulgaria, France, England, the United States and several countries behind the Iron Curtain.

Reaume Wins Mayoralty By 16 Votes

Thos. Brophey Returns To Law School Doesn't Plan Appeal

WINDSOR, Jan. 9—(CP)—Mayor Arthur J. Reaume returned today to the mayor's chair after eight days out of office, winner by a sparse 16 votes in a recount which reversed the original decision in Windsor's Dec. 6 Mayoralty election. The colorful 44-year-old Mayor, undefeated in that office since 1940, was sworn in Monday on the heels of a recount verdict that ended the brief term of Thomas R. Brophey.

Mr. Brophey, 43-year-old law student and former newspaper reporter who took office Jan. 1 on the strength of a declared 38-vote margin, is back at Osgoode Hall law school in Toronto. He left here by train Monday night to be on hand for opening of classes today.

Mayor Reaume made only a brief statement as he was sworn in. The recount result, he said, "quite clearly speaks for itself."

Four days of recounting by County Judge Joseph A. Legris and two deputies—Supreme Court Registrar Col. Charles Sale and Windsor lawyer Charles Donaldson—whittled down Mr. Brophey's narrow lead. Discovery of incorrect counting and wrong decisions on ballot markings changed the picture to an even narrower lead for Mayor Reaume.

The final decision: Reaume 16,552; Brophey 16,536.

No Appeal

There can be no appeal to the recount decision, and no one has announced he will take the sole remaining move to seek to change the decision—a motion to gain a new election.

"I guess I've done all I can for the citizens of Windsor," Mr. Brophey said. "The recount doesn't improve the situation. It doesn't end the uncertainty."

He added, however: "I don't think the onus is on me more than on any other citizen to ask for a new election."

Any move to seek a new mayoralty election must be made before Feb. 8—one month after Mayor Reaume took office. It can be made either to a county judge or to an Ontario Supreme Court judge.

The three judges in making their decision turned down arguments by counsel for Brophey that they refuse to certify their recount because of alleged faults in the election and recount.

Mr. Brophey and Mr. Reaume did not speak to each other following the announcement of the recount verdict. The same absence of congratulations prevailed on election night when Mr. Brophey was declared winner after a bitterly-fought election campaign.

Private Feud Cripples Council

WHITBY, Jan. 9 — (CP) — A private feud is leaving Whitby's town council short-handed.

At its inaugural meeting Monday the town council directed its clerk to write J. J. McLaren and ask him if he intends to take the seat he retained in the recent election.

Mr. McLaren issued a statement last weekend saying he felt he could not sit on the same council with Russell J. Underwood. Both were members of the council last year and had several heated arguments.

Mayor William Elliott in his inaugural address Monday asked the council members to forget their personal differences while acting for the people of Whitby.

Writer Max Werner Dies In New York

NEW YORK, Jan. 9—(CP)—Max Werner, 49, military affairs writer, died of a heart attack here Monday.

Werner, whose columns were published in newspapers across the United States, came to the United States in 1940 after serving as a newspaper editor in Mannheim, Germany.

Werner was born a Kharkov in the Soviet Ukraine.

MR. JUSTICE ALBERT SEVIGNY of Quebec ruled today that Albert Guay is not entitled to a stay of execution. Guay was earlier convicted in the time-bombing of an airliner.

Refuse Appeal In Execution Of Albert Guay

QUEBEC, Jan. 9 (CP) — Mr. Justice Albert Sevigny of Quebec Superior Court today ruled J. Albert Guay, convicted mastermind behind the time-bombing of an airliner, is not entitled to a stay of execution, scheduled to take place Friday at Montreal's Bordeaux jail.

The high court's decision ended with the order that the 33-year-old jewelry salesman "must be executed Jan. 12, 1951" for murdering his wife Rita, one of the 23 persons killed when the airliner in which they were passengers exploded in mid air and crashed at Sault Au Cochon, Sept. 9, 1949.

Guay's counsel later announced an appeal for clemency will be made.

The plea for clemency now is the only recourse left open to counsel for Guay.

The chief judge's decision said that "neither the request (for a stay of execution) nor the means invoked by the petitioner showed that during the trial of Genereux Ruest new facts were brought out to change the situation in which Guay found himself during his trial."

Mr. Justice Sevigny said that counsel for Guay did not show that in the forthcoming murder trial of Mrs. Arthur Pitre, sister of Ruest and alleged accomplice, would change any facts in Guay's case. She is due to face trial Feb. 20.

Finally, the court said, the power of staying an execution does not apply for the reasons invoked by the defence.

Warn Americans Leave Hong Kong

HONG KONG, Jan. 9 (AP) — The United States consulate general said today it would warn all Americans in this British crown colony Wednesday to evacuate their dependents because of "deterioration of the situation in the Far East."

Consul General Walter P. McConaughy told correspondents at a special press conference that the warning is "more or less precautionary" and that no actual emergency is seen in the offing.

A Hong Kong government spokesman said no similar action was contemplated by British authorities.

The crown colony borders on Red China.

The circular urged that Americans "seriously consider the advisability of evacuating dependents and effects at this time, while normal transportation facilities are freely available."

Teachers' Dispute Hearing January 22

SUDBURY, Jan. 9 (CP). —Date for the hearing of a wages dispute between 62 Sudbury secondary school teachers and the Sudbury High School Board has been set for Jan. 22, Judge J. M. Cooper, chairman of the three-man board of reference investigating the dispute, said today.

At the same time, G. M. Miller, announced his resignation as counsel for the school board, because of pressure of other business. An alternative counsel has not yet been appointed.

The teachers will be represented by A. W. S. Greer, of Oshawa.

The hearing will be held in camera here, in conformity to the Teachers' Board of Reference Act under which the board is set up.

Have Plan To Defend Middle East

Prime Ministers Draft Rough Blueprint In Case War Comes

LONDON, Jan. —(Reuters) —A rough blueprint for defence of the Middle East by Australia, New Zealand and South African forces in the event of war has taken shape from Commonwealth meetings here, it was learned today.

It is known that some Commonwealth countries would like to see Canada also playing a part, but this was not pressed because it is appreciated that as the only Dominion to be an Atlantic Pact member Canada already has commitments in Europe.

The plan provides for the quick disposition of Commonwealth troops and air forces in the Middle East and Eastern Mediterranean in an emergency.

It was discussed in detail during the weekend by the statesmen of Britain, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa and Southern Rhodesia, here for the Commonwealth Prime Ministers' Conference. India, Ceylon and Pakistan did not attend the two meetings at which Middle East defence was discussed.

Britain for some time has been stressing to the Commonwealth countries the urgency for preparing such a plan in view of her own heavy commitments in the Far East and in Europe.

Atlantic Pact defence planners at present see the Eastern Mediterranean and Middle East as one of their three potential defence zones. The others are Scandinavia and Western Europe.

Greece and Turkey—both associate members of the Atlantic Pact—would be included in the Middle East zone.

Bus Workers Decide To Drop Strike Plan

WINDSOR, Jan. 9—(CP)—A no-strike decision, made by employees of the Sandwich, Windsor and Amherstburg Railway, was announced early today by Division 616, Street Railwaymen's Union (AFL).

The vote to remain at work, made by secret ballot which ended with the last shift of drivers after midnight, also meant acceptance of a company contract offer.

The vote was 248 against striking and 185 for a strike. Bus drivers, garage mechanics and office workers were involved.

Terms of the offer were not disclosed. Union officers said the company's terms were closed to an 18-cent package offer turned down by the union Dec. 15. That offer included a 12½-cent hourly wage increase, cost-of-living adjustment, and company health and security payments.

Negotiations began last August and when company and union representatives failed to agree on a new contract to replace one expiring Oct. 31, a conciliation board was requested.

The board's majority report was handed down last week. It suggested settlement at terms lower than the company's 18-cent offer. The offer accepted Monday was made following the report.

'Quake Rocks Japan

TOKYO, Jan. 9 — (Reuters) Tokyo and Yokohama rocked this morning for 40 seconds in the most severe earthquake in this region since the war. The quake cut water and power in Yokohama but police stated there was no damage in the capital.

Send Canadians To Spot Red Guerrillas

PUSAN, Korea, Jan. 9 (CP).—A compact, heavily-armed force returned to the encampment of the 2nd Battalion of the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry last night, completing the Canucks' first operational assignment within the battalion.

The group, under Maj. Gordon Henderson of Calgary, made a 48-hour road reconnaissance for the battalion commander, Lt.-Col. J. M. Stone of Salmon Arm, B. C.

Col. Stone had ordered a check on all roads within a certain radius of his area, some reported guerrilla-ridden. The most incredulous person encountered was a United States military policeman.

Spotting the still unfamiliar tactical signs on the Canadian vehicles and the Patricias' shoulder flashes, he shouted: "Hey, do you guys speak English?"

Not a Rout

Col. Stone called a battalion parade on his return to spike rumors based on recent developments on the United Nations front, more than 100 miles north of here.

"There should be no idea there is any rout of United Nations forces in Korea," said Col. Stone. "There has been a planned withdrawal to a pre-established delaying line."

"It's all a part of a plan. No one in Korea knows what that plan is. It's secret. But there's a plan and in due course we'll get our job. Meanwhile we've been given a small one now. We have to find out which guerrillas are within reach of us and deal with them.

"You'll get blooded a little earlier than you thought."

Of developments at the front, the battalion commander said:

"There are so much politics mixed up in the job of the United Nations forces in Korea that neither you nor I can do any criticizing. Just take it that our leaders are trying to fight the war with the least number of casualties, hoping politicians will straighten out the mess elsewhere.

"Always remember that Australian, British and United States soldiers are as good soldiers as you. When told to stand they'll stand the same as you will. They don't get up and run. They withdraw because they're ordered to."

Include Red China

LONDON, Jan. 9 (CP) — The Commonwealth prime ministers agreed today that Communist China should be among countries represented in talks on a peace treaty with Japan. In a brief communique issued tonight, the prime ministers said they believe it would be possible to give recognition to Communist China for such a special purpose. Britain, India and Pakistan among the Commonwealth countries, recognize Communist China while the other Commonwealth members—along with the United States—do not.

Escape Way Kept Open For UN Army

Chinese Reported Building Up For Massive Attack

TOKYO, Jan. 9—(AP)—Allied troops fought desperately today to slow the Communist tide rolling toward the heart of South Korea and menacing the U.S. Eighth Army's retreat route to the old Pusan beachhead.

Two United Nations battalions attacked a Red Korean force two miles south of battle-wrecked Wonju, road hub abandoned Monday to the Reds.

An Allied regiment counter-attacked strong Communist forces six miles southwest of Wonju.

Allied artillery slammed shells into the Reds and fighter bombers roared down in close support.

Field dipatches said the fighting still was raging shortly before midnight Tuesday.

The counter-attack six miles southwest of Wonju was in the area where the Reds gained a half mile Monday and Allied forces later recovered most of the ground.

Action on the western front south of abandoned Osan was limited to patrols.

Building Up Army

But army intelligence reported the Chinese were building up a massive attacking force around Osan. At least two Chinese armies—possibly 80,000 or more troops—were spotted in the area.

The Eighthy Army continued its retreat to the southeast. Vanguards of the fast moving Red forces pressed close on the heels of rearguard troops.

Two patrol fights flared 13 and 14 miles southeast of Osan. These attacks put the Reds only 50 road miles—less by air—from the Kum River where the U.S. 24th division began its tragic defence of Taejon last July.

The Korean Communists, bulwarked now by hundreds of thousands of Chinese who entered the war when the Allies almost

Final Appeal Made To Peiping

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Jan. 9 (AP).—The United Nations prepared today to make one final appeal to the Chinese Communists for peace in Korea before taking up a United States demand to brand the Peiping regime an aggressor.

The delay, urged by Britain's Sir Gladwyn Jebb, will postpone action on the American proposal for at least ten days or two weeks. Jebb conceded the new peace efforts had little chance of success.

The head of Britain's delegation to the U.N. added, in a speech Monday to the 60-nation political committee, that "the present situation in which the government of Peiping is openly flouting the authority of the United Nations" cannot go on for long.

It was clear today that, if Peiping spurns the new offer, almost all countries outside the Russian bloc will swing into line to support American demands for some action against the Chinese Reds.

Add Further Insult, Sword Gone Too

Scotland Yard Men Going Grey As Second Historical Item Vanishes

LONDON, Jan. 9 — (CP). — Scotland Yard, hot on the search for the stolen Stone of Scone, was told that Britannia's sword is also missing today.

The four-foot bronze sward was attached to a girdle round the figure of Britannia seated at the base of a statue of Scotsman Lord Clyde, the Indian Mutiny hero.

It was reported missing Monday night by the Ministry of Works, but was probably stolen some time last Saturday night or early Sunday morning. The statue is in Waterloo Place, right off Pall Mall, in the heart of London.

Scotland Yard detectives, still mystified by the disappearance of the Coronation Stone from Westminster Abbey Christmas Day, were switched to the new theft.

Detectives, scratching their heads, asked this question: "Who took it?"

Could it have been supporters of the Cardiff soccer team to demonstrate their support of Welsh Home Rule? London was filled to overflowing Saturday night with soccer fans who took in the football association matches.

(One theory about the Coronation Stone theft was that Scottish Nationalists hoisted it from the Abbey. The Stone was originally taken from Scotland by England's Edward I in the 13th century.)

Soccer Fans

Could it have been the Carlisle followers to show they backed their Scottish neighbors? Carlisle is right on the border of Scotland. Its supporters were in a gay mood Saturday after the team pulled one of the season's biggest upsets by holding London's champion Arsenal club to a scoreless draw.

Frankly, Scotland Yard didn't know. It sent its men to railway stations and all night cafes in the hope of finding someone who saw someone brandishing something like a four-foot bronze sword sometime Saturday or sometime Sunday morning.

The Lord Clyde statue shows the soldier with his sword sheathed. At his foot Britannia sits on a lion. The sword was in a metal container on her skirt.

Lord Clyde was born Colin Campbell in Glasgow in 1792. He was raised to the peerage in 1858 for his services as general commanding the British forces during the Indian Mutiny. He also commanded a brigade during the Crimean War.

US Senate Votes On Sending Army To Europe

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9 (AP)—A Senate vote on sending United States troops to Europe appeared likely today to produce the first test in Congress of President Truman's program to centre free world defences there.

Senator Kenneth Wherry, of Nebraska, Republican floor leader, promised to seek action soon on a resolution barring the assignment of additional United States ground forces to Europe until Congress fixes an over-all policy.

This issue is at the heart of the swelling foreign policy debate which has taken on added vigor in the wake of severe military reverses in Korea.

Reduced to its essence, the debate is over whether the United States should concentrate its defences against Communist aggression within its own shores or should give extensive aid as well to friendly countries in Western Europe and elsewhere.

Truman said nothing about sending more troops abroad in his personally delivered State of the Union message to the new Congress Monday.

Heart Of Effort

But he described the North Atlantic community as "the heart of our defence effort" and left no doubt that he has no intention of turning back from the course of helping friendly powers to rearm.

The president also pledged that avenues of negotiation would be kept open in the hope of reaching a peaceful settlement with Russia, but he declared that "we will fight, if fight we must."

Truman promised weapons and equipment not only to North Atlantic Treaty partners but to countries in the Near East and the Far East "which are trying to defend their freedom."

Throughout a 30-minute address which was interrupted by applause 15 times, the president pounded away at the theme that the security of free countries lies in banding together and building military strength to the point where "Soviet rulers may face the facts and lay aside their plans to take over the world."

Sabotage Witness Absent Without Leave

TORONTO, Jan. 9 (CP). — Army central command headquarters reported today that Staff Sgt. M. H. Reif, principal witness into an inquiry into suspected sabotage of army vehicles here, has been reported absent without leave since Friday.

Capt. A. L. Ferguson, army public relations officer, said a description of the missing man was given both city police and RCMP when Reif did not show up at a closed army inquiry into the incidents.

The inquiry was to have started Friday, but was postponed awaiting a report from the Fire Marshal's department. Reif, who was on duty at the University Avenue Armories the night the fires broke out, was to have testified at the hearing.

Earlier, at a public hearing conducted by the Fire Marshal, Reif testified he discovered two fires in the armories on New Year's Day. He said one was in the battery charging room and the other in a pile of rubbish at the opposite end of the building.

had it won, were retracing their route of summer conquest into South Korea.

The Communists walked into abandoned Osan Monday. Osan is 28 miles south of Seoul.

Communist forces rushed Tuesday into the Osan area massing for the continuing pursuit of the fleeing Eighth Army. The Reds moved artillery southward across the Han river at Seoul.

An Eighth Army spokesman said one force estimated at 10,000 troops was spotted near Osan.

Allied pilots said Communist troops were clogging the roads south of Seoul and in the Wonju area 55 miles southeast. One airman said:

"I've never seen so many people on the roads up there. They are all moving south."

Orders To Shoot

The airmen were ordered to shoot up all groups behind Communist lines, whether in or out of uniform, except for obvious family groups or children.

AP correspondent Stan Swinton reported from Fifth Air Force headquarters that the order was provoked by the Reds' persistent use of civilian clothing to camouflage their troops.

Thousands of Chinese and Korean Red soldiers clad in white civilian clothing have infiltrated refugee columns passing into allied hands.

Pilots spotted 4,000 Reds changing Monday from uniform to peasant clothing.

A Red patrol attacked two allied companies early Tuesday 13 miles southeast of Osan. Red mortar fire showered another U.N. company 14 miles southeast of Osan. Allied forces drove off the Red patrol.

Low clouds, rain and snow Tuesday hampered air attacks and observation of Communist troop movements.

Regain Territory.

In central Korea, the Eighth Army said, an allied counter-attack supported by artillery and fighter-bombers regained nearly all of a half-mile lost Monday to the Communists.

The fight flared seven miles southwest of fallen Wonju. A Communist battalion hit one allied regiment there.

Allied forces gave up Wonju after a two-day battle north of that rail and road centre. Wonju was a key target in the Communist push down Korea's central spine.

From Wonju the Reds seek to spread southward along a web of roads and cut in behind the Eighth Army retreating along "Heartbreak Highway." This is the road from Seoul to Pusan down which Allied forces made a bloody retreat last summer.

MacArthur's Tuesday afternoon war summary said the Red Korean army was vigorously conscripting men throughout Communist-controlled territory.

"Villages both above and below (Parallel) 38 continue to be raided by armed bands in search of manpower," the summary said. It added that all males between 17 and 45 years are pulled out of refugee columns; no distinction is made between North and South Koreans.

"Some refugees have stated that any male in the required age bracket who hesitates to serve is killed outright," the report said. It added that most conscripts were assigned to North Korean units for training in the field.

This implied that raw conscripts were being thrown directly into front-line action.

of free business enterprise such as ours, there is no alternative in war financing other than a combination of taxation and borrowing."

Upon releasing Truman's letter Byrd told reporters:

"I feel certain that, if the budget is balanced, Congress not only must cut all non-essential government spending and increase the existing sources of revenue, but also must enter new fields of taxation—probably such as a retail sales or transactions tax."

Byrd did not advocate any specific tax plan.

Truman mentioned no specific figure, but some members of Congress are guessing that he will ask for about $10,000,000,000 more in new taxes.

Report Talks With Germans Quite Friendly

BONN, Germany, Jan. 9 (AP)—The western allies and the West German government opened negotiations today on the question of German rearmament. A senior allied official said the first session, three hours long, was "friendly and useful."

They will meet again a week from today.

Twelve representatives of Britain, the United States, France and Western Germany participated in the conference, held in the Petersberg, a hotel perched 1,000 feet above the Rhine. The big question to which they are trying to find the answer is:

Will Western Germans take up arms again to join in the common defence of Western Europe against Russian aggression?

Take Part In Talks

On the allies side are Maj. Gen. George B. Hayes (U.S.), Gen. Jean Ganeval (France), and Maj. Gen. L. Wansbrough-Jones (Britain). They face German generals Hans Speidel, once Field Marshal Rommel's chief of staff, and Adolf Heusinger, one of the brains behind the German campaign against Russia.

Three high-ranking civilians also are taking part in the closed sessions — John Ward, British deputy high commissioner; Armand Berard, deputy French high commissioner, and Theodor Blank, West German chancellor Konrad Adenhauer's adviser on security.

The men must report back to their respective chiefs, who will carry out the bargaining on what West Germany is prepared to do and what political concessions the western allies will make in return for military aid.

Report Killer In California

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Jan. 9 (AP)—The Federal Bureau of Investigation reported today that "a man believed to be (Badman Bill) Cook" attempted to pick up a sailor in Chula Vista near here, at 2 a.m.

Cook is widely hunted in the southwestern United States and northern Mexico for killing possibly eight persons.

The FBI broadcast its information to police departments. It said the suspect was driving a green 1950 Ford sedan, believed to be travelling north toward San Francisco.

Meanwhile, men believed to be the desperado have been sighted in five states as police traced down every possible clue for the Missouri ex-convict.

However, the FBI here is frankly at a loss to explain how he has returned from Mexico, since border stations are being closely watched.

Says Canada Needed To Help Supply Food

LONDON, Ont., Jan. 9 (CP)—Much of the responsibility for feeding the sharply-increasing population of the world rests with Canada and Australia, Rt. Hon. F. M. Forde, Australian High Commissioner to Canada, said today.

These two big Agricultural producers of the Commonwealth are the holders of vast areas of some of the less developed agricultural regions on the globe, he said in a speech prepared for delivery at the annual convention of the Dairymen's Association of Western Ontario.

They must develop these regions and must increase production of agricultural products to help feed a world population increasing at the rate of 20,000,000 a year.

Mother Thrown In Smith Crash

As she twisted suddenly to protect her two small children from injury in a truck crash on Monday afternoon, Mrs. Ernest Mahood, RR 1, Lakefield, was thrown against the dashboard and sustained facial cuts.

Her injuries included a badly-bruised nose, cuts on the face, and a cut right knee. She was treated by Dr. Lloyd Bailey of Lakefield and then taken home.

Mrs. Mahood was riding in the cab of a three-quarter-ton truck with her husband, who was driving, and her two daughters — Flora 3 and Donna 2. The truck was going north on the Buckhorn Road and had just crossed the 8th Line of Smith when it hit a slippery section of the road and skidded off the road to the right.

Cedars Snapped

It crashed into a row of cedars, snapped three of them off, and stopped when it became wedged between the trees and a wire fence.

When Mrs. Mahood saw that a crash was inevitable she twisted her body to protect the two frightened girls and was herself thrown against the dashboard. Neither Mr. Mahood nor the two girls were injured.

Damage to the truck amounts to $250. Provincial Constable Peter McIntyre investigated.

Two Trucks Sideswiped

Two trucks received a total of $250 damage Monday when they were in a sideswipe collision while both going north on Highway 28, a mile north of Young's Point.

Robert Freeburn, Young's Point was driving the leading pick-up truck and was about to make a left turn when the second pick-up, driven by James Albert Mace, of Burleigh Falls, tried to pass him. The result was a sideswipe collision that did an estimated $125 damage to both vehicles.

Nobody was injured. Provincial Constable A. C. Russell investigated.

2 Drunk Drivers Get 7 Days

Two men were found guilty of drunk driving and sentenced to seven days in jail by Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, in police court today.

George Mack, Havelock, was found guilty when his lawyer, W. J. Arthur Fair, KC, entered no defence but moved for dismissal on the ground that neither of the two officers who gave evidence against Mack said what year the offence was supposed to have taken place.

Magistrate W. R. Philp KC said shortly he would accept no such grounds for dismissal and there was a short sharp exchange between the two in which Mr. Fair said the magistrate was angry and the magistrate denied it. Magistrate Philp said Mr. Fair could appeal the decision if he wanted to.

Before any evidence was heard, Mack said, when asked to plead, "I don't remember getting into the car and I don't remember driving it."

Weaving Approach

Provincial Constable Donald W. Erskine testified Dec. 16 he was following behind Havelock's Constable Ray M. Bell on highway 7 east of Havelock. He said he saw Mack approach "at a fast rate of speed" driving from one shoulder of the road to the other and nearly hit Constable Bell's car containing several small children.

Constable Erskine turned around, picked up Constable Bell, and chased after Mack. Mack was driving about 50 miles an hour and weaving from side to side on the road and the police car was unable to draw abreast until Mack stopped in the outskirts of Havelock.

Constable Erskine and Constable Bell both said Mack was very intoxicated. He could hardly stand without assistance. In the back of the cruiser where he was slumped on the way to the police station in Havelock, he talked continuously, but it didn't make sense.

Constable Bell said Mack was driving with one headlight. As they were chasing him, Mack met three more cars and forced them all on to the shoulder of the highway.

Lakefield Man

Raymond G. Dunford, Lakefield, pleaded guilty to drunk driving on Strickland St. in Lakefield, the night of Dec. 6.

Chief Constable Garnet Samis testified he found Dunford's car in the street with the front damaged. He traced its tire marks back to where a telephone pole had been broken off. Marks indicated Dunford's car had driven off the road through a shallow, six-feet wide ditch and along the sidewalk 63 feet until the car had hit the pole.

In another 40 feet it returned to the road and continued another 120 before stopping. Chief Samis said he arrested Dunford in a service station about 200 yards away.

He said Dunford was very drunk and in a stupified condition. He said Dunford could hardly stand.

Prices Climb Steadily On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO, Jan. 9 — (CP)—Prices climbed steadily as the session progressed on the Toronto stock exchange today.

Golds continued yesterday's strong advance and the industrial and base metal index again reached new peaks since they first compiled in 1934. It was the sixth straight day base metals have topped their highest mark. Western oils were well ahead.

Steels paced industrials with a solid array of advances. Papers, utilities, agricultures, constructions, refining oils, textiles and retail stores followed close behind with a large majority of gains in the groupings.

Golds climbed over a broad front. Giant Yellowknife, Hollinger, Lake Shore, Kerr Addison and Dome headed the seniors with gains up to 50 cents. Junior producers added up to 25 cents.

In base metals Consolidated Smelters, United Keno Hill, Noranda, Hudson Bay, Quemont and Steep Rock were leading issues higher.

Western oils added up to 50 cents.

Coalition Rumors Denied In Britain

LONDON, Jan. 9 (Reuters). — Press speculation that a coalition government would be formed in Britain in the immediate future was officially denied Monday.

Reports that Prime Minister Attlee is to visit Paris next week were also officially denied. Attlee had not even been approached to make such a visit, a government spokesman said.

Sect Decides Business 'Fore Doomsday

KEREMEOS, B.C., Jan. 9 (CP) —Mrs. Grace Carlson Monday night outlined the future—and earthly—plans for her "children of light."

Some of her followers thought the dawn of this day would bring the end of the world but Mrs. Carlson spoke of business, not of doom.

The grey-haired, 50-year-old woman said it had been decided to incorporate assets of the group under the Societies Act. "This," she added, "will protect all of us."

When do her 34 followers plan to leave the cottage where they have spent the last 15 days after disposing of their worldly goods?

"We had hoped to be out before now," said Mrs. Carlson, "but interference has hindered the purpose of our coming."

When do the "children of light" expect to receive the "message from God," of which their leader spoke Sunday?

"We are always receiving messages from God," Mrs. Carlson answered. "We have just come apact to study the Bible in the light God has given us.

Meet Unmolested

"We have been molested in public meetings and private homes by such as firecrackers and stones. This house seemed a wonderful place to come over Christmas week when school was out and children could be with us."

The Keremeos school board met Monday night to discuss possible action regarding young members of the sect who did not return to school after the yuletide holiday. There are 11 young people in the home.

Sect members spent the night in prayer, chanting at a candlelit table. On the table were a piece of bread and a modernistic carved stone, said to represent two angels.

It was on Mrs. Carlson's earlier prediction that "January 9 will be the doomsday" that the religious extremists moved into the cottage, on the outskirts of 150 miles east of Vancouver.

Falls Into Well Has Narrow Escape

BROCKVILLE, Jan. 9 (CP) — Arch Miller, manager of Brockville's nearly-completed Memorial Centre Arena, narrowly escaped death in the St. Lawrence river here Monday when he fell into the boathouse well at Alfred (Torchy) MacDonald's cottage.

Stepping backward into the well while working at the cottage, Miller sank quickly when his heavy winter clothing became water-soaked and was trapped in the muddy ooze on the bottom. MacDonald reached down into the water and grabbed Miller's coat, pulling him free of the mud.

After treatment for exposure and shock, Mr. Miller was reported none the worse for his harrowing experience.

River Backs Up

MONTREAL, Jan. 9 (CP)—The ice-clogged St. Lawrence river backed up about a foot Monday in the vicinity of Longueuil, flooding the cellars of about a dozen cottages. Longueuil is across the river from Montreal.

Campbellford Beats Combines

—The Campbellford TVL squad redeemed themselves on Monday night, when they trounced the Norwood-Peterborough Combines 12 to 3. They lost their last game to Peterborough Brintons, 9 to 2.

Wib. Blake, the workhorse of the Campbellford team, scored four goals for the homesters, three of them solo efforts. He also scored the only two goals his team got against the Brintons last Friday.

Harrington came up with two unassisted goals, and three assists. Brown got two of his team's three goals on assists from Peterson and Fennell, and Wilson rapped one home on a pass from Whitnell.

A crowd of about 450 turned out to see the game, which was fast all the way through, and well marked with penalties. Campbellford was given nine while Norwood received six.

Blake of Campbellford received a match misconduct penalty with only two minutes remaining in the game, which was not appreciated by the fans. Referees Leggett and Rome of Peterborough handled the game well.

The following is the lineup:

Teams:
Norwood, Goal, Aldred; defence, Fennell and Rogers; centre, Wilson; wings, Ferguson and Whitnell; alts., Payne, Peterson, Brown, Thompson, Brockley, Webb, Gilbert, Williams.
Campbellford: Goal, Laverne; defence, Tanner and Trumble; centre, Robinson; wings, Mason and Cole; alts., Blake, Harrington, McMillan, Pace, Blake, Smith, Jeffs, Dunk, Dooher.

Campbellford Repeals Gas Sale Bylaw At Meeting

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 9 — (ENS—Campbellford has repealed its controversial early-closing by-law for gasoline service stations. That was the chief item of business at the inaugural meeting of the council Monday night.

One of the clauses of the by-law stated that it could be repealed if a third or more of the operators are against it.

Councillor George H. Free interviewed all service station operators in Campbellford, asking them if they wanted the early closing by-law enforced or repealed. Seven wanted it enforced and five wanted it repealed, according to Councillor Free's survey.

As the number in favor of repeal was more than the required one-third, the council scrapped the by-law.

The Rev. A. E. Toombs of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church officiated at the devotional period of the inaugural meeting.

Harry Townsend, town assessor and chairman of the Public Library Board, reported to council regarding the library, and asked that a grant of $2,300 be given to keep up the work of the library. A further grant of $200 to paint the building will be considered at a later date.

Councillor F. M. Rutherford reported on the progress of the community arena during the past year, and said that more than $7,000 was taken in from all sources, including a provincial government grant of $3,500. He moved that James Heathcote of the Campbellford Rotary Club be placed on the board as the Rotary representative, and that Oscar Mason, Deputy Reeve, be named as the council representative on the Community arena board. This motion was accepted. Dr. W. W. Baker, former representative of the Rotary Club, tendered his resignation some time ago.

Council accepted the resignation of Building Inspector James Y. Mitchell, who has held that post for a number of years. The legal committee will confer with Harry Townsend, the town assessor, who said previously that he would do the job along with his own. As soon as the matter is clarified, a by-law appointing Mr. Townsend as Building Inspector will be passed, likely at the next council meeting.

Councillor George H. Free was appointed as the council representative to the old Hospital Board.

Deputy Reeve Oscar Mason, Chairman of the Road and Bridge committee, was instructed to look into the question of acquiring a tractor would also be useful in the town sidewalks of snow. The tractor would also be usedful in other work around the town, and council seemed to be of the opinion its purchase would be warranted, providing the expense was not too high. While many people in the town co-operate by shovelling their snow after a heavy fall, there are others who hardly ever clear their sidewalks and council felt that the plow would be a practical solution to the problem.

Dr. O. C. Watson was appointed to the Campbellford Public Library Board for a period of three years.

A by-law was passed, authorizing the mayor and treasurer to borrow up to $50,000 at the Bank of Montreal, if this should be needed, at a rate of 4½%. This is done almost every year, but council borrows only what it needs to carry on until taxes start coming in.

There will be a meeting of the council on Saturday, January 13, at which time the assessment roll will be brought in. Taxes will not likely be set at that meeting, but payment of taxes will be accepted at last year's rate for the present time, and a three per cent. discount will be allowed for prepayment. A rebate will be made if the new tax rate is lower than last years, and it is expected it will be.

George H. Free moved a vote of thanks to the Rotary Club for the excellent way in which the council was entertained at dinner.

Council met at eleven a.m. for their inaugural meeting but adjourned at noon to attend a dinner given by the Rotary Club, at which the elected representatives of Seymour Township were also present. Council re-conveened at 2 p.m. to finish business at hand, and adjourned late in the afternoon.

The following is the list of committees formed:

Finance Committee—Councillor W. A. Kingston chairman, with Reeve R. J. Locke and Councillors Free and MacMillan as members.

Road and Bridge Committee—Chairman, Deputy Reeve Oscar Mason, members, Councillors Rutherford and Free.

Legal Committee—Chairman, Reeve R. J. Locke, Councillors Kingston and MacMillan members.

Hospitalization — Chairman Councillor Geo. H. Free, Councillor Kingston and Reeve R. J. Locke members.

Fire, Water and Light Committee, Chairman, Councillor D. Maybee, with councillors Free and Rutherford as members.

Relief Committee, Chairman Wm. R. Nicholas, and Councillors Maybee and MacMillan members.

Property Committee, Chairman P. H. MacMillan, Councillors Maybee and Nicholas as members.

Police Committee, Chairman F. M. Rutherford, Nicholas and Kingston as members.

Industrial Committee—Mayor J. E. Ayrhart chairman, with councillors Rutherford and Free as members.

Guilty Of Theft Youth Sentenced

COBOURG, Jan. 9 (ENS—Donald McKenzie, Port Hope, 21, was sentenced to concurrent terms amounting to one year and six months in the reformatory when he appeared in police court yesterday for sentence. He had earlier been found guilty of theft of a car from W. Cudmore of Port Hope, another from B. Lawson of Port Hope, theft of cigarettes from R. Harrison of Port Hope, theft of a watch from J. Raney, Port Hope resident, theft of a bicycle from John Ferguson, also of Port Hope. He received one year definite and six months indefinite on the car theft and 6 months on each of the other counts, terms to run concurrently with the first sentence.

Bethany Auxiliary

BETHANY Jan. 9—(ENS)—The Junior Auxiliary of St. Paul's Church met at the rectory on Saturday with 10 members present and Mrs. Hope Rayson leading the devotional period. Leone Smith read the minutes and Mrs. Mervin Smith gave the treasurer's report. Donald and Malcolm Smelt were appointed as sidesmen for the month of January. Craft work will be featured at the next meeting on Jan. 20, to be held at the home of Mrs. Mervin Smith.

Waiter Retires After 37 Years

QUEBEC, Jan. 9 (CP)—After 37 years of waiting on royalty and North American and European celebrities who visited the Chateau Frontenac here, tall, soft-spoken Fred Krampe is retiring.

The 68-year-old British-born waiter, who learned his trade in London and Paris hotels before coming here, considers the royal tour of 1939 the biggest assignment of his career. He travelled across Canada with the royal party.

Among others he served as a waiter were the Duke of Windsor, then Prince of Wales; the King of Siam; Japanese royalty; and all the governors-general of Canada during the last 37 years.

Krampe born in 1882 at Berkshire county, England, will live out his retirement years quietly with his wife in the Quebec home of his daughter and son-in-law.

His formula for success: "A waiter should at all times do the best he can to please the guests and keep on friendly terms with everyone working with him."

27 Charges Now Laid In Counterfeit Case

COBOURG, Jan. 9—(ENS)—Three more charges of passing counterfeit currency were read against James Frost of Belle Ewart in police court yesterday, bringing the total up to 27. The other charges were laid last week. Frost was arrested on Dec. 28 by provincial police here following a police radio tip-off that a man believed to be travelling in a Barrie car had been passing bogus ten dollar bills. Magistrate R. B. Baxter remanded him until Friday for sentence. The accused has a previous record.

Fished Through Ice Indian Fined $25

COBOURG, Jan. 9—(ENS)—Willis Smoke, Roseneath Indian, pleaded guilty to fishing through the ice, a second offense, and was fined $25 and costs yesterday. Game Overseer Vic Harris testified that on December 24 he caught Smoke fishing through the ice at Rice Lake and he had gaffed two pickerel.

"I suppose the Indians see the Americans take fish by the hundreds out of the lake in the summer and wonder why they can't have some themselves in the winter. However the law says 'no' and you must pay the penalty," commented Magistrate R. B. Baxter.

Couple Mark 48th Anniversary

COLDSPRINGS, Jan. 9 (ENS) —Mr. and Mrs. William J. Dines entertained their immediate relatives to a family dinner Sunday. It was their 48th wedding anniversary.

The bride and groom of yesteryear she was formerly Nellie Bowman, were married at the home of the bride's parents, in Coldsprings, on Jan. 7, 1903.

The Rev. R. F. Hunter, then pastor of Coldsprings Presbyterian Church was the officiating clergyman.

After their marriage they resided on a farm two miles east of Coldsprings, and in 1925 moved into the village where they have resided since.

Three children were born of this union: Mrs. Ove Simmonsen (Isabella), of Peterborough; Melville Dines, Coldsprings, and Murray Dines, Oshawa. They also have two grandchildren Caroline Dines, Coldsprings, and Bill Dines, Oshawa. Due to illness, Mr. and Mrs. Simmonsen were unable to be present. It was also the occasion of Mrs. Simmonsen's birthday, and Mr. and Mrs. Simmonsen's ninth wedding anniversary.

The Hope Report And The French Press

The report of the Hope Commission, relating to the reform of the educational system of Ontario, has been the subject of some violent condemnation in the press of the Province of Quebec. The French language press of Canada has not, we venture to say, had any access to the full text of the Report which has been denied the English language press of Ontario; that is to say, it knows very little about it. But the Quebec press has seized upon the recommendations in the Report which affect the Separate Schools, and upon the basis of those recommendations seeks to blacken the motives of the Commissioners. Le Canada says that if these recommendations are put in force it will be "a direct blow to the French and Catholic schools". Montreal's Le Matin says: "It is not an exaggeration to see in the findings an attack in grand style against the Catholic and French schools". Later it says: "At a moment when a great many of our English-speaking citizens are talking about democracy and liberty—for the Koreans—they are, in turn, incapable of rendering justice to the first inhabitants of this country who number almost a third of the Canadian population." L'Action Catholique says that the effect of the Report is that: "You shall not teach your language and your religion to your children of less than 12 years. Their first six years of study ended, your children can continue to be educated, but in another language than theirs and not in religion at school". Le Devoir, Le Canada and Le Droit all write in much the same strain. Perhaps the strongest language is used by Le Devoir which labels the Report "a hellish scheme."

* * *

The French press has taken a part of the Report, and has attempted to make a main issue of a misunderstanding of it. The Report is not concerned primarily with Separate Schools; it is concerned with a reform of our Ontario system which will divide a child's education into three parts, instead of in two, which is the case at present. The Commissioners have reasons, which must be carefully weighed, for thinking this an improvement on the present system. If their suggestion is adopted it will mean that grants to the Separate Schools will be curtailed, but this is not the reason why the suggestion was made, and great care must be taken that the outcries of the French Press, and the protests which will come from Separate School authorities, do not blind the public to the real purpose of the recommendation. To suggest that the Hope Report is a hellish scheme to spite the Church of Rome is twaddle.

* * *

The Report is a very hot potato. The Government will handle it cautiously, for Catholic votes must be carefully husbanded, and it is a well-founded political belief that the Catholic vote is the most coherent vote in Ontario. But in the political wrangle which is likely to be aroused when the Hope Report is discussed in the Legislature, it must be remembered that there is a cause greater than political expediency which deserves consideration, and that is the cause of Education itself. The Hope Report was presented by a Commission which was appointed to suggest reforms in a system which is unsatisfactory at present, both in its application and in its results. The Commissioners have done their job with a commendable disregard for outside considerations.

* * *

The Hope Report is not directly concerned with the claims of the Separate School system. It is not, and could not be concerned with the insistence of the Church of Rome that the education of its children must be dominated primarily by its religion, and that all other considerations must be subservient to the maintenance of that religion. That point of view is entirely understandable; it is far more coherent and easily stated and defended than the Protestant view on education. But a sympathetic regard for Catholic opinion must not be permitted to hold up reforms in Ontario education if those reforms are shown to be desirable. Otherwise we shall be confronted with the fact that the Government of Ontario—now, in five years, or in fifteen—is less concerned with education than with getting votes, and that the educational policies of the Province are dictated not by the Government, but by the Church of Rome.

An Unpopular Suggestion

Two years ago a group of educators and scientists was appointed in the U.S.A. to offer advice on Selective Service and its application; they have done as they were bidden, but their advice has met with disfavour. They advised that young men who received high marks in an aptitude test be excused from military training in order that they should pursue their studies until graduation, after which they were to have four months in which to find jobs. The assumption was, apparently, that young men of unusual abilities should not be put into the armed forces because they would be of more value in other occupations.

This is an undemocratic attitude, and we are not surprised that it has awakened widespread resentment in the U.S.A. There is strong logic behind it, of course; it seems foolish to risk in war those people who are most likely to bring honour to the country. But the logic, though strong, is limited, and we are inclined to mistrust logic in matters relating to human beings, who are hopelessly illogical.

For instance, there is no reason to suppose that people who do well on any known aptitude test will necessarily do well in life. They will be intelligent, in all probability, but intelligence is only measureable in a limited degree. And if they are unusually intelligent, the chances are strong that the Army, or the Navy or the Air Force will find it out and make them officers as soon as possible. The services are rarely overstocked with officers of exceptional intelligence and there are fields of research and special work in the services where men of unusual capabilities are needed.

A system of Selective Service which exempts some people from military training because they are above average intelligence would always be a thorn in the side of those who could not qualify for such exemption. Further, such a system would be subject to abuse. No nation yet has succeeded in creating an elite on grounds of intelligence which has not been invaded by those whose intelligence extends only to pulling the right strings.

Peterborough's Debt Smaller Than In 1930

Like other cities and towns in Canada Peterborough has been straining its back financially with a load of post-war expenses for housing, utilities, schools, hospitals and other public services. In the last five years the city has had to issue debentures totalling $4,918,996 to finance public works. It is a staggering sum, but Peterborough has not staggered from it. The astonishing fact is that the city's net debt, (after deduction for the sinking fund) despite all the recent expenses, is $28 less per person than it was twenty years ago. In 1930 the city's net debt was $3,571,000 or $160 a person. Now the city's net debt is $4,844,600 or $132 a person.

Therefore, Peterborough people, as individual citizens, have less debt hanging over their heads than they had in 1930. How is this possible? The debt is of course now distributed over more people: in 1930 the population was 22,500; now it is about 37,000. Further, the city is paying as it goes. Last year, for instance, it paid off debenture principal and interest to the sum of $883,000.

These very encouraging aspects of the city's financing were brought out in a speech which the Mayor made to the Rotary Club yesterday. In the same speech he also mentioned this remarkable fact: the city's assessment is lower now than it was in 1930, judging from a per capita basis. This is in spite of recent adjustments upwards, and the great amount of building that has been going on since the war. The total assessment in 1930 was $24,135,000, or an assessment of $1,073 a person. Now the total assessment is $37,807,000, a per capita assessment of $1,020.

There are some disturbing factors in these assessment figures. They could mean that either the assessment bases are put too low, in terms of the 1950 dollar or that industrial and commercial assessments are lagging behind residential assessments. As a matter of fact, the industrial assessment is now considerably lower than it was in 1930, considered in ratio with the population. That does not mean that the industries are underassessed. It means that there are not enough new industries in town; that the industrial expansion has not been as great as the expansion of population. It is considered that a ratio of 50-50 between residential assessment on the one hand, and commercial and industrial on the other, is a healthy state of municipal affairs. The ratio in Peterborough now is: commercial assessment 20.9 per cent. of the total, industrial 24.01 per cent., and residential 54.5.

The per capita reduction in bonded indebtedness shows that the high tax rate is not due to interest and principal payments required every year on outstanding debentures. The increase is due to the higher cost of public services.

NOTE AND COMMENT

The Supreme Court of Oregon has ruled that a man cannot be blamed for everything his wife drives him to do. This looks like the dawn of the Larger Freedom.

An expert recommends jitterbug dancing as a cure for flat feet. As an occasional observer of the stompers we had thought of it as a cause of flat feet.

The suggestion has been made that the Stone of Scone be replaced by a block of concrete, containing elements from all parts of the British Commonwealth. An excellent idea. Let the Scotch keep their silly old rock, and use it for crowning successors to Harry Lauder.

Russia's Decay of Faith

By EDWARD CRANKSHAW

NO words could be more heartening for the start of the New Year than certain passages about the vulnerability of the Soviet Union made in the widely broadcast speech of Mr. John Dulles of New York. They strike a note of hope for the West which has for too long been muffled.

✧ ✧ ✧

ALL well-informed observers of Russia have given full value to Russia's weakness in their appreciation of the international situation ever since the cold war started. But in order to bring home to the people the urgent need for preparedness, the statesmen of the West have dwelt almost exclusively on Russia's more obvious strength. An unfortunate result of this has been to create a deep impression of the invincibility of Stalinism, which has played into the Kremlin's hands. It is this legend of invincible strength which Mr. Dulles has set himself to dispel, and it may be hoped that his words will mark the beginning of an attitude towards the Kremlin rather healthier than the hypnotized gaze of the frightened rabbit which has characterized the West during the past few years.

✧ ✧ ✧

"DESPOTISM", said Mr. Dulles, "when looked at from without, usually looks solid and formidable, whereas free societies look divided and weak. Actually, that is an optical illusion. The reality is just the opposite. Take Russia. Out of its 200 million people only about six million, or three per cent., are members of the ruling Communist Party. The political prisoners number twice the total membership of the Party. The Party itself is shot through with distrust and suspicion, and there are periodic purges as between Party factions. No one even in high authority, feels personally safe".

✧ ✧ ✧

MR. DULLES went on to show that in the satellites the vulnerability of Stalinism was even greater, and finished this section of his speech with the words: "War can be very unkind to rulers who are despots, and who have systematically destroyed the individual initiatives of their people. They know that and we can increasingly help them to see the light".

✧ ✧ ✧

IT was high time that somebody in authority pointed out the truth about the Communist Party in Russia, with its six million members holding down nearly 200 million of their fellow-countrymen. If those six million were single-minded fanatics devoted to the cause they would be more formidable than they are. But, as the frequent purges testify, they are far from an incorruptible band of brothers. During the past eighteen months, and especially in the winter of 1949-50, the nature of these purges has been extremely recealing. They are, broadly speaking, of two kinds: the purges of the unworthy, and the purges of the factions.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE purges of the factions have been a feature of the Stalin regime since its beginning. As individual leaders gain or lose in favour, so the position of their followers and proteges throughout the country is affected. When a member of the Politburo is sacked, as the chief planner, Voznessensky, was sacked in the spring of 1949, his whole entourage goes with him, and not only these, but Communists all over the country who pinned their hopes to his star and rely on him for promotion. The most spectacular example of this kind of thing followed the death of Zhdanov in August 1948.

✧ ✧ ✧

NOBODY knows whether Zhdanov, who was certainly bitterly at odds with Molotov, died a natural death or was liquidated. But the fact remains that when he had gone heads rolled in every direction. Two of the most promising and powerful of the coming men, who owed their positions to him, disappeared for ever—Kuznetzov, a secretary of the Central Committee and Popkov, the Communist boss of Leningrad. The meteoric rise of Malenkov, to a position closer to Stalin than anybody but Molotov has been accompanied by a long stream of disappearances among the smaller men, marking the installation of Malenkov's men throughout the country. More recently still, a couple of months ago, the so-called resignation of Mekhlis, from the Ministry of State Control, and his replacement by Merkulov, the right-hand man of Beria, the all-powerful head of the police, was the culmination of a long and bitter struggle. The increasing importance of Marshal Bulganin, who has now quite superseded Stalin's old fighting comrade Vorochilov, as the supreme political chief of the armed forces, is itself a reflection of the struggle between the army generals and the inner circles of the party. For although Bulganin is above all a party man, he understands the army, and possesses its confidence to a unique degree.

✧ ✧ ✧

THIS sort of thing is to be expected as ambitious men of great talents and no scruples jockey for position or seek for priorities in a land where there is never enough of anything to go round. It may well end, sooner or later, in a serious conflict of will which will break even the studied surface unanimity of the Politburo although every member of it must know that the only hope for their regime is for him to compose his differences with his colleagues in private.

✧ ✧ ✧

BUT the state of affairs revealed in the party purges of last winter, the purges of the unworthy, is something new. Between the autumn of 1949 and the spring of 1950 rather more than half the regional party secretaries lost their posts. At the same time throughout the U.S.S.R. there were immense upheavals in the governments of all the nationalities, including in some cases (as in the Tartar autonomous republic with its capital at Kazan), the purging of whole groups of Ministers.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE causes of these upheavals were always similar—apathy, negligence, corruption. They ranged from the encouragement of direct barter between factories and farms, thus upsetting the centralized plan, to wholesale embezzlement and diversion of collective funds, the connivance in the falsification of returns, and the private sale of communal property. All these practices, with their infinite variations, have been known in Russia always; but the purges of last year revealed a state of cynicism and apathy among the higher party officials throughout the land on a scale which indicated that the party could no longer be seen as a reliable tool in the Government's hand. In many cases the offenders were ordinary careerists of the kind who find in the party the only scope for their talents and inclinations; but in far more cases they were ordinary party members disillusioned and turned sour by discouragement with the conditions of life and the rigidities of Kremlin policy so that they had increasingly come to side with the people against the Government instead of driving them on in the name of Stalin. With this development goes a progressive deterioration in the Komsomol, the League of Communist Youth. Young people are slow in coming forward to join; and many of those who do join regard the Komsomol as a social club rather than as a vocation.

✧ ✧ ✧

NOTHING could reflect more clearly the dissatisfaction of the mass of ordinary Russians than this decay of faith in the men and women whose only purpose is to lead them, a decay which is depriving the Kremlin of its firmest hold on the people and driving it ever more to rely on direct police rule. And this process can only lead to still further estrangement between Government and people, with an inevitably adverse effect on production, and thus on Russia's prosperity and strength.

The Only Men Who Seem To Know What They're Doing!

Genesis of the China Crisis

(By SEBASTIAN HAFFNER)

THE year 1950, which ended in a state of extreme tension between China and the United Nations, had begun with determined diplomatic moves on the part of the free world to forestall any such development.

In the Commonwealth, Britain, together with India and Pakistan, recognized the Chinese Peoples' Government in Peking, America declared that her defence line in the Pacific did not include Formosa, and refused to give aid and advice to the administration of General Chiang Kai-shek, who had sought refuge in Formosa after his defeat at the hands of the Communists in China.

These two moves seemed to minimize the danger of an open clash with Communist China, though they did not dispose of all international problems raised by the Communist victory in the Chinese civil war.

America, and the majority of member States in the United Nations, did not recognize the new Communist Government of China; as a consequence, China was still represented on the United Nations by delegates of General Kai-shek — an anomaly which caused much resentment in Peking, but which time and patience seemed bound to redress. A source of more acute friction with China threatened to develop in Indo-China, where Peking, together with Moscow, recognized the rebel government of Ho Chi Minh early in the year, while Britain and America gave recognition to the Government of the Emperor Bao Dai, to whom France had transferred sovereignty within the French Union. American aid to Bao Dai, and Chinese aid to Ho Chi Minh, sharpened the conflict inherent in these contradictory diplomatic commitments.

Apart from this particular issue, the Soviet-Chinese Treaty of Friendship and Alliance, concluded at Moscow late in January after long negotiations, formally lining up China with Russia in the world-wide "cold war", added to distrust of Chinese intentions especially in America. However, the Treaty did not openly disclose any aggressive intentions, and some of its provisions, especially those about Russian privileges in Manchuria, showed traces of divergent interests and hard bargaining between the newly allied Communist Powers. Until the middle of the year, no acute source of conflict between China and the West was apparent.

Then, on June 25th, came the North Korean aggression, and the forceful reaction of the United Nations. In so far as the North Korean aggression was aided or instigated from outside, the signs pointed to Russia rather than to China. North Korea had been occupied by Russia, not by China. The North Korean armies used Russian arms and employed Russian tactics, not Chinese ones. The ceremonial pictures they displayed in the conquered cities showed Stalin, not Mao Tse Tung, by the side of the North Korean leader, Kim Il Sung.

On the other hand, the suspicion that Russia and China were working hand in glove was strong in America, and to make a major military effort in Korea while continuing the policy of restraint in Formosa seemed dangerous in Washington. Simultaneously with the United Nations military aid to the attacked Republic of Korea, America decided to "neutralize" Formosa by interposing the Seventh U.S. Fleet between it and China. This was a revearsal of the policy announced in January.

China reacted violently against this American action. Her protests were accompanied by troop movements into Manchuria, close to the Korean border. Whether these movements were solely motivated by American action in Formosa, or whether they would have taken place in any case in understanding with, and support of, Russian policy in Korea, is a question which cannot at present be conclusively answered on the evidence available. Nor is it at present possible to say with certainty whether the Chinese troops concentration in Manchuria was undertaken with the set purpose of military intervention in Korea from the start, or whether it was at the beginning a precautionary measure, leading to active intervention only when the United Nations forces, having defeated the aggressors in South Korea, crossed the 38th Parallel early in October. At any rate, later in October Chinese troops—officially labelled as volunteers—crossed into Korea too, and in late November they forced the U.N. forces to retreat to the 38th Parallel.

THE United Nations, which had sponsored action against North Korea, but was uncommitted with regard to Formosa, now called for a cease-fire. China rejected this cease-fire and demanded withdrawal of United Nations forces from Korea, cessation of American "aggression" in Formosa, and transfer of the right to represent China at the United Nations from Chiang Kai-shek to the Peoples' Government in Peking.

None of these demands terminology apart are intrinsically beyond discussion. Admission of Peking to Lake Success is an objective which British diplomacy had been quietly working for all through the year; it can hardly be refused indefinitely as the new Chinese Government consolidates its rule. Non-intervention with regard to Formosa had been official American policy from January to June 1950; it can therefore hardly be regarded as unacceptable to America under all conditions. It has never been the United Nations intention to station troops permanently in Korea, but any withdrawals would have to be reconciled with the United Nations objectives in Korea; and in general, it seems hardly posible to concede at the pistol point and as a precondition of a cease-fire what might be the result of a negotiated settlement after the cease-fire. There remains, moreover, the further threat of conflict in Indo-China. It would hardly make sense to satisfy China over Formosa, to admit Peking to the United Nations, and to arrange for the conditions of a simultaneous withdrawal from Korea, only to find hostilities with China flaring up again almost immediately in Indo-China.

IT appears that a general settlement of all disputed questions with China, under United Nations auspices, is the best hope of preventing the hostilities which are already in progress from issuing in full-scale war. Nobody except Russia—if she could stay outside and let China do the fighting for her—has anything to gain from such a war: This is the main fact to sustain hope that the situation will still be retrieved.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Ho, every one that thirsteth, come ye to the waters, and he that hath no money; come ye, buy, and eat; yea, come, buy wine and milk without money and without price. (Isa. 55: 1.)

✧ ✧ ✧

What shall I render unto the Lord for all his benefits toward me? I will take the cup of salvation, and call upon the name of the Lord. (Ps. 116: 12, 13.)

✧ ✧ ✧

For the Lord taketh pleasure in his people: he will beautify the meek with salvation. (Ps. 149: 4.)

✧ ✧ ✧

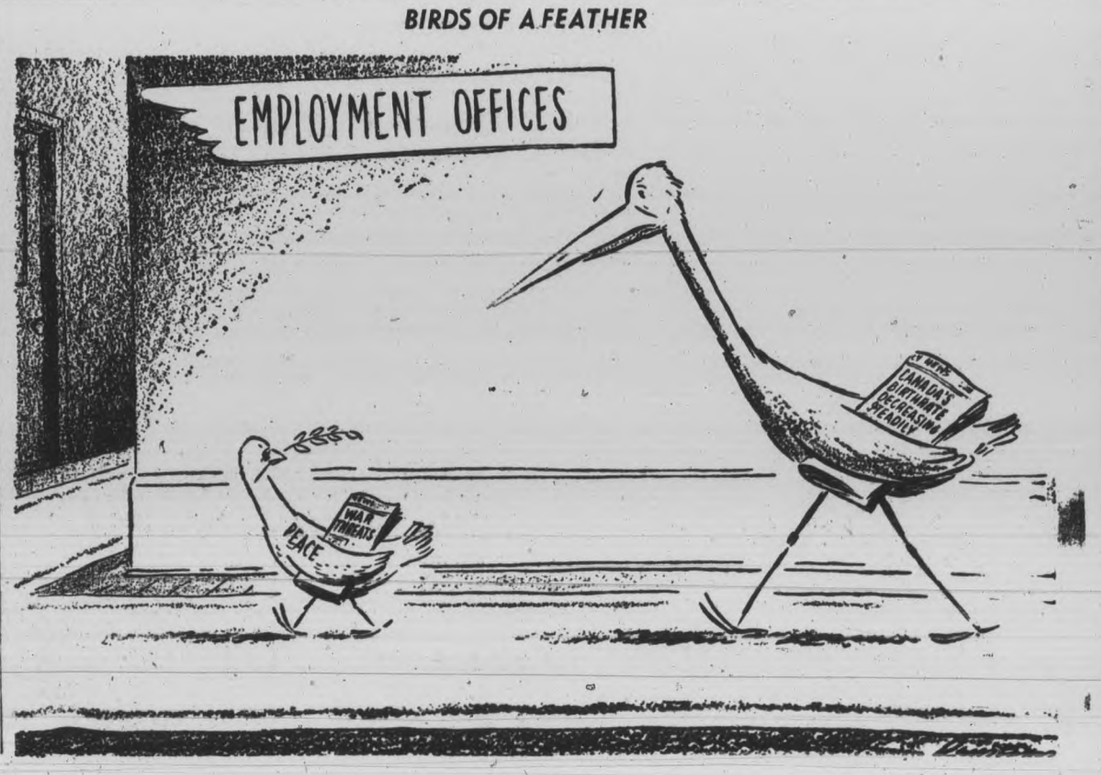
In this was manifested the love of God toward us, because that God sent his only begotten Son into the world, that we might live through him.....No man hath seen God at any time. If we love one another, God dwelleth in us, and his love is perfected in us.

Hereby know we that we dwell in him, and he in us, because he hath given us of his Spirit. (I John 4: 9, 12, 13.)

✧ ✧ ✧

There is a spirit in man: and the inspiration of the Almighty giveth them understanding. (Job 32: 8.)

ILL-TIMED



The buxom woman was applying for a separation from her small spouse.

"Your Lordship," she said, "he broke every dish in the house over my head, and treated me cruelly."

"Did your husband apologize or express any regret for his actions at the time?" asked the judge patiently.

"No your lordship. The ambulance took him away before he could speak to me."

BIRDS OF A FEATHER

Secret Flight Of Dalai Lama From Tibet

By RAWLE KNOX
(Cabled from Darjeeling)

The Dalai Lama of Tibet, I am officially informed here, is on his way to Kalimpong, a little wool market town just inside the Indian border.

All passes for foreigners entering the protected Indian State of Sikkim have been suspended. The Indian Government is investing the affair with the greatest secrecy, but there is no longer any doubt that Tibet's all-powerful 16-year-old religious head is fleeing his country.

Recent Communist advances have brought the Chinese-sponsored Panchen Lama with his troops within a week's march of Lhasa from the north. Another column to the south threatened the Dalai Lama's escape route, which explains his sudden and secret flight. Within Lhasa, it is reliably learned, the combination of left-wing and defeatist groups is increasing in influence since the Dalai Lama's retreat and more ominous news of Chinese advances. They are encouraged by the knowledge that a Tibetan general captured at Chamdo is preaching the gospel that resistance to the Chinese is futile. There now seems little hope that the right-wing religious group can hold its ground in Tibet, especially since the Indian Government will not favor their using Indian territory as a rallying ground for dissident exiles.

Kilburn Urges Power Project Started Now

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9 (AP)—Representative Clarence E. Kilburn (Rep. NY) said Monday President Truman, in citing the need for more power plants in his Congressional message, made a "pretty strong case" for development of the St. Lawrence River power project.

Kilburn said he referred to two sections of Truman's speech in which the President said:

"'In the months ahead, the government must give priority to activities that are urgent—like . . . . power development;' and

"'Only by increasing our output can we carry the burden of preparedness for an indefinite period in the future. This means that we will have to build more power plants. . . .'"

Kilburn, in an interview, asked: "Where could this aim be better realized than by going ahead with the long-proposed St. Lawrence development?"

Wants Action

He recalled, however, that Truman has said before that he wants the power project to be built simultaneously with navigational improvement of the river. The latter is the so-called seaway proposal.

"He is not," Kilburn said, "sympathetic to New York's proposal that it build the power project now—at its own expense in co-operation with the Province of Ontario.

"But, if the need for power is so great—as he indicated in his message—it seems to me he should withdraw his objections to the power-only proposal by New York and let this urgent work get started for the benefit of the state and nation."

Kilburn said he had in mind the thus-far unsuccessful efforts of Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York to obtain Federal approval for construction of the hydro project.

Psychiatrists To Work In Ont. Centres

TORONTO, Jan. 9 — (CP) — The use of community psychiatrists in a new approach to the mental health problem is planned by the Ontario Health Department, Health Minister Phillips said Monday night.

In an address prepared for delivery over a CBC Ontario network in the free-time "Provincial Affairs" series, he said the department's first concern is to help citizens avoid the need for mental hospital care and treatment.

"This can best be done within the community. We see here a field for the consultant psychiatrist. He will live in the community and work with a nurse, a psychologist, and a sociologist. This team will carry on an educational, diagnostic and treatment service. Most of this program is in the planning stage, but we have already made a start."

As an experiment, 21 beds had been set aside in the new St. Catharines Hospital for psychiatric patients and provision had been made for an outpatient service.

With regard to treatment facilities—there are mare than 17,000 patients receiving care in 15 Ontario mental hospitals—expansion is under way, Dr. Phillips said.

A residence to house 65 elderly female patients will be opened soon at Cobourg, in connection with the mental hospital there. Eastern Ontario is to be served by the opening of a new hospital and school for mental defectives at Smiths Falls, an institution that will ultimately provide treatment for 2,400 patients, most of them children.

Need Raw Materials St. Laurent Told

TORONTO Jan. 9—(CP)—The best remedy for rising prices Canadian Manufacturers' Association states in a letter to Prime Minister St. Laurent, is the production of more raw materials and goods.

The letter, over the signature of W. F. Holding president, states that 6,400 members of the association stand ready to pay their full share of the cost of the new defence program.

At the same time it submits that the taxation policy adopted should be so designed "to put a premium and not a brake on maximum production of all kinds, and to curb, instead of adding to, current inflation."

Gelinas And His Play Ti-Coq Overwhelming Toronto Success

TORONTO, Jan. 9 — (CP). — An overwhelmed capacity audience of Toronto first-nighters on Monday night saw the evidence from which it has been claimed by his native Quebec that Gratien Gelinas is the top personality of Canadian theatre as player, producer and playwright.

He could hardly have received a warmer welcome at home. Torontonians seemed to agree with Quebec people.

The sad-faced little French-Canadian, better known as Fridolin from his famous revues, scored a tremendous hit with his play, "Ti-Coq," and in all three capacities — actor, director and author.

It was the first English-language performance outside Montreal of the play, translated recently after two years of addition and revision.

After a week's performance here—already sold out—it will go to Chicago and then New York's Broadway.

"To-Coq," meaning "Little Rooster," a strong drama impregnated with the life and breath of French-Canada, won over the first-night audience of Toronto professional and business notables almost at the start of its 12 scenes.

Gets Strong Support

Gelinas, with his long, sad face and flailing arms, dominated the performance, but received strong support from a cast of Montreal actors including Huguette Oligny, Fred Barry, Armanda Alarie, Clement Latour, Denise Pelletier, Jacques Augier, and Alexander and May Barclay.

Herbert Whittaker, theatre critic of the Globe and Mail, said: "It will be a long time before Canadian theatre experiences an evening as full of excitement" as Monday night. . . .

"Mr. Gelinas has given his play a magnificent production," Mr. Whittaker added. "In acting, Ti-Coq is remarkably well served. The cast of Quebec actors indicates that Canadian actors can hold their heads with the best. . . ."

"To-Coq" is the story of a soldier who feels his illegitimacy deeply and yearns for the security of a wife, a home and children. He finds the right girl, only to lose her to a civilian while overseas. On his return he finds she still loves him. His struggle against his desire to run away with her provides a moving, ironic tragedy.

Takes Moose Meat From Ranger Section Hand Jailed Two Years

SUDBURY, Jan. 9—(CP)—A 27-year-old railway (CNR) section hand father of three children, was sentenced Monday to two years less a day for taking moose meat at gunpoint from a forest ranger and a game overseer.

Leo Paul Collins admitted his actions toward the two officials were the result of fear that moose meat they had seized would be used as evidence to convict him of the slaughter.

He was wined $400 for killing the animal. A charge of obstructing officers of the law was withdrawn.

Collins lives at Ostrom, about 80 miles northwest of here.

Ranger Jack Eno and Overseer Sam Nodwell said they were overtaken Dec. 30 by a railway gas truck as they walked down the tracks Dec. 30.

They thought they would get a lift, they testified, so turned around to walk to the truck. They saw the man in the truck had a rifle.

"He ordered us to halt when we were about 75 feet away," said Eno. Unarmed he and Nodwell advanced cautiously. Eno quoted Collins as saying: "Drop that moose meat, turn around and get going."

Rifle Not Loaded

"I tossed him the packsack of moose meat . . . He had pumped his rifle just before this, ejecting a shell, but we didn't know if the rifle was loaded or not. Then he laughed as if it was a joke."

Collins testified that the rifle was not loaded.

Eno and Nodwell said they had found the meat in a basin at the rear of Collins' Ostrom house. He had admitted it was his and at first had offered to take them to Westree, a nearby whistle stop. When he refused, they had started to walk.

After Collins took the meat from them they said, he again overtook them. This time he did not have a gun and he took them to Gogama.

"He laughed," said Nodwell, "and said he couldn't let us have that kind of evidence."

William J. Bird Dies

TORONTO, Jan. 9 — (CP) — William John Bird, 77, a native of Belleville died here Monday after a long illness. As a young man he had worked as a driver for the Belleville horse-drawn streetcars. He came to Toronto from Montreal where he had been employed with the Montreal Tramways Company as an operator for 20 years. For the last 32 years, he had been an employee of the Canada Wire and Cable Co., Ltd.

Civil Defence School Opens

OTTAWA, Jan. 9 — (CP) — Canada's first civilian defence school opens late this month, the forerunner in a series of steps to prepare the country's civilian population for any emergency.

Maj.-Gen. F. F. Worthington, civil defence co-ordinator said Monday the school will be opened Jan. 29 in the armories at Hull, Que., across the Ottawa River from the capital. It will be in the form of a central staff college for the training of key civil defence planners from all parts of Canada.

Later, federal schools for the training of instructors will be opened in other parts of the country. These men in turn will teach civil defence, from rescue work to how to deal with gas and atom bombs and other forms of attack, to civil defence workers in their home centres.

Urges Canadians Do Own Thinking

MONTREAL, Jan. 9 (CP). — Canadians should do their own thinking about free enterprise, and not be over-influenced by the dogmatic views of the United States and the United Kingdom, Dr. W. A. Mackintosh, Vice-Principal of Queen's University, Kingston, Monday night told the Montreal Chapter of the National Office Management Association.

"We in Canada have neither been frightened by government ownership nor do we think it has more than particular merits," Dr. Mackintosh said. "That is a great asset."

"Our free enterprise in the past has never been wholly free economy and we can be sure that we shall never have a free economy," he said. "We must always have a combination, a free enterprise system which has a certain amount of government interference for the common good."

Among the safeguards necessary for a free economy he listed a workable price system as an indicator of change, a protection of incentives and the control of forces such as inflation which destroy stability and enterprise.

Start New Church

LONDON, Jan. 9 — (AP) — The Peiping radio said Monday that Chinese Roman Catholics are setting up an independent church in China. The broadcast quoted the Peiping newspaper People's Daily as claiming the new "patriotic reform movement" is "winning enthusastic support everywhere" among China's 3,000,000 Roman Catholics. The movement started in November by Father Wang Liang-tso, a Chinese Roman Catholic priest in Kwangyuan, North Eechuan, the paper said.

Revive Red Ball Express To Rearm Western Europe

WASHINGTON D.C., Jan. 9— A new Red Ball express, such as made headlines and victories in the Second World War, is looming again for France. A major takeoff point will be the French port of Bordeaux, where a U.S. military depot is now being set up to make sure that American arms and supplies keep moving toward Western Germany and Western European defence forces.

The Red Ball tag for urgent transport originated in American railroad slang, not the National Geographic Society. It grew out of the practice of marking high priority freight cars with a red dot, indicating the right to "whistle through anything."

After the Allied assault on the Normandy beaches in 1944 and the breakthrough that drove the Germans eastward, the most pressing problem facing the pursuers was an effective supply line. The question was solved by the famous day-and-night service of Red Ball trucks, racing with fuel, food and ammunition along a circular, one-way traffic route between invasion ports and the ever-receding battle zones.

Wartime Bordeaux, in Southwest France was off the main track of the Red Ball express that whizzed through Northern France in 1944. Sixty miles from the sea, near the head of the Gironde estuary, this important seaport also suffered far less from war's devastation than did many other French ports.

Blocked Harbor

When hold-out Nazis quit Bordeaux, however, they thoroughly blocked the harbor by sinking there a score of iron-laden vessels. It was only in 1948 that the last of the channel-clogging debris was removed, and the port once more cleared for the passage of major ocean-going liners.

Today bustling Bordeaux — backed by improved harbor facilities and served by rail and road transport—is reported doing business as usual. Its import-export trade, amounting to 5,000,000 tonnage before the war, is growing, aided by Marshall plan shipments of coal wheat, oil and chemicals. Commerce in the neighborhhod wines, which have spread the port's name around the world, is flourishing. Bordeaux shipbuilding yards are turning out new vessels, and in the massive, bomb-proof submarine base once used by the Nazis, marine repair work is going on.

Geographically Bordeaux is especially favored for the international role it has been picked to fill. Close to the open Atlantic on trade routes with West Africa and North and South America, it has the added advantage of being less vulnerable from the East and North European ports.

But Bordeaux' civic authorities are not only looking forward to the expected shipping increases. They also are planning to share in the new French industries, including oil refining, wood pulp operations and nitrate making, which have been proposed for the area in line with the Marshall plan program for productive investment.

Ambitious modern Bordeaux (poulation more than 250,000) has an ancient biography which reaches back beyond Roman times. Along with the surrounding country, it was ruled by England between the 12th and 15th centuries. From this port Lafayette sailed to aid the American Revolution.

Says Schools Need Eye Clinics

TORONTO, Jan. 9—(CP)—The Ontario government has sponsored school dental clinics but has made no move to sponsor similar clinics for the care of students' eyes, Irving Baker president of the Optometrical Association of Ontario said Monday.

He told the mid-winter congress of the Optometrical Association of Ontario that eye examinations conducted in Toronto public schools are inadequate.

A project undertaken by the federal government in Hamilton public schools was praised by Mr. Baker. Under the plan, now in its second year, nine optometrists and one medical doctor are employed.

"Since the pupil of 1951 is required to read 10 times as much as the pupil of 50 years ago, it is important that any eye weakness be discovered early in his school career."

New Wireless Set Expected Canada's Gift To Europe

By DOUGLAS HOW

OTTAWA, Jan. 9 (CP) — A secret portable, short-range army wireless set is expected to become the first exclusively Canadian contribution of military equipment to joint Western European defence.

It has been designed and developed in Canada and is under test now. The equipment Canada has already sent to Europe is British-type equipment out of stocks left over from the Second World War.

The set's details still are on the secret list but it is believed to avoid one famous weakness of its predecessors in front line company and platoon use, a long skinny aerial sprouting skyward as an invitation to enemy fire.

The set was developed by army signals experts and is expected to be produced in this country. Ottawa has high hopes that it will be accepted as standard by other nations of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The British have developed a postwar portable set of their own, the so-called 88, but the Canadians think this one is an advance beyond that. The Canadian set as yet has no numerical identification—such as the wartime 38 set—and still is on trial.

Different Contributions

The feeling here is that the first Canadian-made equipment contributions to Gen. Dwight Eisenhower's European army are more likely to fall into the field of electronics than the realm of bigger weapons such as fighter planes.

This would involve not only the wireless sets but also radar apparatus. Defence Minister Claxton said recently the defence department has already placed huge orders for radar equipment for the Canadian force themselves.

This new production for Europe would be a new phase. The first, already launched, involves the shipment of British-type equipment out of stocks left from the last war.

Canada has sent enough of this for one Netherlands division, has arranged to replace it with American gear and is set now to offer Europe enough wartime equipment for another division. This process will go on until the army has switched fully to American equipment.

Under Discussion

The destination of the second batch is believed under discussion now among the deputy foreign ministers group of the pact organization. Canada's spokesman is Dana Wilgress, high commissioner in London.

He is being instructed, too, to offer substantially increased air training facilities in Canada. It will remain for the other pact countries to decide whether they want to use up the Canadian parliament's votes of mutual aid now standing at $300,000,000, but expected to be boosted — in air training or in enlarged shipments of arms.

Petes Blast Redmen, 9-0 To Remain In Tie For Top

BELLEVILLE, Jan. 9.—Clicking like castanets, the high-flying Petes squad figuratively flew for 60 minutes here last night to hand a 9-0 shutout to an off-color Redmen team in a Senior OHA fixture. The victory enabled the Petes to hold their first place tie with the Eagles from the Liftlock City who defeated Gananoque on home ice.

Played on a fast sheet before 1,000 fans, the game saw the fast-skating Petes practically take over the game from the opening whistle until the latter stages of the third period when the desperate Reds drove in, in an effort to break the goose egg, but a rugged Petes' defence, plus the fine work of Harding in the nets, thwarted every attempt.

Looked Good

Jim Irwin, the Redmen's new goalie, despite the fact nine goals were scored against him, came through with a fine performance in his Belleville baptism of fire. The youngster showed he had lots of experience and kicked out plenty of pucks that were goal-labelled.

The Reds showed plainly that they suffered from a lack of practice. They could do nothing right, and their passing plays were not clicking while their shooting was away off.

The Petes plainly dominated the play in the second and third stanzas and were full value for their victory. They backchecked and forechecked the Red onslaughts to a point where at times it became almost monotonous. Harding was not the busiest man on the ice and he kicked out everything that came his way. The game was one of the cleanest senior tilts played here this season, and referee Bill Reason had little trouble with offenders. Only four sentences were handed out these going to Dugan, Garvey and Collins of the Petes and Vern Goyer of the Reds.

It was hard to pick a star on the Peterborough squad since nearly every man on the team came through with a brilliant performance. A star, however, must go to Garvey who potted a trio of goals; Mortimer who scored a brace and Dugan who did likewise. Honey Tompkins on the Petes' defence pokechecked the Red forwards dizzy at times while Fryia and Junior West also stood out. Horton got himself three assists while Tompkins grabbed a goal and a helper. Vern Goyer who alternated on defence and the front line stood out for the Redshirts while Lou Schmidt, Johnny Green, Brian Mulvihill and the rest battled vainly in a lost cause.

The teams.

Belleville: Goal, Irwin; defence, Day, Goyer, centre, Jones; wings, Mulvihill, Green; subs, Schreider, Schmidt, MacDonald, Wardhaugh, Semark, Free, Basted o, King.

Petes: Goal, Harding; defence, Tompkins, Horton; centre, Wade; wings, Mason, Dugan; subs, Fryia, Mortimer, Collins, Garvey, West, Floyd, E. Leonard, Jopling, Edger.

Referee, Bill Reason, Kingston; linesman, D. Barrett, Belleville.

Summary.

First Period

Petes—Mortimer (Collins) 5.29
Petes—Garvey (Floyd) 12:52
Petes—Garvey (West) 14:15
Penalties—Dugan.

Second Period

Petes—Mortimer (Collins) 2.41
Penalties—None.

Third Period

Petes—Tompkins (Horton) 1:06
Petes—Dugan (Mason, Horton) 1:38
Petes—Dugan (Tompkins) 2.30
Petes—Garvey (Horton, West) 6.15
Petes—Fryia (Wade) 10:10
Penalties—Goyer, Garvey, Collins.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

An Ohio Court of Appeals has ruled that a hockey club is responsible when a spectator is injured by a flying puck in its arena.

The judgment was brought down in Toledo Monday and had the effect of affirming a $22,500 award to a Cleveland bank clerk who stopped a puck with his face.

The clerk is Herbert William Morris who sued Cleveland Barons of the American Hockey League who suffered several fractured bones in his face in a game Feb. 15, 1948.

Plaintiff's counsel contended the Cleveland club was negligent in not providing screens all around the rink. Defence counsel argued that Mr. Morris assumed the risk himself and could have sat at the ends or corners of the rink where there were screens. Ohio courts long have held that baseball fans, who do not sit in screened portions of the stands cannot collect for injury resulting from regular ball games.

The appeals court overruled the "baseball" defence. Finding no legal precedent for the case in Ohio, the judges learned that half the major hockey rinks have complete protective screening.

Lloyd Mangrum won the $15,000 Los Angeles open golf tournament for the second time with a brilliant sub-par performance that sank pace-setting, pressure-stricken Harry Ransom in the final round Monday.

Mangrum, former United States open champion, knocked out a four-under par 67 to go with previous rounds of 73-70-70 and rack up a 72-hole total of 280. He won $2,600.

Lethbridge Maple Leafs, looking sluggish after three games in four days, Monday night dropped a 3-2 decision to Streatham, English National Hockey League champions.

In their first London appearance, Canada's hope for retention of the world hockey title showed little of the form that lifted them into the shoes of Edmonton Mercurys, last year's world titlists.

It was their third loss in five games of a 100-game European pre-championship exhibition tour.

Rheal Savard of Cornwall, Ont. got one English tally at 4:00 of the second, whizzing a fast one past Leaf goalie Carl Sorokoski.

Ezzard Charles defends his world heavyweight boxing title for the sixth time Friday at Madison Square Garden against Lee Oma, the reformed playboy from Buffalo.

The 15-round bout, starting at 10:00 p.m. (EST), will be beamed to millions by radio and television. International Boxing Club officials expect some 12,000 fans to pay at least $65,000 to see the contest.

Little or no betting on the fight was reported with the price against Oma about 4 to 1. It's about even money on the lean Cincinnati champ knocking out the 34-year-old challenger.

Promoter Herman Taylor has signed Percy Bassett, Philadelphia featherweight contender, and Arthur King of Philadelphia and Toronto, British Empire lightweight champion, for the 10-round feature bout of a Jan. 30 boxing show in Philadelphia.

The dream of all curlers came true for Gordon Cross and his rink when they scored a perfect eight-ender at Flin Flon, Man.

Opposing skip Jock Killoh was light on his last rocks trying to draw in for shot. But skip Cross was in the house with both of his.

Other members of the Cross rink were Art Lyon, Norm Rudd and Gordon Dash. They were curling at a company bonspiel. Skip Cross won his game by a wide margin, but lost the event.

Two Of Generals Top Scorers

TORONTO, Jan. 9 (CP).—Oshawa Generals as a team are slugging away in fifth place in the Ontario Hockey Association's individual play. Linemates Alex Delvecchio and Lou Jankowski are the league's scoring leaders by a considerable margin.

In statistics released today by the league, including games of Jan. 7, Delvecchio was the scoring leader with 29 goals and 29 assists for 58 points. Jankowski was one point back and 11 ahead of the next scoring leader Ken Lauffman of Guelph Biltmores, also a fifth-place team.

The Toronto Marlboros, continuing to hold the number one ranking in the 10-team loop with a three-point margin over Barrie Flyers and Windsor Spitfires, haven't a point-getter in the 10 top scorers.

The Marlies, however, have the league's top-ranking goalkeeper on the basis of performance thus far this season. Goalie Don Lockhart has the lowest goals-scored-against average of 14 netminders to perform between the pipes this season. Second to his 2.73 score is Don Simmons of St. Catharines Teepees with 3.17. Glen Hall of Windsor Spitfires is third with 3.18 and he also has had the most shutouts, three.

Warsaw Winners

LAKEFIELD, Jan. 9—(ENS)—Warsaw edged Lakefield Merchants 6-5 last night at Warsaw in an EPHL fixture. L. Lonsberry, S. Lonsberry and Batten scored for the homesters in the first period, Clements and E. Payne each earning an assist. R. Calberry, Wilford and Morrison counted for Lakefield, with Knox, Morrison and R. Calberry getting an assist apiece. Chittick and Knox scored for them in the third, with Dunford and R. Calberry each aiding once, while L. Lonsberry and G. Payne hit the mark for Warsaw. S. Lonsberry scored the winning goal in the third on Patterson's pass.

The game was marked by a free-for-all fist fight in the third with E. Payne and George Birch drawing 10-minute penalties and match misconducts, the second time Birch has been put out of the game this season for fighting. Morrison and Evans drew majors. S. Lonsberry and Patterson starred for Warsaw, with Wilford, P. Calberry and Blake best for the losers. Teams:

Lakefield: Goal, Blake; defence, P. Calberry, Hamblin; centre, Chittick; wings, Hockaday, Dunford; alternates, Birch, Wilford, Knox, Morrison, R. Calberry, Sloan, Dracup, Lambert.

Warsaw: Goal, Smith; defence, G. Payne, Eadie; centre, Patterson; wings, L. Lonsberry, Evans; alternates, E. Payne, S. Lonsberry, Clements, Watts, Denions, Batten.

Refere, J. Blewett; linesman, K. McArthur.

Gibson Trophy Captured By Woods Rink

By HERB. MARTIN.

By the close score of 9-6 Mrs. G. Woods' rink defeated Mrs. J. Fanning's rink in the final game for the Gibson Trophy yesterday afternoon.

This series, just concluded by the ladies' section, will most likely be recorded as one of the closest and hardest-fought schedules ever played. At the end of the schedule there were four rinks tied for first place and this meant an extra series.

Yesterday morning Mrs. Wood won from Mrs. Dulmage and Mrs. Fanning won from Mrs. Doughty, and the final game was played in the afternoon with the above result.

It was a good game of curling and was mighty well played. As is always the case in any final game, No. 8 was pretty well crowded and the spectators were well repaid. And so as the first round of curling for the ladies' section is completed, congratulations are offered to all. It was a good race and well run.

Rinks

Mrs. H. Worton, Mrs. N. Elliott, Mrs. W. Thomas, Mrs. G. Wood, skip.

Mrs. L. Calvert, Mrs. L. Reynolds, Miss H. Fanning, Mrs. J. Fanning, skip.

Men's Scores

R. Johnson 10, A. Malby 9; A. Aitkenhead 4, M. Hardell 10; E. Brown 10, T. Holyman 4; J. Lowes 11, E. R. Shirley 6; D. Rankine 3, A. Clark 14; K. Hamley 12, M. Metheral 11; C. Mowry 9, W. Switzer 11.

Australia Wins Cricket "Ashes"

SYDNEY, Australia, Jan. 9—(Reuters)—Fighting against heavy odds from the time two of her leading bowlers were injured on the second day, England was beaten by an innings and 13 runs by Australia today, fourth day of the third cricket test match.

Australia was out just before lunch for 426 to gain a lead of 136 runs on the first innings and dismissed England for 123 late in the day.

England batted only 10 men in the second innings, Doug Wright being unable to go to the wicket, but Trevor Bailey, with his fractured thumb defended stubbornly, without scoring, while three wickets fell.

The victory enables Australia to retain the mythical ashes—emblematic of Anglo-Australian cricket supremacy—for it was her third win of the series and only two matches remain to be played.

Just as Keith Miller had dominated the England first innings, and Australia's by his big score, Jack Iverson, the spin bowler with the freak grip, was the outstanding personality of England's second venture.

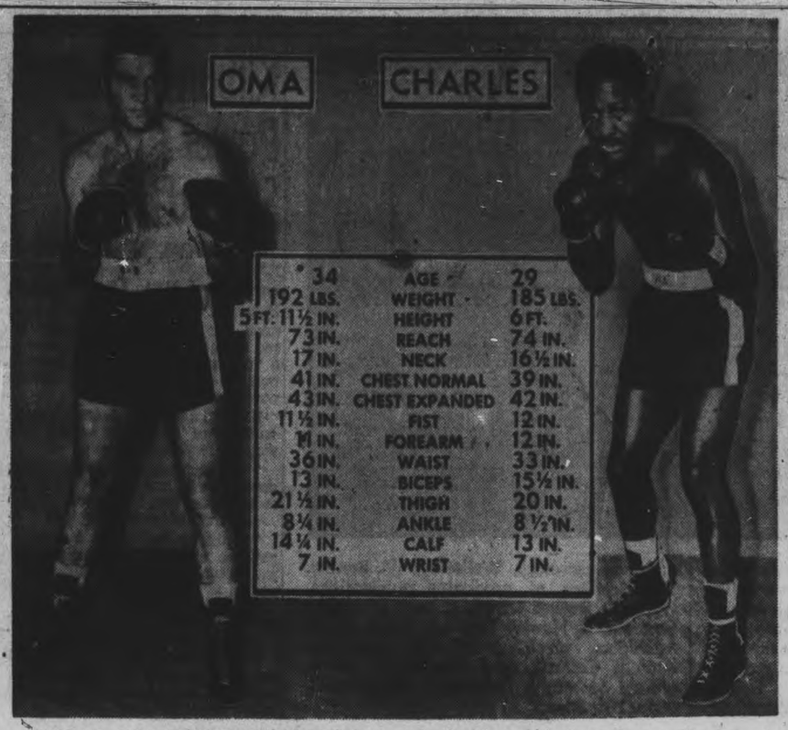
From the start this newcomer to test cricket had the England batsmen in difficulties and his final figures of six wickets for 27 runs in 19.4 overs, eight of which were maidens, tell the tale.

Central Victorious

The senior public school hockey schedule got under way with a single game billed—Confederation vs. Central. The mid-town boys eked out a 5-4 victory over the southenders.

It was 2-1 for Confederation in the first, and Central had a strong second period which ended in their favor 4-2. Confederation fought back valiantly in the third chukker.

Floyd, Brown, Miller and Goldie sparked the Confederation attack. For the winners, Gardner, Brooks, Patterson and Butler went best.



Each team drew three penalties Confederation: Sloan for hooking, Miller for charging and Simmons for charging; Central: Gardner for boarding and MacInnes (2) interference, slashing.

Some good hockey was dished up by both teams at times.

Confederation—Goal D. Mein; defence, D. Miller, D. Sloan; centre, J. Brown; wings D. Goldie, B. Floyd; subs., C. Simmons, R. Linsey, B. Bolton, G. Corner S. Graves, A. ittle, G. McIntosh.

Central—Goal, D. Bye; defence, G. MacInnes, R. Butler; centre, D. Patterson; wings, B. Gardner, S. Brooks; subs. J. Matthews, W. Tranter, L. Williams, C. Dunford, B. Patten, B. Woodward, R. Gray, R. Rowe B. Martyn.

Referee, Mr. Lawless.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Manager Jim Laidlaw of the Brock St. Arena and his men are busy these days doing an overhaul job on the big wrestling ring floor and foundation. Twice before the Christmas layoff, huge grapplers—and sometimes you get more than half a ton of mat animation in there at one time—broke the floor of the ring, even though it's of sturdy construction and padded. Jim says they won't break it again, not a dozen 280-pounders like Hi Lee, Yukon Eric or the rest. But there'll be no grapple card this week. Most likely there'll be enough of the big fellows back from the Xmas and New Year's holidays from faraway places to stage a show here next week.

A sad fact of life is that none of us grows any younger. It is particularly noticeable in a speedy game like hockey where the legs go first. Starry puckists, as they get past the 30-year mark, slow up, though they can often still shine for quite a spell due to all-around class and using their heads more as their underpinning starts letting 'em down. Good forwards often drop back and play a fine game for several more years on defence. The know-how is important but it can't quite offset the speed and hustle of the younger puckists coming up. Alas. Let's put it this way:

* * * * * *

You're Over The Hill

When you're skatin' fast as the dickens,
Showin' the fans your skill,
And a kid comes up and sails right by—
Then, bub, you're over the hill.

When a rival looms up with the rubber,
And you set yourself for the kill,
But he waltzes around you and sinks it—
Then, bub, you're over the hill.

The years catch up with all of us,
Tho' admit it we seldom will,
But speed departs as age comes on—
And, bub, we're over the hill!

* * * * * *

Well, there are a few veterans on both the Nylons' and Eagles' lineups, but they're still very good—and they have some mighty fast younger players, too. They'll be seen in OHA senior "B" action here tomorrow eve at 8.30 in Civic Arena, and that'll be one to witness. The Partis-Gerow-Catlin line, those scrappy alternates, a bouncing defence and Udall in goal, combine to make Nylons a strong contender at all times. And they love to mix it with the battling Eagles on the small local ice surface. The group race is hotter than high noon in El Paso, with Nylons, Petes and Eagles fighting furiously up there around the top of the ladder. This tilt should pack 'em in.

Eagles Fly In To Kill

There was nothing wrong with the way the Eagles were flying along the arena ice lanes here last eve, eh? They certainly got revenge on the impudent Gans with that 16-4 routing, and did it with sub-goalie Doug Brooks in the twine teepee. Nothing to it at all, just bang-bang-bang. They had something of an off night in Gananoque but really snapped back to form last p.m. on home ice. Joe Rochetta paced the attack with seven points, followed closely by Crowley and Monty, with Freddy Mortimer and Bob Parnall also right up there. Others good on the attack were Vitarelli, Hill, Milne and Greenlaw. (So was the Catawba Kid up in the stands.) Yeah, they didn't fool in this one. A checkup is being made to make sure if these games with the Gans are four-pointers or not. Gananoque officials say they're two-pointers as Belleville and Kingston teams are only playing 'em a single schedule, too.

* * * * * *

Jim Irwin, the Toronto goalie recommended to Belleville by Joe Primeau, ran into a rugged debut in Bella Villa last gloaming as the Petes poured hot rubber by him all evening. Won it 9-0 to send home a thousand sad Quinte customers. As it looks like Gans' games will be rated two-pointers now, the Petes are still tied for first place in the standing with the Eagles. Odd part of it is that word out of Belleville said Irwin looked pretty fair despite the score. Which means the Jopling bunch must have been really rolling in fine fashion. Garvey led the way with three goals, Mortimer and Dugan getting a pair each, while Tompkins and Harding stood out in a defensive manner. 'Twas a good night for both local senior squads.

Unlucky Referees

WOODLEY, Berkshire, England (CP)—A ball that must have had a grudge against officialdom knocked out the referee in a soccer match here. Later on it was kicked into the crowd—and knocked out a spectator who was an off-duty referee.

Jim Konstanty Voted Athlete Of Year

NEW YORK, Jan. 9 (AP). — Jim Konstanty, record-setting workhorse of Philadelphia Phillies' pitching staff, was selected 1950's male athlete of the year today in the annual Associated Press poll.

The one-time school teacher, whose tireless right arm carried the Phils to the National League pennant, won in a close vote over Vic Janowicz, Ohio State's football halfback, and Ezzard Charles, heavyweight boxing champion. Leon Hart, all-America football star at Notre Dame, topped the poll in 1949.

There was a wide difference of opinion among sports writers and sportscasters, who mentioned nearly 100 athletes, including the race horse, Noor, and Japan's human fish, Furuhashi.

The bespectacled, 33-year-old Konstanty received 32 first-place votes and a total of 173 points, 33 more than Janowicz who won all-America honors. Points were awarded on the basis of three for first choice, two for second and one for third.

The athlete of the year was one of a growing number of honors piled on the Philadelphia relief pitcher who played for Toronto Maple Leafs of the International League in 1948.

Sets Modern Record

He set the modern record for the most games pitched in one season—74—and since these were all in a relief role he set an all-time mark for rescues attempted. He was a natural for the National League's most valuable award, first relief pitcher to win that distinction.

Here are the year's outstanding male athletes, according to the AP poll, with total points and first-place votes in parenthesis:

1. Jim Konstanty, baseball, (32) 173
2. Vic Janowicz, football, (20) 140
3. Ezzard Charles, boxing, (21) 133
4. Phil Rizzuto, baseball, (26) 120
5. Ben Hogan, golf, (26)... 112
6. Sam Snead, golf, (16)... 98
7. George Mikan, basketball (11) 69
8. Bobby Reynolds, football (7) 36
9. Babe Parilli, football, (6) 33
10. Eddie Ford, baseball (4) 31

Eagles Trounce Gans, 16-4 To Avenge Previous Defeat

The Eagles continued to hold their own in the race for top spot in the OHA senior "B" grouping here last night by whamming out a 10-4 decision over Gananoque, gaining ample revenge for a loss to the Gans a few nights before. Only a fair-sized crowd braved the chill but it turned out to be a speedy, clean contest, though definitely one-sided after the first frame. There is an argument now as to whether these are two-point or four-point games. If this one counted four, the Eagles are back on top alone; if not, they are still tied for first with the Petes.

The score was 3-1 in the initial inning for the Magee men, and they led 8-3 to end the second. The final chukker was an 8-1 walkaway for the home squad as they breezed in repeatedly to park the biscuit in their opponents' net. The visitors drew seven of the 12 penalties handed out all for minor offences. The game was 25 minutes late in starting.

Eagles In Form

It was a case of a good senior "B" team taking on an intermediate "A" outfit, with the Eagles playing up to form this time—unlike their showing on Gananoque ice. They tried subgoalie Doug Brooks in the net and he came up with a creditable showing, much better than Parrish showed in the other cage. Eagles played solid hockey from the goal out, their defence checking well and the forwards hustling on the attack and checking back nicely. The Gans worked hard, too, but didn't have the punch to make it close.

Eagles fattened their batting averages with Joe Rochetta leading in the pack with four goals and three assists. Bill Crowley and Keith Montgomery also shone with five points apiece, as Freddy Mortimer clicked okay with four and Bob Parnell showed up well with three. Two points each were notched by Bert Hill, Andy Milne, Toodie Greenlaw and Dootch Vitarelli. Steele and Godwin led the Gans with three points each and Tindal had two, none of the others proving up to par in this tussle. Teams:

Gananoque Goal, Parrish; defence, Woodman and McIntosh; centre, Tindal; wings, Godwin and Steele; alts., Compeau, Jackson, Anderson, Harper, Fair, McCarney, Hastie and Brown.

Eagles Goal, Brooks; defence, Montgomery and Munroe; centre, Rochetta; wings, Vitarelli and Crowley; alts., Hill, Milne, F. Mortimer, Parnall, Greenlaw, Stewart, Godfrey and Burns.

Referee, R. Ouimet; linesman, H. Payne.

CITY CARPETBALL

Schedule for the week of January 15 is LOL No. 2 vs Fire Hall No. 9; St. George's No. 10 vs Legion No. 7; St. Luke's No. 1 vs Quakers No. 4; Glens No. 6 vs Legion No. 3; SOE No. 8 vs Legion No. 5.

St. Luke's defaulted when they showed up with only two players against LOL. So it will be recorded 12-0, 12-0. The two teams split up and played a match and each team scored a win.

The Smokeaters visited the Southend Saints at the washrack and the first game was tied 3-all in the second frame—but from there on, in both games, the Fire Fighters lost their smoke-masks and thus were handicapped and lost their way, by scores of 17-5 and 16-5.

Legion No. 5 met the Glens No. 6 at the Legion and the first game was the "Old Sweats" all the way until the Glens came through in the 8th, 9th and 10th frames with a total of seven balls and were within striking distance, but again the Old Sweats rallied to take the last two ends and game 14-8. The second game was even tighter being tie at 3- all in the fourth end and the balance of the game saw only singles scored with the Legion scoring most of them and taking a close game 9-7.

Legion No. 7 were at home against SOE and the first game caught the Big Bens with water in their works and the Sons capitalized on that—to the tune of 18-7. In the second game Big Bens had the balance wheel ticking even for most of the game; they were leading going into the 10th end, then the Sons struck back scoring 2 twos and deadlocked it at 12-all going into the final end, but again the Bens came on to win the final frame and game by 16-12.

The last match of the week was between Quakers and Legion No. 3. The first game was the Legionnaires all the way—until the last three frames, when the Ful-O-Pep's team lived up to their name and scored a total of seven balls in those frame to tie the game at 9-all. The last game was the Quakermen all the way although the Legionnaires did come through with two 5-ends but the game went to Quakers 20-15.

There was an executive meeting held and a creditable financial statement was turned in by your draw committee. Also plans for the President's Cup and the Gracie Memorial doubles playdowns were drawn up.

The doubles will be played on Wednesday evenings at 7 and 9 at the Legion Hall starting January 31. Any former or new bowlers wishing to enter the doubles may do so by contacting the secretary and paying their honorary membership fee.

The President's Cup playdown teams were drawn for at the meeting and should be played as soon as possible. They are three 8-end games, winners moving into the next round, games to be played on neutral grounds.

First round draw—SOE No. 8 vs Legion No. 5; Glens No. 6 vs Legion No. 3; Fire Hall No. 9 vs Legion No. 7; St. Luke's No. 1 vs LOL No. 2; and Quakers No. 4 vs St. George's No. 10.

Standing up to January 8:

	W	L	T	Pt	Av
St. George's No. 10	11	7	2	24	57
Legion No. 5..	11	7	2	24	49
LOL No. 2	11	6	3	23	53
SOE No. 8	10	8	2	22	54
Quakers No. 4.	10	8	2	22	53
Fire Hall No. 9	9	7	4	22	53
Glen No. 6.....	11	9	0	22	51
Legion No. 3..	7	8	5	19	50
Legion No. 7..	8	12	0	16	44
St. Luke's No. 1	2	18	0	4	38

The two leaders last week, both lost four points and two new leaders were born. The difference between first and seventh position, in this very tight race, is only two points with only eight points between first and ninth place.

Britain Plans Golfing Events

By BEN PHLEGAR.

LONDON, Jan. 9 (AP). — A tournament schedule offering more money than ever has been arranged for 1951 to attract golfers during the Festival of Britain.

The program includes 12 tournaments sanctioned by the Professional Golfers Association, plus the British open championship. All will be open to foreign professionals.

Prize money so far announced is £23,500 (about $65,800), the most offered anywhere outside the United States. First prizes for the entire program are £5,250.

One new tournament has been added to the schedule in celebration of the Festival, which represents 100 years of British progress. This is the £3,000 Penfold tournament to be played at Bournemouth on the channel coast, June 13-15.

The British open will be played in Northern Ireland for the first time—at Royal Portrush on the northern coast, July 2-7.

In addition to the professional tournaments, the program includes the Walker Cup match between the best amateurs of the United States and Great Britain at Birkdale, May 11-12.

Propose Legislature Investigate Boxing

ALBANY, N.Y., Jan. 9—(AP)—An investigation of boxing in New York state was proposed to the legislature today as an aftermath of the recent death of Al (Sonny Boy) West.

A resolution by Democratic Assemblyman Philip J. Schupler of Brooklyn urged an inquiry by a joint legislative committee of three senators and three assemblymen.

Schupler said West's death was "nothing but legalized homicide".

West, 21, died in a New York city hospital Dec. 21, the day after a bout in St. Nicholas arena with Percy Bassett of Philadelphia.

Cobourg Whips Bowmanville 11-4

COBOURG, Jan. 9 — Cobourg, staging a one-team romp through the Lakeshore Juvenile hockey loop this season, scored their second straight win over Bowmanville here.

Paced by Bill Bowen, league-leading scorer, the locals swept Bowmanville into the discard, 11-4. Bowen marked up five assists and one goal. He was trailed by teammate Neil Cane by only one point, Cane racking up three goals and two assists.

Jack Dawe, third high scorer, came up with two goals and two assists.

For Bowmanville, Masters and Brooks were stars, splitting their team's goals.

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press

Paul Berlenbach, former world light-heavyweight boxing champion who earned more than $500,000 in pre-depression days, started a wrestling career at New York 17 years ago tonight to earn living expenses. He wrestled in a preliminary and got $150 for 11 minutes.

Taylor Stable Wins $58,140

TORONTO, Jan. 9 — (CP) — The E. P. Taylor Racing Stable of Toronto was Canada's top 1950 purse-winner, with a total of $58,140, a Toronto paper said Monday.

The stable, which concentrated mainly on fast two-year-olds, had 33 firsts, 20 seconds and 12 thirds.

The country's leading trainer, Dave Robertson, saddled 55 winners, most for his contract employer, Mrs. T. Helm of San Diego, Cal. Mrs. Helm's stable was second inn money earned with $50,933.

The King's Plate winner, McGill, topped Canadian horses in money won, a tidy $18,882. Leading jockey was veteran Pat Remillard with 114 firsts, 89 seconds and 70 thirds. His winning percentage was .17.

The Taylor stable saw its star two-year-old filly Britannia reach third place in purses won, behind Nephisto. Britannia is winter-book favorite for next year's King's Plate at odds of 6-1. She earned $16,355.

The Helm stable, which races in Western Canada during most of the summer season, was the only outfit from outside Toronto to reach the top 10.

Rangers Hottest NHL Team Howe Remains Top Scorer

MONTREAL, Jan. 9 (CP).—Hottest team in the National Hockey League today is New York.

Rangers, who started the season as underdogs, finally woke up around Christmas as the result of an all-out reshuffle in players and management.

During the week, the Broadway Blue Shirts climbed out of the cellar and took over third position, leaving Boston, Montreal and Chicago in hot pursuit.

Rangers, who in the first 25 games of the 70-game schedule picked up a mere 15 points, picked up 18 points of a possible 26 in their past 13 encounters.

League statistics released today showed Detroit Red Wings still holding first place with 52 points, five more than Toronto Maple Leafs. Rangers follow with 33, one ahead of Boston Bruins and Montreal Canadiens. Chicago holds last spot with 30 points.

Boston has a good chance of taking sole possession of the fourth spot this week. The Bruins will play three games, two against the slipping Black Hawks and one against the Canadiens. For their part, the Habitants have four games scheduled. Aside from their clash against the Bruins, they'll be meeting Detroit, Chicago and New York.

Howe Leads Scoring

In the individual scoring race, Gordie Howe of Detroit still leads with 16 goals and 24 assists for 40 points, two more than Toronto's Max Bentley. The Toronto centreman needs one assist to equal Howe's pacesetting total in that division.

Third highest point-getter is Bentley's linemate, Tod Sloan, who has 32 points, one more than Montreal's Maurice Richard. The Rocket has most goals—21.

In the goaltenders' class, Detroit's rookie Terry Sawchuk has the most shutouts to his credit—six, one better than Toronto's veteran Turk Broda. Sawchuk also boasts the best team goals-against average of 2.03. Sawchuk allowed only 77 goals past him in 38 games.

New York is the club with the highest number of penalties, its players having spent a total of 448 minutes in the cooler. Toronto follows with 432. Most penalized player is Toronto's Gus Mortson with 88 minutes.

Spike Jones Sees Revival Of Dance Bands

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 9 (AP).—Spike Jones was finishing up a recording session and lucky it was, too — I was getting shell-shocked.

The mahatma of music depreciation had fired several dozen rounds of blanks from his revolver, pausing to remark, "I'll run Randolph Scott out of business." When the record-making was over, we piled in his costly convertible and hied to a drive-in for lunch.

Now Spike is more than a mere music mangler, he is also a serious devotee of the art. He listens to music almost constantly during his waking hours, and that includes Bach as well as boogie-woogie. So I asked the professor what he predicts for the music world in 1951.

Dance Band Revival

"I think the New Year will bring a revival in the dance band business," he replied. It's too bad that it had to happen this way but the national emergency ought to bring a big upsurge in the ballroom business.

"After all, there are going to be a lot of soldiers and sailors cold and lonely in strange towns. The warmest thing they can do is dance. That makes sense, doesn't it?

"I also think that the emergence of a new dance will help the band business. I don't know what it will be. It might be a dance to the Mambo, which is a rhythmic Cuban style of music that seems to be catching on. Or it might be just a variation of the old dance styles, for instance, when the Charleston was revived, the younugsters did it with some jitterbug steps thrown in."

I asked about future trends in popular songs. Spike predicted a continuance of the folk music fad which brought such 1950 hits as "Mule Train," "Riders In The Sky," "Goodnight, Irene" and the present winner, "Tennessee Waltz."

Spike is currently marshalling his crewballs for another four-month tour of the U.S. and Canada.

St. Laurent Says Asia Too MenacedByReds

LONDON, Jan. 9 (AP). — Prime Minister St. Laurent of Canada said Monday night Communism represents the same peril to the Asian as to the Western members of the Commonwealth.

Guest of honor at a dinner of the Canadian Club, St. Laurent said the main struggle in the world today is "between the new Communist imperialism, directed from Moscow, and the forces of freedom and civilization both in the East and in the West."

He added:

"It is not a struggle between East and West, but between liberty and tyranny. It is as much a part of Communist aims to weaken and divide the independent nations of Asia as it is to weaken and divide the Western nations."

"That is why all members of the Commonwealth, Western and Asian, share a common peril, and in meeting it rely upon ideals which are common to us all."

The speech was St. Laurent's first in London since he became Prime Minister. He is attending the Commonwealth Prime Ministers' meeting here.

St. Laurent said he believed the Commonwealth had shown the way for Asian nations to achieve freedom and independence in a way leading to a fruitful relationship between East and West. He said:

Direct Contradiction

"The Communists everywhere represent every struggle for the benefit of the Asian peoples as a struggle for freedom from Western colonialism and exploitation. To this Communist picture, the every existence of the Commonwealth today is in direct contradiction, and the Commonwealth ideal of helpful co-operation between Western and Asian nations is its complete antithesis."

Explaining that the Commonwealth had a constructive role to play in the world, he said:

"The security of all parts of the Commonwealth obviously depends upon the right kind of relationships with other nations outside Commonwealth; and very specially on our relations with the United States."

He said none of the nations of the free world want war but do insist on the right to "live our own lives in our own way."

No Cause For Pessimism

City's Net Debt Per Person Reduced $28 In 20 Years

Peterborough is financially one of the strongest municipalities in Ontario, Mayor Max J. Swanston declared Monday in a speech to the Rotary Club. The mayor saw no reason for pessimism over recent rises in the tax rate. He said that people in the city feel that way "without making proper comparisons of times, or even comparing us with other, similar municipalities."

Industrial Commissioner

The mayor recommended at the same time appointment of a full or part-time industrial commissioner for the city, and the consideration of city-sponsored low-rental housing for pensioners "and others."

He further suggested that city council consider the appointment of one or two men to manage the city or "whatever chances are necessary to get the greatest efficiency in our civic administration."

Cyclical budgeting — trying to average tax levies for each year regardless of conditions — also was suggested.

"If municipalities had been allowed to use cyclical budgets during the past 10 years, it would have made for better financial conditions in every municipality," he said.

Mayor Swanston considered two decades in his comparison of figures — 1930 to 1950.

Peterborough's gross debt in 1930 was $5,248,000 or a net debt, after deducting for the sinking fund, of $3,571,000. Population was 22,500, so that the net debt per capita was $160.

In 1950, the gross debt was $5,474,000, with a net debt, after deducting for the sinking fund, of $4,844,600. Population is now 36,700, and the net debt per capita is $132, a reduction of $28 per person since 1930.

Assessment Comparison

Total assessment in 1930 was $24,135,000, or a per capita assessment of $1,073, compared to a total assessment of $37,807,000 in 1950 or a per capita assessment of $1,020. This was a reduction of $53 per person in assessment.

Total debt charges in 1930 were $424,566 — $19 per capita; compared with 1950 debt charges of $507,217 or about $13.60 per person.

The mayor pointed out that all comparisons were made on the basis of the 1930 dollar, equalling the 1950 dollar, "whereas we all know that the dollar value of 1950 has no comparison with 1930 dollar values."

The 1930 tax rate was 39.2 mills and the levy was $904,990 or $40.37 per capita, while tax levies for 1950 — at a mill rate of 49.5 — were $1,905,000, an amount equal to $51.91 per capita.

This is an increase of about 25 per cent over 1930. "However," said Mayor Swanston, "let me again repeat that this is taking tax levies at the same dollar value, but according to the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, the index for 1930 was 117, as against 170 for 1950 — an increase of nearly 50 per cent."

Taking several of the individual items of civic expense, the mayor quoted the following figures (costs of running various departments in 1930 and 1950): fire department, 1930, $35,342; 1950, $127,000; police department, 1930, $27,465; 1950, $105,500; garbage, 1930, $13,416; 1950, $85,800; health, 1930, $5,784; 1950, $38,000; board of works, 1930, $85,500; 1950, $250,000; education, 1930, $320,545; 1950, 480,000.

These costs, say the mayor, gave a general idea of the great increase in service costs, due in part to the general increase in all costs, but more particularly due to compliance with "our higher standard of living in which we demand services unheard of 20 years ago."

Below Average City

Peterborough compares well with other cities in the province, said Mayor Swanston. The city's per capita assessment and tax levy in 1949 stood well below the average for 13 cities listed by the Department of Municipal Affairs.

The 13 cities, ranging in size from Toronto to Sarnia (population, 23,500), had an average tax levy of $48.60 and an average assessment of $1,032. Peterborough's tax levy was $46.24 and her per capita assessment was $954.

Said the mayor:

"After reviewing these facts . . . I am sure Peterborough has nothing to be pessimistic about. In 1930 we were just beginning to face the greatest depression of our time followed by the war years, and in spite of these trying years, our city emerged in recent years as one of Ontario's strongest financial municiplaities . . .

". . . At the beginning of 1951 we believe we have before us some of the best years from the industrial and business standpoint. There should be nothing to prevent us from maintaining our splendid financial position and to have a reasonable tax rate . . ."

Hope for the city's continued prosperity was evident, said Mayor Swanston, when "the expansion in our commercial and business centre" is noted. Commercial properties are being purchased at large prices by both local merchants and the larger chain organizations, who have shown they have great faith in Peterborough's future by investing substantial amounts in modern stores.

On the question of low-rental housing, the mayor said that such a project was possible in view of the recent change in viewpoint of the Department of Municipal Affairs. Previously, the department had been opposed to low-rental housing projects being amortized on a long term basis.

"I believe the department has adjusted its viewpoint in the matter of terms of years, because low rentals cannot be obtained on a 20-year payment basis.

"Such houses, to be of sufficiently low rental, must be on a long term basis, possibly 35 to 40 years. A project of this kind should be a self - sustaining debt, the same as our Utilities," said Mayor Swanston.

Eggs, Tomatoes Tossed At New Rector

GLASGOW, Scotland, Jan. 9—(AP). — Dr. John MacCormick took office as rector of Glasgow University Monday — in a shower of tomatoes, fire crackers and rotten eggs. Rattles, bells, shouts and piercing blasts of a trumpet drowned out the speech-making.

A live duck flung on the platform by angry students lurched around under the feet ofthe assembled dignitaries. Donald MacMillan, president of the the student council, opened his mouth to remonstrate with the crowd and was hit full in the face with a bag of flour.

When it was all over Dr. MacCormick told reporters mildly:

"One of the liveliest installations I've ever seen."

Dr. MacCormick, one of the best-hated and best-loved men in Scotland, was elected rector by a majority of the students in a lively campaign last month.

He is chairman of the Scottish Covenant Association, which demands a greater measure of home rule for Highlanders.

Suspend Licence

TORONTO, Jan. 9 (CP)—The Ontario Liquor Licence Board Monday suspended the licence of the Comemrcial Hotel at Hagersville for one week for selling beer after hours. The Bonnie Doon Social Club at Doon, in Waterloo county, was granted a dining-room and public-house licence.

Envoy To Spain

LONDON, Jan. 9 (AP)—Britain formally announced today the appointment of Sir John Balfour as her new ambassador to Spain. Sir John has been Britain's ambassador to Argentina.

Farm Youth Admits Slaying

KALAMAZOO, Mich., Jan. 9 (AP).—A husky farm youth confessed Monday, authorities said, that he strangled 19-year-old Carolyn Drown after he and a friend raped her.

Police Chief Howard Hoyt said Valorus (Bud) Mattheis admitted he strangled the Western Michigan College co-ed with her own scarfe to stifle her screams.

Hoyt said Mattheis and Raymond Lee Olson both confessed they raped the girl before she was strangled and her body dumped into a field near here the night of Nov. 26. Both Mattheis and Olson are 22 and live on adjoining farms in the vicinity of Vicksburg, Mich.

Earlier both had confessed raping the co-ed, whose body was found a week after she disappeared in a snowstorm during Thanksgiving holidays, but each blamed the other for strangling her, Hoyt said.

China's Ears Are Now Sealed Last English Paper To Go

By O. M. GREEN.

Ed. Note: The writer is the well-known authority on Far Eastern affairs, who was editor of The North Daily News for 20 years.)

It is reported that The North China Daily News — the century-old British paper of Shanghai and the last in China to be published in English — has applied for permission to close. Though unconfirmed, the report is far from improbable. Until recently The North China was permitted to publish foreign news picked up from broadcasts. But this has been stopped; only government "hand-outs" are permitted; and these, one can imagine, The North China, which for many decades ranked as the leading paper of the Far East, would not stoop to print.

Another cogent reason for closing could be the sudden death of Mr. R. T. Peyton-Griffin, editor since 1938. With a staff of unbelievable meagreness, Peyton-Griffin had virtually carried the whole paper on his shoulders since the Communists took Shanghai in May 1949, fighting an uphill battle with extraordinary courage and resolution. Under present conditions it is impossible to see who can replace him.

Whether The North China will be allowed to close, thereby throwing out of work a large number of Chinese printers and machinists, depends upon permission being given by the labour unions, whose consistent view is that wages of Chinese workers must be paid whatever the foreign employer's loss.

Closing Off China

But the report is symptomatic of the increasing extent to which the rulers of China are closing her ears to all information of the outside world. Chinese news papers have been strictly dragooned for over a year. There was a conference of publicists of all kinds in Peking in the autumn of 1949, at which they were "indoctinated" in the Party line (on the general principle that "news is not news unless it serves the aims of Marxist-Leninism") and since them no Chinese paper has dared to print anything not likely to be approved by Peking. Some have, in this, out-Heroded Herod: some of what were once high-class papers are now the most scurrilous defamers of the Americans.

For a few weeks, after the Communists took Shanghai, foreign news agencies were able to distribute news privately to subscribers, but then this was stopped. Why The North China Daily News was allowed to pick up radioed news for so long is a mystery. Perhaps it was due to the great regard of the Chinese public for 'Tze Ling" ("Forest of Type") the paper's Chinese name; perhaps to some sub-current of kindliness for the British which has been remarked more than once among the new men. Anyway, a harsher rule has now set in.

Few Foreign Publications

To import foreign publications in bulk is practically impossible though isolated copies may slip through. No bookshop would dare to sell foreign magazines; and though some non-Communist publications are said still to appear, Chinese subscribers are liable to be warned that they will need some sharp "re-education" unless they desist from reading "imperialist" literature.

The cinemas, of course, have long been purged of Western films, which used to be extremely popular. Only Russian films and those descriptive of the "Liberation" of China are permitted. To own a short-wave radio set is a serious offence, though there is little doubt that some of these sets are treasured secretly and their news agerly followed.

The people who suffer most from this cutting-off of contact with the outside world are the intelligentsia, scientists and scholars, who though in no way Communist [illegible] government because they believe it has something real to offer to China. Such men are obviously dependent in their daily work for knowledge of what is being done abroad. But they are powerless to obtain any remedy.

What makes this ban more sinister and terrifying is that it is not official. The Common Program (in effect, the new Constitution adopted when the new government was formally established in Peking on October 1, 1949) ennunciates freedom of thought, speech and assembly. But in practice this means freedom as defined by the Communist Party. The closing of China's ears is enforced by extra-legal moans, by Party agents and secret police.

Now a Police State

The good work that the Chinese Government has done and is doing — clean administration, restoration of currency, railways, river traffic, agriculture and distribution of food — can be freely admitted and is worthy of high commendation. But it is indisputable that China now is a police State though Chinese Communism appears to be guiltless of the wholesale purges and massacres common in Russia. Whether there are concentration camps for incorrigible sinners is not clear. The really dreaded weapon is "re-education," a sort of third degree though apparently without physical torture, but pursued so long and relentlessly that at the end the victim is almost ready to die from exhaustion and shame at loss of face.

It is this which has spread suspicion and fear among the public, so that foreign residents find that once intimate Chinese friends for many years past no longer dare speak to them freely lest somehow they should come under the suspicion of the Party spies and secret police.

No other way seems possible in any Communist State; no thinking, speaking or writing permissible except what Communist ideology prescribes. And one does not forget that the Kuomintang in its last year enforced a similar terorism among the student body. But it is sad to think that the Chinese people, among whom real democratic practice and liberty once prevailed, should have lived through all the miseries of the 40 years since the Revolution, only to find themselves bound in new chains.

Lauds Junior Farmers

TORONTO, Jan. 9 (CP)—W. T. Alexander, assistant general manager of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, in an address last day night praised the Junior Farmers' Association of Ontario as an organization rendering national service. He spoke at a dinner given executives of the association on the eve of its annual convention.

Archdeacon Dumbrille Dies In Maitland

MAITLAND, Jan. 9 — (CP).—Archdeacon Rupert John Dumbrille, 80, who retired from the active ministry in 1948 after 55 years' service to the Church of England in Canada, died at his home here Monday.

His retirement came on completion of 21 years as rector of St. Mary Magdalene Anglican Church at Napanee. Previously he had held charges at North Gower, and at Kemptville for 19 years.

A native of Maitland, he attended Public School there and later the High Schools at Prescott and Brockville. He graduated in theology from Trinity College, Toronto. In 1935, the Rt. Rev. John Lyons, then Bishop of Ontario, appointed him Archdeacon of Frontenac.

Million Dollar Fire Sweeps Store Block

MARTINSVILLE, Va., Jan. 9—(AP)—A wind-lashed blaze cut a $1,000,000 hole in the heart of this south-central Virginia furniture centre Sunday night and early today before it was brought under control.

Firemen mastered the flames after a four-hour fight which left most of one large business block a mass of smoking rubble.

Has $125,562 Estate

OTTAWA, Jan. 9 (CP) — An estate valued at $125,562 was left by C. Reid Hutchison, well known Ottawa curler and former vice-president of Hugh Carson Company Limited. His widow, Mrs. Margaret Hutchison, will receive the income from the estate for life. Upon her death, the remainder will be divided among their three children.

Row Between Pals Ends In Murder

[illegible], Jan. 9—(AP)—Two [illegible] friends who'd seen army service had a boyish argument Sunday over the merits of the infantry and paratroops and police said it ended with one dead and the other sobbing—"I killed my best friend."

Dead from a stab wound was George Engley, 17, who had two years in the infantry after enlisting at 15 by concealing his age.

Held by police was 19-year-old Robert O'Rourke, a paratroop private. Police Capt. Francis G. Wilson said he would seek a murder complaint against O'Rourke.

Color Movies Praised

TORONTO, Jan. 9 (CP)—Dr. Howard Haines of Ohio State University, Athens, O., said Monday color movies are good for children with weak eyes. He told the mid-winter congress of the Optometrical Association of Ontario that such movies strengthen the vision of a child with one weak eye because of their motion, light and color.

Firemen Get Raise

LONDON, Ont., Jan. 9 (CP) — City councillors Monday night awarded city firemen $278.80 per year increase in basic pay instead of cost-of-living bonuses.

CCL Man Urges Need To Control Prices And Rents

The recently-organized trade union campaign to re-impose price controls and maintain rent controls will benefit the majority of the Canadian people. That was the theme of an address Monday night by Jack Williams of Ottawa, publicity director of the Canadian Congress of Labor, who was speaking to the Peterborough and District Labor Council.

"For the first time in our history we have the principal labor organizations in Canada solidly united in this campaign. The CCL, TLC, Canadian and Catholic Confederation of Labor, and the railway running trades represent more than 1,000,000 Canadian workers. And if we include the families of these workers it makes up nearly a third of the people of our country."

Mr. Williams then stated that organized labor's job was not just to look after its own membership but to interpret the wants of the majority of the people in Canada.

"We speak for them," he said.

He pointed out that Canada is entering a period of war production. And one of the indirect results of this conversion from peace to war production is the crowding of people into urban centres to get war jobs.

Rent Controls "Essential"

Because of this it is more than ever necessary to maintain rent controls that are due to be dropped in April. In fact the government is already closing rent control offices across the dominion, he said.

"The ordinary citizen needs some protection," said Mr. Williams. We realize rent controls are not the whole answer but they are essential to it."

During the last war Canadians had a price control system they could be proud of, he said. From 1941 to 1946 the cost-of-living index went up five points. But in the 1946-50 period, with controls off, the index went up 50 points, or 10 times as much.

"That indicates the kind of thing we're forced to face today," he said, "and prices are still going up."

The price increases are particularly hard on the family's food budget, contended Mr. Williams. Some luxuries can be trimmed but a family can't afford to skimp on food.

Milk Example

He chose milk for [illegible]. Less of it is being consumed now than immediately after the last war. The cost of a quart of milk has almost doubled in most Canadian cities—from 10 cents to 19 cents.

"True, milk was subsidized. But I can't see very much wrong with that principle. If the government can subsidize gold mines it can subsidize milk."

But while advocating price controls, Mr. Williams was dead against a "wage freeze."

"Some people say they are the unholy twins. That if you have price controls you must have wage controls. The CCL says this is false."

Wages Already "Controlled"

He contended that wages are already "controlled." Industrial workers in either a union or non-union plant do not get increases by just asking for them.

Union workers must go through the "rigmarole and red tape" of negotiations as laid down by the terms of their contract and the labor laws. Generally, it means their opportunity for a boost in wages comes only once a year.

On the other hand the manufacturer does not have to negotiate, consult, or even report to anybody. He just puts an extra 10 or 20 per cent on the price tag and that's all there is to it.

"It's just not true that we must have wage controls," he said. "Most of the big companies are making the biggest profits in history and they can well afford to throw some of those profits back in the form of wage increases."

"The argument that we must have wage controls if we have price controls is as false as another favorite argument of the National Association of Manufacturers, Canadian Manufacturers' Association and the Chamber of Commerce. In their campaign to abolish price controls at the end of the war they said that the lifting of controls would result in a temporary rise in prices but when the law of supply and demand asserted itself prices would return to their previous level, and possibly even lower.

"We all know that didn't happen."

To Present Brief

What can be done about it?

Well, explained Mr. Williams, the united trades union bodies are busy drafting a brief recommending price controls that will be presented to the federal government, probably next month.

The labor council can join with other local labor bodies and call public meetings to discuss the matter and organize popular opinion. Be sure to have your MP on hand for these meetings, too, he advised.

Mr. Williams was introduced by Lorne Bebee, Local 293, UPWA-CCL, and thanked by William Whibbs, Local 524, IUE-CCL. President Alfred Barber, Local 210, UPWA-CCL, was in the chair.

Recommend Re-appointing Senior Member Of Trust

Re-appointment of Mr. Vincent Eastwood to the City Trust Commission was recommended to the council by its finance committee in a motion Monday night by Alderman J. A. Dewart and E. C. Braund.

"I don't think we should make any change," Mayor M. J. Swanston suggested. "The city Trust has not much longer to continue, and Mr. Eastwood has been a member for 42 years. It is a real record of service." Mr. Eastwood had earlier that day been elected chairman of the Trust for 31st year.

Robert J. Bolton, Albert E. Borland and Arnold S. Olmstead were retained as members of the Recreation Commission for three years, in a motion by Ald. J. A. Dewart, seconded by Ald. J. E. Gillespie. They were proposed by the Commission itself.

Representatives of the council on the Commission are: Ald. P. J. Anglesey, chairman of the parks committee; Ald. J. E. Gillespie, chairman of the board of works and Ald. H. T. Rehill. They were nominted in a motion by Alderman Dewart and Alderman N. Graham.

To Civic Arena Board.

Ald. Hugh Waddell was appointed to the Civic Arena management in a motion by Aldermen J. A. Gillespie and Braund. [illegible] takes the place of ex-Ald. Hurrell Dodds. The other members of the management board retain office until the end of the hockey season, March 31.

Aldermen Braund, Graham and Rehill were given an extra assignment as members of the city planning committee. They were nominated in a motion by Mayor Swanston and Ald. J. A. Dewart.

James Dutton, chairman of the planning board, had written the council that he was surprised to find that none of its members was appointed to that committee. He suggested that three should be named. Mayor Swanston is an ex-officio member.

Woman Driver Crashes

Going into a skid on Park Street as she was slowing her car down for the Wolfe Street intersection, Mrs. Ireane Anderson, Lakefield, crashed into a car parked on the west side of Park Street Monday evening.

The parked car was owned by James E. Victor, 138 Park Street. About $35 damage was done to the Anderson car and about $40 to the Victor car. Constable Harold Andrew investigated.

Lions Club Spent $64,117 On Pool

Riverside Park swimming pool cost Peterborough Lions Club approximately $64,117, exclusive of the work done by its members, estimated at $5,000.

This investment in their community project which was completed during the city's celebration of centennial year in 1950, was mentioned at the finance committee meeting Monday night.

A motion by Ald. J. A. Dewart and Ald. H. N. Young instructed City Solicitor Huycke to prepare a bylaw for the purpose of enabling the Lions Club formally to qualify for an Ontario government grant of $5,000.

Provincial Grant

The Community Centres Act provides for assistance up to $5,000 for the building of community centres, skating rinks, athletic fields, but originally did not specify public swimming pools.

"Evidently the Act has been amended, because some pools have received the grant," Mayor Swanston said. "The Lions Club has complied with what the council had in mind, and because of centennial year they spent more than they had planned. Certain details are necessary to comply with the Act, and if there is anything we can do to help them, we should do it."

Mayor Swanston said Lions Club intended to continue operation of the swimming pool for the public.

Ald. J. E. Gillespie enquired: "Do we have to take over the ownership?"

Mayor Swanston: "Yes, in a sense."

Ald. Gillespie: "I thought maybe we would eventually, in fifteen years or twenty. Does the bylaw mean that Lions Club will take less interest in the pool?"

Mayor Swanston: "No, they continue management and operation."

A long letter from the Club explained its position as applicant for the Ontario government's grant, and the circumstances by which the council can technically support their request.

City Will Offer Hughes $24,000 In Cash

Some day this week, City Solicitor W. F. Huycke, K.C., is going to lay $24,000, cash, on the table and offer it to Thomas Hughes and his solicitor, W. J. Arthur Fair, for the property down Monaghan Road that is to be the site of the new Collegiate Institute.

"A marked cheque isn't legal tender," Mr. Huycke told the finance committee Monday night.

Arbitration proceedings are to begin before Judge Smoke Feb. 14, St. Valentine's Day, "but I would like to make a tender to Mr. Hughes and Mr. Fair, and ask them will you take it or not'. That is if the council will trust me with $24,000 for a day.

"I think I should have an alderman attend with me as a matter of evidence."

Possibly, Mr. Huycke will be loaded with that more imposing, round-numbered sackful of $25,000. It suggests psychologic effect, possibly, disproportionate with the difference of a mere $1,000, the 'grand' of the sporting fraternity.

"Maybe Mr. Hughes might wish to avoid costs," said Mr. Huycke. "At any rate, if we make this tender, I think our position should be stronger if we have to go on to arbitration."

Mr. Fair at one time valued the Hughes place at $52,000. Council realty men could not see more than $21,500. Looking at that broad gap, the city offered $24,000, but that was refused. Judge Smoke required the council to deposit $28,600 into court as the basis of expropriation.

Apparently Mr. Huycke would like to tempt Mr. Hughes with $24,000, or maybe $25,000, with no further legal bother. It is not so very long ago when that township property of approximately 19 acres would have been somewhat extravagantly appraised at $11,000.

YMCA Board To Hear Hoskin

R. S. Hoskin, general secretary of the national council of the YMCA, will be on January 24 the guest speaker at the annual meeting of the Peterborough YMCA. The former judge of the family court will speak at the dinner immediately following the general meeting.

A nominating committee composed of Charles Cummer, D. A. Loomis, Dr. Ralph Honey, Donald Crawford, Newton Hamilton and Albert Dryland was chosen Monday night by the board of directors. Nominations are to be accepted up to one week prior to the meeting.

Friends of George Roper, former general secretary, are planning to recognize the faithful services of Mr. Roper at the annual meeting. A committee consisting of R. L. Dobbin, W. A. Richardson and Ian F. McRae will make arrangements.

A third committee of Stanley Payne, N. C. Munro, Kenneth Kingston, D. A. Loomis, Jack Wolstenholme, and James Wharry will arrange for the meeting.

Two new chairmen, Quirt McKinney, chairman of the newly-formed committee to develop the young men's non-physical program and P. M. McCarrell, chairman of the personnel committee, were named.

LICENCES

A total of 3,050 licence plates for commercial vehicles, doctors' cars, motorcycles, trailers and dual purpose vehicles arrived this morning at the Chamber of Commerce office. James Dorris, local issuer, said these plates would be available immediately.

Council Gives Residents Chance To Say If Scrap Metal Plant Wanted In Neighborhood

The application of H. Albert and Company to set up a scrap metal plant on the east side of High St., north of the CPR, is being referred by the finance committee of the council to the residents of that neighborhood.

The motion Monday night by Ald. H. F. Waddell, seconded by Ald. H. N. Young, directed City Clerk Outram to publish an advertisement of the proposed transfer of the Albert business from Bethune St. informing them of their opportunity of opposing it if they wished to do so.

A similar course was adopted by the council some weeks ago when Charles Doughty asked for permission to establish a cement block factory on the west side of Rogers St., north. It was to be carried on by his son.

Mr. Outram reported to the finance committee Monday night that on the morning following the announcement, which he had published, he received requests for petition forms. On the following day they were returned with the signatures of persons living on Rogers St., Stanley Ave. and other streets within several blocks of the vacant property owned by the city

"I don't think I ever saw quicker reaction," Mr. Outram said.

Petitioners objected that the value of their properties would be depreciated by the cement block plant and building supplies depot; that it would be a nuisance to the neighborhood; and finally that the area was zoned for residential purposes, and they wished it kept in that category.

"I think they have a perfect right to object," said Mayor Swanston. "That place was used as a gravel pit when the Hunter St. bridge was being built, and afterwards was a garbage dump for about 25 years. I move that the property be not sold for the present, and that it be retained as a residential section."

Ald. Anglesey seconded the motion which goes to the council as a recommendation unanimously supported.

"We certainly got an answer to our 'ad'," Ald. J. A. Dewart remarked.

Mr. Albert told the finance committee the plans for his company were to instal heavy presses and shears for cutting scrap metal and compressing them into cubes. There would also be lifting apparatus, and a warehouse for steel required in building operations if conditions of supply were favorable. He said there was no intention of wrecking cars on the property, and the plant would be enclosed by a fence. The location is mainly an old sand pit.

"I know there is opposition down there," said Ald. Young when the committee was recalling neighborhood sentiment last year.

"To be fair to the residents, I think we should run an ad in the paper telling them about the application of Mr. Albert," said Mayor Swanston. "If there is any objection raised by them, we'll have it ready for the planning board. We are now dealing with a zoning matter. It would still have to go to the Police Commission as a question of salvage location."

LEONARD C. BROWN, 71, is still missing from his home at 188 Dalhousie St. which he left Thursday morning. He was reported last seen about 10 a.m. Thursday on the foot bridge over the Otonabee River beside the CPR tracks. Police have searched the area, but found no trace of him.—Police Department photo.

Sawing Stopped Night Worker Can Sleep Again

In response to a complaint by M. Lucano, finance committee of the council Monday night ordered that a letter be written to Thompson Brothers, fuel dealers, Edinburgh St., that "there is to be no more wood cutting on their premises".

"Mr. Lucano works at night, and it is not fair that he has to put up with the noise of a sawing machine in his sleeping time," said Ald. Norman Graham.

"They have no permission to cut wood," said the chairman, Ald. Doug. Miller, "but they have permission to use the premises as a piling ground. It is a residential section and these people are annoyed by the operations."

Confine Cutting

Ald. Graham suggested that Thompson Brothers might be able to confine their wood cutting to several hours, 3 to 5 p.m.

"If they are interested in anything like that," said Mayor Swanston, "they'll come to us."

Ald. H. T. Rehill: "It is unusual to grant a license for piling only."

Mayor Swanston: "They have a permit, not a license."

COBOURG FAMILY FUND

The fund set up to help the family of Mr. and Mrs. Ken Hoare who lost their two-year-old son, Johnny, and all their possessions when their Cobourg home was destroyed by fire Wednesday, has had both good community response and also outside contributions. Three contributions have been received by Chief of Police W. J. Carey from Torontonians who had read of the disaster.

Gave Wrong Man Beer Coe Hill Man Fined

Hiram Wease, Coe Hill, made two mistakes. He had beer in his truck and he gave a bottle to Provincial Corporal Lloyd McClure,

The mistakes cost him a $15 fine and costs in police court today.

Corporal McClure said he came upon Wease's truck stopped on a highway and stopped his cruiser behind it the night of Dec. 8. He walked to the truck and was met by Wease staggering down the road with a bottle in each hand. Wease gave one of them to the the corporal before he realized he had the wrong man.

Parking Zones Restricted To Aid Traffic

No parking on the west side of Park St., between Rink and Perry Sts., during the hour from 4.30 to 5.30 p.m., Monday to Friday inclusive, was a partial solution of the Albert St. corner bottle-neck in recommendations to the finance committee of the council Monday night from the special traffic control committee.

Attitude of the finance committee, with Ald. T. D. Miller presiding as chairman, was: "Well, let's try it."

"It can affect only six cars," Ald. H. T. Rehill remarked. "Most of the curb space in front of the CGE office is already a restricted parking strip."

Members of the traffic control committee are: Chief Constable John Thompson; City Engineer A. E. Chalmers; City Clerk E. A. Outram, and Laurie Mitchell, of Peterborough Bus Lines.

Heavy congestion of traffic at the Alparka corner requires police control every workday around 5 p.m.

Give Business Consideration

That 'no parking' signs be placed on Park St. north and south of Lansdowne St., and on Park St. north and south of Chamberlain St. was next on the list. Clearance was suggested at 60 feet because there are stop and go lights.

"I think the businessmen at the corner of Lansdowne and Park Sts. should have some consideration," said Ald. E. C. Braund.

Purpose of the restriction is "to overcome traffic hazard along Park St., particularly in peak pericds."

"There is also a bank on Lansdowne St.," said Ald. Gillespie.

Finance committee changed the 60 feet to 40 feet on the east side of Park St. and north side of Lansdowne St.

George St. reverts to a through street at Argyle St. "Since the removal of the Civic Hospital, the present traffic regulations at this intersection are outdated."

Here was one that kindled expressions of opinion. "That the traffic bylaw be amended to provide that there be no parking on George St. within 200 feet north and south of Perry St."

Parking in the vicinity of Playfair bowling alley prompted that recommendation from the traffic control committee.

"One side of George St. ought to be sufficient," said Ald. Herbert Young. "That would leave parking on the other side, and I'd suggest the west side."

Restriction is to be on the east side of George St. from Lake St. to the southerly limit of the Beaver Lumber Co. property, and also no parking, both sides, 40 feet from the Perry St. corner.

Erect Signs

Clause five of the report was: "That a sign be erected 500 feet west of Park St. on Lansdowne St., giving warning that there are traffic lights 500 feet ahead."

Ald. Gillespie inserted an extra one calling for a similar sign on Charlotte St., 500 feet west of Monaghan Road.

"There'll soon be lights at Monaghan Road and Charlotte St." he said.

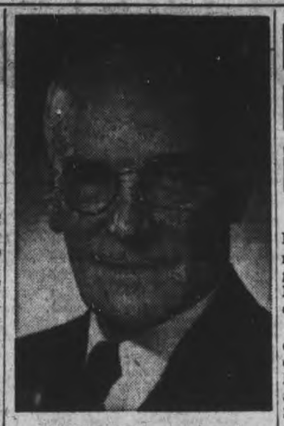
No parking on the south side Aylmer St. between Brock and McDonnel Streets is to be an amendment to the traffic bylaw. Control committee suggested the east side of Aylmer St., but finance committee switched restriction to the west side, retaining present regulations on the east side.

No parking onu the south side of Murray St. is to be extended from Aylmer St. to Bethune St.

Careless Parking

The report concluded: "It was decided to have an early meeting to consider a bylaw for controlling the operation of (a) the municipal parking lot (market); (b) traffic conditions on George St. in front of Canada Packers Limited; (c) possible amendment to the bylaw limiting the parking of cars on streets throughout the city."

City Clerk Outram said police have difficulty in "checking the parking time" of cars left standing at curbs all night. In some cities the practice is to set a fixed time, for example, 2 a.m.



Then all cars parked on streets can be swooped up as offenders of the bylaw. "Police don't have to watch them for sir hours."

In jest several of the members remarked that 2 a.m. was hardly late enough.

Council Approves $200 Change In City Hall

Approval of a change order in the contract for the city hall costing $200 for finishing hardware for four doors, one of them steel, was approved by the finance committee of the council Monday night.

Council proposed a change in the basement for the accommodation of the welfare department. The item of $200 applies only to the four doors.

Victoria Plans To Establish County Library

The Victoria County Council has laid the foundation for the first county library system in Eastern Ontario. This project will provide library services for all municipalities and rural sections of the county.

The Victoria service will follow the pattern of the 14 other library services that have been operating in the province for several years. The first one was put in operation in Lambton County 20 years ago and has proved a successful project since its initiation.

The county council passed the necessary legislation for the Victoria library service at its December meeting. At present applications of qualified libraries are being received. The duty of the librarian will be to organize and supervise all library activities in the county.

Such a service will involve the co-operation of all the libraries now established in the county plus the setting up of new library centres where necessary. Books will be transported among the various centres by a bookmobile.

The important factor of this project will be that rural people, primarily children, will be provided with good books that have previously been unobtainable.

Greek Situation Reported Improved

A New Year's letter of thanks arrived from Greece recently for a Peterborough lady who has been sending parcels of clothing to a Greek family for the past few years.

The writer, Mrs. Argyro Xanthopoulou, of Athens, says that the "political situation in Greece appears to be a bit better for the time being, after the . . . defeat of the Communist-bandits by the GNA (Green National Army).

Of the construction of the country, Mrs. Xanthopoulou says the Greek people "look forward with confidence at the future. There is a lot . . . to be done yet and I am very much afraid that the economy of the country cannot afford to spend so much money in order to reconstruct the country and repair the damages caused by the war and the insidious bandits."

The letter was written on New Year's Day and sent air mail.

To the sender of the parcel, which "really delighted" the writer's grandchildren Mrs. Xanthopoulou offered a blessing:

"May our Lord bless you and give you in double whatever you donate for the poor and the suffering."

THREE UN DELEGATES

The Peterborough and District Labor Council have appointed three delegates to the Peterborough United Nations Association. They are Ed Humphrey, Local 434, UPWA-CIO, Lorne Bebee, Local 293, UPWA-CIO, and W. E. Thomas, Local 210, UPWA-CIO.

Few Pupils Drop Public School For Employment

The rising cost of living has had little effect on the school enrolment in the upper public school grades in Peterborough, D. A. Loomis, public school attendance officer said today.

Reports throughout Ontario today indicate that the rising cost of living is forcing pupils in public school to drop out to take jobs and augment the family income. School principals in some large cities were reported to be concerned about this trend and have launched a program to discourage youngsters from leaving school.

Instead of increasing in Peterborough the problem is lessening in local public schools. The number of children at present out on employment permits is lower than any other year since Mr. Loomis joined the staff of the board of education in 1936.

"I think this year's low will be for all time too," said Mr. Loomis.

At present nine children from the public schools have obtained an employment certificate to leave school to work. In some cases, said Mr. Loomis, these children have to leave due to financial reasons. From the collegiate 13 students under 16 years have obtained the employment certificate to be able to work.

"For some time the number of students dropping out of the Peterborough public schools has decreased," he said. "Two years ago the decrease was nearly 50 per cent."

During 1949, Mr. Loomis reported, 20 pupils left public school to work, 16 left the collegiate and seven others upon passing from grade eight to grade nine, failed to attend collegiate in the fall. Last year these figures decreased to 15 from the public schools, 13 from the collegiate and two who passed from grade eight to grade nine.

"There is no great demand for public school students under 16 to leave school for financial reasons", he said.

Mr. Loomis said that he has to be satisfied that the job the pupil has is suitable for him before the employment certificate is issued. He added that in the majority of cases the pupil is assisted in locating a position if he definitely decides to leave school.

If the student hints that he wishes to leave, said Mr. Loomis, the school principal usually points out the disadvantages of leaving and the advantages of continuing his education. If the student is not satisfied then, he has an interview with Mr. Loomis.

"Most local plants will not have anything to do with boys or girls under 16 years old", said Mr. Loomis.

Reserve Units Resume Training

Peterborough's two reserve force units, the 50th Heavy AA Regiment, RCA, and the 28th Technical Squadron, RCEME, will resume tonight their 1950-1951 training program. This program will continue until summer camp which is usually held late in June.

The A and T staff of the 28th Technical Squadron announces three recent promotions among the non-commissioned officers. John Murray Young has been promoted from sergeant to staff-sergeant; William Eric Gaunt from sergeant to acting staff-sergeant, and Wilbert Angus Cross from corporal to acting sergeant.

Another truck, an American ¾-ton utility truck, has been added to the squadron's equipment, which includes a mobile workshop and a serving trailer. A large breakdown truck is also expected soon.

6—In Memoriams

CONWAY—In loving memory of William Conway, who passed away January 11, 1950.
The blow was great, the shock severe,
We little thought the end was near,
And only those who have lost can tell,
The pain of parting without farewell.
More each day we miss you, father,
Friends may thing the wound is healed,
But they little know the sorrow
That lies within our hearts concealed.
—Ever remembered by family.

HOUGHTON—In loving memory of Ernest Houghton, who died suddenly six years ago today, also his father who was killed in action October 4, 1916.
There is a link death cannot sever,
Love and remembrance last forever.
—Always remembered by his mother, brothers and sisters.

SNELGROVE—In loving memory of Mrs. Herb Snelgrove, who passed away January 9, 1946.
Gone is the face we loved so dear,
Silent is the voice we love to hear,
Too far away for sight or speech,
But not too far for thought to reach,
Sweet to remember her who once was here,
And who, though absent, is just as dear.
—Ever remembered by husband and sister.

6—In Memoriams

McILWAIN—In loving memory of Mrs. Elizabeth McIlwain, who passed away January 9, 1943.
Peaceful be thy rest dear mother,
It is sweet to breathe thy name,
In life we loved you dearly,
In death we do the same.
—Ever remembered by the family.

WHITWORTH—In loving memory of a dear wife and mother, Mary Ann Whitworth.
Sweet memories will linger forever,
Time cannot change them, it's true;
Years that may come cannot sever
Our loving remembrance of you.
—Ever remembered by husband and daughters.

WHITWORTH—In loving memory of my dear mother, Mary Ann Whitworth.
A silent thought, a secret tear,
Keeps her memory ever dear,
Time takes away the edge of grief,
Memory turns back every leaf.
—Lovingly remembered by Budd in Vancouver.

7—Cards of Thanks

I wish to thank the nurses and staff of Civic Hospital, attending doctor, ladies' auxiliary, ministers and all who sent cards, fruit and flowers during my recent illness.—Mrs. Hilliard Darling.

The Sisters and children of St. Vincent's Orphanage wish publicly to express their thanks to all who donated money, food, gifts and entertainments, at Christmas and throughout the year; also to those who invited children to their homes on Christmas Day. They wish all their benefactors a very happy, prosperous New Year.

The husband and family of the late Mrs. Bruce Sharpe wish to take this opportunity to thank their relatives, friends and neighbours for their many acts of kindness, flowers, cards, etc., during their recent sad bereavement.

Through the medium of this paper Mrs. E. F. Doig wishes to most sincerely thank the doctors, supervisors and nurses, all those at Civic Hospital, who in any way made her illness a much lighter burden to bear and the visitations of the ministers, Rev. F. W. Craik and Rev. E. W. Rowland. All the loving friends for the beautiful flowers, plants and cards during her sojourn in the new Civic Hospital has been deeply appreciated.

Asks New Department For Northern Ontario

DRYDEN, Ont., Jan. 9.—(CP).—J. G. White, Progressive Conservative member of the Ontario Legislature for Kenora, has written Premier Frost asking that a new department be set up for development in Northern Ontario.

Alternatively, he suggested a special division of either the department of planning and development or of lands and forests be created to do the job.

Mr. White said new roads are essential for developing of farming, tourist and forest operations, and that not enough help is being given those willing to spend their own funds to build such roads.

He maintained that Northern Ontario problems cannot be handled on the same basis as those of Southern Ontario. The area needs special attention, he said, because areas are vast and settlements scattered.

Hear Opposition To Annexation

KINGSTON, Jan. 9— (CP) — Submissions opposing Kingston's move to annex the village of Portsmouth and certain other suburban areas including parts of Kingston Township will be heard today before Ontario Municipal Board representatives.

The hearing Monday was told that the Aluminum Company of Canada is preparing a major program of expansion in the Kingston area. W. R. West, counsel for the Company, suggested that if the annexation is carried out, zoning by-laws will be necessary to protect the firm's interests.

The city announced that it plans to extend the area originally proposed for annexation by taking in 2,000 acres near its western limits "to meet and alleviate problems concerning school district No. 2." Arthur Kelly, representing the township protested against the extension.

Representatives of the city said the entire annexation project is necessary to provide room for expension of industries and for residential areas

Get Reinforcements For French Troops

SAIGON, Indo-China, Jan. 9—(AP)—French forces fighting Communist-led Nationalists in northern Indo-China were reinforced today by three infantry battalions and a tank regiment equipped with United States Sherman tanks.

The infantry troops were made up of one battalion of Moroccans, one of Senegalese and one of Foreign Legion troops.

The Red-led Nationalists Monday night staged a daring mortar raid on Saigon itself, killing three Indo-Chinese and wounding 29. Officials said they believed the mortar was installed little more than a mile from the centre of Saigon. It fired seven shells into the port area.

Two Nationalist demonstrators were wounded and 150 arrested this morning after a clash with police in Saigon. The demonstration was in honor of a student member who was killed a year ago during demonstrations.

Painter Admits Torso Slaying

NEW YORK, Jan. 9 (AP)—A housepainter confessed to Brooklyn's dime-locker torso slaying early today, officials said, a few hours after detectives nabbed him trying to flee his boarding house in pyjamas.

Police Commissioner Thomas F. Murphy and District Attorney Miles F. McDonald announced the confession by Pasquale Donofrio, 38.

McDonald said Donofrio admitted the slaying of Dorothy Martin, 37, of Saugerties, N.Y., last Nov. 25.

Her dismembered body was found stuffed into two suitcases last Dec. 4 in two lockers in the Long Island railroad station. An autopsy showed that Miss Martin died from strangulation.

Donofrio was booked on a homicide charge and was to be arraigned later today. No motive for the slaying was annuonced by officials.

Miss Martin, daughter of the Saugerties postmaster, had lived with Donofrio here and in Albany, N.Y. police said.

The housepainter was seized in a four-storey rooming house only a few blocks from both Brooklyn police headquarters and the railroad terminal.

Super Aircraft Carrier Planned By U.S. Navy

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9 (AP)—A new $2,000,000,000 Navy shipbuilding program, including a so-called super-aircraft carrier, was outlined Monday in a bill introduced in the House of Representatives by Representative Carl Vinson (Dem. Ga.).

Vinson, chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, said the Bill bore the approval of both the Defence Department and the Budget Bureau, and could be considered an "Administration Bill."

In addition to the outsize carrier, authority is provided for construction of more than 80 vessels, and for modernization and conversion of 250 existing ships.

Councillors Guests At Rotary Meeting

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 9 — (ENS)—The Campbellford Rotary Club entertained the elected representatives of the Seymour township and the town of Campbellford at the Monday luncheon.

Rotarian Reeve Ralph J. Locke introduced Reeve Jack Billen of Seymour township who in turn introduced each of the members of his council. Major J. E. Ayrhart introduced the members of the Campbellford Council, and also addressed the club and its many guests.

In his address, Mr. Ayrhart said he sincerely believed the next fifty years belonged to Canada. He said he felt the progress made in Campbellford during recent years was an example to other communities and was reflected throughout the country. Mr. Ayrhart told of the closer co-operation that now exists between the people of Quebec and the other provinces.

Dockers Announce 24-Hour Strike Plan

MELBOURNE, Australia, Jan. 9 (Reuters). — Dock workers throughout Australia decided today to stage a 24-hour strike starting at midnight tonight.

They are protesting against the basic-wage award for dock workers fixed by the arbitration court, which, the dockers claim, gives them only about half of the recent basic wage increase of £1 (about $2.10).

It is expected that 26,000 men will walk out in all Australian ports.

Co-operation Needed Protect Ontario Fish

TORONTO, Jan. 9—(CP)—Research and co-operation between various interested organizations are highly important in conservation and protection of Ontario's fish and wildlife, the Federation of Commercial Fishermen was told Monday night.

George Bishop of Sheguindah, president of the Ontario Outfitters' Association said the Federation of Fishermen, the Federation of Anglers and Hunters, and the Outfitters' Association have much in common in such efforts.

He commended the Provincial Lands Department for the co-operation and help it gives to various private groups.

Mr. Bishop is a member of the advisory board of the South Bay Mouth project, world's largest experimental project pertaining to fisheries.

Olympic Committee Worried About Funds

CHICAGO, Jan. 9 (AP).—The United States Olympic Committee today had official Washington approval of participation in the Pan-American games at Buenos Aires, Feb. 25-March 8, but lack of money still was a sticker.

Avery Brundage, committee chairman, disclosed that Edward W. Barrett, U.S. Assistant Secretary of State, had written him to wish the proposed U.S. team of 125 athletes "the best of luck."

On the subject of financing the Argentine junket, Brundage was quite glum. "As of right now, we have only 25 per cent of our projected $200,000 budget in the bank or pledged," he said.

The Argentine Olympic Committee has assembled a 19-sport program for the competition that will lure some 2,000 athletes from every western hemisphere country with the possible exception of Canada.

Conservation Plan Expanded During 1950

TORONTO Jan. 9 —(CP)—Expansion of conservation measures during 1950 was reported today by the Ontario Lands and Forests department in a survey of the year's activities.

The department said that its biggest single project—taking inventory of the province's crown-held forests—was nearing completion as the year ended, and plans for instituting forest management on a sustained-yield basis were moving ahead.

During the year, the department's staff reached a high point of 158 compared with 69 in 1946. The technical staff of the timber management division took on 15 graduate engineers to speed up the forest stock-taking and to train them for the forest-management plan.

Organization Completed

Organization of forest-management administration was completed for the districts of Port Arthur, Geraldton, Kapuskasing, Cochrane, Timiskaming North Bay, Sudbury and Quinte, the department said. Organization is under way in other districts.

The department also entered into two agreements with private woods operators for cutting of red, white and jack pine in the Petawawa forest management unit near Pembroke, Ont. This 600,000-acre tract was the first crown-held natural forested area to be placed under new timber regulations requiring selected cutting on a permanent - yield basis.

This unit will be used as a model for others to follow, the department said. It was set up primarily to ensure a permanent supply of raw material for the wood-using industries around Pembroke.

Y's Men Speaker Back In Korea

George A. Fitch, a veteran of 37 years with the YMCA in China and Korea, has returned to the Korean fighting area to help with the evacuation of the civilians. The local YMCA staff in response to requests were informed Monday of Mr. Fitch's actions. He spoke in November to the Y's Men's Club on the situation in Korea.

Mr. Fitch's service with the YMCA in China began in 1909 and he acted as general secretary in most of the Chinese provinces. Through his work he has become well known to both the Nationalist and Communist leaders in China and Korea. In 1946 he worked for a year with UNRRA fighting famine in the Yellow River area.

June, 1947, found him in Korea, reorganizing the YMCA's services there. He has been decorated three times by the Chinese government.

Mr. Fitch told the Y's Men's Club that more than money aid, religion was needed in the Far East. Christianity in Korea wields a far greater force than would be imagined from the number of Christians in the country—three per cent of the population.

Of the Koreans, he added, they were a hardy, generous and hospitable people. Their contributions to the churches and other institutes were large for their small incomes.

Miss Mildred Dawson

The funeral for the late Mildred Dawson, who died Sunday, December 24 was held from her late residence Wednesday, Dec. 27.

Miss Dawson was in her 38th year and was the daughter of the late Edmund and Pearl Dawson. Although she was in ill health for some time her sudden passing comes as a shock to her family and many friends in South Monaghan.

She is survived by two brothers, Alfred of Sudbury and Robert at home and her step-mother Mrs. Ira Dawson.

The funeral was conducted by Rev. B. Heywood of Bensfort United Church of which Mildred was a faithful member when her health permitted.

Pall bearers were: Gerald Anderson, Lloyd Jackson, Herb Dawson, Jim Wood, Robert Fisher, Merton Thompson.

Flower bearers were: Rick Robinson, Grant Thorn, Harold Thorn, Allan Dawson, Arthur Beebee, Dawson Rutherford, Frank Dawson.

Interment was made in Dawson cemetery.

Vivian Wm. Lancaster

The funeral for Vivian William Lancaster, 2 Hastings Ave., who died Friday was held from the Comstock funeral home Monday. The Rev. C. G. Boyd of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church conducted the service.

The pallbearers were Havelock Fee, Maitland Wells, Harold Graham, James Richmond, Leonard Warren, William Austin. Burial was in Little Lake cemetery.

Cancel Trains

FRANKFURT, Germany, Jan. 9— (Reuters) — West German railways announced Monday night that 36 long-distance express trains and 16 others will be cancelled on Wednesday because of the coal shortage. Earlier the West German cabinet decided to ask the Allied High Commission for a reduction of 1,000,000 tons in West Germany's quarterly coal exports, now, 6,830,000 tons.

DOROTHY DIX

How Far Should Parents Go In Guiding Teen-agers?

DEAR MISS DIX: We agree with you that children should be taught independence and to use their own judgment, but don't you think that parents should have the privilege of advising and consulting with the children? We have some adopted children who resent our every inquiry into their affairs and who seem to think that we should make no suggestions to them; that our only duty is to finance them, give them clothes and cars and the money with which to amuse themselves.

Dorothy Dix

MRS. T. J. D.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Teaching children to stand alone mentally and morally should be done just exactly as they are taught how to stand on their own feet and to walk physically. The toddler needs his parent's hand to hold him steady and to teach him how to take the first step. He needs to be taught what dangers to avoid and how to pick himself up when he stumbles and try it again when he falls down.

Mind Needs Training

And he needs the same mental training. No child can know of himself what to eat, when to go to bed, what to study at school, how to handle money, how to get along with other children. All these things have to be taught, and it is chiefly through the parent's advice that the younger learns how to handle himself and acquires judgement and wisdom.

Just as a little child is taught to walk by exercising the muscles of its legs, so it should be taught independence and self-reliance and wisdom by being permitted to exercise its mind and make its own decisions under the parent's guiding hand. Parents should no more do all of their children's thinking for them than they should carry them around in their arms after they are old enough and strong enough to stand on their own feet.

Successful parenthood consists in fathers and mothers keeping such close companions with their children that their children will confide in them and voluntarily ask their advice and guidance after they have really been emancipated from parental control. Experience will have taught them that Mother and Father are nearly always right about things, and that they can depend upon their understanding all of their problems and dealing with them with sympathy.

DEAR MISS DIX: I had been secretly married to a very likeable young man for about six months when a married man in the same office where I work started making love to me. This swept me off my feet so much that I divorced my husband. Now I am thrown over by the married man and learn that he has an affair such as mine every two months. I have repented my folly plenty and would give anything to have my husband back. Although he is heartbroken and would take me back I don't think it would be the right thing to do because if he knew what a cheat I have been he wouldn't want me. I am only 19 and I would like to shoot every married man who flirts with a girl.

DISILLUSIONED.

ANSWER: He deserves it, but what about doing something lethal to a girl who has an affair with a married man, knowing that if she succeeds in getting her man she is destroying the happiness of a sister woman, orphaning little children and wrecking a home?

That at 19 you should have secretly married, divorced and had an affair with a married man proves my contention that girls in their teens don't know their own minds about men, and have no more business to be playing with love than a child has to be playing with fire. My suggestion to you is to eat humble pie and ask your husband to give you another trial, but to wait another year until you are sure of yourself before you venture into marriage again. And then do it openly and honestly, not secretly.

DEAR MISS DIX: Do you think it possible that a young man and young woman could have enough in common to marry on and live happily ever after even though one of them has more formal education than the other?

C.G.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I never heard of such a ridiculous question. You seem to think that all education comes put up in schoolbook packages and that every one who does not possess a diploma is a moron. An educated man is certainly wise to consider the mental calibre of a woman before he marries her and to be sure that she is not ignorant, but if a girl has a bright and alert mind that meets his, if she is fond of reading and interested in the things he is, the question of whether she has a college diploma or not is negligible.

Travellers Aid March Of Dimes

The Associated Canadian Travellers began on Monday their campaign in Ontario to aid the Canadian March of Dimes, Polio Fund.

This campaign is conducted through the Canadian Foundation of Poliomyelitis. One hundred and fifty coin boxes have been distributed with 200 more to be placed in and around Peterborough. A monster bingo will be launched later in the campaign, also a shower of dimes late in January and early in February.

ATC was founded shortly after World War 1 by three travellers who made a pact to assist one another's families during the influenza epidemic. From that humble but definite beginning ACT has grown to approximately 32 clubs with a membership of 3,000.

The western ACT clubs raised $750,000 to fight TB and the eastern ACT clubs adopted the polio campaign at their provincial conference to keep up the good work.

Says Discovered Way To Raise Brain Power

LONDON, Jan. 9 (Reuters)—Dr. Robert Nevil Leyton British gland specialist, claims to have discovered a treatment for increasing the powers of the human brain.

Business men who have lost their grip, "brain workers" unable to concentrate and backward children are among those he says he has treated with success.

Dr. Leyton, 40, injects a concentrate of pituitary whole gland just below the brain of the patient. Injections are given over a period of three to four months. The treatment is not dangerous, Dr. Leyton said.

Dr. Leyton, who began work on this treatment 10 years ago has treated 300 cases. He claims that with 75 per cent he has had success.

Father Goes Berserk

PIKEVILLE, Ky., Jan. 9 (AP)—A white-haired father of six, irked at his family's habit of attending church at night, Monday killed his wife and 19-year-old son and wounded two of his younger children, one critically. Police quoted Millard Cochran, 58, of Feds Creek, as saying: "Yes. I shot them. Each one. It was self defence. They was always picking on me. They would have killed me."

New Trade Pact

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Jan. 9 (Reuters) — Sweden and West Germany have initialled a 1951 trade agreement which may wipe out Germany's trade deficit. The deficit at the end of 1950 was about $48,000,000. Trading under the new agreement will be at pre-war level, which always showed a balance favorable to Germany. Swedn will get coal, steel and chemicals in exchange for butter, eggs, wood and paper.

Hastings Triumphs

MARMORA, Jan. 9 (ENS). — Hastings juvenile hockey team playing Marmora in the OMHA "C" series at Marmora on Monday evening won decisively by the score of 9-2.

Killian was playing his first game in goal and while he was beaten nine times, he made some clever stops.

Outstanding players for Hastings were Cobbledick, who did the hat trick, A. McMillan, Stevenson and Gummer. For Marmora, Hickey, Paraniuk, McNally and Bell were most aggressive. A small crowd witnessed the encounter.

Teams:

Hastings — Goal, Montgomery; defence, Chambers and Isaac; centre, Stevenson; wings, A. McMillan and Herrington; alternates, Cobbledick, Gummer, Post, Dodd, Wilson, Condon, Warrington, J. McMillan.

Marmora—Goal, Killian; defence, Nicholson and Brownlie; centre, Hickey; wings, Bell and Paraniuk; alternates, McNally, Walker, Clemens, Logan, Bonter, Lynch, Sabine, O'Connor; spare goalie, Kouri.

Referee—Bob Scriver, Hastings.

"Gaiety Girl" Dies

BRIGHTON, ENGLAND, Jan. 9 —(AP)— Mrs. Hilton Philipson, 64, former showgirl who became one of Britain's first women members of the House of Commons died today after a short illness. As Mabel Russell, Mrs. Philipson was one of London's famous "Gaiety Girls" before the First World War. Married and retired from show business, she enetered politics and from 1922 to 1929 was Conservative M.P. for Berwick. Her husband died in 1941.

European Press Praises Truman Speech

LONDON, Jan. 9 —(AP)—The free press of Europe today hailed President Truman's state-of-the-union speech as a morale builder for all nations resisting Communist aggression.

Reflecting the general approval expressed in the British press Monday night, newspapers in France, Belgium, Scandinavia and other countries under the Communist shadow said the speech would harden western Europe's will to defend itself.

As yet there was no reaction reported from Moscow, but elsewhere the Communist press, with its usual single accord, branded the speech as a new step toward a "war of aggression."

The independent Figaro of Paris pretty well summed up the western reaction with these words:

"The year of weakness is over. America has not forgotten the unfortunate consequences of appeasement."

The Times of London called for Britain's government leaders to "do as well in defining what the demands of readiness, without war, must be."

The independent Manchester Guardian said:

"The speech will give heart to many in Europe who have been thrown into a sad depression by Mr. Hoover and Senator Taft."

The Guardian complained again, however, as it has several times recently about U.S. policy toward China. Is not Truman, the paper asked, "historically wrong in attributing the great revolutionary upheaval in China to Russian 'fomenting?'"

Flick Captures Scoring Lead

TORONTO, Jan. 9 (CP).—Bill Flick, performing for the last-place Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen, has taken over the scoring lead in the Ontario Hockey Association's four-team major circuit.

The 23-year-old right-winger from Stratford has 13 goals and 20 assists so far this season for a total of 33 points, OHA statistics released today show.

Flick helped himself to the scoring lead here last Friday when he scored three goals and assisted on another as the Dutchmen defeated the second-place Marlboros 5-4.

In second place with 32 points —11 goals and 21 assists—is veteran Johnny Conick of the third-place Hamilton Tigers. John Ubriaco of St. Michael's College Monarchs follows with 31 points.

Murray Comfort, Conick's linemate, and Mickey Roth of Kitchener-Waterloo are tied in fourth place with 30 points each.

Gordon Hannigah of Marlboros leads the goal-getters with 16 while Ubriaco leads in assists with 22.

Phil Hughes, St. Mike's netminder, has the league's best goals-against average—3.05. Ed Rafferty of Marlboros is next with 3.53.

Asked Donate Clothing, Bedding

Monthly meeting of Sacred Heart CWL took place Sunday evening in the club house. The Rev. G. F. Sullivan recited the league praper and Mrs. H. Masterson accompanied the members as they sang the league hymn. Mrs. L. Martyn presided as Mrs. H. Connelly read the minutes, Mrs. H. Kylie read correspondence, and Mrs. W. Curtis gave the financial report. The members were urged to attend the card parties held each week. Bowling will commence on Wednesday, at which time members were asked to bring any useful, discarded clothing and bedding for several needy families. Following adjournment of the meeting Father Sullivan said the prayers and a social hour was enjoyed.

Reycraft who returned to England last year after an extended visit here. A letter from Sister Mary Alice thanked the Auxiliary for treating the children of St. Vincent's Orphanage at Christmas. The bowling club is to resume activities this Thursday evening.

Illustrated Talk Given By Exchange Teacher

A preference for Scotland, particularly the district around Glasgow, was expressed by Mrs. Mary E. Guillet at conclusion fo a travelogue on her "European Adventure" here Monday evening.

Mrs. Guillet was speaking to the University Women's Club of Peterborough about experiences while she and her husband and son and daughter were exchange teachers and pupils in Glasgow for the '49-'50 terms and describing their motor tours through European countries during the Easter vacation and summer holidays. Her lecture was illustrated with a collection of picture cards of the points of interest which were projected on the screen for better visibility.

The speaker is the wife of Mr. Edwin C. Guillet who was born in Cobourg. Now on the Toronto teaching staff as a history teacher he spends a good deal of time writing books on history, one of which is the present reference book for pupils of grades 6 and 7. He has been given much assistance in this work by his wife who was also a teacher before their marriage. During the term in Glasgow he was engaged for five months as teacher of home economics and reported getting along very well, though she had not taught the subject before. The family is known to many in Kawartha district as summer vacations are spent at Stony lake.

In her Glasgow home Mrs. Guillet learned to cook over an open coal fire. To reach her third-floor apartment she climbed stone steps which she saw laboriously cleaned by a scrubwoman and thought that the hardest job she had ever seen a woman do until she watched women in "fish shops" who stood at a table all day cutting up fish.

To her, the most interesting visit was with a 72-year old weaver of tartans in a village 30 miles from Glasgow who is one of four who still work there, though the village once had 200 weavers. His loom is 200 years old and is equipped to weave two tartans at one time.

The pictures were of animal drawings made 20 to 0 thousand years ago which were found on the walls of a French cave by the freak accident of a child's pet in 1940. The cave is just now being prepared for public exhibit. A number of pictures showed examples of Roman architecture as she covered the trip through Italy.

"I didn't feel comfortable in Germany," said Mrs. Guillet. "The people looked sad and so poor and most of the buildings were in ruins." She quickly passed on to Denmark where the scenery is like Ontario, the roads crowded with bicyclists and everyone looking happy.

Sweden was the most interesting and most flourishing country she observed. The people lived mostly in large apartment houses that seemed to be "the last word" in convenience.

The family's summer motor tour concluded in Norway, followed by a voyage to England.

Miss Nel Schell, formerly of Holland, thanked the speaker and presented a small gift.

President Mrs. J. E. Watters conducted the meeting.

Monthly meeting of the Catholic Junior League was held on Monday evening in St. Mary's School with president Miss Rita Young presiding.

Miss E. Ellis reported 69 paid-up members. Mrs. William Gannon announced that study clubs would be resumed next Monday evening at the homes of Misses Vivian Sullivan and Florence O'Toole.

Miss Veronica O'Leary reported 10 Christmas baskets had been sent out and Miss Alice Krom read letters of thanks from the House of Providence and St. Vincent's Orphanage. She also read letters from the Rev. J. G. Kay at Kearney and Rev. Father Ryan at Britt, thanking members for boxes of toys sent to their parishes.

A letter from Miss Vivian Sullivan thanked the girls for their work in knitting bootees for new babies. Members were requested to bring used Christmas cards to the next meeting.

Speaker of the evening, Mr. Alex Kay, was introduced by Mrs. E. Collis. Mr. Kay has addressed the members on several occasions and is always welcomed with a great deal of enthusiasm. He spoke on birds, animals and trees, and his knowledge and manner of speaking are a delight to his hearers.

Mr. Kay mentioned importance of the 268 kinds of birds and pointed out that of this number only seven can be killed, which include the starling, crow, blackbird, ladybird and home hawks, but not the night-hawk, fish-hawk, sparrow-hawk, saw-whet owl, nor the barred owl, and emphasized why these cannot be killed. One of the most valuable birds is the flicker, which is continually cleaning lawns of ants. There are nine different kinds of woodpeckers, all being beneficial, and they have wonderful hearing and eyesight, he said.

Pointing out the great value of the forests, there being 1,400 different kinds of trees, Mr. Kay urged knowledge and study of trees, and also taking great precautions to avoid forest fires.

Members learned that toads are very valuable in destroying insects in the garden. It was pointed out that the fisher is the only animal that can kill a porcupine.

A discussion followed with the members asking many questions and Mr. Kay telling many interesting stories of actual happenings. He pointed that anyone caught breaking the fish and game laws will have all equipment confiscated.

A vote of thanks was moved by Mrs. Robert Baldwin.

The meeting closed with the serving of refreshments by Miss Genevieve Murray and her committee.

QUEEN ALEXANDRA SCHOOL

Growing interest in the subjects taught at public school and the work of their children was evidenced at Queen Alexandra School Monday evening by the crowd of parents attending the open house. A gratifying number of fathers was among those present.

On behalf of the Home and School Association, vice-presidents Mrs. A. Black and Mrs. C. G. Law extended welcome at the door.

Teachers were in their rooms and were assisted in showing the displays by room mothers: Mr. J. E. R. Munro, principal, by Mrs. R. Healey and Mrs. A. Lewis; Mr. K. McKee by Mrs. A. Bacon and Mrs. C. Jackson; Mr. N. Gainer by Mrs. G. H. Hutchinson and Mrs. T. E. Pritchard; Miss B. Hart by Mrs. H. R. Selby and Mrs. E. Outram; Miss Arnold by Mrs. D. Snelgrove and Mrs. L. Hiscox; Miss H. Bonnycastle by Mrs. W. H. McGee and Mrs. J. Wilson; Miss Armstrong by Mrs. I. Drain and Mrs. R McIlmoyle; Miss G. Cox by Mrs. G. T. Cheetle and Mrs. K. McVeety; Miss H. Staples by Mrs. A. Clark and Mrs. T. Kelly; Miss I. Connolly by Mrs. W. Triggs and Mrs. L. Mullen.

Tea was served in the kindergarten room under direction of Mrs. G. Norris, and a background of soft piano music was provided by Mrs. A. Black and Mrs. K. McVeety.

Mrs. O. Axford attended the membership registration book and Mrs. F. Shaw was in charge of a display of Home and School publications.

CENTRAL SCHOOL

Mr. D. Crawford, principal, was speaker at Central Home and School Association meeting on Monday evening. Speaking on curriculum planning, he said that quickly changing world conditions, keep changes in the curriculum necessary. No longer is it a rigid program but teachers and parents are being given the opportunity to plan and adopt courses most suitable to their own community. Many changes have been outlined in recent departmental memoranda and the Hope Report, just released has recommended many others.

Ann and Murray Mander entertained with several duets on the marimba and the appreciation of the audience to them and to Mr. Crawford was expressed by Mrs. W. J. Armstrong.

Two films, "Come to the Fair" and "Canada Dances" were shown by Mr. L. Bird.

Mrs. L. Raper, parent education convener, announced the first meeting of the study group on adolescents will be held in the school projection room on January 16, at 3 o'clock and that an appropriate film will be shown.

Attendance prizes were won by Miss M. Brock's room in the Junior School and by Mr. Crawford's and Mr. Crown's rooms in the Senior School.

Refreshments were served at the close by Mrs. E. Williams and her committee.

Spring Fashions Adopting 'Pruned' Look

NEW YORK, Jan. 9 (AP).—The "pruned" look is the thing for 1951, is the opinion of designer Maurice Rentner, showing his spring collection to some 150 visiting fashion editors during the first day of New York's crowded week of spring style previews.

Explaining his theories Mr. Rentner says:

"I have discarded every detail that might detract from that smooth young look. . . Everything is pruned, polished, close-clipped . . . actually what I have done is to give fashion a spring cleaning."

Timed to an age of advanced star-gazing, Mr. Rentner shows the "telescope" silhouette, with skirts narrow at the top, slightly flaring at the bottom, in the manner of a telescope. Sometimes the skirts are tiered, telescope fashion, and sometimes sleeves are the same.

"Briefcase" is the Rentner name for a series of neat, streamlined little suits, sometimes identified by a jeweled strap on the sleeve. His "short flight" silhouette is a brief, flaring bolero usually teamed with a one-piece dress, sometimes with a skirt and handkerchief linen blouse.

Pauline Trigere shows her usual good taste and feeling for rich fabric contrasts in a distinguished collection of ladylike clothes which stress full-length coats with matching skirts, suits with contrasting linings and a slim silhouette often relieved by back pleats beginning just below the knee.

CBC Official Approves Career Women

VICTORIA, B. C., Jan. 9 (CP). Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Farr, newly-appointed member of the CBC board of governors, is a staunch supporter of careers for women.

She admits she knows little about her new post—one of many she has held—but said: "I am very anxious to learn."

She has pioneered many movements for women, although she is not the first woman to be appointed to the board of governors, the rulers of Canada's National Radio Corporation.

Eleven years ago British Columbia was represented on the board by the famed author and women's advocate, Mrs. Nellie McClung.

Mrs. Farr combined a career with that of homemaker. She is the widow of E. Stanley Farr, educationist and lawyer, who died in 1948. And she is the mother of three grown daughters, two of whom are married.

Born at Warwick, Ont., she graduated from the University of Toronto in home economics in 1913, and came to Victoria two years later.

First Teacher

Mrs. Farr was the first teacher in home economics at the Normal School here and pioneered in the movement to establish a home economics course at the University of B.C.

She is tenacious. It was 20 years before she saw success in her advocacy of home economics at the unuiversity.

During the Second World War she divided her time between the women's regional advisory committee, A.R.P. work and a nutritional committee. She is first vice-president of the Victoria Branch, Women's Canadian Club.

Mrs. Farr's hobbies are gardening, which she finds "relaxing" and her three grandchildren, whom, she says, are "stimulating."

What's Right

WRONG: Say, "Come and see me some time."

RIGHT: You pay the first call, and then extend your invitation.

Mrs. Chas. Huffman Elected Head Civic Women's Aux.

Mrs. Charles Huffman is the new president of the Civic Hospital Women's Auxiliary and took over the reins of leadership Monday afternoon when a Board meeting was held. This short meeting for the naming of officers followed the annual general meeting at which reports of the past year are read, held in the conference room on the sixth floor of the new hospital.

Successor to Mrs. E. C. Braund, Mrs. Huffman will also have as executive assistants, Mrs. W. E. Fanning, first vice-president; Mrs. E. Chambers, second vice-president; Mrs. W. T. Fanjoy, recording secretary; Mrs. W. Garner, corresponding secretary; Mrs. F. Barrie, treasurer; Mrs. R. Williamson, press and public relations.

To the list of honorary presidents of this Auxiliary has been added the name of Mrs. M. J. Swanston. The others are Mrs. F. M. De La Fosse, Mrs. G. K. Fraser, Mrs. H. R. Scott and Mrs. J. R. Marshall.

Ten New Directors

The number of directors was increased last year to 45, in order to handle work in the larger building, and appointments were made on the condition that 15 members would retire each year though remaining eligible for re-election.

Ten members have retired from all activity with the Auxiliary in 1951 and are replaced by the following new members: Mrs. Geo. Coleman Jr., Mrs. Charles Forsyth, Mrs. C. B. Neal, Mrs. C. Murkar, Mrs. K. W. Strasser, Mrs. Carl Reed, Mrs. L. Zacks, Mrs. W. K. McGee, Mrs. Roy Beeler Sr., and Mrs. H. T. Rehill.

These ladies were selected, as nearly as possible, from the locality where the retiring member lived, and replaced that number also in regard to the term of years for which she was elected.

Those who retired are: Mrs. W. R. L. Blackwell, Mrs. E. Brackenridge, Mrs. W. G. Ovens, Mrs. Roy Taylor, Mrs. W. J. Gilling, Mrs. G. K. Fraser, Mrs. J. Low, Mrs W. R. Thomas, Mrs. H. I. Walker and Mrs. H. Wright.

Complete List

The complete list of directors for the coming year is:

Elected For Three Years

Mrs. F. Barrie, Mrs. G. Coleman, Mrs. E Chambers, Mrs W T. Fanjoy, Mrs. W. E. Fanning, Mrs. C. Forgyth, Mrs. W J. Garner, Mrs. G. C. Miller, Mrs. E. C. Moore, Miss E. Morrow, Mrs. C. Murkar, Mrs. C. B. Neil, Mrs. A. Rosborough, Mrs. K. W. Strasser, Mrs R. Williamson, Mrs. Carl Reed.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Cottage Cheese Can Be Aid To Badly Strained Budgets

Even if you are tied hand and foot, are halt and maimed and living alone on a desert island, by some means or other you have learned that milk is the best and most economical of foods.

Now because the dairy industry is one of Canada's major industries, and because cottage cheese is made from milk, it follows that it too is one of the top few foods that are rich in nutrition and low in cost.

In Time newsmagazine I read that the US government statisticians predict—nay assure us—that the cost-of-living index is bound to go up and up this winter.

Some may have surplus funds to cope with this alarming trend, that may be reflected in our country. Most of us do not.

I am putting myself on record today that I hope to introduce new recipes to your table that you will enjoy cooking, your family will enjoy eating and that you all will profit from, nutritionally and financially.

Cottage Cheese Salad

Soak 1½ teaspoons gelatine in ¾ cup milk for 5 minutes, then stand in hot water and stir until gelatine is dissolved. Cool to room temperature, then add 3 cups cottage cheese, ¼ cup French or mayonnaise dressing, 1 tablespoon lemon juice or vinegar, 1 teaspoon chopped onion or 1 tablespoon chopped chives, ½ chopped green pepper, 6 sliced stuffed olives, 2 sweet pickles. Pour and press into 1 large mould or 8 small ones and chill until set. Unmould on bed of lettuce and serve with tomato. If desired tomato juice may be used in place of milk, when you would replace garnish of tomato on salad plate with celery hearts.

✧ ✧ ✧

Cottage Cheese Torte

(These amounts will serve eight but this is delicious when served the second time.)

Twenty Graham crackers, ¾ cup sugar, ¼ cup melted butter, 1 lb. cottage cheese, 2 tablespoons flour, ¼ teaspoon salt, 2 eggs and 1 egg yolk, ½ cup cream, ¼ cup milk, 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind, ½ teaspoon vanilla. Mix together finely rolled Graham crackers, ¼ cup sugar and the melted butter; remove about ¼ cup of them for the top. Press remaining over bottom and sides of pie plate. Bake this 5 minutes at 350 deg. Fahr. Put the cottage cheese through a sieve and add to it remaining ½ cup sugar, the flour and salt. Beat the eggs and egg yolks until light and thick, then add cream, milk, lemon rind and vanilla to them. Add all to cottage cheese mixture, and mix well. Turn into crumb-lined pie plate. Sprinkle remaining crumbs over top. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for 25 or 30 minutes.

When you serve the above dessert count it as part of your protein content of the meal and let your main course consist of a vegetable plate, or rich and nourishing soup such as Split Pea or Onion Soup with croutons and grated cheese.

Cottage Cheese Salad Dressing

One cup cottage cheese, 1 cup tomato soup condensed or canned tomato sauce, ¼ cup each salad oil and chili sauce, 1 tablespoon chopped onion or 2 tablespoons chopped chives. Combine all ingredients in bowl and beat until perfectly smooth and blended. This makes a delicious dressing for wedges of lettuce or mixed greens.

It combines well with soft cheese as a stuffing for celery or as a spread for crackers for canapes.

Write to me if you like the cottage cheese idea and want more of such recipes.

Aid to Condons Being Arranged

Aid in the form of clothing and household supplies to the family of Mr. Jack Condon whose home was burned out last week is to be given at once by the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Canadian Legion it was unanimously decided at the meeting Monday evening.

President Mrs. Albert Mason also asked that some flannelette be purchased and made up in layettes to have on hand when needed. She advised that a used clothing room has been set aside in the Legion Hall from which to outfit veterans and their families when necessary. Donations for this room will be called for on notification to telephone number 6203.

Some novelty felt doll sewing kits were received from Mrs. J

Large Contribution Made To Hospital by Auxiliary

The sum of $11,050 was donated last year by the Women's Auxiliary for the furnishing of 16 rooms in the west wing on the second floor of the new Civic Hospital. A donation of $1,000 to be spent in the nurses' residence has been promised but has not yet been used.

This money comes from a fund which has been accumulated over a period of years for the express purpose of becoming the Auxiliary's contribution to the new hospital. A three-hour tour of the hospital was taken by the buying committee, with the full executive invited to accompany, and an unaimous choice on furnishing the west wing, second floor, was then made. The donation actually comes from the residents of the city and community who have each year paid a small membership fee and have bought tickets on the penny sale.

A legacy of $5,000 from the late Mrs. Herbert (Nina E.) McKee was added to the list of donations when her death occurred in November last. The money is being used to pay for the lavish furnishings of the reception room in the nurses' residence.

A summary of the donations for furnishings in the new hospital was read by Miss E. M. Morrow. To date there have been 52 donations in cash, amounting to $36,687, and three donations given directly (a lectern and paintings). There have also been two donations of $2,000, each specified for children's wards and for nurseries which have not yet been used in full.

Increased Membership

An increase in membership of 713 persons was reported by the convener, Mrs. E. Chambers, who gave the total for 1950 as 4,631. There was also an increase of six life members (Mrs. E. Breckenridge, Mrs. Reed of Burleigh Falls, Mrs. Schnieder, Miss M. Medd, Mrs. J. Low and Mrs. G. E. Porter) bringing tthis total to 119. Receipts for the year, less expenses, gave a balance of $1,-124.39.

Assets of the Auxiliary, as reported by Mrs. F. Barrie, total $6,597.34. The summary showed on hand: petty cash, $3.46; savings, $1,220.24; special savings, $413; life membership, $460.64; Dominion of Canada Bonds: special savings, $3,000, life membership, $1,500.

Committee Reports

The various service committees all reported pleasure and satisfaction from their work as they had received so much evidence of appreciation from the patients. Most sincere thanks for their help was expressed by Mr. John Hornal, superintendent, who added, "I don't think too much can be said for the Women's Auxiliary. It is quite conceivable that this hospital would not have been achieved without this organized body of women which has interested thousands of people in the problems of the hospital."

Miss A. L. Thomson, director of nursing, also thanked the auxiliary for what is being done in the hospital, and advised that there is need for toys and books for the children's ward at the present time.

The visiting committee, one of the first formed, made an average of 70 calls a week last year, Mrs. Alex Rosborough reported. Sixty ladies from the general membership assisted the committee in visiting the wards and distributing fruit. Cigarettes were sent to Robert Nixon at Guelph Hospital, a patient in whom the auxiliary became interested when he was at Civic.

Donations Received

The bootee committee spent its quota of $100 last year, but some wool on hand and some still out with knitters was reported by convener Mrs. I. McRae. She reported a total of 481 pairs of bootees donated, of which 350 pair were given by Mrs. John R. Marshall. Other donators were Mrs. Edith Yelland, Miss Margaret English, Mrs. Reed of Burleigh Falls, Mrs. John Comstock, Mrs. H. McKenzie, Mrs. G. K. Fraser of Burleigh Falls, Miss Margaret Lees, Mrs. Fisk, Mrs. Spencer and Mrs. Starsmere. In expressing thanks to those who had knitted 584 pairs from hospital wool she particularly mentioned knitters at Anson House.

Mrs. W. T. Fanjoy reported for the library committee, which circulated 2,212 pieces of reading material last year, making contact with 5,484 patients. Miss Margaret English, reporting on the tuck-cart, said the supplies are bought, where possible, from the booth run by the Institute of the Blind, and are now carried to the wards in a smaller cart purchased last fall. From receipts the committee sent a cheque for $225 to the treasurer and $50.01 remains on hand.

Committee Commended

The decorating committee was highly commended for its work in making the hospital a more pleasant place for patients, visitors and staff, and bringing holiday joy into the institution. Mrs. W. Garner reported a total expenditure of $36.13 on the Valentine, Easter, Thanksgiving and Christmas favors and decorations.

Scholarship committee has available $150 for use of one or two graduate nurses during the current year and two bursaries of $50 each for a refresher course in any branch of hospital nursing which are to be applied to the director of nursing, Mrs. R. Williamson advised the meeting. A $50 prize for proficiency in bedside nursing was presented at the graduation exercises to Miss Elizabeth Blair.

Chief use of the transportation committee was for the entertainment of nurses-in-training Mrs. E. Brackenridge reported. This service is available also for any indigent patients.

Air Power In Korea Limited Unable To Attack Reserves

Some of the recent fighting has drawn attention once more to the question of air support for troops in action, says a British release. The term "ground strafing" which emerged in the First World War, has fallen out of the airman's vocabulary because he rightly insists on a wider and more comprehensive use of air power in support of the army than can be given if aircraft are employed simply as mobile artillery in any specific action.

Nevertheless, some of the situations in the Korean fighting have evoked urgent requests for close support by the air arm and have drawn attention to the difficulty of "isolating the battlefield" and immobilizing the enemy in some kinds of terrain and against certain kinds of troops.

Direct Attacks

Direct attacks by aircraft on troops in action will evidently become necessary especially where communications are primitive and the enemy is trained and equipped for guerrilla warfare.

In the Korean fighting this aspect may have been given unusual prominence by the limitations imposed on the air arm. The depth of air operations is restricted by the decision not to include targets on Chinese territory. Nothing therefore, could be done to forestall enemy action while the forces and their resources were approaching the area of hostilities. Even air reconnaissance in assembly and supply areas was largely banned.

Air power was not free, as it was in Normandy and again on the Rhine, to go deep into the enemy's rear for the purpose of disorganizing his preparations and cutting him off from his reserves and his supplies. His large forces were open to air attack only in the narrow belt between the Chinese frontier and the United Nations front.

Broken Country

That belt and much of the ground to the south of it, consisted of broken and hilly country in which troops accustomed to guerrilla war could move without the massive supply tail necessary to a highly mechanized army. Given enough infantry armed with anti-tank weapons and with guns of the Bren type, progress against a force on the defensive could be ensured.

If the fire power of the defending troops should prove insufficient to check the advance of a numerically superior enemy the tendency is to seek additional fire power from the air arm. In such circumstances, aircraft are at the disadvantage of having to attack small scattered and mobile targets with a supply of ammunition which sets a strict term to the duration of their attack.

An average ground-attack, airplane adopted from a fighter, can carry up to eight rockets, cannon ammunition for less than two minutes of firing and two bombs varying in size according to the characteristics of the airplane.

There still seems to be doubt about the demoralizing effect of attack from the air on troops who have to endure it, but there was plenty of evidence in operations against German troops that it has to be heavy and continuous to prevent troops from proceeding with the action to which they are committed.

British Front

No British ground attack aircraft have yet been used in Korea but the British, conscious of the peculiar conditions in which such support may have to be given, have devoted much attention to the subject. All standard fighters of the RAF have their ground-attack versions in which big loads, arrangements for swift re-arming, and high speed for a swift return to the scene of the fighting are combined to mitigate disadvantages of brief and passing attack. The Meteor's armory for example is quite formidable. It takes either 16 heavy rocket projectiles or four 1,000-lb. bombs in addition to its four 20 m.m cannon. For short range work it can mount two more cannon in place of its central fuel tank.

The Vampire was the first of the new fighters to be adapted for ground attack work and it has promised well because of its ability to use small fields and because it needs little attention on the ground between sorties. Its successor, the Venom, with more power can also be used on this kind of duty. Both types are remarkable for the high degree of control they afford and so are particularly suitable for work against small targets.

These jet aircraft are well conceived for ground attack work. In low level flying their fuel consumption is right but they still have ample range for dealing with most snap targets at army request. As their engines do not have to be warmed up before take-off, their response to a request is all the more swift. Whereas, in the campaign against Germany, half an hour usually elapsed between the request for support and its fulfilment, the margin now seems likely to be reduced to 15 minutes at ranges up to 60 miles.

Justice Barlow Rejects Request

Mr. Justice Barlow has directed at Osgoode Hall that the city's proposed arbitration in its acquiring of the property of Thomas Hughes, Monaghan Road south, should proceed before Judge S. L. Smoke.

Details of that stage of the preliminaries were reported to the finance committee of the council Monday by W. F. Huycke, KC, who represented the city at the hearing in chambers in Toronto of the motion presented by W. J. A. Fair, solicitor for Mr. Hughes.

The city had paid $28,000 into court, as required by Judge Smoke, as evidence of good faith and also as the financial basis of the action.

Mr. Hughes had finally decided to accept that amount, but the city estimated that it was more than the property was worth. For $25,000, it was intimated at times, they were willing to close the deal with Mr. Hughes, thereby avoiding the stresses of judicial hearing.

The property is wanted mainly for a new Collegiate Institute in the south end.

British Envoy Praises Relations With U.S.

BOSTON, Jan. 9—(AP)—Britain's ambassador to the United States said Monday that relationships between the two countries "at the present time are good."

Sir Oliver Franks told a press conference he felt they were "good enough to take debates in either country," on foreign affairs.

He emphasized the tradition of both Britain and the U.S. was that "power alone was not sufficient or adequate to account for things which go in relationships between countries."

Sir Oliver, who arrived here for a week's tour of New England said Britain doesn't "assume war is inevitable, but we do assume peace is something which has got to be worked for very hard."

Toronto May Expect Higher Tax Rate

TORONTO, Jan. 9 — (CP) — Mayor Hiram McCallum Monday told the inaugural meeting of city council that a tigher tax rate for Toronto is "unavoidable" in 1951 unless services are drastically curtailed.

If wage demands by civic workers and board of education employees were met, they alone would add six mills to last year's tax rate of 33.3 mills, he said.

In his opinion, top priority among civic projects this year should go to erection of a new city hall or courthouse as the first step in a civic square development.

8 Youths Arrested In Dance Fracas

BRANTFORD, Jan. 9—(CP)—Eight youths were arrested early Sunday and charged with causing a disturbance at a dance hall east of nearby Cainsville. Minor injuries were suffered by several members of the group in a scuffle at the restaurant. They were released on bail.

The youths were Joseph Young, Charles Barsony, Fred Snively, Albert Richwood, Donald Miller, Joseph Clark, all of Brantford, Bob Pickering, Paris and William Charbanick, Toronto.

The fight which started inside the dance hall when one of the youths grabbed another man's wife, lasted about 20 minutes, police said. Provincial police broke it up.

Menzies Has Influenza

LONDON, Jan. 9 — (AP) — Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies of Australia became ill with influenza Monday. He was unable to attend the Conference of Commonwealth Prime Ministers now in session here.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

Russia with 370 Submarines Surpasses Nazi Top Figure

By ROBERT M. PEARSON

Blockade, a strategy of war older than the siege of Troy, has not been superseded by the jet airplane or the atom bomb.

The fact that the Russians realize this is confirmed in a recent alarming report on the strength of the Soviet navy issued by Janes' Fighting Ships, an authoritative British publication.

Alarming Aspect

The larming aspect of Jane's report for Canada and the whole North American continent appears in the paragraph outlining Stalin's submarine strength.

Russian submarines are already in Jane's estimate 350 to 370 Russian submarines are already in services with another 120 abuilding.

The alarming aspect of this estimate can be readily appreciated when it is remembered that the Germans in World War I had a maximum of 140 submarines and in World War II a top of 250.

In both these conflicts the Germans were on the verge of bringing the Allied powers to their knees because of the effectiveness of the U-boat blockade. In 1917 and in 1942 the Hun land and air armies dominated continental Europe and their undersea craft were strangling the forces opposed to them by cutting off the supply of food and war material from North America.

Rationing Felt

In both wars, Canada and the United States felt the pinch of wartime rationing because the U-boats were stopping the flow of food and raw materials coming by sea from other parts of the globe.

In the latter years of both Great Wars the German U-boats were defeated but only after a very great effort on the part of the Allies. The convoy system of shepherding the slow merchantmen across the Atlantic was credited with the victories.

Judging from the Jane's estimate it can be assumed the Russians are prepared to take up U-boat warfare where the Germans left off. Whether the key theatre of war is in Europe or Asia, the Russians are in a position to start tightening the noose of blockade the day the war starts for they can operate in the Pacific out of the Chinese and Manchurian ports or in the Atlantic out of the Baltic ports.

It is possible that they consider their submarine fleet sufficient to handle both the Atlantic and Pacific assignments and complete the blockade before the United Nations convoy systems can swing into action.

Has Advantage

The undersea fleet has the initial advantage when a war starts. The aggressor can fix the date on which he wishes to commence hostilities and places his U-boats in the shipping lanes. Because they move without serious threat or detection, in peace time at least, their whereabouts is unknown until the first torpedo explodes in the side of a freighter.

Knowing this, the U.N. surface fleets must have their convoy escorts ready to go into operation the minute that first torpedo blast shatters the ocean calm.

The Royal Canadian Navy, with two coastlines each supporting several vital harbors, is faced therefore with a difficult task. It must be ready to start fighting the day war is declared. It cannot, like the army, and the air force, recruit and build up its forces on home ground against the day of the "big push."

It must fight with the man and ships available at the moment.

Its preparation for war must be made in the roaring days of peace. This is not an easy task in a democracy where public opinion for war lags far behind the necessity of war preparations.

Busy In Peace

Canada's navy in these days of peace is busy, then, preparing for the day when it will be called upon to help keep the lifelines of the continent open.

Its command knows they will have no time to plan and make ready. They must outgun and outguess the enemy now or suffer defeat later.

They know, too, they face a more formidable foe than they did in 1914 and 1939.

The submarine, instead of falling behind in the race of superiority, has added new teeth to its deadly jaw.

Some UK Naval Units Under Eisenhower

LONDON, Jan. 9—(AP)—Britain will include naval units among the forces it will place under Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's North Atlantic Forces command.

A Defence Ministry spokesman said the number and types of units have not been decided and that consultation with Eisenhower when he comes to London will include this subject.

The King has been asked to give his formal approval to the move.

Discuss Changes

MONTREAL, Jan. 9—(CP)—Railway and union officials Monday reopened discussions on rule changes necessary because of the five-day, 40-hour week awarded 125,000 non-operating railway employees in the Kellock report two weeks ago. The new work hours will go into effect June 1, 1951.

Pleads Guilty Of Shoplifting

Ronald Dwyer, 20, of Crowe's Landing, has been remanded for sentence in Lindsay police court after pleading guilty to charges of shopbreaking and taking a truck without the owner's permission.

According to police evidence Dwyer, on December 23, entered the commissary of the Standard Chemical Co., Harcourt, and after taking $5 in change and a checkered windbreaker he escaped in a three-ton truck. He got the keys to the truck in the camp office.

Provincial Constable A. R. Edwards of Minden investigated the breakin and gave OPP headquarters in Peterborough a description of the stolen property. Constables T. H. Fitzpatrick and Jack McKendry arrested Dwyer next day at his brother's home in Peterborough.

They recovered the windbreaker, $4.20 in silver, and returned the truck undamaged.

He pleaded guilty to both charges in Lindsay police court and was remanded a week pending the arrival of his police record.

Former RCMP Man Dies In UK Asylum

LONDON, Jan. 9—(Reuters)—Ronald True, former RCMP member convicted of murder in the sensational "beautiful butterfly" case of 1922, died in Broadmoor Asylum Sunday night.

True, 58, was reputed to be the son of an Irish peer. His trial for the murder of Gertrude Yates, allas Olive Young, gripped public imagination with its story of passion, debauchery and drug addiction. She was found naked and strangled in her bath after True had spent the night at her apartment here.

True was sentenced to death after a five-day trial but was later ordered to Broadmoor when three leading experts found him insane.

During his trial his wife testified to his drug habits while other witnesses told of his wanderings in Canada, where he joined the RCMP, and in other parts of the world.

True died after a heart attack suffered at a New Year's dance.

Report Airliner Has Very Narrow Escape

BRISTOL, England, Jan. 9 — (CP)— A four-engined B. O. A. C. airliner on a training flight overshot a runway at Filton Airport near here Monday and smashed into a brick warehouse containing thousands of gallons of gasoline.

The Civil Aviation Ministery said one member of the crew of six was "slightly injured."

The high test gasoline in the warehouse did not catch fire.

Ask Municipal Costs Cut Down In Chatham

CHATHAM, Jan. 9 (CP)—Declaring he did not wish to see any penny pinching on vital public works, Mayor W. A. Donovan in his inaugural address to the new city council Monday appealed for aid in cutting out unnecessary municipal expenditures. He urged a ceiling tax rate at the 1950 level of 48 mills as Chatham's contribution to a nationwide fight against inflation.

The mayor asked three new committees to promote city planning, a liaison with the townships, Kent county and the province in matters such as the proposed new Thames bridge and highway, and operation of the city airport.

The mayor also urged complete renovation of Harrison Hall, now the city building by virtue of Chatham's purchase of Kent county's interest, a close watch on the city debenture debt, and co-operation with national authorities in dealing with the threats of war and inflation.

Soviet Puts U.S. On Spot

Anxious To Avoid Talks With Russia Now

By NORA BELOFF

WASHINGTON. — The Soviet proposals for a Council of Foreign Ministers to be held to discuss German demilitarization have placed the American Government in an embarrassing predicament. Secretary of State Dean Acheson and his advisers can see nothing to be gained and a good deal to be lost in such a meeting at the present time. Nevertheless, they fear that outright rejection might be misunderstood by the outside world and would certainly be twisted by the Russians to look as if the American leaders were a bunch of gangsters who preferred force to diplomacy.

In practice, rather than alienate world opinion and give the Communists another chance to split the Western Allies, the Americans would probably prefer to resign themselves to another Big Four encounter.

There are four major reasons, however, why they are still hoping to persuade the British and French Governments, in secret talks in Washington, to join them in a manoeuvre aimed at diplomatic disengagement:

1. This first reason is basic: the Americans are now working on the assumption that no agreement with the Russians is worth negotiating. This view was clearly expressed almost one year ago by Mr. Acheson and nothing has happened since to change his mind. 'We have seen," he declared, "that agreements with the Soviet Government are useful only when they register existing facts or situations which exist by implication, when the agreements are no longer necessary, and that they are not useful when they are merely agreements which do not register existing facts."

Try Easy Penetration

Mr. Acheson argued that Soviet Russia has an "elemental" urge to push forward wherever a situation's weakness and unrest make penetration easy. He has compared pleading with the Russians against aggression to pleading with a river against flowing.

2. Beyond this negative view that a meeting of the Council of Foreign Ministers would be of no use, the Americans are seriously alarmed over the positive and harmful effects it would have on Germany itself. Ever since the unexpected opposition to sharing in NATO (North Atlantic Treaty Organization) defences German reliability as a newly-adopted Western Ally has been questioned. Even if no agreement is reached with the Russians, the Americans fear that the mere fact of negotiations would be enough to alarm the Adenauer Government and encourage further German suspicions that they are being "sold out" by the Western leaders.

Revive French Alarms

3. Amerilan leaders also suspect that the Russians would use the meeting to revive French alarms over German rearmament and might threaten and cajole France into virtual paralysis. The Americans are still very uncertain of French support for their own government on the Western defence plans, and would be very reluctant to submit French leaders to a public test.

4. American diplomats are also afraid of violent reactions from their own public if hopes for a negotiated settlement and the end of the cold war are first aroused and then smashed. As Secretary Acheson and General Marshall have repeatedly told the American people, calm nerves and steady purpose will be required during the months and year ahead. They expect exactly opposite results from a diplomatic "showdown" during the present crisis.

The American Government now wants to see a period of intensive rearmament in the United States uninterrupted by hopes of an all-out settlement and panicky disappointments. As they see it, this is the essential condition of bringing American military power into line with American world commitments. In their view, a time should come when negotiations based on Western strength and self-confidence could have at least formal usefulness in getting the Russians adjusted to "situations which exist." But that time is not now.

U.N. Troops Re-Enter Wonju After Smashing Red Attack

St. Laurent Believes Russian People Do Not Want a War

LONDON, Jan. 10—(Reuters)—Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent of Canada said tonight he believes the Russian people want peace—but their leaders seek world domination. "We have not lost hope of preventing a Third World War," he said in a BBC broadcast. "The prevention of war is certainly the first concern of free peoples. "I believe the people themselves in every country want peace and I am sure that if the people of the Soviet Union had access to the truth and a voice in their own affairs there would be peace.

"But that is not the situation and we do not dare ignore the fact that that great country is armed to the teeth; and that the policies of the Soviet government leave no doubt that the real aim of its rulers is the domination of the world by force or fear of force."

St. Laurent, in London to take part in the present Commonwealth talks on world affairs, said no country "is going to start a war without feeling it has a good prospect of winning it."

Must Build Resources

That was why, he added, North Atlantic Pact countries must build up their military resources "to prevent a world war by removing the prospect of successful aggression."

No responsible person, he said, wanted to see the war in Korea "develop into a sort of undeclared war between the United Nations and the Chinese people."

Such a war would benefit "no one on our side" and "might give a great relative advantage in world power to the Soviet Union if that country is able to avoid being directly embroiled in it."

Though armed strength was necessary in the present world crisis, there would "never be stable and enduring peace in the world until we can achieve among all nations something of the mutual respect and understanding we are striving to maintain within the Commonwealth," he said.

"I believe the greatest service of the Commonwealth today is that it points the way to the ultimate goal in which peace and brotherhood, the genuine desire to live and let live, will be the ideals of men and nations everywhere."

Second Petition Seeks To Delay Guay Hanging

QUEBEC, Jan. 10—(CP)—The second of two petitions within 48 hours for postponement of the hanging of little J. Albert Guay was laid today before Mr. Justice Albert Sevigny.

The 33-year-old Quebec jeweler, convicted of engineering the wreck of an airliner with loss of 23 lives, is due to die on the scaffold at Bordeaux jail, in Montreal, shortly after midnight Thursday.

Mr. Justice Sevigny, Chief Judge of Quebec Superior Court, said he will rule on the plea "by Thursday at the latest."

The petition came not from Guay's lawyers, unsuccessful Tuesday in a similar move for a stay of the execution of the jeweler, but from the lawyers of Mrs. Arthur Pitre.

The 42-year-old woman is due to go on trial Feb. 20 as Guay's alleged accomplice in the airplane time-bombing of Sept. 9, 1949.

Need Testimony

Irenee Simard, counsel for Mrs. Pitre, said the defence wishes to question Guay and "probably" will need his testimony at Mrs. Pitre's trial.

Solicitor General Antoine Rivard, opposing the petition as he opposed the one by Guay's lawyers, pounced on a statement by Simard that Mrs. Pitre did not personally ask for postponement of Guay's hanging.

Simard said he lodged the petition himself feeling it was his "professional duty" to overlook no factor in Mrs. Pitre's defence.

Mr. Rivard said that when Guay was tried last year "three persons were implicated to some degree" in the Sault Au Cochon plane explosion case.

"Today," Mr. Rivard added, "we have one who collaborated with Guay coming to his rescue. The three first paragraphs of the petition before your lordship are the same as the first three paragraphs of the petition presented by Guay's lawyers and which you put aside yesterday.

"I wish to underline this coincidence."

10-Year Terms Senator's Plan

HALIFAX, Jan. 10 — (CP) — Gordon B. Isnor, who spent 15 years in the House of Commons before he was appointed to the Senate last May, Tuesday got into the controversial question of reforming the upper house by offering for consideration four "views" that included an elective system and age and term limitations.

The Nova Scotia senator, speaking to a Progressive Service Club luncheon, submitted these plans:

1. All future vacancies in the Senate to be replaced by election in the provinces where the vacancies occur.

2. That in 1955, an election be held for 51 seats and a second election to be worked out. Each slate of 51 successful candidates would be elected for a 10-year term which would assure an overlapping continuity.

3. All present senators be retired on annual living allowances in 1960, with the exception of those senators successfully re-elected in 1955.

4. Qualifications for a senator would be changed in only one respect. He would be under 70 years at the time of his election. At present there is no age limit for appointment to the upper house.

Rearmament Worries Japanese Premier

TOKYO, Jan. 10 (AP).—Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida told the world tonight that rearmament of Japan should not be undertaken without "discreet handling as well as mature deliberation."

The political chief of Japan's 80,000,000 people named two prime reasons while building up of an army would be a serious move:

1. Some countries are desperately afraid of the implications of the renewal of Japanese armies. "Internally, we have every reason to avoid doing anything which might intensify that fear."

2. The cost of rearmament "would upset out entire program for economic rehabilitation."

Yoshida said Japan is "ranged whole-heartedly on the side of the United Nations" and is giving every support to the U.N. cause "within its power to give."

Loses Council Seat In Private Feud

WHITBY, Jan. 10 (CP). — A private feud with another councillor has resulted in Joseph J. McLaren losing his town council seat.

Officials reported Tuesday that McLaren did not take the oath of office by the date of the inaugural meeting Monday, making him ineligible to accept the council seat he retained in the recent election.

Mr. McLaren issued a statement last weekend saying he felt he could not sit on the same council with Russell J. Underwood. Both were councillors last year and had several heated arguments.

Mayor William Elliott has instructed the returning officer, town clerk John R. Frost, to call for nominations at an early date.

To Relieve Sioux

OTTAWA, Jan. 10—(CP)—The first replacement for Canada's Korean destroyers is slated to join them this week, the navy said today. She is the Nootka, tribal class destroyer which sailed from Halifax Nov. 25. She will relieve the Sioux, allowing the latter to sail for her home base at Esquimalt where she is expected early next month.

8 Premiers Approve Plan Rearm Japan

Put Four Conditions To Curb Danger Of Offensive Moves

LONDON, Jan. 10—(CP)—Commonwealth representatives today continued unity talks with anxious ears perked to new British and Indian efforts to bring the United States and Communist China together on the Korean issue.

India was reported offering, or ready to offer, the Chinese Reds a time-table for the withdrawal of all foreign troops from Korea as an inducement to secure a permanent cease-fire from Peiping.

Meanwhile most Commonwealth leaders, conference sources said, seemed ready to go along with the United States in a program of rebuilding Japanese military forces.

4 Conditions

The Prime Ministers meeting here were said, however, to consider necessary these four conditions:

1. Japanese military strength should be linked to the non-Communist countries and the United States should be permitted to base troops in Japan.

2. Countries signing a Japanese treaty should agree to act together if a rearmed Japan should attack any one of them.

3. Japanese air and sea power should be restricted in its offensive possibilities.

4. Invitations should be sent Russia and Red China to attend the Japanese peace conference, but the treaty should be written despite the Communist refusal to participate.

Later the Commonwealth leaders switched to the problems of Europe.

Foreign Secretary Bevin of Britain gave the statesmen an analysis of these problems in terms of the east-west conflict.

The conference also received details of Britain's commitments in manpower, money and rearmament under the North Atlantic Treaty organization.

There is general Commonwealth recognition of the importance of Britain's part in the organization. But Commonwealth prime ministers hope it will not adversely affect their trade with Britain.

Royal Wedding Draws Big Crowd In Egypt

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, Jan. 10 (Reuters). — Most of Europe's throneless royalty—former kings, queens, counts and countesses by the dozen—turned out today for the marriage of two prominent members of their once-royal set.

Countess Guja Calvi Di Bergolo, 21, whose grandfather was ex-King Victor Emmanuel of Italy, was married to Count Carlo Guarienti of Verona.

The lavish ceremony was performed at the Sacred Heart Church here today.

With her mother, Princess Yolanda, sister of ex-King Umberto of Italy, and sisters the bride has been living here in exile since 1946.

FORMER COMRADES REMINISCED AT Tuesday evening's political rally of the Peterborough Liberal Association. Leader of the provincial Liberal party, Walter C. Frost Government Bungling Many Schemes Thomson Says

Walter C. Thompson, newly-elected leader of the Ontario Liberal party, charged the "inept and lethargic" Conservative government of the province with failing to look after the interests of the people either on a provincial level or on the lower levels of municipal and individual interest, in a speech to members of the Peterborough Liberal Association at its annual meeting Tuesday night in the Legion Hall. He accused the government of being slip-shod in its recently-announced immigration scheme, encouraging industries to seek factory sites in other provinces, especially Quebec, of failing to prepare for the development of the natural resources of the province and of doing little to provide old age pensioners with a chance for a dignified life in their later years.

He demanded that the province's gasoline tax be reduced on the grounds that cars were no longer luxuries, but necessities.

Mr. Thomson, a native of Hastings who was raised in the district and went to Norwood High School, said municipalities in snow belts in the province should be given a snow subsidy in the form of a return of some of the gasoline tax.

He said the towns and cities which ran bus systems should have part of the gas tax returned to them. He said he knew of one city bus company whose operating loss for the year equalled the amount of money it had paid in gas tax during the year.

Sees June Election

He told the meeting that the Liberal party must be organized to handle a snap election in Ontario which he predicts will come in June.

He said he had no doubt that the Liberal party would win the election, that the party was "on the march." He pointed out that Liberal candidates had lost 32 seats during the last election by

Novelist Sinclair Lewis Dies In Rome In 66th Year

ROME, Jan. 10—(AP)—Sinclair Lewis, novelist and first American to win the Nobel Prize for literature, died here today. He would have been 66 next month. Lewis died at the Villa Electra Clinic, where he had been ill with bronchial pneumonia since Dec. 31. Hospital attendants said he also had a heart ailment.

Creator of George Babbitt, the typical American business man of the 1920s, Lewis made literary history also with such searching studies of American life as "Main Street," "Arrowsmith," "Elmer Gantry," "Dodsworth," "It Can't Happen Here" and "Kingsblood Royal".

He was awarded the Nobel Prize in 1930, chiefly for "Babbitt." Four years before he had refused a Pulitzer prize because he disagreed with the term of Joseph Pulitzer's will setting up the prize.

"The God-Seeker," his 21st book, appeared in 1949.

Realized Death Near

The famous author had been under treatment for some time. Friends said he realized his death was near and wanted to die in Italy, where he wrote "Babbitt" and where he met his second wife, columnist-commentator Dorothy Thompson.

Rail Officials Meeting Unions

MONTREAL, Jan. 10 (CP). — Canadian Pacific Railway officials and the negotiating committee of three railway brotherhoods of the "running trades" are meeting here today to discuss a union request for a 30-cent hourly wage boost and improved working conditions.

Negotiation between Canada's major railways and 17 brotherhoods representing 125,000 "non-operating" employees were adjourned Tuesday until Friday pending study of recommendations concerning the application of the 40-hour week. The shorter week was recently granted by Mr. Justice R. L. Kellock, government-named arbitrator who settled a dispute between the unions and management that led to a strike last August.

"The running trades," included trainmen, while the non-operators are maintenance, station and lines men.

A. J. Kelly, chairman of the general negotiating committee of the three organizations, held preliminary meetings Tuesday with union heads when details of their demands were discussed. The three unions are the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, the Order of Railway Conductors and the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen. All are independent bodies and claim a total membership of 30,000.

Allied Soldiers Advance In Deep Snow To Take Back Rail Point

Counter-Attack Rolled Back From City Under Heavy Mortar Fire; Communists Continuing Heavy Build-up

TOKYO, Jan. 10—(AP)—American and French troops with tanks today fought back into the strategic Central Korean road-rail hub of Wonju, which had been abandoned to the Communists Monday after two days of tough fighting over it. Field dispatches said a company-size patrol today smashed a North Korean counter-attack and rolled into Wonju from the southeast. The U.S. 2nd Division Company with French support drove through deep snow into Wonju along the main highway from Chechon.

There were no Reds in the city, AP correspondent William Barnard reported from the 2nd Division front.

Other elements of the division ground 100 yards closer to Wonju from the south against a strong counter-attack by six Communist battalions. This force, fighting up the main Chungju-Wonju road, last was reported two miles from the road centre.

Heavy Fire

The American-French assault teams launched their assault to retake Wonju in a swirling snowstorm Tuesday. They fought through a hail of enemy mortar and small-arms fire.

Wonju controls a web of roads leading into the heart of South Korea.

The attack by the 2nd Division veterans of the Naktong and Chongchon river battles was the biggest United Nations offensive effort in days.

"We are in contact with North Koreans now and we intend to give them hell," the Allied commander said as the attack started.

Correspondent Barnard said the battle scene resembled a Christmas card. He added:

"There was the soft, white valley, majestic frosted mountains and a peaceful-looking road.... snow sifted down.

Scot Offers To Act Go-Between For Stone

LONDON, Jan. 10 (AP).—A scion of a famous Scottish clan offered today to act as a go-between for recovery of Britain's stolen coronation stone.

The offer came from Capt. H. Stuart Wheatly-Crowe, founder and head of the Royal Stuart Society. This is a group devoted to keeping green the memory of the long-defunct Royal Stuart line.

The Stone of Scone—known north of the border as "Scotland's Stone of Destiny"—was yanked from under the coronation chair in Westminster Abbey in a daring raid early Christmas Day.

Ardent patriots from the highlands are believed by detectives to have brought off the coup.

Wheatly-Crowe said if those in the know will address him "anonymously or through some third party" he will "undertake to negotiate a peaceful settlement or solution."

Deny Story UN Troops To Quit Korea

TOKYO, Jan. 10 —)AP). — Gen. MacArthur's official spokesman today denied there were any facts to a story printed in the United States that the General had recommended withdrawal of all United Nations forces from Korea.

He referred to a copyrighted story by Keyes Beech, Chicago Daily News correspondent covering MacArthur's headquarters, which said MacArthur was "understood to have recommended to Washington withdrawal of all United Nations forces from Korea." Beech said he obtained his information from "authoritative sources."

Asked to comment on the story Col. Marion P. Echols, MacArthur's official spokesman said:

"There has been nothing official or unofficial said regarding the evacuation of Korea. That story is purely a figment of the writer's imagination."

The story by Beech cleared censorship here Wednesday, a few hours before a regulation went into effect prohibiting correspondents from mentioning the possibility of a withdrawal from the peninsula or even a withdrawal into the old UN beachhead around Pusan.

No Recommendation

In Washington, a U.S. Army spokesman said it had received no recommendation from MacArthur for a withdrawal of United Nations forces from Korea.

The White House declined any comment on the report.

In his story from Tokyo, as released by the Chicago Daily News, Beech wrote that MacArthur would like to withdraw the entire U.N. army of more than 200,000 to Japan "to establish a defence line against further Communist expansion in Asia."

This force, his dispatch said, would include 100,000 Republic of Korea soldiers "to be used as the nucleus of a 'Liberation Army' if the time should come."

Ask Permission Draft Boys 18

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10—(AP)—The Defence Department called today for the immediate drafting of 450,000 18-year-olds to build up the United States Armed Forces.

Defence Secretary George C. Marshall and Mrs. Anna M. Rosenberg, Assistant Secretary, outlined the proposal to a Senate Armed Services sub-committee in urging immediate enactment of a universal military service and training program making all physically fit 18-year-olds liable for 27 months service.

Mrs. Rosenberg said that unless the armed services can call on the 18-year-olds they will have to ask Congress to let them draft young married men.

Drop Madame Curie From A-Commission

PARIS, Jan. 10 (Reuters).—The French Council of Ministers today decided to drop Madame Irene Joliot-Curie from the French Atomic Commission.

Madame Joliot-Curie is the wife of Prof. Frederic Joliot-Curie who was dismissed last April from the post of high commissioner of atomic energy because of his pro-Russian pronouncements.

Today's council meeting implemented decisions taken last week to purge Communist elements from the Atomic Energy Commission.

Canadian 'Penguins' Used By US Troops In Korea

OTTAWA, Jan. 10 — (CP). — Canadian snowmobiles, specially designed and built for Arctic warfare, now are being further improved and may well be accepted as a standard North American type by the United States and Canada.

This was th opinion of military officials here with reports that the Canadian tracked snow transport, dubbed the Penguin, which proved itself in the Arctic military Exercise Sweetbriar, has been successfully used by American forces in Korea.

The report of Korean use of the Canadian troop-transporting, sled-towing vehicle came from a correspondent of the Manchester Guardian and could not be confirmed here. Military officials said, however, that the Americans possibly had put to use in Korea some of the earlier models they obtained from Canada following Exercise Sweetbriar a year ago.

The Americans obtained a "limited quantity" of the vehicles, but have not since placed further orders.

A defence spokesman said there now is a later model which is still being improved upon. Canadian Arsenals Limited, Crown corporation operating seven military equipment plants in Canada, has charge of production of the Penguin for the Canadian Army. Just how many of these vehicles Canada now has is secret.

The latest Penguin has rubber cleats on its tracks, and a speed of better than 20 miles an hour through deep snow. It can carry at least five fully-equipped men in comparative comfort in its enclosed, heated body in the most severe weather, and can tow supply sleighs as well.

Gasoline-driven, it is said to have a range of close to 200 miles.

At the Sweetbriar Exercise the Penguin was described as one of the most successful vehicles tested there. While a smaller American version of the snowmobile called the Weasel, was unable to negotiate rough country off the beaten track, the Penguin came through all tests with flying colors.

Plan Exhibition Of Crap Shooting

ROCK ISLAND, Ill., Jan. 10 — (AP)—A public exhibition of crap shooting is planned by State's Attorney Bernard J. Moran in court Friday. The prosecutor is going to attempt to make a legal point.

Moran is looking for volunteer crapshooters.

"If I don't get volunteers—and it doesn't look like I'm going to —I intend to subpoena a few qualified experts in the game," Moran said. "I can find them without going far."

There will be no bets, however, Moran said. His purpose in planning a courtroom crap game is to prove that a crap table is gambling equipment and subject to destruction by authorities.

The game is to be played on an ornate rectangular table of carved walnut, valued at $3,000. Police seized it last summer in a raid on a roadhouse near Moline.

Moran has before the court a petition for an order for destroying the table and for other equipment taken in the raid.

Fear Niagara Project To Leave Boats Dry

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Jan. 10—(CP)—A new Hydro-Electric project at Niagara Falls threatens to leave the Maid of the Mist high and dry.

The Maid—actually she's identical twins—is the little steamer that takes tourists close to the base of the falls. And the project, requiring thousands of cubic feet of water, threatens to dry up the docking space of the two boats on the Canadian shore.

The Hydro-Electric project calls for diversion of water at the top of the falls, to be deposited in the river near Queenston, well below the Maids' operating area.

Canadian Troops In Korea Practise Night Patrols

PUSAN, Korea, Jan. 10 (CP). —Canadian soldiers training in Korea took on strength Tuesday night from two allies—the Korean landscape and the Korean night.

Companies of the 2nd Battalion Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, under Major Jack George of Edmonton and Major John Firth, Paris, Ont., spent all of Tuesday in tactical exercises in nearby mountains and remained overnight to patrol "defensive" positions. They returned to camp today.

The troops learned that the terraced Korean landscape, with its rocky ledges, huge boulders, and ditched rice paddies, offers significant concealment.

The Patricias started training two weeks ago at Miryang, about 150 air miles from the fighting at Osan. Commenting on Tokyo reports that the Canadians will be committed to fighting, Lt.-Col. J. M. Stone of Salmon Arm, BC, commanding officer, said:

"The battalion is voluntarily committed to certain road reconnaissance."

Col. Stone added:

"The general intention still is to train another six weeks. But dire necessity could change the picture."

During their tactical exercises, the Canadians found that, in addition to the rugged landscape, they could count the 14-hour inky black Korean night a good friend.

Lieut. Jack Pearson of Winnipeg, platoon commander of Maj. Firth's company, said after the all-night exercise in pouring rain:

"If the nights are as black as that one, I defy any Chinese to get me out of my hole. You'll just sit tight and knock them out as they go by."

Maj. Firth's airtight perimeter was probed, but never penetrated by snipers and scouts of Lieut. Peter McKenzie of Vancouver, battalion intelligence officer.

The scouts simulated enemy activity by intensive patrolling of Maj. Firth's position, the firing of flares and tracers, and even dynamite demolitions.

Eisenhower Satisfied With Survey

First Two Stops General Makes Show Plans Coming

BRUSSELS, Jan. 10—(AP)—The first two stops of his 10-country tour of Western Europe have left Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower "reasonably well satisfied" with his survey of defence prospects.

This summary of his findings on his defence survey in France and Belgium was made by one of the General's associates as the Atlantic Pact commander moved into closing meetings of his stay in Belgium before moving on to the Netherlands.

He had at least one bright reason for being happy. Despite fulminations of the Communist press, a large crowd gathered in front of the Hotel Metropole Tuesday night and cheered him as he left for dinner with American ambassador Robert Murphy.

The showing was in contrast to the apathetic reaction of non-Communist Paris crowds to the General's return to that city five years after his armies had liberated it from Hitler.

In the French capital, the chief public response to Eisenhower was a demonstration Tuesday against his visit by about 4,000 Communists. The Reds failed, however, in their advertised plans to tie up the city with a strike.

Formal Calls

Eisenhower's schedule for today included a series of more-or-less formal calls and one work session. In rapid succession Eisenhower was to call briefly on the Prince Royal, 20-year-old Baudouin, Premier Joseph Pholien and Foreign Minister Paul Van Zeeland, chairman of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

After a mid-day review with Belgian military and defence leaders of the country's present and potential readiness to participate in the Atlantic army, the General was to leave for The Hague this afternoon.

Again it was repeated by a ... associate that Eisenhower's tour of the Atlantic Treaty members is a "survey" and not a series of opportunities to put pressure on Pact signers to get more and better armies into the field in defence of the west.

Downward Pressure On Exchange Prices

TORONTO, Jan. 10 (CP).—Rising prices encountered downward pressure as the session progressed on the Toronto Stock Exchange today.

Industrials slipped to fractional advances after climbing strongly in the forenoon. Papers led the board with Abitibi maintaining a $1 jump and Price Bros. up $1.25.

Golds were firm after their strong climb of the last two days. Senior producers were mixed and almost unchanged while junior producers added pennies.

Base metals turned lower following six straight sessions of advance. Waite Amulet, United Keno Hill, Steep Rock, Falconbridge and Consolidated Smelters declined up to $1. Hudson Bay and Noranda bucked the trend with fractional gains.

Western oils eased after earlier advances. Pacific Petroleum, National Petroleum and Okalta paced the list with losses up to 10 cents.

8th Army Takes Control Of News

TOKYO, Jan. 10 —(AP)—The US Eighth Army Thursday takes over from Gen. MacArthur's headquarters complete control of news of Allied ground fighting in Korea.

This includes official summaries of ground action and censorship of stories by field correspondents.

Col. M. P. Echols, MacArthur's chief information officer, announced today that Tokyo headquarters will cease issuing "Korean releases pertaining to military operations."

Far East air forces will continue to release—and censor—information on aerial operations. News of naval activities will be cleared by commander naval forces, Far East.

The Korean releases issued in Tokyo by MacArthur's headquarters on ground operations generally were far behind reports from Eighth Army spokesmen and front-line correspondents.

"But murderous enemy fire from foothills...swept the valley and the road. The thunder of Allied artillery rolled continuously and echoed through the valley and around the peaks.

"Small-arms fire crackled incessantly. Enemy mortar fire found the road....

Lie On Stomachs

"Allied soldiers with rifles lay on their stomachs in the snow."

The French-American force obviously was fighting to throw off balance the Communist drive down central Korea's mountain roads. The Red thrust threatened the Taejon-Taegu escape corridor for Eighth Army forces withdrawing in the west toward the old Allied Pusan beachhead.

Gen. MacArthur's Wednesday afternoon war summary said a "very large" Communist force strung along a 70-mile front from Osan to Wonju was "capable of mounting a powerful offensive supported in great depth."

MacArthur and Eighth Army estimates placed the strength of the Communist force along the Osan-Wonju line or in close reserve at possibly 280,000 troops.

The top commander's report said the Communists in an "impressive build-up" had moved seven Chinese armies (corps) of 21 divisions—about 210,000 men at full strength—into the Osan-Wonju line or nearby for quick reinforcement.

Also In Area

A Mongolian cavalry group of 4,000 to 5,000 men — experts in mountain reconnaissance and quick harassing thrusts — and a Chinese artillery division also were reported in the area.

At the western end of the line, a North Korean corps of three divisions—about 30,000 men—was in position.

In addition, Eighth Army reports said three North Korean divisions were massed around Wonju, where the day's heavy battle swirled.

While the Wonju battle raged, AP correspondent John Randolph reported there was no contact southeast of Osan, where Eighth Army forces were withdrawing.

Eighth Army officers said mud and snow may have slowed the Red advance but there was no lessening in the Communist build-up.

Hear Red Tanks

AP correspondent Don Huth said Eighth Army reports indicated Communist tanks had moved into the Chechon area 30 miles southeast of Wonju.

Communist prisoners said they had heard tanks moving there two nights ago. They also had seen 1,000 to 3,000 Red troops six miles east of Chechon.

UN patrols likewise reported hearing tanks tumbling during their scouting of the area north of Chechon Tuesday night.

Eighth Army reports indicated one area of Red build-up was north of Yoju. Sizable numbers of Communist cavalry were sighted in this area. However, UN patrols entered both Yoju, 15 miles west of Wonju, and Ichon, 12 miles farther west Tuesday without contacting Reds.

Apparently the Communists were throwing their main strength into the twin drives down the Seoul-Suwon-Taejon highway and on the central road route through Wonju.

YoungMenCrazy To Leave Farm Milburn Says

TORONTO, Jan. 10 —(CP)— A young fellow "is crazy to leave the farm these days," Don Milburn of Peterborough said Tuesday.

"If he's a farmer's son he should consider himself one of the luckiest fellows in the world," said Milburn in an interview. He's a delegate to the Ontario Junior Farmer's Association convention which opened here today.

The young farmer contended that a man starting a farm from scratch today would need $25,000 as captial to make it pay, whereas a farmer's son is already set up in business.

"With so many young fellows leaving the farm to work in the city, the opportunity for an aspiring farmer is really great," said Milburn. "All you need is a little initiative. You don't even need a strong back any more."

He said he and his father have a completely-mechanized, 300-acre farm.

In anther interview, Don Finnie of St. Marys declared: "No occupation offers the independent, sociable life of rural Ontario. That's why I stay on the farm. It's big business and it offers a reasonable income."

Enjoy Recreation

Junior farmers believe people are kept on the farm by joining the association, other delegates said.

"There was no recreation, nothing to do, until we got our Junior Farmers' Association cracking," said 18-year-old Katherine McKinnon of Rainy River. "Now they are starting to want to stay home because we have dancing and parties and fun every week."

John Broderick, president of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture, told the convention that farmers are badly in need of a public relations and sales branch.

"It is said," he commented, "that there is too much grumbling on the part of the farmer and I agree with those who advocate that the energy expended in grumbling be directed to a better understanding between those who sell and those who buy."

MORE ABOUT—

Sinclair Lewis

After a visit to Italy in 1949 he returned to the United Statec, his friends said, to put his affairs in order. He returned here early this year and after a sojourn in Florence took an apartment in Rome with his secretary, Alexander Manson.

Associates disclosed that he had outlined the plot of a new book, to be titled "Courage," on the theme that courage is a commodity belonging to those who are afraid.

Beyond the outline, however, he had done no writing on the work, they said.

His condition became grave three days ago, his doctor said. His heart collapsed this morning.

Social Historian

Born in Sauk Center, Minn., Feb. 7, 1885, Lewis after student days at Yale and a minor career on newspapers and magazines, became one of the great social historians among American novelists. His books blasted the foibles of "typically American" people and communities of the 1920s and 1930s with biting satire an down-to-earth realism.

Amid ever-stormy controversy, he put Main street on the map and Babbitt into the language.

"Elmer Gantry," story of an evangelist with unministerial appetites, aroused a religious storm. Business men railed at "Babbitt" and "Dodsworth".

Germany and Italy in the mid-1930s banned "It Can't Happen Here", a warning against fascism in the United States.

The choice of Lewis for the Nobel Prize in 1930 was by no means unanimously approved in the United States and Lewis, receiving this prize, made a retaliatory speech in which he denounced "the fear that Americans have of literature".

"In America", he said, "most of my compatriots are still afraid of writing which is not a glorification of our faults as well as of our virtues".

The speech cause a sensation. Lewis was attacked from all sides, but eventually the controversy died down. In 1935 he was elected a member of the National Institute of Science and Letters, and in 1936 he received an honorary doctorate at Yale University.

Lewis was married twice. Both his first wife, Grace Livingstone Hegger, and his second, Miss Thompson, divorced him.

Send Student Nurses To Outpost Hospitals

TORONTO, Jan. 10 (CP). — Student nurses taking the new two-year course at Toronto Western Hospital are to train for part of their interne year at Red Cross outpost hospitals. Seventy-two girls started the course last September.

The interne year will follow the two years of classroom and clinical studies at Western. Red Cross officials said it will give city girls training in small hospitals.

Outpost hospitals in which the girls may train are at Bancroft, Burks Falls, Englehart, Haliburton, Beardmore, Nipigon and Rainy River.

ONE OF THE OUTSTANDING American novelists, Sinclair Lewis, died today in Rome of bronchial pneumonia.

Warn Farmers Improve Quality

LONDON, Ont., Jan. 10 (CP)—The importance of producing the best product possible and then marketing it in a manner attractive to the public was stressed by four speakers Tuesday night at the annual convention of the Dairymen's Association of Western Ontario.

The products under discussion were milk, butter and cheese.

Henry L. Wilson, of Chicago, Ill., said "Canadian Cheddar cheese has a worldwide reputation that the Canadian cheese industry cannot afford to lose by easing up on milk quality programs and methods of manufacture that are known to produce high quality cheese."

William Rettie, of Fergus, representative of the Ontario Cream Producers' Marketing Board, said that only production and sale of a top quality product would revive sagging markets.

The dairy farmers of Canada will be spending some $350,000 in the next 12 months on national advertising to recoup sagging sales in butter and lowering production in the dairy industry, said Orville Shugg, of Toronto.

The money was raised in a cross-country canvass of dairy farmers. Some $127,000 came from Ontario, he said.

May Have New Process For Synthesis Gas

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 10 (CP)—The United States Bureau of Mines reported today that pilot-plant experiments indicate a new process may be suitable for making synthesis gas for synthetic fuels directly from coal.

Synthesis gas, which is carbon monoxide and hydrogen, can be used in the synthetic production of gasoline, oil, pipeline, gas, ammonia, alcohol and other products. It is produced by converting coal into gas.

Tests in gasifying raw coal are under way at the bureau's plant at Morgantown, W.Va., in co-operation with West Virginia University.

The new process produces gas from pulverized coal with the help of oxygen and steam. In the only other method used commercially until just recently, coal is gasified from relatively expensive coke in what is called the fixed-bed system.

Police Open Fire On Mob Of Malays

SINGAPORE, Jan. 10 (AP)—Police Tuesday night opened fire on a mob of 100 Malays and Indonesians in Singapore's Moslem business quarter, scene of the worst rioting during the recent Bertha Hertogh case.

The crowd, who attacked a police van with bottles and sticks, was dispersed after one man was injured.

Police did not think the gathering had any connection with island-wide arrests of suspected Communists. The roundup was ordered after large-scale Moslem riots in early December protesting the taking of the Hertogh child from her Moslem foster-mother and Malay husband and her award to her Dutch mother.

Obituary

WILLIAM JOSEPH TROTTER

William Joseph Trotter, 66, of Clyesdale, Ont., died on Tuesday in hospital following a short illness. He was born in that settlement, son of the late Joseph Trotter and Katherine Fletcher, and has lived in the district all his life. He was not married.

Mr. Trotter leaves two sisters, Mrs. Herman Harris (Elizabeth), of Apsley and Mrs. Ray Peters (Dorothy) of Eagle Lake and a brother, George Trotter of Clyesdale. He was a member of the United Church.

Funeral will be held on Thursday from the Hendren Funeral Home, Lakefield, to Glen Alda United Church for service at 1:30 p.m. Burial will be at Glen Alda cemetery.

Contest Winner

TORONTO, Jan. 10 (CP). — Ruth Calcom, 23, of Yelverton, Tuesday night won the annual public speaking contest sponsored by the Junior Farmers' Association of Ontario. The contest was the closing event of the association's annual meeting.

Doctors Condemn Polio Drive

TORONTO, Jan. 10—(CP)—Three prominent doctors Tuesday criticized the Canadian March of Dimes campaign to raise funds for treatment of poliomyelitis victims. In an editorial in Health Magazine, published by the Health League of Canada, Dr. Gordon Bates, league president, said the campaign "may not be justified." It claimed that poliomyelitis is far less serious than whooping cough, diphtheria and other diseases. In an article accompanying the editorial, Dr. Alan Brown, physician-in-chief of the Hospital for Sick Children in Toronto, said the funds would be better spent in research and treatment of cancer, tuberculosis, leukemia, spastics, better nutrition and health education.

Refuse To Participate

In a statement Tuesday night, Dr. Arthur Kelly, secretary of the Canadian Medical Association, said the association had declined to participate in the campaign because it was not convinced of its nectssity "in a field already served by some groups and already receiving much attention."

The Canadian Foundation for Poliomyelitis, in a statement in reply to Dr. Bates and Dr. Brown, said 45 distinguished medical men are members of its advisory committee and that hundreds of victims already had been helped by the campaign.

Falls 50 Feet Worker Unhurt

TORONTO, Jan. 10—(CP)— A 21-year-old construction worker survived a fall of an estimated 50 feet today from a scaffold outside a downtown Bay St. office building.

Maurice Jesseau said later that he landed feet-first on a second scaffold, "bounced on my head," climbed through a second-storey window, walked to an elevator which took him to the street, got into a truck and went to hospital.

Attendants said he suffered minor head injuries but permitted him to go home.

Michigan Woman Has Quadruplets

PONTIAC, Mich., Jan. 10 (AP) —Quadruplets were born today to Mrs. Anne Rosebush, 34, wife of a 36-year-old stonemason.

St. Joseph's Mercy Hospital reported the two boys and two girls and their mother were "doing fine." The infants, born by Caesarian section, were placed in an incubator immediately. They weighed 4½ to 5 pounds each.

Already there are four other little Rosebushes, ranging in age from seven to 15 years.

Stork Going Strong

BRAMPTON, Jan. 10—(CP)— For the third time in four days, twins were born at Peel Memorial Hospital here. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Richardson of Georgetown were the parents of the most recent arrivals. All 12 principals—twins and parents — are doing well.

Dollar Climbing

MONTREAL, Jan. 10 (CP) — The American dollar today opened at 4 15/16 per cent premium to the Canadian dollar, 1/32 higher than Tuesday's close. That is, it took $1.04 15/16 Canadian to buy $1 American.

The pound sterling was $2.93⅛, up ⅛.

U.S. Reveals 4-Point Plan To Aid Korea

Strategy Unchanged Seek To Get More United Action

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., Jan. 10—(AP)—The United States finally has brought into the open a four-point plan which it hopes the United Nations will adopt as its answer to Communist China's intervention in Korea.

The American proposal, calling for condemnation of the Peiping regime as an aggressor, was outlined by the chief American U.N. delegate, Warren R. Austin, in a speech at Atlantic City, N.J., Tuesday night. Austin said the United States is trying to line up strong support for the proposal, and he expressed the belief it would succeed.

Although the American proposal has not yet been formalized into a resolution, its main points call for:

1. A finding that the Chinese Reds flouted UN authority and committed aggression against Korea.

2. A reaffirmation of UN purposes in Korea, calling for withdrawal of the invader and for all UN members to refrain from assisting the aggressor.

3. A call to each member to support action decided upon by the UN in proportion to the member's ability.

4. A move to put to work immediately the collective measures committee to consider the means to meet existing aggression and prevent further aggression.

Not Changing Strategy

Austin made it clear that there is no question of changing the high strategy in Korea, but only a question of getting united action in tactics and timing.

There was no indication when the United States would submit its proposals.

Already before the UN political committee is a British suggestion that the UN make a final peace appeal to the Peiping regime. Though given little or no chance for success, such an appeal would postpone introduction of the U.S. plan for a week or more.

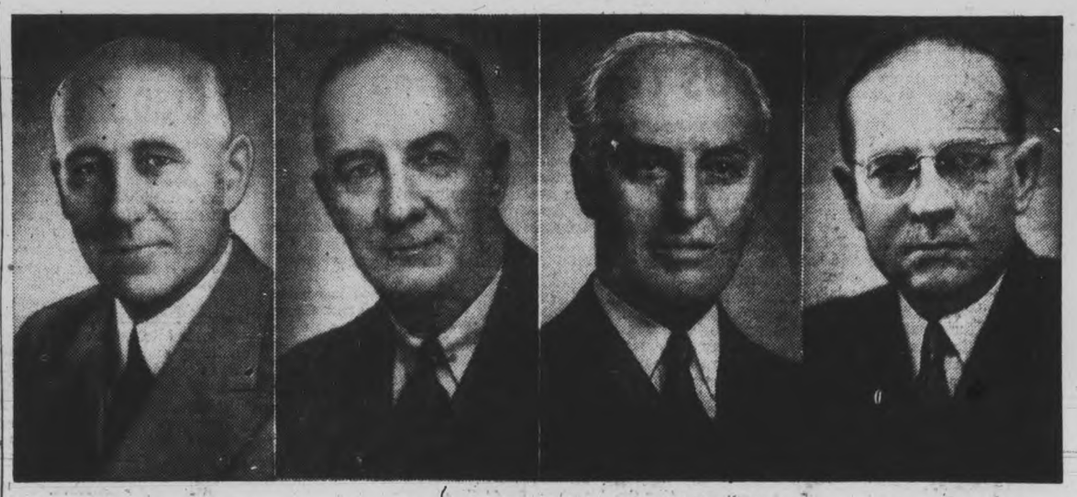
The political committee meets again Thursday to hear another report from the three-country cease-fire committee on its efforts to draft a new truce appeal. A formula for such an appeal has been submitted to Indian Prime Minister Nehru by the Indian representative on the cease-fire group, Sir Benegal N. Rau, but Nehru's action has not been reported.

Forest Hill Teachers Get High Salaries

TORONTO, Jan. 10 (CP).—The Board of Education of suburban Forest Hill Village Tuesday night voted its teachers a salary scale believed to be the highest in Canada.

The new scale provides a $1,000 annual increase for teachers with a university degree and an $800 increase for those without a degree.

The new rates are $2,800 to $5,300 for unuiversity graduates in both elementary and secondary grades as compared with a previous $2,000 to $4,500 for secondary-school teachers.



Teachers without a degree will receive from $2,400 to $4,600 — an increase from the former rates of $1,800 to $4,000.

The contract provides a $250 bonus for every 10-point increase in the cost-of-living index over its Dec. 1, 1950, figure. A drop of 10 points in the index will result in a $250 reduction.

Train Wreck In Scotland

TARBET, Scotland, Jan. 10 — (AP)—A train crash in a heavy snowstorm today killed one person and injured 18 others. The Perth-Glasgow express piled into a switch engine at Alloa junction, three miles north of this Stirlingshire village.

The Mayor Is Kept Too Busy

As any Mayor of Peterborough in recent decades takes office he must wryly look at the prospect of having only two or three evenings free during each month, and of having a good part of each day taken up by civic business. This is asking too much of our mayors, especially when the office is not technically a full-time one. Something must be done to relieve our mayors of the burden which the accretions of custom and civic business thrust upon them. The variety and details of work which the Mayor is now called on to do are a chief reason why the matter of getting a civic manager should be closely studied.

* * *

The demands made on the Mayor's time were suggested in an article on our city news page last Saturday, and Mayor Swanston, as a matter of record rather than complaint, himself itemized some of his weekly chores, as head of the Council at all its meetings, as a member of every Council committee, an ex-officio member of half a dozen external committees, boards and commissions, as official visitor or guest at society meetings which want to honour the Mayor or be honoured by his presence, and finally as the person whom private individuals, organizations and others call on when they have a problem or suggestion relating to civic affairs.

* * *

The Mayor should be relieved of some of the detail of his work so as to give him more free time and to allow him to be what his office intends: to be the Mayor, the titular head of the city, the representative of all. Pending investigation of the city manager question, some shifting of the load could be done now. For instance, the Mayor need not be expected to take the large part in committees which custom has given him. He sits on committees as a member, not as the committee chairman. It should be the chairman, not the Mayor who steers the committee, and has the responsibility of sorting and weighing all the details before it. The Mayor's voice and experience are of course valuable to committees and boards, but should not be essential. And the numerous matters which individuals and officials are now accustomed to bring directly to the Mayor's attention should be channelled to the heads of committees, as the responsible elected representatives.

* * *

Important as it may be for the Mayor to be acquainted with the planning and first stages of projects undertaken in committee, it is asking too much that he be the initiator of them, or the most fully informed of all members on all matters which come before the Council and its committees. Less committee work, more time for distinctly mayoral tasks should improve the lot of the Mayor.

Unfair Competition From British Cars?

In the year just ended Canada imported some 50,000 cars from Britain and was the world's second largest importer of the small English car. Export of her cars to Canada was one of the major ways Britain had to finance her dollar purchases (wheat and the like) in Canada. This situation seems to have caused some concern to the Canadian automobile manufacturers, who are largely subsidiaries of American companies. This concern was felt even though the Canadian automotive industry had the biggest year in its history, biggest in all ways—production, sales and profits.

During 1950 Canadian automobile factories put out 255,000 passenger vehicles and 110,000 trucks, a total of 365,000 vehicles. This exceeded 1949's production by 73,000 units. During the year 79,000 vehicles were imported into Canada, and 31,000 exported. Thus, about 400,000 cars and trucks were absorbed by the Canadian market.

The 1950 production record was achieved in the face of "serious material procurement difficulties, notably the supply of steel". William A. Wecker, President of General Motors of Canada has written in an article in the current financial supplement to the Montreal Gazette. He goes on to say this:

"Nevertheless the auto industry did feel some supply restrictions and the market vacuum so created was filled in part by the inrush of British cars which accounted for the greater part of our import total. In fact, they represented last year approximately 20 per cent. of the market, but this condition may begin to correct itself before long."

We note with special interest his last clause about the number of British cars being imported (and most of them sold) in Canada: "This condition may begin to correct itself before long."

Apparently the Canadian automotive industry did not wait for the condition to "correct itself." In the Friday issue of the same Gazette which contained the supplement and Mr. Wecker's statement, there is the news despatch from Ottawa that the duty on British cars is to be increased to prevent "dumping" and force the British car prices up to Canadian car levels.

Canada has "anti-dumping" regulations which can be imposed against products of a foreign country which seem to be undercutting the Canadian-made product unfairly. These were waived two years ago on British (and other European) cars. The Minister of National Revenue has already stated that the Canadian automotive industry has protested the sale of British cars in Canada at prices below those prevailing in the home market. Canadian manufacturers seem to feel that the competition from British cars is unfair, so for their protection, the anti-dumping device will be applied and the price will go up.

Is the competition really unfair? Canadian cars and British cars are two entirely different species. Thousands of Canadians want to buy small British cars. They meet different needs and different pocket-books. There is no Canadian alternative, in either price or size, to the British product. The British industry has spent considerable time and much money building up and providing for the service of the Canadian market. Must the market now be virtually taken away from the British manufacturers so as to protect Canadian firms from any competition, fair or unfair? And why should this be done now when the Canadian automotive industry is threatened with a steel shortage which may limit the Canadian production below the consumer demand and thus create a scarcity?

Ottawa's Heraldic Horror

In last Saturday's issue of the Ottawa Citizen there appears a discussion of the Ottawa city coat-of-arms, by one of Ottawa's new controllers, Miss Charlotte Whitton, C.B.E. Let it be understood that when we use the expression "coat-of-arms" in describing the Ottawa label we do so with our tongue so far in our cheek that the tip of it protrudes from our ear; Ottawa's civic device is a mess, an heraldic horror.

We cannot print a picture of it; we use very delicate machinery in this establishment and are obliged to be careful. Let us attempt a description: the central shield is quartered and bears pictures of an ancient railway (the K. & P.?), two deer watching a bush fire, Solomon's Temple (alleged to be the Chaudiere Falls) and a very rough tennis court (intended for a suspension bridge). From the top of the shield, where a crest might be expected, protrudes a hand waving a flatiron, a plough, a beehive and a stook of grain. The supporters are a blacksmith apparently scratching his stomach, and a blind young woman with a white cane, carrying an apothecary's scales. The motto is "Advance, City of Ottawa". No hint that it is a national capital at all.

We do not care about this. The personality of Ottawa, as a city, has long been subsumed in that of Ottawa, the capital of Canada; it is not, like London or Paris, a great city in its own right.

What does nettle us a little is Miss Whitton's concluding paragraph, which runs thus:

It is worth noting,—and possibly remedying—that not Ottawa nor any city of Canada seems ever to have applied to the Crown or the College of Heralds for grant of crest or armorial bearings.

Dear Controller Whitton, both Peterborough and London have done so, and have handsome, authentic and heraldically respectable crests; we really think it is time the national capital followed our lead. The Ottawa civic arms, like other good jokes, should not be carried too far.

Great Faith In Mr. Eastwood

When the five-year term of office of a commissioner of the City Trust expires, the Council either re-appoints him or names another to replace him. (Members of the City Trust are all Council appointees.) Mr. Vincent Eastwood's term expired in December. Monday afternoon at their first 1951 meeting, the members of the Trust again named Mr. Eastwood their chairman, for the 31st consecutive year. In the evening the City Council got around to the matter of making an appointment to the Trust and decided that Mr. Eastwood should again be named to it. Could a more convincing demonstration be made of the esteem in which Mr. Eastwood is held? Thus Mr. Eastwood begins his 43rd year as a member of the City Trust Commission, and a valued servant of the city in financial matters.

NOTE AND COMMENT

A woman pro says that golf is a great beautifier. What about those vertical lines it causes between the brows?

Stalin was re-elected to the Moscow Regional Soviet by a vote of 31,452 to 0. There's one thing you have to say for Russians; they don't quibble.

The University of California reports the discovery of a house built 3,000 years ago "and still in a fair state of preservation". Ah, they understood building in those days.

Women's organizations of certain churches are still able to serve a big turkey dinner for $1. This is notable economics in these costly days but we cannot repress a sigh for the days of the church turkey dinner, with unlimited pass-backs, for 25 cents.

ON THE MARGIN

For Theatre Lovers

THE MASQUE, vols 1-9 (distributed in Canada by Clarke Irwin).

THE Masque is a small quarterly devoted to the more durable and interesting work done in the theatre, principally in England. Each number is self-contained, very pleasantly produced, and admirably illustrated; they vary somewhat in price, but are about seventy-five cents a copy, or seven dollars for the nine which have been issued. They are cheap at the money, for they contain a great deal of the essence of the theatre, and are full of pictures which should do much to enliven the designing of our little theatre groups in Canada.

THE first issue is devoted entirely to a consideration of the production of "King Lear" at the Old Vic in 1946, written by the drama critic Ivor Brown. Mr. Brown's account of the production and the photographs and coloured designs (those of Roger Furse) make this little book a piece of valuable theatre history.

✧ ✧ ✧

THREE issues are devoted to the theatre designs of the late Rex Whistler, with commentary by Cecil Beaton, James Laver, and Laurence Whistler. These volumes have a special charm; has there been anyone within the last century in the world of design who quite equals Rex Whistler? It was not only his work for the stage, which was on a large scale, but his fugitive pieces—book jackets, programs, and his wonderful designs for the British greetings telegram forms — which spread his enchantment. He was a popular artist in the finest sense; that is to say, his work delighted highbrows and lowbrows alike. It had charm without sentimentality, and it derived from the past without tediously straining for antiquity. In these three considerations of his work some of the best of his designs are preserved in a form suitable to them; the colour printing has great clarity and beauty.

✧ ✧ ✧

A SINGLE copy of The Masque is devoted to Christmas, with some notes on the joys of that festival by Laurence Whistler, and charming reproductions of Inigo Jones' designs for several of the masques of Ben Jonson. As these are not usually obtainable in anything except very expensive books this little copy of The Masque (number five) is a bargain for artists who want to study them.

✧ ✧ ✧

A VOLUME is devoted to verse drama, discussed by Christopher Hassall with special reference to recent noteworthy productions of such plays as Volpone. The Duchess of Malfi, and The White Devil. This is a type of drama unknown in Canada, and it looks as though it would be a long time before any Canadian theatre company, professional or amateur, were ready to give it to us. All the more reason, perhaps, for reading what Mr. Hassall has to say about it.

✧ ✧ ✧

A VOLUME (number eight) is given to discussion of new developments in the French theatre. The last volume is an essay on theatrical figures in porcelain, by Sacheverell Sitwell, very handsomely illustrated. In order that there may be no misrepresentation I must explain that the word "volume" in this review means a single issue of a large octavo magazine. The Masque is a welcome publication, for the number of periodicals dealing with the theatre is not great, and I know of none which approach this quality, either in content or manner of production.

MR. PUNCH by Philip John Stead (British Book Service).

EVERYBODY has a vague notion of who Mr. Punch is and what he does. There are a few people in the world, however, who really know all there is to know about Punch, and Philip John Stead is one of them. I first gained some hint of the depth and extent of his knowledge when I was walking along Oxford Street with him one day, and we happened upon a Punch show at a corner. We stopped and saw some of it, and I laughed uproariously; Stead became grimmer and grimmer. When the showman passed the hat I gratefully forked out a shilling; Stead, on the other hand, tackled the showman and took him roundly to task for not performing the play in the traditional fashion; some concessions, it appeared, had been made to modern taste and sentimentality. At first I was alarmed, for the showman looked threatening; but it soon became clear to him, as it did to me, that we were in the presence of a Master. Since that time I have often had the pleasure of listening to Mr. Stead on the topic of Mr. Punch, and in his alchemist's den in Kensington I have handled a Punch figure which he owns. But great though the pleasure of those conversations has been, it was no greater than the pleasure which I have had from reading this admirably written, handsomely illustrated book.

MY readers will see at once that I do not approach this book unbiassed. I am a friend of the author, and I love the subject. Is it any wonder, therefore, that I immediately urge you to rush out and buy a copy, or, at least, badger the librarian of your local library to do so? Punch is not often seen in Canada (although quite a good Punch show was given in one of the big department stores in Toronto several times a day during the Christmas season) but Punch, like Hamlet, is not someone that you must see in order to take an interest in him. He is one of those figures of universal appeal with whom we all like, at one time or another, to identify ourselves. When Punch throws his baby out of the window, when he fights with the police, when he dances with Judy and then beats her, when he tricks the devil—he is what we all yearn to be in our irrational, anti-social, uproarious, Punch-like moods.

✧ ✧ ✧

HERE is an excellent book which tells you all that there is to know about Punch, and a great deal more than you ever expected to hear. It is good, lively, out-of-the-way reading, and if you sneeringly assert that this enthusiastic notice of it is dictated by my personal regard for the author, I can only assure you that it is prompted by an equal and perfectly honest esteem for his book.

Letters To The Editor

ORIGINAL SIN

Sir: It was a pleasure to read your recent editorial on "Original Sin". It was splendid.

No plan originating in the mind of men can ever eradicate sin, or rid the human race of lawless propensities. (Psalm 49: 7.)

That all men are potential law-breakers is evident to any observing and unprejudiced mind today, and those natural inclinations require only favourable conditions for development. We are sinners because we were born sinners. (Psalm 51: 5.)

The Scripture makes the sweeping declaration that "As by one man sin entered into the world, and death by sin: and so death passed upon all men for that all have sinned". (Romans 5: 12.)

Death is sin's wages (Romans 6: 23) and never means extinction or unconsciousness but always means separation. Physical death is separation of the soul and body. (Hebrews 9: 27.) Eternal death (Revelation 20: 14) which is the fate of those who die without a Saviour (John 8: 21) is separation from God.

Mankind was ruined by Eden's fall, but God has brought to us a remedy through Jesus Christ His Son, who came unto the world to save sinners. (Luke 19: 10.)

The attitude of the world to Christ at the end of His earthly sojourn here was well expressed by men of that day, "We will not have this man to reign over us". (Luke 19: 14.)

In our day, there is in the case of many:
"Room for business, room for pleasure,
But for Christ the crucified,
Not a place that He can enter
In the heart for which He died".

He is the only hope for this troubled world, and the only Saviour for us as individuals. (Isaiah 43: 11.).

Let us trust and honour Him, with the confidence of our hearts, who saves from Sin's penalty—John 5: 24; Sin's power—1 Peter 1: 5; and ultimately from Sin's presence—Revelation 22: 3. And then together we shall join in Heaven's glad anthem "unto Him that loved us and washed us from our sins in His own blood". (Revelation 1: 5.)

If we accept Him now as our own personal Saviour, we shall with Him rejoice eternally in that Happy Home where cloudless day abides.

W. CECIL G. PARRINGTON.

FEARFUL FOR SONS

Sir: I'm writing this to commend your editorial of Friday, January 5, "Arm Arm Ye Brave". "It is time to take stock of what we are doing and where we are going. War never solves anything". What a true thing to write. It seems I have read that Germany was armed before to have a go at Russia but it backfired on us and with a lot of us women being mothers with children and some of us with sons who are getting near the military age it doesn't seem to be going down so well, all this talk of war. Frankly, I myself, am scared of the thought of an atom bomb, without thinking about the affect on children.

Thunder and lightning make me nervous, what would a war be like in Canada? One would think with all the intelligent people in the world today some agreement of peace could be brought about. We have such a wonderful country if only everyone could have steady work at decent wages, and have money spent on culture and recreational facilities, instead of materials of war, no one would care about anything else. As long as the people have security no government needs to worry about any "ism" and if we lived in Asia with all its dirt and ignorance perhaps we would want a change. "What you sow you reap".

A MOTHER.

HOSPITAL DEFICIT

Sir: I wish to congratulate Mayor Swanston on his able address at the inaugural meeting of the council on Tuesday morning. I note we paid $80,000.00 in 1950 towards the operating deficit of our Civic Hospital and that at present time the loss per day per patient is $4.00.

On Wednesday we get November report of the Cafeteria which shows a loss of $634.00 or over $20.00 per day. No account has been taken which assumes running a restaurant would have to take off rent—$125 a month plus taxes which would make it still worse. I note also that meals have been advanced 5 per cent. in December. I was at the hospital in December and while waiting for a bus a gentleman also waiting for his car informed me he was a doctor, he also told me that any meals he got in hospital he paid 45 cents for. I have also learned of another gentleman and his wife who paid 85 cents for the two of them, also they did not have any one seriously ill at the time in the hospital.

The plea is they have to keep prices down for the student nurses. Forget about the student nurses. Forget about the student nurses in the way it is handled now. Give each student nurse a pass covering her meals and charge up once a month to general expense the present $6.00 per week allowed or paid them for meals and credit the credit side of Cafeteria the same amount.

Next, raise all your prices 20 to 25 per cent. and you will still be below about 15 to 20 per cent. that is charged by the restaurants and also that charged by the cafeteria in our largest industry in the city. You should show a profit which it should show as well as profits which no doubt your pharmacy shows. Two or three months ago if I remember right at a convention I believe the statement was made that student nurses were a 75 per cent. deficit to any hospital. I think that was an insult to our student nurses.

Alderman Waddell as reported in the Examiner explained about a gift of $5,000.00 received to furnish a reception room in nurses' home, he said for use of the nurses. A student nurse informs me they cannot peek ... let alone go in and why is it for a favoured few?

Another thing I would draw to the attention of the Board of Governors is the following taken from Dec. 6th issue of Globe and Mail:

"Board Cannot Pay Pupils' Premiums". Board of Education has no legal right to pay the premiums on student accident insurance policies Board Solicitor Willis Osbourne told the Finance Committee yesterday. Mr. Osbourne was giving his opinion on a suggestion made by the Public School Principals Association. The principals would like to see the board take out a blanket policy covering all students in case of accident. 'At present students can take out a policy on which they pay the premiums covering accidents on school property. The principals felt a board policy would be easier to administer and would be good public relations."

If it is illegal for Toronto Board of Education to pay the above is it not illegal for you to pay the Blue Cross for the doctors.

Thanking you for your space.

O. S. MATCHETT.

STONE OF SCONE

Sir: As a new Canadian, recently arrived from the Old Country, I feel I must add my comments to those of others, regarding the appropriation of the Coronation Stone.

Surely, a stone steeped in such tradition should rest undisturbed in the heart of our Empire, to be used only on state occasions. After all, England as the "Defender of Small Nations" has the privilege and right of looking after the affairs of other peoples.

The money, and time, she has spent looking for the "Stone" is justified by the fact that she has put everything else aside in the cause of her great imperial traditions. Even the Far Eastern situation is of secondary importance in this great cause, and the fact that her own people are feeling a little undernourished. Perhaps they will get a little belt tightening comfort in the knowledge that all this is being done in the cause of our great and glorious empire.

I would not like to offer any suggestions as to the whereabouts of the "Stone", perhaps it is still in the heart of the empire.

"MOUNTJOY".

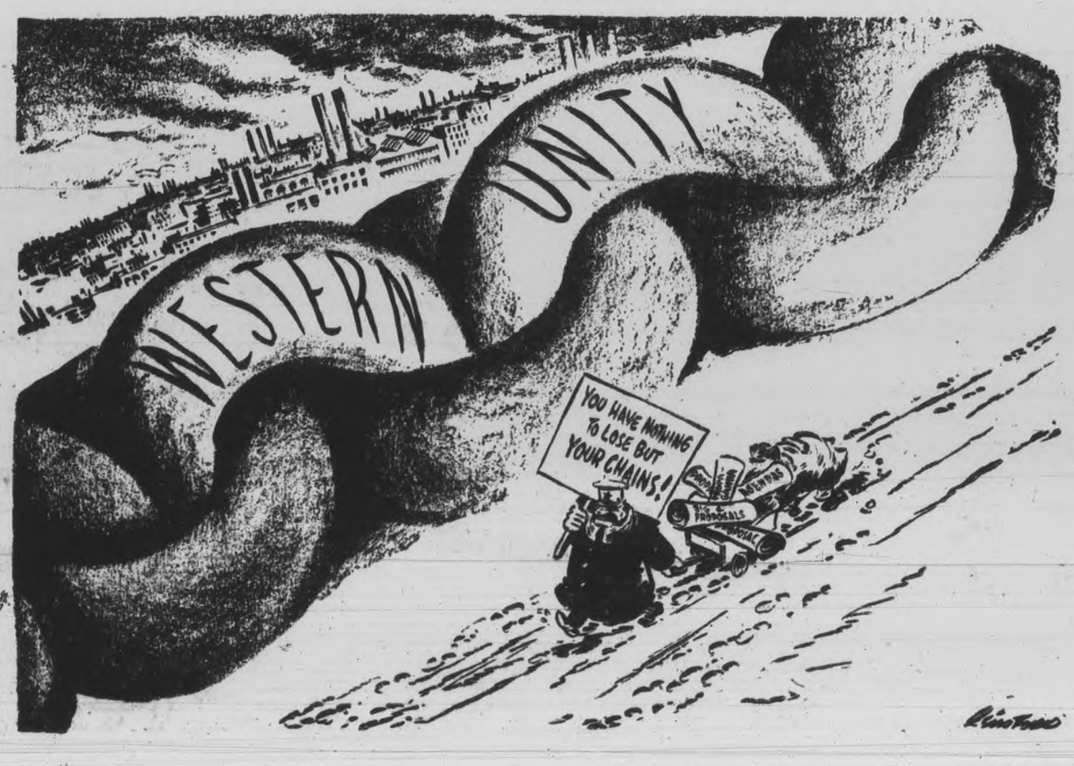
Bible Message



(From the Authorized Version)

Now the first day of the feast of unleavened bread the disciples came to Jesus, saying unto him, Where wilt thou that we prepare for thee to eat the passover? And he said, Go into the city to such a man, and say unto him, The Master saith, My time is at hand; I will keep the passover at thy house with my disciples. And the disciples did as Jesus had appointed them; and they made ready the passover....

And as they did eat, he said, Verily I say unto you, that one of you shall betray me... And as they were eating, Jesus took bread, and blessed it, and brake it, and gave it to the disciples, and said, Take, eat; this is my body. And he took the cup, and gave thanks, and gave it to them, saying, Drink ye all of it; for this is my blood of the new testament, which is shed for many for the remission of sins.

But I say unto you, I will not drink henceforth of this fruit of the vine, until that day when I drink it new with you in my Father's kingdom. (Matt. 26: 17-19, 21, 26-29.)

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Comes a copy of the Chase Almanac, predicting the weather—among other things—for the entire year. So, folks, your weather worries are over, you can now make plans for your annual vacation next summer, and pick a couple of fine weeks. Ball and lacrosse teams can now plan schedules without bothering with the inconvenience of postponements. The last part of May will be fair, but June alternates between wet and fair weeks throughout. Apart from a few thunderstorms, July will be just dandy, while the middle two weeks of August will be sunny and hot, but the start and finish see high winds and thunderstorms. And so it goes—just give us a call and we'll seek advice from the '51 almanac. There's also a lot of stuff in there about pains, pills and so forth.

A number of local basketball teams are in action this week-end around and about. Friday p.m. has two girls' games at the YW: Nurses Jrs. vs. CGE, and Normals vs. Nurses Srs. Also St. Peter's boys' squads, bantam, junior and senior, tackle Lindsay teams at the Collegiate gym. The junior and senior "A" PCI-ers are off Friday to play Westdale at Hamilton and then have games in Niagara Falls next day, probably getting over later to Buffalo to view a college cage contest. Meantime, the City Basketball League has re-organized here. Bowmanville and the intermediate "B" Petes play a lakeshore tilt Saturday in the "Y".

Nylons Meet Eagles

Nylons of Kingston and the Eagles of Peterborough tangle at 8.30 tonight in Civic Arena, an important OHA senior "B" fray. Nylons are just back of the top-place Eagles and Petes, the latter two jockeying hard every game to take over undisputed possession of the top rung. The speedy Eagles showed real good as they trounced the Gans here last start, and should knock off Nylons, too, though the Kingston crew seldom looks like a setup on this sheet of ice. It promises to be a fine hockey fixture, fast and close, and should draw a big crowd of fans, as first place may be at stake.

* * * * * *

And a mention of the six Peterborough Minor Hockey Association games tomorrow night, starting at six, in the arena. They go like this: Empress bantams vs. Otonabee Wolves, St. Peter's midgets vs. Marines, Clapper's juves vs. Oddfellows, Trojan bantams vs. St. Peter's, Trojan midgets vs. Martin-Hewitt, and Trojan juveniles vs. Lakefield Lions. Referee Nigh toils all evening, while Lawless goes from six to nine, and MacNamara from nine till midnight. These schedules end early in February, so the boys are hustling every game and dishing up some keen hockey, worthy of larger crowds.

Queen's Pull An Upset

Another upset in this screwy senior puck race is announced from Kingston where the lowly Queen's Combines downed the Nylons 8-3 on Monday night. The standing, in tonight, shows the Eagles and Petes pretty well away by themselves as they see-saw it out for top spot. We'd like to see them end the schedule that way, tied for first place to force an extra playoff! Anyway, it's quite a race up to date, with four teams eventually making group playoffs. Petes are at Gananoque on Feb. 16 and play the Gans here Feb. 19 for their only two tilts with that team. After tonight's Nylons-Eagles' scrap, the next senior one is Friday when Belleville takes on the Petes here, the Eagles going that evening to Queen's.

George Sullivan, the Ashburnham redhead, is alone in third place among American Hockey League scorers, according to a bulletin received this morning. He has 50 points in 37 games, just two less than Grant Warwick of Buffalo. Leading sniper is Ab DeMarco of Buffalo with 67. The Hershey forward has scored 18 goals and aided on 32 more for his total of 50, while spending 22 minutes in the sin bin. Don Ashbee of Buffalo, who played lacrosse here last summer, keeps climbing and now has 40 points, with 28 minutes spent in durance vile. Red Sullivan leads Hershey, which stands second now to Buffalo in the eastern division of the AHL.

Nylons Whipped By Gaels 8-3

KINGSTON, Jan. 10. — Form took a bad beating in OHA Senior group games Monday night when the oft beaten Queen's University Gaels provided sport's startling upset by crushing the wavering Nylons, 8-3.

Gaels struck for five goals with hurricane speed during the last six minutes of the opening period and made Nylons look weak in comparison.

Those five counters provided the margin of victory and placed the verdict beyond the reach of the Nylons who, however, battled with tenacity over the rest of the route and held their conquerors even at 1 to 1 in the middle session and at 2 to 2 in the last.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—
Without Calomel — And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go
The liver should pour out about 2 pints of bile juice into your digestive tract every day. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food may not digest. It may just decay in the digestive tract. Then gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. You feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.
It takes those mild, gentle Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these 2 pints of bile flowing freely to make you feel "up and up." Get a package today. Effective in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills, 25c at any druggists.

Marlies Tie Barrie 3-3 In See-Saw Tilt

By The Canadian Press.

Barrie Flyers, a team that can be the joy or the despair of its coach, had Hap Emms running the emotional gamut Tuesday night.

The Flyers, humiliated by the hitherto-winless Waterloo Hurricanes in their last Ontario Hockey Association Junior A start, and previous victims of other tail-end clubs in the 10-team loop, generally look good against tougher opposition.

So Emms suffered as his second-place club ended the first period trailing the league-leading Toronto Marlboros 1-0. Then he rejoiced as his charges ran home three second-period goals. The finish which saw Marlboros' Ron Hurst ram in the tying goal for a 3-3 saw-off, must have left him glassy-eyed.

The result left Marlboros three points ahead of Barrie, with Flyers edging a single point ahead of the idle Windsor Spitfires.

Parker MacDonald fired the other two Toronto markers while Barrie's marksmen were Real Chevrefils, Gerry Toppazzini and Leo Labine.

Wallop Hawks

In the curtain-raiser of the double bill at Maple Leaf Gardens the ninth-place St. Michael's Majors walloped Galt Black Hawks 5-1. The defending champion Guelph Biltmores eased into a fourth-place tie with Galt by downing Stratford Kroehlers 5-2 at Guelph.

Willie Marshall, Murray Costello, Bill Dineen, Wally Weldrake and Butch Ratchford tallied for the Irish before Ken Wharram got Galt's lone marker to ruin Ed Chadwick's shutout with less than four minutes to play.

At Guelph, Gerry Theberge counted twice, with Ken Laifman, Chuck Henderson and Herb Dickenson getting singletons. Bob Bailey and Larry Lemenchick connected for the losers.

A. Stinson Rolls 344 To Lead The Lasses

A. Stinson led the way this week in the Girls City Bowling League with a nifty high single of 344 and top three of 723, as Towne Togs rolled team total of 3107 and best single of 1120. The blind score of 542 went to M. Knights and P. Hawthorne, both with 542. Togs, Dickson's and Cardinals respectively blanked Curtin's, Sevenaires and Brintons, while Arcos beat Aces 2-1 and Marines took a 2-1 win over Collis.

Good singles were rolled by B. Morrow 304, I. Bullock 253, M. Cunningham 249, T. Grierson 243, A. Barnes 285, E. Thompson 285, M. Timm 271, H. Hunt 264, D. Martin 244, B. Castle 248, M. Barringer 244, M. Rogers 293, M. McQuaig 267 and P. Guppy 250 and 251—these counts not neccessarily being from top down order. P. Guppy had a triple of 703, not as high as B. Morrow's 710 or B. Castle's 717.

Confed. Victorious

Confederation edged Central 1-0 yesterday to open their intermediate Public School Hockey League schedule at the Arena. G. Kimball got the only marker on a pass from J. Chesney late in the third period of a fast, even fray. N. Lloyd and V. Armstrong stood out for Central, while P. Parnell and R. Jones were best for the other side. Teams:

Central — Goal, Tetlock; defence, Naish, Menzies; centre, Armstrong; wings, Lloyd, McInroy; alternates, Kelly, Dinsdale, D. Lustic, Pollock, J. Lustic, Baker, Sorrie, Riel.

Confederation — Goal, Steele; defence, Hotston, Jones; centre, Parnell; wings, Chesney, Ferguson; alternates, Kimball, Walling, Brown, Wanamaker, Whatman, Trotter.

Clapper's And IOOF Get Juvenile Wins

LAKEFIELD, Jan. 10 (ENS).—Clapper's defeated Lakefield Lions 4-3 and Oddfellows took Trojans 7-2 here in a juvenile hockey double-header. McCracken got two of the Lions' goals, and Twist the other, while Saunders, Killen, Ferguson and Cupoli counted for Clapper's. In the other joust, Patterson and Lockie tallied the lone Trojan markers, as Oddfellows' goals were snared by: Gooley 2, Buchan, Spencer, and Daniels. Teams:

Clapper's — Tyndall, Murdock, Cullen, Richardson, Harris, Jones, Cupoli, Mongraw, Pavey, Pammett, Saunders, Ferguson, Batley and Killen.

Lakefield— Wingett, Pue, Wilson, Twist, Coyle, Sloan, Heffernan, McCracken, Pearson, Henry, McIlmoyl, Sabatino, Brown.

Oddfellows — West, Kimball, Outwater, Daniels, B. White, G. White, Church, Carravaggie, Hope, Buchan, Gooley.

Trojans — Whatley, Brioux, Chapman, Seabrooke, Farley, Doris, Hooper, Foster, Lockie, Patterson, E. Dunn, R. Dunn, Seabrook, Scriver.

Referees— A. Watkins and J. McNamara.

Havelock Boys Win

HAVELOCK, Jan. 10 (ENS).—Two hockey games, played in the Havelock arena on Monday night in the Midgets and Bantams series resulted in the Havelock teams being victors in both events.

The Assumption Midgets went down to defeat by a score of 16-0 at the hands of the Havelock boys in the first game.

Bill Laing played an exceptionally brilliant game, for the locals, scoring seven goals, five of which were unassisted and getting three assists as well. Jim Chase was next in the scoring, with three goals, one of which was unassisted. He also had one assist. Jim Ruttan and Aldon Patterson tied with two goals and two assists each. Other scorers were: Ken. McMullen, one goal unassisted; Ken. Nobes, one goal with the assist going to Jack Rowat, and Mike McCabe who got one assist.

The Havelock goalie Bruce Anderson suffered an injured nose and eye when struck by a puck during the practice just prior to the game. His place in goal was taken by Charles McLean. Other players in the Havelock lineup were: B. Laing, J. Chase, A. Patterson, C. McKay, J. Ruttan; alternates, McCabe, K. McMullen, K. Nobes, J. Rowat, B. Buchanan, M. Spooner, D. Linton.

Assumption: goal, N.. O'Brien; players, Roy Clancy, R. Thoms, Paul McMoyle, Stan Carey, Hugh Fitzpatrick; alternates, Jack Fitzgerald, Emmett Fitzgerald, Vern Mallory, Vern O'Brien, Allen Sullivan, Joe Burns, Herb. Sullivan, M. O'Toole, B. Powers, Mike Mallory.

Beat Norwood

Havelock defeated Norwood bantams by a score of 6-1. The Norwood goal was scored in the first period by B. Miles unassisted.

The Havelock goals were counted in the second and third periods with B. Buchanan getting the first two with assists going to K. McMullen, T. Kennedy and C. Chase. The balance of four goals were scored by K. McMullen with three assists going to B. Buchanan and one to C. Chase.

Havelock: goal, Paul Adams; Bob McNeely, A. McArthur, B. Revoy, K. McMullen, B. Buchanan, C. Chase; alternates, B. Hayes T. Kennedy, B. McMullen, L. Sayers, K. Johnson, D. Ruttan, S. Sayers, B. Scott, D. Linton.

Norwood line-up: goal, E. Beggs; players, G. Kavanagh, L. Gordon, D. Russau, B. Miles, D. Lughead; alternates, W. Smith, C. Brown, H. Scott, J. Ferguson, F. Revoy, N. Telford, K. Bedore.

Havelock will meet the Warsaw bantams in Warsaw on Friday night.

Havelock and Norwood juveniles will play here on Wednesday night and Marmora and Havelock juveniles are scheduled to play here on Friday night.

RECREATION PROGRAMS

Omemee Triumphs

OMEMEE, Jan. 10—(ENS)—Omemee intermediate 'As' played their first game in the Ontario Rural Hockey Association Monday night when they clashed with Brougham on the Omemee Arena and edged out a 5-4 victory.

It was a fast fame, slightly rough in the first half which made the penalty box a much frequented place, especially in the second period when Williamson alone had four assignments there. Most of the scoring also was done in that period.

The line-ups:

Omemee — Goal, W. Fisher; defence, G. Parsons, J. Evans; centre, W. Parker; wings, O. Crawford, R. Crawford; alternates, C. Weir, J. Deyell, D. Armstrong, D. Fox, H. Fox, L. English.

Brougham — Goal, J. Bradshaw; defence, I. Booth, F. Hicks; centre, G. Dewsha; wings, W. Spenceley, F. Hamilton; alternates, G. Williamson, K. Pascoe, L. Pascoe, L. Wilson, A. Durocher, C. Palmer.

The summary:

First Period

Brougham—L. Pascoe and K. Pascoe 1:30
Omemee—R. Crawford 13:22
Penalties — Evans, O. Crawford, Parker, Hamilton, Hamilton.

Second Period

Omemee—Parker and O. Crawford 3:10
Omemee—O. Crawford 9:55
Omemee—Parker and Evans .. 12:21
Brougham—Palmer 14:27
Omemee—D. Fox 18:59
Brougham—Durocher 19:10
Penalties—Evans, English, O. Crawford, Williamson, Williamson, Spenceley, Williamson.

Third Period

Brougham—Durocher 8:30
Penalty—Spenceley.
Referee—R. Bell. Linesman—G. Hood.

Wednesday night, January 10, Omemee and Hyland Creek play at Whitby, and Thursday night, January 11, Brooklin and Omemee play at Omemee.

Lindsay At Top

PORT HOPE, Jan. 10.—Lindsay moved into first place in the Lakeshore Junior "B" loop by virtue of their 8-5 win over Port Hope Panthers here Monday night.

The teams were tied 5-5, after regulation time, but Baker scored two quick goals for Lindsay in the overtime, while Hall added another.

Marmora In Front

TRENTON, Jan. 10—The Marmora Millionaires moved into first place in the Trent Valley Hockey League Monday night, defeating Stirling, 8-6. It marked the first loss for the Stirling team, who had been victorious in their first two starts.

Trumble, Kerr, Stewart and Lavender each notched a pair of goals for the winners. Robson, with the hat trick, Stapley with a pair and Bastedo with a singleton accounted for the Stirling goals.

First Period

Stirling—Stapley (Bastedo) :45
Marmora—Lavender (Trumble) 3:05
Stirling—Bastedo (Stapley) ... 10:10

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Not just because they're in the midget class, Northern Manitoba's top small-fry hockey club leaves the rough stuff alone in an age when the art of skull creasing is rampant.

The boys from Father Antonio's Indian school at Sturgeon Landing would rather play it that way.

And it seems to have paid off.

There's only one defeat on their record for the last two years — that by a one-goal margin.

Contrary to a popular trend, they score more goals a game than they have penalties. The team is made up of full-blooded natives from 13 to 17 years of age.

Father Giard, who taught at Assumption College, Windsor, for seven years, says coaching on the school's outdoor rink lighted by the school's power plant is child's play compared with providing equipment. For all that, he's challenging anything in Manitoba to put up or shut up. And that might include teams outside the province, too.

Earl's Court Rangers Tuesday night handed Lethbridge Maple Leafs a 5-1 beating—the fourth and worst set-back suffered in six exhibition appearances in Britain by Canada's entry for the world hockey championship.

Leafs, appearing leg-weary in their fourth game in five nights, were sloppy in clearing around their own nets, and missed several chances at the Earl's Court goal.

Injured hockey star Jack Stewart, who may never play again, can have a job with the Chicago Black Hawks any time he chooses.

Hawk president Bill Tobin said Tuesday "it's always our policy to find a spot in the organization for able and loyal players. If Jack finds he can't play again therell be a place for him one way or another. You just don't let a man with his spirit, ability and leadership go to someone else."

Stewart still is in Illinois Masonic Hospital here with a spine injury suffered in a recent National Hockey League game. The injury, described as a slipped disk, probably ended the playing career of the brilliant defenceman.

Tommy Manastersky, football star who recently jumped to Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League, has been shipped to Cincinnati Mohawks of the American Hockey League, it was learned in Montreal Tuesday night.

Cincinnati is a farm club of Canadiens. Manastersky is on 24-hour recall.

Lindy Berry, top passing quarterback in the Western Football Conference last season, is almost certain to return to the lineup of Edmonton Eskimos this year if he isn't inducted for U.S. military service.

"Berry has been in touch with the club," coach Annis Stukus said Tuesday. "It's pretty certain that he'll return if the army doesn't get him." Lindy came to Edmonton from Texas Christian University.

The International Boxing Club has fixed a $20 ringside ticket price for the middleweight title bout between champion Jake La Motta and Sugar Ray Robinson at the Chicago Stadium Feb. 14. A stadium sell-out would gross $200,000.

The fourth featherweight title bout between Sandy Saddler and Willie Pep probably will be held Feb. 23 in Madison Square Garden, New York, matchmaker Al Weill of the International Boxing Club said yesterday. Saddler holds a 2-1 edge in the series.

Joe Louis will fight Omelio Agramonte, Jack Holman or Jimmy Bivins, Feb. 7 at Miami, Al Weill, International Boxing Club matchmaker, announced on Tuesday.

Redmen Drop Cobourg 10-8

COBOURG, Jan. 10.—Port Hope Redmen have moved to within one point of the league leading Cobourg Pavs by virtue of their 10-8 win over the Pavs here Monday night.

Highlight of the Lakeshore Intermediate "A" tussle was the thrilling overtime session, during which Port Hope scored three times and Cobourg once. Cobourg had a hotly disputed goal nullified during the overtime.

Billy Hessin and Bill Douglas led the winners with a pair of goals each, while Mandrell clicked for three goals for Cobourg.

CANADIAN SPORTS PARADE

THERE'S been a lot of ink spilled on sports pages recently about who deserves the title of "Greatest of the Half-Century" in various sports. You may recall that this came about at the request of Canadian Press, who invited all and sundry to name the Dominion's outstanding performer in lacrosse, basketball, hockey, etc. etc.

Despite any official verdict—and the fact that a flat-footed choice can cause a lot of arguments—this corner has a definite urge to nominate three of its favourites for the mythical awards.

The Hockey Award

For the greatest hockey player we suggest Edward 'Eddie' Shore of Qu'Appelle, Saskatchewan, who was born just two years after the turn of the present century. Generally accepted as the greatest defenceman in the game, Eddie Shore can very well be considered as the greatest hockey player—period! Never a gentleman to the point of losing the puck or a goal, Shore nevertheless brought a tremendous amount of colour and talent to the game.

As a player, Eddie Shore built his hockey career the 'hard way', following the ice game through the Melville Millionaires in 1923, through Regina and Edmonton and finally to the Boston Bruins, where he literally 'sold' the game to the casual Bostonians. And incidentally the Boston management seem to need someone to do the job over again in 1951, but that is another story.

In his first year with Boston, the dynamic Shore pulled the Bruins up by their bootstraps, from a cellar position in the N.H.L. of the two previous years—to second place in the American section of the league in 1926. He is the only player to ever win the Hart Trophey four times, and is now, of course, elected to hockey's Kingston Hall of Fame.

Eddie Shore did nothing "for fun", he asked for and got his price. That he was always worth the money he commanded no employer ever questioned, for Shore played hockey like a frantic machine—at top speed and effort.

Admittedly, other players have proved as strong, as courageous and sometimes almost as rough—but few of them all of these things, for so very long a time. We think of Brian Timmis, Ted Reeve, Joe Wright Senior, Lionel Conacher, Orm Beach, Royal Copeland and before all of them—Smirle Lawson. We think of linemen and backfielders, runners and kickers and smashers—and we still come up with Big Dave Sprague, with his sixteen touchdowns while 15 years of age at Delta Collegiate in Hamilton—to his last Eastern Canadian Championship with the Rough Riders in 1940 at thirty years of age!

Dave Sprague was first, last and always a rugged football player, and his driving, knee-high, plunging sprint could be counted on for sixty-minutes of every game he played. Asking no quarter, he was offered none and his scars are well and honorably won.

The Rugby Crown

For the greatest football player—we nominate Dave Sprague of the Tigers and Ottawa—for his long-playing excellence and powerful contribution to the game.

The Rowing Laurels

As for the greatest oarsman—we nominate Joe Wright, Senior. Following in the great tradition of Ned Hanlan, 'Big Joe' carried Canada's colours proudly skimming along the waters of the world and increased the Dominion's sporting prestige.

During his 23 years in a rowing craft, Joe Wright, Senior won 130 championship races here, there and everywhere. He won 12 United States championships; he was the first Canadian to win a heat in the fameus Diamond Sculls and the first Canadian to win the coveted Bedford Cup. Although the Diamond Sculls eluded the big man throughout his own career, he coached his son Joe, Junior to many championships and on July 7th 1928, he realized his last ambition in rowing—when the name 'Joe Wright' was inscribed on the Diamond Sculls.

So its—Shore and Sprague and Wright. Your nominations please!

Hockey's Big Seven

By The Canadian Press.

Gordie Howe of Detroit picked up an assist Tuesday night to maintain a slim one-point lead over Max Bentley of Toronto in the National Hockey League's individual scoring race.

Howe now has 41 points and Bentley 40. Both players have 25 assists, tops in that department, while Maurice Richard of Montreal paces the sharpshooters with 21 goals. Richard is in fourth place, two points behind Tod Sloan of Toronto.

Terry Sawchuk of Detroit is shutout king with six to his credit while Gus Mortson of Toronto has spent the most time in the penalty box—90 minutes.

The leaders:	G	A	Pts.
Howe, Detroit	16	25	41
M. Bentley, Toronto	15	25	40
Sloan, Toronto	18	15	33

Veteran Schmidt Sparkplug As Bruins Edges Hawks 5-4

By The Canadian Press.

Milton Conrad Schmidt is crowding 33 years, but you'd never believe it the way he's performing this season with what some National Hockey League observers describe a so-so club.

The great play-making centre from Kitchener, demonstrated again Tuesday night that he's one reason Boston Bruins are serious contenders for an NHL playoff berth.

He scored two goals—one the winner—as the Bruins scalped Chicago Black Hawks 5-4 in Chicago. The victory enabled Boston to vault past New York into third place, one point ahead of the idle Rangers.

In the only other action of the night, the league's top-flight clubs Detroit and Toronto, battled to a 3-3 tie at Detroit. The stalemate prevented the second-place Maple Leafs from cutting into the Red Wings' five-point lead at the top of the heap.

Schmidt, recognized as one of hockey's greatest playmakers, broke a 4-4 deadlock with less than five minutes to go as the floundering Hawks' winless streak rose to 11 games.

Take Lead Three Times

A Chicago crowd of 8,108 saw the Hawks take the lead three times only to be overhauled each time by the fighting Bruins.

Schmidt's two goals helped improve his position among the scoring leaders, giving him 28 points—tops for a Boston player. So far this season he has scored 12 goals and assisted on 16 others.

If he maintains the same pace the rest of the way, the veteran of 13 seasons with Boston ought to better his scoring record of 1949-50 when he amassed 41 points.

Max Quackenbush, Lorne Ferguson and Paul Ronty got the Bruins' other markers while Steve Black, Lee Fogolin, Roy Conacher and Al Dewsbury were Chicago's marksmen.

At Detroit, the lead changed hands three times in the first two periods before both clubs switched to a close-checking, careful type of play. Four of the six goals came while the teams were shorthanded.

Rookie Dan Lewicki starred for the Leafs, potting two goals, with centre Max Bentley getting assists on each. Phil Maloney brought up from the Leafs' Pittsburgh farm club in the American League, scored the other.

Metro Prystai, defenceman Rags Raglan and George Gee counted for the Wings, with Gordie Howe getting an assist on Gee's marker.

That assist kept Howe one point ahead of Max Bentley in their duel for the league's scoring lead. Howe now has 41 points, Bentley 40.

Eight penalties enlivened the first period before 13,036 fans, but the tempo slowed from there on in with only two in the second and none in the final stanza.

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press

A crowd of 16,000 saw Ellsworth Vines make his debut in professional tennis at New York 17 years ago tonight. Vines was beaten by Big Bill Tilden. Three years later, in 1937, Vines was humbled by Fred Perry, great English tennis player then entering professional ranks.

May Take Weeks To Settle Watches

TORONTO, Jan. 10 (CP).—It took Toronto Argonauts two hours or so to win the Canadian football title, but it may take two weeks to decide whether they'll get those $100 wrist watches to commemorate the occasion.

Just when Argo president Bob Moran appeared to have settled the issue by telling city council the club felt its players shouldn't accept the watches at the city's expense, former controller Allan Lamport said Tuesday night that the boys could have their timepieces without hitting the taxpayer for a nickel.

Mr. Lamport said he knew of at least 15 public-spirited men who would be glad to contribute $100 apiece to do honor to the team that was voted the greatest football machine of the half-century in a recent Canadian Press poll.

The watches, some of them already engraved with a suitable inscription, were to have been approved today by the Board of Control, but a controversy in city council over the expenditure led Mr. Moran to decline them with thanks.

Mr. Lamport said the Argonauts had never asked anything from the city and had financed development of young oarsmen in the Argonaut Rowing Club through their football profits.

ART BEHIND BARS — Stone walls do not a prison make for the artistic urge as this inmate of the San Quentin, Calif., penitentiary can testify. A member of the prison's art workshop, he read of Europe's hungry children living in the ruins of shattered cities and was inspired to put this conception on canvas.

Hastings H & S Plan Fathers' Night Session

HASTINGS, Jan. 10—(ENS)—The executive meeting of Hastings Home and School was opened by the president, Mrs. J. G. Thompson.

Mr. F. Crate paid Mrs. Thompton $5 as rental from the Legion for the sound equipment.

The next meeting will be Fathers' Night and gentlemen who will act in the following capacities are: president, D. Thurston; treasurer, W. Thomas; secretary, Rev. N. Cole.

Havelock WI Plans Sale Of Home Baking

HAVELOCK, Jan. 10 (ENS).—The Havelock Women's Institute held its New Year's meeting at the home of the president, Mrs. S. Southward, on Monday afternoon. Chief item on the agenda was the matter of raising funds. It was decided to hold a homemade baking sale and tea at the home of Mrs. Robert Melville on January 13. The draw for the quilt displayed at the district annual meeting will be held then.

The following committee was appointed for the event: Mesdames S. Southward, H. Pollock, G. W. Chiles, H. W. Roche, W. Bullied, with Mrs. R. Jones being appointed to pour tea.

Mrs. W. Rice reported 14 Christmas cheer boxes distributed and 20 cards sent out.

A report on home economics and health for 1949-50 was received from Mrs. W. J. Waite, convener of the Lindsay district.

The secretary was requested to write a letter of thanks to E. J. Leeson for assistance he gave the committee in distributing Christmas cheer boxes.

Mrs. J. Hoffman presided for the program period which included a musical contest conducted by Mrs. R. Jones and won by Mrs. Fred McKenzie; two mouth organ selections by Mrs. William Smith with piano accompaniment by Mrs. H. Pollock and a reading "A Recipe for a Happy New Year" by Mrs. R. Brown.

Mrs. R. Jones poured tea, and hostesses were: Mesdames A. Holland, E. Barlow, F. Bennett and W. Rice.

LONG-BARRELED .22 — Russel M. Catron, 44-year-old ex-Marine of San Francisco, demonstrates how his newly-invented .22 calibre pistol with nine-inch barrel (top) can be adapted as a shoulder gun by attaching a specially-built holster as a "rifle butt." Below, his Catron .38-calibre pistol is shown with uniquely-designed slide thrown back. Even if slide breaks, it cannot fly off and injure the shooter. This pistol combines best features of the revolver and automatic.

Albert Buchanan Named School Board Chairman

LAKEFIELD, Jan. 10 (ENS)—Albert Buchanan was named chairman of the Lakefield Public School Board on Monday evening.

Committees were appointed as follows: purchasing agent, Stanley Richardson; property committee, Mrs. Reg. Doubt, Stan Richardson, Dr. Reg. Campbell; finance committee, Charles Hunter, Mrs. M. Welford.

Miss Grace Young was re-appointed secretary-treasurer at a salary of $300 per annum.

Chief Garnet Samis was appointed attendance officer at a salary of $50 per annum.

Principal E. G. Sloan was elected member to the Public Library Board, as a representative of the Public School Board.

Purchasing agent Stan Richardson was authorized to purchase seven new toilet seats.

Fourteen moveable seats will be purchased for Miss Bertina Beavis' room pending Inspector K. O. Birken's approval.

Correspondence included a request from the Home and School Association for the use of the school for the school fair on April 6, also a letter from the teachers requesting a raise in salary schedule.

Permission was given the Home and School to hold the school fair on the specified date.

After much discussion the request for salary increase from the teachers was held over for a special meeting on January 22.

The customary $100 was voted for the use of the rink for free skating for public school pupils.

In attendance were: Chairman Albert Buchanan, Principal E. G. Sloan, trustees, Mrs. M. Wilford, Stanley Richardson, Dr. Reg. Campbell, Mrs. Reg. Doubt.

Attlee's Sister Raps Color Ban

LONDON (CP) — From a Presbyterian church pulpit, 75-year-old Miss Mary Attlee, sister of Britain's prime minister, attacked what she called the "sad and terrible" color ban in South Africa.

Miss Attlee, who recently returned to England after 40 years as a missionary in South Africa, told her church audience that the way colored persons are addressed in South Africa filled her with shame.

"I regret to say that [illegible] Christians with this matter. Even in South Africa churches our colored friends sit apart."

Miss Attlee said she lived in an apartment attached to the house of a colored friend.

"He is a thoughtful man," she said, "and the attitude of the Christians surprises and puzzles him.

"I cannot tell you how amazed I am and how deeply I admire the patience of these people who are so humiliated."

DARTFORD, Jan. 10 (ENS)—Farm Forum was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Broadworth Monday evening with a good attendance. Plans were begun for review night, and Mrs. Arthur Ward, Mrs. Don Pollock and Mrs. Clifford Broadworth were appointed a committee to arrange for this meeting.

Have Top Museum

LONDON, Jan. 10 (AP)—Moscow radio reported Tuesday night that the Leningrad Zoological Museum soon will have an exhibit that it says cannot be matched anywhere in the world The Zoological Institute of the Soviet Academy of Sciences has completed restoration of the skeleton of a giant elephant, described as half again as big as the largest present-day elephants, the broadcast said.

Miners Try Hard

LONDON, Jan. 10 (Reuters)—British miners hacked out 3,571,000 tons of coal in the first week of 1951 in a bid to climb back to the high-level production of late 1950, the fuel ministry said today. In the last weeks of last year until Christmas, output reached 4,500,000 tons and hopes glimmered of tiding over Britain's coal shortage. Christmas week it fell to [illegible] tons.

Scotch Line Forum Discusses New Markets

ROSENEATH, Jan. 10 (ENS)—New Markets was the topic of discussion at the Scotch Line Farm Forum held Monday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold George The president, Walter Gallagher, presided, with Mrs. Ivan Thackeray as secretary. There was an attendance of 23.

Representatives were present from the west end of the township and north end to see about starting forums in those districts next week.

Following the discussion period, progressive euchre was played. High scores were won by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Adams, with the low score going to Mrs. Charles Sandercock. Lunch was served.

Cupid On Job

WHITELEY BAY, England, Jan. 10 (Reuters)—Whiteley Bay staged a get-together for "lonely hearts" last summer. Today 64 men and women who attended are married or engaged. So Whitely Bay will have another lonely hearts meeting next June. The idea began with a bachelor's request to the local council to help him find a bride in the district.

Retire True Bill

CHARLOTTETOWN, Jan. 10 (CP)—A Supreme Court jury Tuesday found a true bill against William Weeks, 42, of Charlottetown, charged with the murder of James Mullins, 80-year-old retired Charlottetown painter. Mullins was found dead at his home Dec. 4. His trial will begin next week.

4 Die For Kidnapping

TAIPEI, Jan. 10 (AP) — Four alleged Formosan Communists were executed in Taipei today. Security authorities said they confessed kidnapping and slaying a nine-year-old schoolboy at Chiayi, Southern Formosa, in an attempt to raise money for underground work. The boy, abducted in November, was found dead six days after his grandfather made an unsuccessful effort to pay the requested $3,000 ransom.

MORNING COUGHS and Asthma

Do you cough and cough, especially mornings and at night? Do you choke, gasp for breath, wheeze and often can't sleep? The cause of these devitalizing symptoms may be recurring attacks of Asthma or Bronchitis. In such cases, the very first dose of MENDACO usually starts right now working through the blood and thus reaching lungs and bronchial tubes, to help relax that clogged up stuffy feeling in the chest, then helps Nature loosen and clean out thick, strangling phlegm. This helps you get good fresh air into your lungs and promotes restful sleep. Ask your druggist for MENDACO. Satisfaction or money back.

His First Time In Film Studio But He's Boss

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 10 (AP)—Dr. Chester C. McCowan is a mild little man witha white goatee and he had never seen a movie studio in all his 72 years. Yet he now is giving orders to the makers of a $3,000,000 production.

"Well, I wouldn't say I was giving orders," corrected Dr. McCowan. "Actually, I merely make suggestions as to historical accuracy. I realize that certain compromises have to be made for —I believe you'd call it cinematic licence."

Dr. McCowan is an expert on Bible history. Author of six books and many magazine articles, he did much research in Palestine and taught for many years at the Pacific School of Religion in Berkeley, where he is now retired. He is currently employed as technical adviser on Hollywood's latest Biblical epic, "David and Bathsheba."

Not Easy Job

"The job is not an easy one," the professor admitted. "That is because everyone has his own idea of how the characters of the Bible lived. There have been too many misconceptions created by Sunday School 'art'."

Nor is the standard religious art much better for authenticity. Much of it was produced by Italian artists who portrayed Biblical scenes with Italian faces, costumes and landscape.

"Actually there is not too much evidence of the time of David, which was about 1000 BC," said Dr. McCowan. "The Egyptians stopped picturing Asiatics about 1100 BC and the Assyrians didn't begin their drawings until 800."

Eye For Accuracy

The savant has a sharp eye for accuracy and has caused changes in production plans many times.

For instance, one scene had the king giving a tip to a servant with a coin. The professor cleared his throat and mentioned that coins were not minted until a later Greek era. The tip was changed to a piece of silver.

Find No Trace Of Girl In Greece

ATHENS, Greece, Jan. 10 AP) Prosecutor George Velouzos said today search is being continued for the raven-haired Simela Spyrides, 22, reported by her father to have been "enticed" into a Greek nunnery from his Toledo, O. home.

The prosecutor also said the whereabouts of the former wife of Christo Spyrides, the father, was not known. She is reported still in Greece.

(Spyrides said in Toledo recently that he was "fairly certain" his former wife was a member of the nunnery, but that he had no way of knowing whether his daughter also had joined. He said he parted in 1927 from his wife, whom he married in Greece in 1926.)

Elouzos said Simela joined the Julian Sect Karatea nunnery on the Aegean in 1949, according to his investigation, but now is believed to be in hiding.

The father's letter, disclosed here Jan. 6, said Simela was induced by a nun, Maria Zaphiropoulos, to enter the nunnery. The nun was said to have gone to the United States in 1949 to collect a $10,000 estate bequeathed an inmate of the institution.

She, the mother superior of the Karatea nunnery, and nine other nuns are being held on charges of unlawful detention, abduction and fraud in connection with investigation of the Spyrides and other similar cases.

Shuttling Crabmeat Earns Good Profits

LONDON (CP).—The British Ministry of Food has realized a profit of £474,700 (about $1,424,100) from the sale of canned crabmeat purchased some months ago from Russia. The transaction included a large consignment returned by the United States when dock workers at New York refused to unload the cargo.

F. T. Willey, parliamentary secretary to the ministry, told the House of Commons that altogether 2,934 tons of crabmeat had been imported and all had been sold. Total cost, including the double freight on the shipment, shuttled across the Atlantic, acme to £2,146,300. Sales brought £2,621,000.

Kitchener Board Increases Teachers' Salaries By $200

KITCHENER, Jan. 10 — Salary increases for Kitchener Public School employees for the coming year totalling $41,350 have been approved by the school board.

The board decided to boost, effective Jan. 1, the regular annual increases from $100 to $200 for all permanent teaching staff members.

An increment of $100 will be granted to new appointees on the first and second January following their appointments and the first regular increment of $200 on the third January.

Effective in January .

Effective Jan. 1 a special salary increment of $100 will be granted all teachers appointed to the teaching staff on or before Jan. 1, 1950, except where the maximum is reached.

The board also granted all members of caretaking and maintenance staffs salary increases of $250.

While the board decided to defer further discussion or decision on minumum salaries for both men and women teachers until the February meeting, it increased the maxima by $200.

Increases for Males

All male married teachers earning less than $2,500 a year during 1951 will be granted a special allowance up to $150 a year, providing that the gross salary for 1951 does not exceed the rate of $2,500 a year. This special allowance is for 1951 only.

Maximum salary for the woman supervisor of art will be $3,500.

It was further decided that the annual allowance for a university degree or degrees remain at $100, unless otherwise specified. A bachelor of pedagogy degree will entitle a teacher to a $100 higher minimum and a $100 higher maximum, effective Jan. 1.

Future Appointments

Teachers appointed on Jan. 1 of any given year will be placed in the same category as teachers appointed in September of the preceding year for salary adjustment purposes.

The regular and special salary increments will be effective except where the maximum is reached.

The board also considered the possibility of securing an assistant inspector. It was decided to obtain further information.

Present Salaries

Previous maximum for men teachers was $3,400 with a minimum of $2,000. Women teachers' minimum was $1,700 with salaries warking up to a [illegible] $2,800.

Principals, under the 1950 wage schedule, started at $3,400 with top salaries $4,500.

With prices still continuing to go steadily up, with merchandise getting still harder to obtain, with controls and restrictions looming still closer every day more as a fact than a mere probability — Pattenick's still maintain their famous standard of values.

YOUR DOLLAR LOOKS MIGHTY BIG TO US IN JANUARY

PATTENICK'S Gigantic

JANUARY DOLLAR DAYS

In this tremendous Dollar Days Sale, you'll find that the dollar has finally come into it's own at PATTENICK'S and you get much more for your dollar now than at any time in the past year. At no time than the present are we able to give you better values and more for that mighty dollar — and here are the reasons why. In the first place, we are trying to clear out any broken lines of winter merchandise which we have left over from our regular lines — in the second place, we have cleared out several clearances from leading manufacturers who are also anxious to deplete their winter stocks so that they can revert to Spring production and consequently have cleared out their balances to us at a fraction of their original price — this saving we pass on to you. Thirdly in order to maintain and take care of our overhead and keep our staff free from temporary layoffs we must try and keep your dollars coming in, and the only way we can do that is to give you such remarkablely good values that you won't be able to resist them.

WE DO NOT GUARANTEE ALL SIZES, COLORS OR STYLES IN ANY OF ADVERTISED ITEMS AS MOST OF THE ADVERTISED VALUES CANNOT BE REPLACED TO SELL AT THE ADVERTISED PRICES — WE URGE YOU TO SHOP AT YOUR EARLIEST CONVENIENCE TO AVOID ANY DISAPPOINTMENT.

Havelock H & S Shown Colored Slides

HAVELOCK, Jan. 10—(ENS)—The Havelock Home and School Association,, at their meeting Monday night, were shown the beautiful scenery of Belmont Lake district, when Charles Carter, of Havelock, showed colored slides, many of them taken last January.

Mr. Carter also gave a travelogue of a trip he and Mrs. Carter took through Quebec to northern Ontario.

Miss P. Belt, of the high school staff, thanked Mr. Carter on behalf of the association.

Mrs. L. H. Cooke, health convener, gave a talk on "Don't Give a Cold a Chance," dealing with precautions, treatment and diet. Mrs. F. Chase was the soloist with Mrs. D. Kirk as accompanist. Mr. Carter led a period of community singing with Miss Belt at the piano.

Founders' Night will be observed Feb. 5, when there will be home-made candy on sale and a silver collection taken.

The president, Mrs. H. J. McNeely, presided, and during the opening exercises read an article on "Three Important Factors in the Education of the Child." The treasurer announced there was $77 on hand. The attendance shield and prize of $1 was won by Miss M. Dolden's room. Refreshments were served.

MILLION DOLLAR BLAZE — Smoke billows up from downtown Martinsville, Va., where three-quarters of a block was destroyed by wind-blown flames. The fire started in a tobacco warehouse (white building at left) and spread to three adjacent buildings. Damage was estimated at over $1,000,000.

Auxiliary Instals 1951 Officers

MILLBROOK, Jan. 10 (ENS)—At the January meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Canadian Legion Branch No. 402, held in the Legion Hall, the following officers for 1951 were installed: president, Com. W. Richards; first vice-president, Com. M. Richards; second vice-president, Com. A. Scott; secretary, Com. A. Lunn; treasurer, Com. M. Martin; standard bearer, Com. S. Sanders; pianist, Com. F. White; social convener, Com. E. Sloan.

Basil Richards and H. Blair of the men's branch were in charge of the installation.

Comrade A. Lunn won the lucky draw. Com. G. Hilton was winner of the draw for sending the overseas parcel. Each month the various members donate articles for this parcel. The one who wins the draw has the privilege of sending the parcel to a friend overseas, and the society pays the postage.

Refreshments were served.

Two Brothers Found Guilty Of Stealing Car

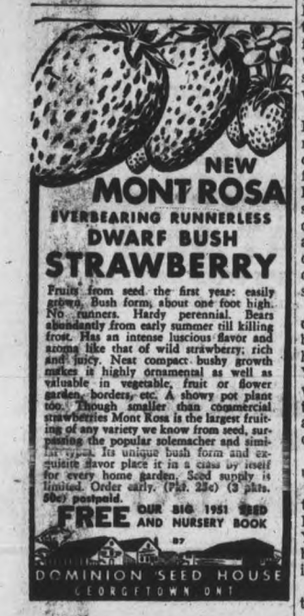
Two brothers, Ernest, and Thornton Brick, Toronto, were each sentenced to a year definite in reformatory and two months indefinite when found guilty in police court Tuesday of charges of stealing a car.

Magistrate W. R. Philp, K.C., and Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw, K.C., both agreed that the evidence against the Bricks, former residents of the district, was purely circumstantial, but, said the magistrate, sufficient to warrant conviction of the charges.

Provincial Constable Thomas H. Fitzpatrick testified that the morning of Dec. 15 his headquarters received a complaint from William Metham, of Young's Point, that his car had been stolen. The evening of the same day, provincial police received another complaint that a parked car was interfering with traffic on Concession 2, of Douro township.

The constable found that this car was the one stolen the night before. He learned that the Bricks had been seen hanging around Young's Point the night the car was taken and he also learned that the Bricks had a sister living about 100 yards from where the car was found.

The brothers were later picked up by Constable James Healey.



Metham, owner of the car, testified he had left the car near the Roman Catholic Church in Young's Point at the top of a hill because he had had trouble starting it.

Mrs. Stella Graham, sister of the two accused, said the two brothers came to her house about 11.30 p.m. They told her they had been at their other sister's home between Lakefield and Young's Point. They said they had walked 15 miles into Peterborough and had borrowed a car there to drive to Mrs. Graham's where they spent the night.

The next morning, Mrs. Graham saw the car in the yard beside her home. The brothers were unable to start it and pushed it out on the road to try to get it going, but were unsuccessful. She saw them leave the car and walk away.

Jerome Young, of Young's Point, said he knew the brothers and had seen them in Jack Young's store between 9.30 p.m. and 10.30 p.m. The next morning or the following day he heard of the theft.

Defending the Bricks, John Corkery argued there was no connection in the evidence between the stolen car and the Bricks. He offered no evidence for the defence.

Seize Morphine

HONG KONG, Jan. 10 (AP)—British colonial revenue officers Tuesday seized 20,000 Hong Kong dollars ($3,300) worth of morphine aboard the British steamship Poyang. The vessel arrived Monday from North China with 32 international relief organization refugees.

Altar Society Holds Bridge, Euchre Party

MARMORA, Jan. 10 (ENS). — At a euchre and bridge party in Sacred Heart Hall on Monday evening, under sponsorship of the Altar Society, the winners at bridge were Mrs. E. D. O'Connor and Mortimer Stonehouse. Winners at euchre were Mrs. Donald Donaldson and Charles Lajoie. There were 14 tables of euchre and seven of bridge in play. The door prize went to Nicholas Dostanko.

Youngest To Qualify

CONSETT, England, Jan. 10 (Reuters)—Probably the youngest Briton to qualify for free dentures under the national health scheme is Joan Scott. Her set was delivered to her home here Sunday—the day after her third birthday. Joan had five teeth before she was two and a further 15 five months ago. The denture will keep her teeth in shape until her second set of teeth starts to grow, in about four years.

Bethany WI Holds First 1951 Meeting

BETHANY, Jan. 10 (ENS). — The January meeting of the Bethany Women's Institute was held Monday evening at the home of Mrs. J. C. Cummiskey, with Mrs. H. L. Challice presiding. Relief for a needy family in the community was discussed and a committee appointed to investigate.

Mrs. Clarence Page gave a review of world events, with their historical value, of the past 50 years.

Mrs. A. H. Monk read "New Year's Resolutions," and Mrs. T. Jennings gave "A Formula for 1951." Miss Betty Waddell entertained with a piano solo. Mrs. Preston Neals related "Old Time Wedding Customs and Beliefs." Mrs. R. Carr and Mrs. P. Neals sang. A contest, "Letters of the Alphabet," was won by Mrs. Carr.

Lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. G. Mulligan, Miss L. Thompson, Mrs. P. Neals and Mrs. C. Page.

Spy Convictions

HOF, Germany, Jan. 10—(AP) Three Germans were convicted today by an American court of spying on United States troops for Czechoslovakia. The court sentenced Karl Ahl, a 23-year-old waiter, to serve five years in prison. Michael Fuchs, a 50-year-old tailor and Ernst Jaeger, 27, received four and three year sentences respectively.

First Meeting Of Alnwick Council

ROSENEATH, Jan. 10 (ENS)—The inaugural meeting of Alnwick township council held Monday in Roseneath township hall, opened with prayer and scripture reading by the Rev. R. C. White, United Church minister.

Reeve Fred Broadworth was in the chair with Mr. Silas Sherwin, clerk, and Mr. Roly Thackeray, treasurer present. Two new members were seated at the council table, Councillors Earl Braithwaite and Edwin McCleary. The remaining members, James Thompson and Harold Taylor, are councillors of some years standing.

At the afternoon session, A. J. Campbell was appointed stock evaluator for 1951; Isaac Skuce was re-appointed school attendance officer; Fred Norris was appointed constable and R. A. Nichol appointed caretaker of the township hall.

The members of Alnwick township school area: Messrs. Ross McCracken, Harold Davidson, James Timlin, Arnold Elder and Frank Adams, were present at the meeting and reported they were prepared to join the High School Area. Charlton Grigg was appointed to represent Alnwick township on the high school area board.

Novel Heroine Dies

BROMLEY, England, Jan. 10 (AP)—Mrs. Alfred G. Cunningham, the Salvation Army colonel of Hugh 'Redwood's book "God In The Slums," died Tuesday at her home. Her husband was chief of staff and second in command of the international Salvation Army from 1939 to 1943. Her direction of the organization's relief effort during a London flood in January, 1828, inspired Redwood's novel.

Australia Marking Fifty Years Of Federation This Month

By LOUIS L. LECK

SYDNEY, Australia — (CP) — Australia this month starts big celebrations of 50 years of federation.

The six states of Australia, after years of agitation, banded together in a Commonwealth in 1901. They were jealous of each other—for years each state had had customs houses on its borders collecting duties on goods from other states. But they realized that individually they could not tackle problems which could only be solved by a federation.

So after years of conventions and negotiations and referendums they agreed to a commonwealth with a constitution based on that of the United States.

The new commonwealth was to have certain defined powers—defence, customs, navigation, post office, foreign affairs—and all others were to remain with the states.

Originally the commonwealth was intended to be a minor factor in Australian life. It was to rely on the customs tariff for its revenue but the First World War changed that.

The commonwealth levied income tax during the war to finance that war and the servicing of the war debt.

After the First World War the states borrowed abroad in the "boom and bust" era of the middle '20s.

At the end of that period the people at a referendum made the first important change in the constitution. Both internal and external borrowing became the function of a loan council in which the commonwealth acquired a dominating partnership.

Strengthened Government

During the depression the commonwealth assumed a growing importance in internal affairs and then came the Second World War.

Acting under its defence powers the commonwealth became the important factor in Australian life with the states mere appendages. It organized the national war effort.

Almost as an incident and for the sale of easier administration it became the sole authority levying income tax.

Before the war each state and the commonwealth levied separate income taxes. In 1942 the commonwealth became the only taxing body and re-imbursed the states in accordance, roughly, with population and pre-war tax yields.

That system continues despite state protests that it makes the commonwealth no longer a federation.

Originally it was planned to open the jubilee year celebrations with a bang on New Year's Eve. But that fell on Sunday and lest the churches take offence the idea was abandoned.

In Sydney jubilee celebrations begin on Jan. 29—anniversary of the beginning of the first settlement in Australia at Sydney Cove in 1788.

BACK TO SCHOOL—Thomas R. Brophey leaves the offices of the mayor of Windsor, Ont., after holding the post for eight days. Mr. Brophey was ousted when a recount showed him trailing Mayor Arthur Reaume by 16 votes. He was named mayor when election-night returns gave him a 38-vote lead. Mr. Brophey left almost immediately to continue his law studies in Toronto.

Stock Values On Toronto Market Reach 11 Figures

By FORGES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

Quoted market values of stocks listed on the Toronto Stock Exchange gained $692,000,000 in December to reach a total of $10,193,338,396.

This was the first time quoted values have reached the 11-figure mark. The figure represents the market value of the 915 issues listed on the exchange, which comprise companies from virtually every phase of Canadian industry.

Industrial issues, numbering 513, contributed $516,000,000 of the December gain, while mines and Western Oils added $176,000,000.

The list is divided into 19 divisional groups, of which five—base metals, manufacturing, oil refining, papers and utilities—are in the $1,000,000,000-or-over class.

Widest Gain

Widest gain was made by 88 manufacturing issues, which advanced $169,000,000 to $1,284,735,000. Fifty-six base metals added $145,000,000 to reach $1,769,426,000. Sixteen oil refining issues advanced $88,000,000 to $1,175,921,000; papers gained $82,750,000 to $1,072,481,000; utilities $67,000,000 to $1,112,140,000; liquors $48,500,000 to $608,026,000; constructions and steels $32,000,000 to $739,849,000.

Agricultures $8,500,000; amusements $500,000; foods $7,500,000; miscellaneous $8,750,000; textiles $7,000,000; Western Oils $11,000,000; producing golds $9,000,000; gold prospects $2,000,000; holding companies $9,500,000.

Two groups showed losses: motors down $4,000,000 to $138,560,000; and retail stores, down $1,750,000 at $76,202,000. The finance group was virtually unchanged.

Britons Find Times Better

TORONTO, Jan. 10 — "There has been a tremendous change in living conditions in Britain in the past three years — all for the better," M. H. Wershof of the Department of External Affairs, Ottawa, said aboard a CNR boat train. He was among the 560 persons who arrived at Halifax from overseas in the Cunard liner Ascania, enroute to various parts of Canada.

The progress that has been made is bettering the lot of the people generally in the United Kingdom was astonishing, said Mr. Wershof, who is returning home after serving as counsellor to the Canadian high commissioner in London and with the Imperial Defence College.

To move the Ascania's passengers, including returning Canadians, European visitors and a number of immigrants to their various destinations across the country, two CNR boat trains were operated from dockside. There were five passengers going to Maritime points, 86 to Quebec, 303 to Ontario and 167 to Western Canada.

Taking Canoe Over Ice PetawawaManDrowns

MONTREAL, Jan. 10—(CP)—Provincial police reported Tuesday that Jack Miller, 60, of Petawawa, had drowned in a small lake at Fraser Landing, 12 miles from Rapides Des Joachims, Que.

The accident happened shortly after noon. Henri Madore, a game warden and friend of Miller, said Miller was dragging a canoe behind him across the ice covering the lake. Miller fell through a hole in the ice and disappeared before Madore could reach him.

When the report was made to headquarters here police said the body had not been recovered.

Emergency Plans

REGINA, Jan. 10 (CP) — A national program to marshal disabled manpower in the event of an emergency was studied Tuesday by the Canadian Welfare Council's division of public welfare. The division, opening a three-day conference here, heard a Canadian Welfare Council policy statement read by W. J. Rutherford of Ottawa. The report recommended federal initiative in establishing, with the co-operation of the provincial government and voluntary agencies already operating in the field, a complete program of rehabilitation of the disabled.

Elected President

TORONTO, Jan. 10 — (CP) — Charles S. Robertson has been elected president of the Canada Permanent Mortgage Corporation, it was announced Tuesday. He succeeds the late E. D. Gooderham. T. D'Arcy Leonard has been elected president of the Canada Permanent Trust Company and continues as general manager, a post he has held since 1942. Mr. Leonard has also been elected a vice-president of the Canada Permanent Mortgage Corporation.

Witness Arrested

LEVIS, Que., Jan. 10 (CP)—A man described as a member of the Witnesses of Jehovah sect was arrested here Tuesday and charged with distributing pamphlets without permission of the chief of police. He attempted to distribute pamphlets containing explanations of the sect's beliefs, police said. Police declined to identify the man.

Ban Magazine

DUBLIN, Jan. 10 (AP)—The Irish Censorship of Publications Board announced Tuesday it has banned the sale and distribution of the international edition of the American magazine Life, in the Republic of Ireland. The board ordered the ban, it said, because the magazine "has usually or frequently been indecent or obscene."

Labor Council Proposes Building Hall

The Peterborough and District Labor Council (CCL) has given its executive committee authority to investigate the prospects of building a "labor hall" in Peterborough.

This would entail the setting up of a special trust fund to finance the project.

At present there are not even tentative plans. The Council may build a complete new building, or buy some other premises, or possibly reject the whole idea. It will all depend on the findings of the executive committee and the Council's response to their recommendations.

President Alfred Barber did volunteer the information that a local businessman had offered the Council a lot on McDonnel St. if it decided to build.

Accommodation Inadequate

Union heads would like to see a new building, with offices for administration of trade union business, a place to keep their records, and a sizeable assembly hall to accommodate the public.

At present the Peterborough and District Labor Council meets in a room at 168½ George St. It is small even for office space and too small to accommodate more than about 20 people. So public meetings are out of the question.

Largest labor hall in the city is in the two-storey building of the United Electric Workers, 450 George St. The UE are able to accommodate all but unusually large membership meetings, such as those called by Local 524 for CGE production workers.

(For meetings where hundreds are expected the UE—and any other union with such a large membership — has to rent the Brock Street Summer Gardens or the Market Hall).

Withdrew From Council

When the UE was tossed out of the CCL the CCL unions withdrew from the Allied Labor Council and formed the Peterborough and District Labor Council, made up of CCL-affiliated unions only. Since the Congress unions and the UE are not on speaking terms there is no likelihood of the CCL unions using the UE hall. So the search is on for permanent quarters.

Financing the project would be a major venture. And this is an additional reason why the CCL unions are preparing to strongly support the International Union of Electrical Workers in their fight to supplant the UE as the bargaining agent for the 3,500 production workers at the CGE plant.

Should the IUE win the coming jurisdictional fight it would no doubt make a major contribution to the trust fund. With this in view a couple of delegates said it would be a good idea to await the outcome of this fight before going ahead with specific building plans.

PREPARING FOR THEIR 50th WEDDING anniversary, held at the Keene Town Hall for 200 friends on Tuesday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bruce Speirs of Lang are shown preparing food for the great event. The guests consumed; among other good things, ten loaves of bread and six cans of salmon. Their greatest "gift" will be the installation of electric power in their home sometime in January.

Lakefield Boy Missing In Korean War

Corporal Brock D. Gruetzner, 19, nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Milford Hampton of Lakefield, has been reported missing in action in Korea since November 27. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore (Ted) P. Gruetzner, formerly of Lakefield and now of 236 Stonecliff Drive, Rochester, had their Christmas holidays interrupted when the news of their son was received from the War Department.

Under normal peacetime conditions Cpl. Gruetzner would have been discharged on Thursday, December 28, from the United States Army but instead his parents received the telegram notifying them their son was missing.

A former student at the Lakefield public school, Cpl. Gruetzner was a medical corpsman with the Second Engineer Combat Division. His last letter home was written on November 15 from the North Korean capital of Pyongyang.

Cpl. Gruetzner enlisted in the United States army after attending the Charlotte High school in Rochester. He was home a year ago after the holidays and left for Korea early in August. A brother, Gerald, is in Tokyo with the occupation forces.

Brighton Woman Killed By Train

A Brighton woman was killed by a westbound freight train at Brighton early today. Provincial police believe she jumped under the wheels of the train.

Her name was given as Mrs. Clarke Stickle, 26. The body was found at 7:20 a.m. by Corporal Harry Caldwell of the provincial police.

Victim of Disease

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 10 (AP) —Michaela Malone, 4, whose illness prompted sympathizers to build her a new home, died Tuesday of cystic fibrosis of the pancreas after a three-year illness. Big-hearted friends built a new home for Michaela and her family in suburban Garvery entirely with volunteer contributions and labor.

Golden Wedding Marked By Get-together At Keene

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Speirs of Lang celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary Tuesday night with a get-together of their friends and neighbors at Keene town hall. When the Examiner called on them at their home, Mr. and Mrs. Speirs were making salmon sandwiches for the party. Mrs. Speirs was making the sandwiches, and her husband was enjoying himself as taster.

Five of the six members of the wedding party are still living—Mr. and Mrs. Speirs, the best man and brother of the groom; Alex Speirs, and the two bridesmaids, Louisa Minifie (now Mrs. Louisa Francis), and Lilie Stephenson. Mrs. Speirs' brother, John Minifie, has since died. They attended the party Tuesday night.

They were married at Mrs. Speirs' home near Alderville in Alnwick township by the Rev. A. McCormack, of Coldsprings Congregational Church.

Mr. Speirs was 80 last December 9, and his wife is six years younger. "I don't mind telling my age," she said. "After you're 70, it doesn't matter."

They have three sons and one daughter — George, of Peterborough; Alex, in Alnwick township; Charles at home, and Mrs. Harold Davidson (Edith), of Alnwick township.

Besides the sons and daughter, there are 14 grandchildren and 10 great-grandchildren.

They live in a two-storey home at the south edge of Lang. This week, hydro will go into the house for the first time since it was built more than 50 years ago. Mr. Speirs' sister, Mrs. Walter Dredge of Edmonton, Alta., is staying with them.

Mr. Speirs farmed most of his life, with a few years at a sawmill north of Lang. After farming in Otonabee several years, he moved to Alnwick township, where he farmed for 25 years.

Search Planned For Missing Man

A search for Leonard C. Brown, 71, 188 Dalhousie St., missing since last Thursday morning, is being organized for Saturday morning if he has not been found by them.

The search, directed by Constable Gordon Trennum of the city police will be over a wide area along the CPR railway tracks east of the Otonabee River.

Mr. Brown was last reported seen on the foot bridge at Dalhousie St. Thursday morning.

Anyone wanting to take part in the search should meet at the police station on Water St. at 8 a.m.

World Prayer Special Need

If the world ever needed prayer, it needs it now, stated the Rev. M. J. Aiken, at the first service of the annual week of prayer held in St. Andrew's United Church Tuesday evening. The theme of this service and the remaining services to be held every night this week is prayer in the knowledge of the living God.

In his welcome to the congregation, Mr. Aiken contended that the world has seen an extraordinary advance in the relationship of Protestant churches in the World Council of Churches which sponsored this week of prayer.

"It ought to be some inspiration to us that around the world multitudes of men and women who believe in Jesus Christ are joining in this week of prayer," stated Mr. Aiken.

Other Addresses

Two short addresses were given by Major C. G. Everitt of the Salvation Army, and the Rev. W. Leaton of Gilmour Baptist Church.

The idea of prayer in the knowledge of God and the Divine Judgement was developed by Major Everitt who stressed the power and importance of prayer. "We should pray for God's kingdom to be established on earth and that His will be done," stated Major Everitt.

Mr. Leaton said that we should pray in the knowledge that Jesus was the Son of God and through prayer grow into the divine fellowship. Prayer is a real experience. God is listening and answering, but we must pray in the spirit of Jesus, the minister explained.

Tonight the prayer service will be held in St. Paul's Presbyterian Church.

Wallis Collection Plans Taking Form

Board of Education and YWCA have informed the council of their willingness to assume care of some of the art work of Miss Katherine Wallis.

Mayor Swanston said Monday night that Library Board would also join in providing suitable display space.

Finance committee of the council decided in a motion by Aldermen Burrows and Rehill to write Miss Wallis informing her of the plans that are taking shape, and asking her approval.

Stopped To Watch Fight Man Fined As Loiterer

When he stopped to watch what he thought was going to be a fight and would not move on when told to by a policeman, Ross Thompson, 125 Hazlitt St., was arrested as a loiterer and Tuesday paid a fine of $5 and costs in police court.

Constable William G. Scott testified about 1:15 a.m. Dec. 16 on George St. he noticed a group gathered. He said it looked as if there had been a fight and one man's clothes were torn. He said he told them to move on and they all did except Thompson.

He asked Thompson if he were hard of hearing. Thompson said he had heard the officer, but he wasn't one of the gang assembled and said he didn't have to go. The constable said he explained to Thompson he was in the group when the officer approached. But Thompson gave him an argument, so he arrested the accused and brought him to the police station.

Thompson said he was walking down the street, saw a bunch of youths gathered and, thinking a fight was about to start, stopped to watch.

He said he was not blocking the sidewalk in any way, but was standing at the curb taking up no more room than the parking meter he was standing beside.

Constable Scott testified the group was spread over the whole sidewalk. A person walking down the street could have made his way through the youths but would have to zig-zag through them.

Thompson was prosecuted under an old bylaw which demands that members of a group of three or more obstructing a sidewalk must move on when told to by a police officer.

Ottawa Plays 'Heart's Core' To Full House

OTTAWA, Jan. 10—(CP) —A play by Robertson Davies—"At My Heart's Core"—had its Ottawa premiere last night, and the critics pronounced the start of the week-long run "a successful opening."

The full-length offering, which deals with Upper Canada of the early 19th century, drew a full house at the LaSalle Academy Theatre and appeared to be headed for local acclaim.

The Ottawa Journal described it as the "latest and perhaps best of Mr. Davies' plays . . . It is a play with a balance of comedy, some satire, and a share of serious thought.

"Mr. Davies with a proper disregard for the sanctity of history, says a few things bluntly about the Mackenzie Rebellion and the significance of the family compact era of early Tory government. He says it with wit for most part and the play is sufficiently mature to exist apart without the need for a truly Canadian audience."

The Ottawa Citizen's review said that "not only the play but each and every member of its cast turns out to be excellent too," and added: "there is a diversity of roles in 'At My Heart's Core' and each of the members has been particularly well-chosen."

A big drawing card is Brenda Davies, wife of the playwright and editor. Mrs. Davies has joined the company for the week and plays Frances Stewart, a letter-writer of some local fame in the Upper Canada of 100 years ago.

It is the same role Mrs. Davies had in the play's initial production this summer by the Peterborough (Ont.) Summer Theatre. It is believed an Edmonton company will produce the play after this year.

This latest Davies play is a story about the Canada around Peterborough at the time of the 1837 rebellion. Most of the characters are based on persons who lived in those days.

John Primm is cast as Edmund Cantwell, a mysterious person of some local fame in the early days. Mr. Primm, who played the part this summer with the Peterborough group, has joined the repertory theatre for the season. Until recently, he was stage coordinator for the New York City Centre Opera.

Normal Students In Rural Schools

After their first week of continuous teaching in rural schools, the 130 Peterborough Normal students returned today to the regular classes. On January 3, immediately after the Christmas holidays, the students started teaching in rural classrooms and finished the week Tuesday afternoon.

During the one-year course the students have two weeks' continuous teaching in the urban schools and two weeks in the rural schools. They have now completed one week of each, their urban school week, prior to the Christmas holidays. The next two will be before and after the Easter holidays.

In most cases the pupils were teaching in schools nearest their homes. Therefore, the student body was teaching in a wide area from Lake Simcoe on the west, Haliburton on the north, Kingston on the east, to Lake Ontario on the south.

Principal L. W. Copp said today that one student completed the week despite a broken ankle bone. During the holidays the bone was broken and the Cobourg school inspector made special arrangements for the student to teach in another school which could be reached easily by taxi.

Normal school teachers visited the student teachers during the practice week.

Arthur Walters Band President

Members of Peterborough Citizens Band elected Arthur Walters president at their annual meeting Tuesday night. William Edgar is vice-president; Henry Parnell is librarian, and the trustees are Jack Scrimgeour, Norm Moffatt, James Webb.

The bandmaster and his assistant are to be appointed next week.

The bandsmen retained as their honorary presidents Mayor M. J. Swanston and Hurrell Dodds, who as alderman was the most active promoter of the band at its inception.

2 Pupils Register

ATLANTA, Jan. 10 —(AP)— Only two pupils registered for a new course in the Russian language at Georgia Tech Evening School. One was a regular navy officer. The other, an army reservist. Enrolment in the school is about 800.

ARTHUR LEWIS

Arthur Lewis Re-elected Liberal Prexy

The Peterborough Liberal Association Tuesday night re-elected Arthur Lewis its president for this year when Walter C. Thompson, M.P., newly elected provincial leader, predicted the Conservative Party will call a snap election in June.

He won the post over Charles Elliott, former provincial candidate, who asked the Liberals at the meeting to vote for Mr. Lewis and moved after the election that Mr. Lewis' election be made unanimous.

Three vice-presidents were elected: Dr. A. R. Atkinson, of Norwood; P. D. Scollard and Ralph Standish, both of Peterborough.

John Wolfe was elected secretary after former secretary Melville McIntyre asked to withdraw from the election. Albert Galoska was elected treasurer.

Five of nine men nominated for the posts were elected directors: Eldon Purvis, W. B. Gordon, Frank Coyle, Lakefield, Dr. Robert Young and Jacob Low.

Others nominated were Thomas Davis, Dummer township; Percy Davidson, Havelock; Newton Stephens, Apsley; and Fred Lawrence, of Lakefield.

A delightful interlude in the program before Mr. Thomson spoke was two solos by Miss Lorna Stewart, accompanied by Gwen Craw.

Feeley Given Two Months On Bootlegging Charge, Thompson Found Not Guilty

Geoffrey (Gip) Feeley, local taxi operator, was today sentenced to two months in jail when found guilty in police court of bootlegging. Another taxi operator, Frank Thompson, against whom Feeley testified, was found not guilty of the same charge. Feeley was charged after Thompson's brother Kenneth, who was driving a taxi for Feeley was arrested and charged with seling beer illegally in Otonabee twp.

Thompson, arrested more than a month after Feeley, claimed he was framed by Feeley.

Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, said he was finding that there was an offer for sale at the home of Michael O'Brien of Otonabee twp. He said that Kenneth Thompson, the driver was considered by law an accomplice of Feeley's.

Find Corroboration

Because of this, a practice of law made it necessary that his evidence be corroborated by other evidence. Corroboration was found, the magistrate ruled, in the postcard Feeley sent to friends and the fact that he had offered Thompson $300, together with Feeley's "glib manner in the witness box."

In the charge against Thompson, the magistrate ruled that Edward Collins, who said he borrowed $8 from Feeley and bought a bottle of whisky from Thompson at his home on Douglas Ave., and Feeley himself were both accomplices.

The magistrate could not find sufficient corroboration of their evidence.

Had Case of Beer

Evidence against Feeley was that on the night of Nov. 3 his driver, Thompson, answered a call to Wallace Point. He had in the trunk of the taxi a case of 24 pints of beer which he had taken from a 35 model car which he said was owned by Feeley, but was registered in his name.

He carried the beer into the house of O'Brien and there offered to sell it to Jack Lane, Otonabee twp. for $10. Before money could change hands Provincial Constable Jack McKendry walked into the room and arrested Thompson.

Feeley said he had told all his drivers not to carry any type of liquor in the cabs illegally.

Bought Whisky

Evidence against Thompson was that the night of Dec. 12 Collins went to Thompson's home and bought a bottle of whisky for $7.

Police, directed by Feeley, later arrested Collins on Monaghan Rd. Police said it was evident Collins expected to be picked up.

Feeley testified that his brother Leo Joseph (Red) Feeley paid Collins' fine of $102.50 when Collins was found guilty of obtaining liquor illegally.

Feeley denied that he had set out to frame Thompson. A search by police revealed four bottles of wine and two or three bottles of whisky in his apartment and in his parents' apartment in the same house.

Decide To Adhere To Sick Leave Plan

Finance committee of the city council has recommended adherence to the sick leave arrangements for the civic staff rather than set a precedent in a case proposed by Chief Constable Thompson. Constable Moore Gow had encountered several illnesses followed by a recent appendix operation, since joining the force last April. It was suggested that his sick leave pay allowance be extended beyond the period provided in the schedule.

Refusal was expressed in a motion by Aldermen James Gillespie and Harold Rehil.

Costs Taxpayer For Disposal 30 Cents Tree

An estimated 18,000 Christmas trees from Peterborough homes were expected to be collected in today's special tree collection by the sanitation department. The cost to the taxpayer is believed to be about $350 or about 30 cents a tree.

Eight trucks, six from the sanitation department and two on loan from the parks department, began the 7½-hour grind early today. All the men available were posted to collection duties with each truck having a driver and three men to pick up the trees and to pack them on the load.

A department spokesman said that each truck is expected to collect at least 1,500 trees throughout the day. A truck will carry 300 and takes about an hour and a half to load.

Some Christmas tree dealers still have surplus stock on the corner lots. These will not be taken by sanitation deparment trucks. The department official said that one dealer has 100 trees left over and to coollect these would mean an additional $7 to $10 for the taxpayer to pay. The dealers will have to dispose of their own trees, he said.

Garbage days throughout the city this week are Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday. Today is a special day set aside for the collection of trees.

All the trees were taken to the Monaghan dump where they were burned. Those who did not leave their trees for sanitation department collection today will be responsible for the disposal of any trees in their possession.

P. D. Scollard Re-elected C of C President

P. D. Scollard was re-elected president of the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce at the meeting of the chamber Tuesday night. Vice-president W. R. Thompson; treasurer, T. E McKay and secretary, J. J. Dorris were also re-elected.

A report on group insurance revealed that 40 retail firms in the city with 170 employees have signed up for this plan. The canvass is still on and the number of firms signed up at present is expected to be doubled.

P. D. Scollard and W. R. Thompson were appointed as delegates from the chamber for the Brotherhood Week Council. Brotherhood Week will take place February 18-25. The request for chamber's delegates was from the Canadian Council of Christians and Jews through the Service Club Council.

A request was received from the Service Club Council asking that the chamber endorse the Fair Employment Practices Law and bring it to the attention of the provincial government. The purpose of this law is to prevent discrimination in the hiring of labor. The request was referred to the labor committee.

A motion was passed that the local chamber ask the provincial government to reinstate the crown on licence plates.

The chamber authorized the attendance of Jim Fraser, manager, at the Secretarial Conference sponsored by the Canadian Chamber of Commerce to be held in Montreal on February 7, 8, 9. The conference will be attended by professional chamber of commerce people from centres all over Canada.

John Pratt Dies

ALTADENA, Calif., Jan. 10 —(AP)—John H. Pratt, 52, scientific traffic safety engineer and former Associated Press correspondent in London and Europe, died of a heart attack Monday night. He had been a special examiner for the California department of motor vehicles since 1937.

She Forget House Key; The Unusual Is Usual

After a few years' service there are few surprises left for a fireman in the workaday life of this city. Like the policeman he deals with the unusual every day. For example:

Early today an imaginative citizen saw the glow from a plumber's blow-pot in a vacant apartment above 328 Downey St. He jumped to the conclusion the place was on fire and turned in an alarm.

Earlier this week a fireman had to play "second-storey man," complete with ladder, to let in a woman who had forgotten her key when she left the house.

At 3.22 p.m. Tuesday a fire truck went to a Murray St. address when the occupants complained of a strange smell and the threat of fire. It seems one of the kiddies stuffed a celluloid toy down the hot air register. The toy finally melted in the register but not before the house reeked with the smell.

Less than half an hour after this call there was an alarm rung in from the box at the corner of Charlotte and George. The fire truck pulled to a stop and the firemen heard a familiar story from the lips of eyewitnesses.

Up Goes Fire Ladder In Firemen's Day

An excited woman had wrestled with the little red fire alarm box in a vain attempt to post a letter. She was finally informed by the much-amused witness that it was a case of mistaken identiy and she was wasting her time and effort.

By this time the "reels" were approaching and the woman, awake to her mistake at last, moved off hastily, still clutching her unposted letter.

"Just think," said one fireman philosophically, ". . . they all get a vote."

PROCLAMATION

As Mayor of the City of Peterborough, I desire to proclaim the Associated Canadian Travellers' Campaign to aid the Canadian March of Dimes, Polio Fund, open January 8th. This campaign is conducted through the Canadian Foundation of Poliomyelitis. There will be coin boxes distributed in and around Peterborough, a monster bingo later in the campaign, and a shower of dimes late in January and early in February.

I call upon the citizens of Peterborough to give their usual good support to this worth-while project.

MAX J. SWANSTON,
Mayor.

Lapointe Warns Canada Boost Army Strength

REGINA, Jan. 10 (CP).—Canada must not delay increasing her own military strength and "helping our allies to increase theirs," Veteran Affairs Minister Hugues Lapointe said Tuesday night at a dinner meeting of the United Service Institute.

"Greater military strength on the side of the free peoples of the world alone will be able to deter the aggressor," he said.

"However, we must guard against making commitments that exceed our present power to implement them. Our chief responsibility will continue to lie in the defence of the North Atlantic area.

"Yet we do not intend to overlook the importance of Asia. In my opinion, it would be dangerous in the extreme to assume that the countries of North America, along with the countries of western Europe, could safely allow the whole of Asia to fall under Communist domination."

Ready To Increase It

Already Canada's contribution in troops "is not insignificant — and we are prepared to increase it."

"But Canada will have to meet a critical and complex" situation with "strength and suppleness. We are going to have to pull in our belts and make sacrifices."

Mr. Lapointe, who for the last three months has been vice-chairman of the Canadian delegation to the United Nations, said Chinese intervention in Korea has shown that Soviet Russia is more willing to risk a third war than the free world previously believed.

This intervention, however, had not changed the western world's conviction that an effort to repel aggression in Korea is justified.

Mr. Lapointe is on a tour of western DVA offices and hospitals.

Halt Dragging

CHATHAM, Jan. 10 — (CP) — Dragging operations were discontinued at noon Tuesday for the body of eight-year-old Terry Hall, son of Mrs. Edna Hall, Water St., believed drowned in the flood swollen water of the Thames River Monday.

Brophey Charges Candidate Tricked Voters

WINDSOR, Jan. 10 — (CP). — Thomas R. Brophey, knocked out of the mayor's chair Monday by a recount of Windsor's December 6 election, charged Tuesday that another defeated candidate posed as a reform candidate and "tricked" 2,500 Windsorites out of their ballots.

Mr. Brophey, who sat as mayor for eight days on the strength of his original 38-vote margin, lost in a recount which gave Arthur J. Reaume a 16-vote victory and a sixth two-year mayor's term.

Mr. Brophey's statement was one of three declarations following the final verdict of the mix-up election.

Mayor Reaume called for "cooperation of all our citizens," and Mrs. Gordon Kerr, a Brophey supporter and active in civic circles, called for financial support from citizens who believe a new election to be in the public interest.

"I feel very sorry for the 2,500 persons who were tricked out of their ballots by one who posed as a reform candidate," said Mr. Brophey. "After the election he tossed aside the mask that had fooled so many and at the recount was very much in evidence in the Reaume corner."

Brophey did not specify whom he referred to, but the statement appeared aimed at Wilfred Dayus who polled 2,561 votes.

Not Available

Mr. Dayus was not available for comment Tuesday, but during the hard-fought election campaign he denied what he termed a whispering campaign that he entered the race to split the vote in favor of Mayor Reaume.

The mayor, sworn in after three recount judges formally attested their recount, said Tuesday: "I have no ill-feeling in my heart toward anyone."

Mrs. Kerr, president of the Local Council of Women, said she was speaking personally and not on behalf of the Council.

The recount decision was unsatisfactory to a large section of the public, she said, because of unexplained election occurrences. More mayoralty ballots had been cast at some polls than were recorded as being issued, and the recount turned up ballot envelopes which had been sealed and then torn open.

"If any way can be found of giving the people another opportunity to vote then it should be acted upon," Mrs. Kerr said. "Financial support would readily be forthcoming from citizens who believe a new election to be in the public interest."

New Life of Hope Begins For Korean Child Evacuees

By HAL BOYLE.

CHEJU, Korea, Jan. 10 (AP)— A new life of hope has begun on this rugged island for nearly 1,000 war orphans saved from Seoul by "Operation Kiddy Kar."

And today Americans opened their hearts to these children of disaster in a sequel by the United States Air Force to the flight that rescued the orphans from the streets of Seoul.

Two C-47 transport planes flew through foggy weather Monday afternoon to land 10 tons of gift supplies for the war waifs on their island sanctuary. 70 miles off the southwest tip of Korea.

The gifts included several tons of food donated by the army. There was also a ton of badly-needed medical and toilet supplies purchased in Japan with funds contributed by U.S. Far East air forces personnel, and clothing donated by individuals and organizations from all parts of the United States.

"And this is only a trickle of what we have been promised," Lt.-Col. R. L. Blaisdell said happily.

Col. Blaisdell, chaplain of the Fifth Air Force, inspired operation kiddy kar Dec. 20. It was an airlift that removed from battle danger these hundreds of orphaned or abandoned children who had been picked out off the streets of the Korean capital by kind-hearted American soldiers.

Raises $10,000

Since then he has raised more than $10,000 for their care. The orphans are housed in the old wooden buildings of an agricultural school on the outskirts of Cheju.

They came running in eager curiosity as the trucks rolled in from the airport loaded with their gifts.

"Hello, hello, hello," they called. Chaplain Blaisdell turned to a group of small girls leaning out of a window and sang to them: "Jesus loves me, this I know—for the Bible tells me so."

The girls laughed merrily and immediately sang back to him the same song in Korean.

The carefree friendliness of the children was in marked contrast to the dispirited group that had been flown here last month. Three weeks of fresh air and nourishing food had given them back childhood's gift of laughter.

Montreal Teachers Sign 2-Year Contract

MONTREAL, Jan. 10—(CP)— A two-year-contract was signed Tuesday by the Federation of English-speaking Roman Catholic teachers of Montreal and the Montreal Catholic School Commission, ending a three-year dispute between the two parties.

The French-speaking lay teachers' group, L'Alliance Des Professeurs Catholiques De Montreal, still is negotiating with the Commission.

The new contract—first to be signed since September, 1945 — brought the basic wage scale to $1,600 minimum and $2,800 maximum for women teachers; $1,900 and $3,700 for single men and $2,200 and 4,200 for married men.

Teachers at high schools or holding a principalship will receive an additional $300 to $1,400. Bonuses for degrees and diplomas and extra duties range from $... to $200.

Newsprint Production Hits All-Time Peak

OTTAWA, Jan. 10 — (CP) — Canadian production of newsprint paper reached all-time peaks both in volume and value in 1949, the Bureau of Statistics said Tuesday.

Output of other kinds of paper generally was below 1948.

Newsprint production in 1949 amounted to 5,187,206 tons valued at $467,976,343, compared with 4,640,336 tons at $402,099,718 in 1948. Output in Quebec advanced to 2,704,995 tons from 2,696,838 in 1948, and Ontario to 1,223,636 tons from 1,198,075.

The average cost per ton of newsprint paper rose from $86.65 in 1948 to $90.22.

Jury Decides Death Of Boy 10 Accidental

MONTEBELLO, Que., Jan. 10 (CP)—Death of 10-year-old Joseph Larente, shot when a hunting rifle discharged in his parents' home here Sunday, was accidental, a coroner's jury has decided.

Police said the youngster and his older brother 14-year-old Augustin, were preparing to inspect some traps they had set up the previous day. Augustin was picking up the rifle when it discharged, a bullet striking Joseph in the neck. The boy died a few minutes later.

Sees Boom Period

VANCOUVER, Jan. 10—(CP)— Frank E. Woodside, manager of the British Columbia and Yukon Chamber of Mines, said Tuesday night Canada's Pacific northwest is moving into a "mining boom period" that will surpass Klondike days. He said B.C. especially is entering a period of "tremendous expansion unparalleled in the history of our country."

Given Two Years

TIMMINS, Jan. 10 — (CP) — Laurent Desjardine, 27, of no fixed address, was sentenced to two years less a day when he pleaded guilty to a charge of breaking, entering and theft in connection with the theft of $12,000 in assorted jewellery from the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Doran Dec. 23.

Refuse To End War

TEL AVIV, Israel, Jan. 10 (Reuters)—Israel Tuesday rejected an American request to end the state of war with Germany. In a reply to month-old notes from the United States, Britain and France she said that the tragic events and wounds suffered by Jews under the Nazis are still fresh in her memory.

Make Added Visits

LONDON, Jan. 10 (Reuters)— The King and Queen will pay brief visits to Gibraltar, Malta, Aden and Ceylon on their way to Australia and New Zealand early next year, Buckingham Palace officially announced Tuesday night. The King and Queen hope to arrive in western Australia March 1.

For Quick Cough Relief, Try This Home Mixture

You'll be surprised how quickly and easily you can soothe a bad winter cough, when you try this well known recipe. It gives you four times as much cough medicine for your money and you'll find it very pleasant.

Make a syrup by stirring 2 cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water until dissolved. No cooking needed—no trouble at all. Or use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup. Then put 2½ ounces of Pinex (obtained from any druggist) into a 16 oz. bottle. Fill up with your syrup and you have 16 ounces of medicine that will surprise you by its quick action. It never spoils, lasts a family a long time, and tastes fine—children love it.

This home mixture takes right hold of a severe cough. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and quickly eases soreness and difficult breathing.

Pinex is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, well known for its soothing effect on throat irritations. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.

FOR EXTRA CONVENIENCE GET NEW, READY-TO-USE, PREPARED PINEX.

UK Clergyman ChampionsPools

PLYMOUTH, England (CP) — The Rev. Richard Crookshank, rector of Bere Ferrers, in Devonshire, has offered to serve as chaplain to any organization set up by sweepstake or football pools players to defend their liberties.

The Rector, who admitted being an "irregular pools investor," said he would like to know "to what ludicrous nonsense" anti-gambling forces were reducing intelligent ethics and morality. In his opinion gambling was not necessarily a moral danger.

"Do the Puritans seriously wish us to believe that a father, mother, or children doing a puzzle for a small prize are miserable sinners?" he asked. "Do they suggest that a gentle vicar at a bazaar, guessing the weight of an iced cake made by a spotless spinster, is a wicked little man?"

Declaring such views were born in a "spirit of bigotry," he charged they had a tendency to turn young people away from the churches.

"My advice to the so-called abandoned and unprincipled raffle-rs, sweepstakers and pool-players and so on is to form a society for the protection of their liberties," he added. "If they would care to have an honorary chaplain I humbly offer myself to them."

Critical Cleric

THAXTED, Essex, England — (CP).—The Rev. Jack Putterill, local vicar, is amazed at the number of churchgoers who listen quietly to sermons with which they don't agree. "When I listened to other preachers I realized how many mistakes we can make," he said.

UK Plans General Census To Begin Sunday, April 8

By EDWIN S. JOHNSON

LONDON —(CP)— More than 60,000 enumerators will begin a house-to-house survey of Britain April 8, marking the country's first general census in 20 years.

The form to be filled in will be about two feet long, twice the size of the last questionnaire in 1931. People will be asked the familiar census questions—sex, age, marriage status, where they were born, where they live and work. Some new ground, however, will be broken this time on such detail as availability of piped water, fixed baths and other household arrangements.

Already there are signs that the date fixed for the census may lead to bitter controvery. April 8, is a Sunday, and protests have been received by the authorities from an element of the populace opposed to anything savoring of a breach of the Sabbath laws. There have been threats of refusal to supply any information unless the enumerator calls around some other day.

Many other problems have cropped up as well.

When the census was taken in 1931, it was found there were 136,000 people in the United Kingdom who spoke Gaelic. Fortunately, all but 6,700 knew enough of the English language to get by. As a result of that experience consideration was given to the printing of forms in Gaelic. This precaution, however, is deemed unnecessary as friends were usually available to act as interpreters.

Take More Than Day

Furthermore, enumerators will not be able to complete their canvass on the single day fixed for the job. They will find it impossible to visit all the inhabited islands scattered along the coast of the islands, the hundreds of lonely lighthouse-keepers and others living in isolated areas.

Detailed and complete analysis of the census which will cost approximately £1,250,000 (about $3,750,000) will be spread over several years, but a preliminary return on distribution of population is expected to be released within a few weeks of census day. A rapid survey, based on a one per cent sample of returns, will then be prepared for publication within 12 months.

A detailed record of British social life in the middle of the 20 century, will be furnished by special surveys founded on the census information.

In Ireland Too

By co-incidence a census will be taken in the Republic of Ireland on the same day. To facilitate their respective surveys, census officials in both countries will exchange copies of the forms to be distributed. It will be the first time in 40 years that a simultaneous census has been carried out in all sections of the British Isles.

Enumerators and staff assigned to the census job will be under oath not to disclose the information received. Assurance has also been given to householders that the returns will not be used to track down deserters from the armed forces, income-tax dodgers or other defaulters. Heavy penalties may be imposed for breach of confidence or refusal to give the information requested.

Pioneer Claims Youth Now Soft

COOKSON, Sask. — (CP) — Jack Beads, born and bred in the pioneer days of northern Saskatchewan, says that if the present generation had to go through what the pioneers did "it would kill them if they didn't quit first."

Beads was born at Prince Albert 74 years ago and still cuts his own firewood. He claims the majority of youngsters nowadays "don't seem to have what it takes. They're too soft, living with all modern conveniences and relying on the push-button system."

His mother died when he was four, and he was 16 when his father died. So he took up freighting, first with oxen, then with horses.

Freighting supplies through the north to Hudson Bay posts brought narrow escapes when wagons plunged through lake ice. The teams carried heavy loads of groceries, drygoods and trapping supplies.

He said the route he took most often was through Big River, Pelican Narrows and Ile a la Crosse. The 400-mile return trip took a month or longer, with no shelter coming or going.

SMOKE STILL RISES from the ruins of the St. Janvier Convent, 25 miles north of Montreal, which was destroyed by a disastrous fire recently during which two youthful nuns died of asphyxiation while trying to rescue holy articles from the flames. Five other occupants of the two-storey wooden building managed to reach safety. Local fire apparatus was not in working condition.

Canadian Jet Engine Passes Important Tests

OTTAWA, Jan. 10 CP)—Canada's jet engine, the Orenda, has been approved for both new-type fighter planes of the RCAF, and is being hastened into production.

This development ties in with a second acceleration of Canadian aircraft production disclosed by the government since Korea began. It also is related to the great shortage of aircraft engines which is one of the major bottlenecks confronting the western world's preparedness.

The Orenda, sometimes called the west's most powerful aviation engine, was designed and developed in Canada for the CF-100 Canuck, the RCAF's long-range, all-weather, two-seater fighter.

The two were originally conceived in the early post-war era as a team that would be produced at a moderate rate and give Canada her first important standing in the fighter-production world.

But with Korea and with the engine shortage, the Orenda has been under test in California for potential use in the F-86, the U.S.-designed short-range fighter Canada is building for the RCAF as the complement of the Canuck.

Proved Satisfactory

The word now is that the Orenda has proved satisfactory for the double role.

The F-86 Sabres American pilots have been flying in Korea are powered with an American-type engine. Whether the Orenda will come into use outside Canada remains to be seen, but its apparent capabilities plus the shortage makes this likely in time.

The engine, officials here say, has already passed into the early production stage at the A. V. Roe of Canada aircraft plant at Malton, near Toronto, but it will be months yet before its assembly-line types first begin rolling into general RCAF use.

The airframe construction for the two fighters has passed into the production stage, too, at Malton and at the Canadian plant near Montreal. A. V. Roe produces the Canuck, Canadair the Sabre.

It will probably be a year yet before they satisfy Canada's own needs and before the plants can tackle large orders for foreign users. One foreign request under consideration is Britain's bid for 300 to 400 Sabres for the RAF.

The production rates for both the fighters and the Orenda are secret. For Canada alone, hundreds of the planes are on order in 1951, but the eventual figure will be influenced by European and possibly American orders if Atlantic Pact advisers decide aircraft production is a logical way to make use of Canada's facilities. This is under study now.

BACK TO WORK — Arthur J. Reaume is sworn in as mayor of Windsor, by city clerk C. V. Waters, after he regained the post in a mayoralty election recount that reversed an election-night decision. Thomas R. Brophey was originally declared the winner by 38 votes. City council ordered the recount, however, and Mayor Reaume was re-elected with a majority of 16 votes, to continue his 10-year hold on the office.

Diefenbaker To Defend Man In Wreck

SASKATOON, Jan. 10 (CP)—Alfred John Atherton, 22 was arrested here Tuesday on a manslaughter charge in connection with the Nov. 21 Canoe River, B. C., train wreck.

Atherton, former CPR telegrapher at Red Pass Junction, B. C., had been staying with his parents, at Zealandia 90 miles southwest of here, since he was suspended from duty following the wreck.

Twenty-one persons died in a head-on collision between a troop train and an eastbound passenger train. It is alleged that a dispatcher's orders were incorrectly transmitted to the troop train from the Red Pass Junction.

RCMP of the Saskatoon subdivision made the arrest. Atherton will be escorted to McBride, B. C., for preliminary hearing. He will be defended by John G. Diefenbaker, lawyer and Progressive Conservative member of parliament for Lake Centre.

Morale, Not Guns And Planes Badly Needed To Rearm Europe

By WES GALLAGHER

NEW YORK, Jan. 10 (AP) — Rearming Europe today is fundamentally a question of morale, not guns and planes.

A large part of Europe hasn't the will to defend itself.

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower must try to install the "will to fight." Without it the United States can pour arms into Europe from now until doomsday without the slightest result.

This colors the way Europeans look at the east-west conflict and the way Americans look at it.

Europeans are no less conscious than Americans of the menace of Russian aggression. The vast majority of French, Germans, British, Italians and other Europeans have no more liking than Americans for Communism.

But they don't see that they can do much agout the situation except commit suicide. And this is more than a figure of speech; I know Germans who keep poisons on hand and swear they will take them if overrun by the Soviet army again.

From the Baltic to Spain Europe has been ravaged and bled white by recent wars. The torrents of bloodshed touching every family have washed away that intangible called morale.

They know that any Soviet attack must be met in the heart of Europe. They know their homes will be devastated by battle and bombings, that they and their sons and daughters will die by the thousands.

By experience they know that there are no winners in war. Even if they are on the winning side they know they will be too prostrate to enjoy it.

They still believe in freedom. They want to stop the Russians. But without "morale" the dangers and sacrifices of rearming seem almost too much to bear.

There are scores of other factors complicating the rearming of Europe. But most of them would fade if the morale problem were settled.

This is Eisenhower's big task. Tanks and guns are no good unless the soldiers and peoples behind them have the will to use them.

There are exceptions, of course, among the European countries. Britain can be counted on to fight bravely, as she has in the past. Some of the smaller countries such as Norway also are prepared to stand and fight. Unfortunately they are not strong enough to tip the scales in the west's favor.

Britain cannot make a large enough land contribution on the continent to deter the Russians even with American and small-country aid.

European defence depends primarily on France and Germany, and to a lesser extent on Italy. These are the only countries with the manpower and the strategic position among the Atlantic Pact owners to make possible a successful defence of the continent.

FOR POLIO TREATMENT—One of the most modern pools for physiotherapy treatment of poliomyelitis victims is included in the new Toronto Hospital for Sick Children, to be opened Jan. 15. The pool, 14 x 30 feet, ranges in depth from 15 inches to eight feet. The water is kept between 95 and 98 degrees by thermostatic control. Here are two physiotherapists, Miss Marion Naylor, left, and Miss Mary MacTaggart, right, of the hospital staff, are shown giving exercises to two young patients. In the background is a hydraulic lift — believed the only one of its type in Canada—for placing the crippled patients in the pool. The public is invited to tour the building from Jan. 15 to 20.

DOROTHY DIX

Father Insists on Choosing Careers for His Children

DEAR MISS DIX: When it came time for me to choose a carser my father informed me that I would be trained for a schoolteacher. My natural talents follow the line of journalism and dramatics, but these my father scoffs at. Reluctantly I becam a teacher, a poor one whose heart was not in her work. Now after three years at this occupation I am a complete nervous wreck. My 17-year-old sister desires to enter a business career but because of our father's domineering will she must train for a nurse, though the odor of a hospital repels her and she faints at the sight of blood. Our father believes us to be stubborn, ungrateful children and we think him lacking in understanding. Which of us is right, and what can we do about it

MARY.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Probably no other one thing has done more harm in the world than the colossal conceit of parents which makes them think they have a right to play the part of God to their children and decide on their fates. Somehow they seem to think that with the advent of the first baby they are endowed with Almighty wisdom and become perfectly capable of directing and shaping the whole career of the life that has come into their hands.

This Holds For Infants

In the small matters in a child's early life this may be partially true, but such is not the case when it comes to deciding the big matters which will affect the youngster's whole life. Then Father and Mother do not always know what is best for the child because they cannot see into the child's mind or heart and know what is there, what hopes, desires, ambitions, talents lie hidden in the child's secret soul.

Innumerable fathers have forced dreamers into business, made lawyers and preachers of dummies and turned boys who would have been great writers, artists or musicians into grocery clerks, all because Father thought he had [illegible] lives for them.

That is what your father is doing. There is no greater crime that any man can commit because the round peg never fits into the square hole. People who are forced to do what nature never intended them to do are nearly always failures. The greatest happiness that any of us get is in following some congenial occupation and doing the thing we enjoy doing.

In your particular case the way out is plain if you have strength enough to follow it. Go on with your teaching and try to find out whether you have the ability to write or not. Just wanting to do it isn't enough. You have to have a talent for it. And you can give yourself a tryout while you are still teaching. As for your sister, the first time she faints in an operating room will end her career as a nurse and leave the way open for her to go into business as she desires.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am a boy 17 years old and I am in despair because I have a receding chin, as this is an evidence of weakness, mentally and physically. I am also undersized, but I have led my class for five years. Yet on account of my physical make-up I feel it is useless to try to develop myself. I have brooded over this until I am almost a wreck.

ADAM.

ANSWER: Brace up, Adam, and put out your chin instead of drawing it in. If you have nothing more to complain of than not having a chin that sticks out like the prow of a battleship, you are in luck.

So far as I am concerned, I've seen too many people's characters belie their physical make-up to put the slightest belief in the kind of features Nature wished on them — or the bumps on their heads.

After we get old, after life has carved its story on our faces, after we have thought good thoughts or bad, after we have been kind or cruel, our characters show in our faces. But when we are young, whether we have a straight nose or a turned up one, whether we have a little chin or a big one, doesn't give the slightest intimation of whether we are weak or strong, or whether we will be successes or failures in life.

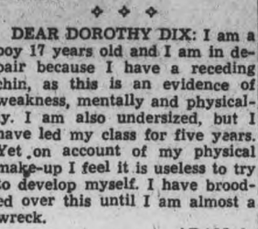
It is our brains that count, and if you have led your class for five years, you needn't worry because you lack chin. You've got what it takes.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Are all husband's philanderers? Although I am only 20 I have a cynical attitude toward marriage because all around me I see married men having affairs with other women. You will probably say that this is not true of all husbands, but how can a girl tell before marriage whether or not her husband will be faithful?

PRISCILLA.

✧ ✧ ✧



ANSWER: Of course not all men are roamers. There are millions of men who are just as domestic as the housecat and who never think of straying away from their own firesides. They literally never see any woman other than their own wives. But, alas, there is no way by which a girl can tell before marriage whether she is getting a Joseph or a Don Juan.

Slim Silhouette Featured In Dior Collection

By DOROTHY ROE

NEW YORK, Jan. 10—(AP)—This spring it's the "good look."

So says Christian Dior, still trying to live down his reputation as father of the late and unlamented "New Look." Pursuing his theme, Dior adopts "simplicite" as his keynote, presents a slim silhouette innocent of such trade-marks as padded hips and stiffened underskirts.

He retains the tiny, belted waist for which he is famous, and manages a rounded hipline on suit jackets by the expedient of curved pockets and such. Jackets are slightly longer than those of last season, with narrow collar and lapels or none at all. Skirts are narrow, with walking ease gained through low-placed pleats at side or back.

In dresses, he likes width at the top achieved through wide reverse slashing from shoulder to waist. The floor-length evening gown or the skirt that is short in front, dipped in back, wins over the short formal gown this season, although Dior shows both.

Nettie Rosenstein goes in for all-over stitched pleats and tucks in her current collection, showing both dresses and suits distinguished by this surface treatment. A tailored suit in charcoal grey, for instance, has a neat jacket with shirt collar and nipped waist, with a slim skirt stitched from waist to hem in narrow tucks.

This designer, noted for popularizing the "little black dess" as an American uniform, introduces balloon sleeves on a number of dresses in crisp fabrics such as taffeta or organza. These are huge, pouched elbow - length sleeves adjusted by an elastic drawstring.

She likes the slim, pruned silhouette in suits and daytime clothes, goes in for boufant skirts for cocktail and evening wear.

THE GIRL WHO CRAVES — a hat by a name designer can have one. Mr. Fred of John-Frederics designs in his own salon hats at a price she can afford.

Recently Mr. Fred polled girls from coast-to-coast to find their reactions to millinery in general. He found that 93 per cent of the girls polled own and wear hats, that 76 per cent felt that wearing a hat gave them a feeling of poise, and that 47 per cent of the girls like hats because they lend variety to an otherwise slender wardrobe.

Typical of the slightly sophisticated but very wearable hats he creates is a scalloped pillbox (right) in coral felt. A shell of a hat, it fits the head snugly and is anchored securely by a length of coarse velling that ties at the nape of the neck.

Gray tweed felt makes a shallow - visored jockey cap (left) that has as its only trim a flat, tailored bow in velvet that's several shades darker than the gray of the hat.

Bridgenorth WA Holds Meeting

Bridgenorth WA meeting, held Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. J. Pettersone, was largely attended. Mrs. E. Whitehill, president, presided for the first meeting of the new year.

Mrs. K. Hardill opened with a poem "Today Makes Tomorrow." The WA Creed was read in unison followed with prayer led by the Rev. D. P. Morris. Mrs. Pettersone in charge of devotions read "My Daily Prayer." Scripture texts taken from Hebrews were read by Mrs. J. Smith and Mrs. Hardill. A short reading on "Incidents of prayer in service" was given by Mrs. W. Telford. The story of "How the river Jordan became dry and the walls of Jericho fell down" was read by Mrs. Pettersone. A closing poem by Mrs. F. Ray was on the everyday creed.

Several letters of thanks were read by Mrs. E. Nicholls who reported a total of 64 cards, plants, flowers and fruit sent during the past year. Mrs. C. Telford reported eight calls made by the visiting committee.

The plan for each member to sew a piece of coin silver on an apron was accepted and Mrs. Pettersone donated the apron. Mr. Morris announced the annual congregational meeting of the church for January 19. Next meeting of the WA will be at the home of Mrs. L. M. Richardson and Mrs. J. Jopling will be in charge of the devotional service.

Lunch was served with Mrs. J. Smith and committee assisting the hostess.

Sacrifices Made By Missionaries Are Revelation

Mary Nicholls Mission Circle of Murray St. Baptist Church met Tuesday evening in the church parlor. Mrs. P. W. Johnson was in the chair.

Program topic was The Training of a Missionary." This was presented by a question and answer method by Mrs. S. Gillespie and Mrs. A. H. Campbell. Information was given regarding the leadership training course for women at McMaster University which prepares young women for leadership work in Canadian churches and for home and foreign mission appointments.

Standards of qualification for missionary candidates are very high as regards personal traits and academic and professional training. Overseas missionaries are also required to outfit themselves with a good deal of expensive equipment, it was pointed out.

The discussion was a revelation of the material sacrifices demanded of missionaries.

Prayers for home and foreign missions were offered by Mrs. H. Frise and Miss Mary Ellis. Mrs. N. Barrie, agent for the "Link and Visitor," reported a total of 81 subscriptions; an increase over previous years.

Subject of the devotional period was "Life Renewed." Scripture selections from Ezekiel 37, Acts 1 and 2, were read by Miss Sara Eastwood. Prayer was offered by Mrs. Barrie.

Presbyterian WMS Shown Pictures National Missions

"Our task as a church is what it has always been—to preach Jesus Christ and to take His message to the four corners of the earth" the Peterborough Presbyterial Women's Missionary Society members were told Tuesday in St. Paul's church by Miss Ruby Walker, regional secretary. "The Presbyterian church is a mission church and has seen the task before it."

Miss Walker was addressing the 39th annual meeting of the Presbyterial Society which was conducted by Mrs. R. N. McCulloch of Campbellford who retired from the office of president at the close, after serving three years.

Pictures taken during visits to the national missions this past summer were shown and made some of the work which their substance givings and prayers is accomplishing less nebulous to the women present.

First pictures were of the fine residential school near Kenora where 150 Indian children were in residence last year. Mr. Martin Rusaw, who formerly lived in Hastings, is principal of the school. Various views showed the well-kept grounds and extensive acreage where farming projects are carried on. The children assisting. Eighteen graduates of the school are now in high school at Burtol and are the first Indians to attend secondary schools. The WMS hopes to bring some of them through to professional work.

Another project is a Vancouver centre where children from apartment homes, or of working mothers are cared for during the day.

Scenes from northern Saskatchewan missions included pictures of a van purchased by the WMS last year which has greatly widened the field of work in this sparsely populated area. Another van is used in the Peace River district and works along the Alaska Highway.

Work among Chinese is carried on in four Canadian centres, Victoria, Vancouver, Toronto and Montreal, and just recently a Chinese Women's Society has been formed in Sudbury.

The beautiful camp sites at Christopher Lake, Sask., and Sylvan Lake, near Red Deer, Alta., were pictured and a Mission House at Weirdale, Sask.

Miss Walker again gave her commentary and showed the pictures at a meeting of Fraser Auxiliary in St. Paul's church last evening.

Over-all Picture Of WMS Work Shown by Reports

Business meeting of the Peterborough Presbyterial Society, WMS, held in St. Paul's Presbyterian Church Tuesday, was in two sessions. An executive meeting proceeded the morning session and during the noon adjournment the delegates enjoyed a luncheon prepared and served by members of St. Paul's WMS.

Morning devotions were led by Mrs. L. T. McLaughlin of Bowmanville, vice president. Conveners presented reports on the work of the organizations in the Presbytery and all secretaries reported. A report on the girls' camp at Glen Mohr was given by two girls who attended last year, Joan Hoskin and Norma Rutherford of Colborne and they displayed handicraft they had done at the camp. This session was closed with prayer by Mrs. A. N. Reid, of Colborne.

Mrs. H. G. McKenzie led the devotions with which the afternoon session opened. Welcome to the 89 delegates was voiced by Mrs. James Dutton. A detailed financial report was read by Mrs. Wm. Purves of Port Hope, treasurer, which advised that $4,350. was sent to Toronto office out of 1950 receipts. The offering was received and dedicated with prayer by Mrs. J. W. Foote of Port Hope. A motion to adopt the reports presented was made by Mrs. F. H. Rowan, who also gave the registration report.

Greetings from the Presbytery were brought to this meeting by the Rev. J. M. Ritchie of Warkworth.

Retiring president Mrs. R. N. McCulloch of Campbellford in her closing words urged WMS members "to endeavour to gain more information about the Christian Church."

The nominating committee report was read by Mrs. H. Tate of Centreville.

BOLD PATTERNS and vivid colors strike the theme for a new group of belts and matching beach bags for resort and summer wear. Authentic Arabian tent stripes are reproduced (left) on a crushable belt with dramatic five-inch buckle. A belt in African tent stripes (centre right) has jet hook closing and matching over-the-shoulder pouch bag. Somali leopard print on vat-dyed canvas makes leather-bound contour belt (right) paired with a matching shopping bag trimmed in capeskin.

New Executive Leads Kinettes

About 25 members of the Kinette Club met for the dinner meeting at the Empress Hotel on Tuesday evening. The new executive was in charge with president Mrs. Howard Powell in the chair.

Mrs. John Wocker, the new treasurer, gave her report and Mrs. Harvey Ball gave a resume of the Civic Affairs Study Group meeting which was held immediately preceding the election.

The Kinette constitution was read by Mrs. Norm Elliott. Mrs. E. Henwood reported on the sale of tickets on the doll house draw.

Three interesting films, "After Six," "Canada Dances," and "CNR Gaspe Peninsula" were shown.

Mrs. Clare [illegible] plying a box in which Kinettes will put suggestions for ways and means of raising and spending money.

A birthday box idea has been organized and will be in operation during the year.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. John Wocker.

What's Right

You are paying a social call and your hostess insists on serving something to eat or drink.

WRONG: Protest that you don't want a thing.

RIGHT: Let her serve something if she really wants to, since some women don't feel they have shown any hospitality to a caller unless they can at least serve a cup of tea.

OIL RESERVES

Proven oil reserves in Venezuela are estimated at 8,000,000,000 barrels.

Don't be HALF-SAFE
by VALDA SHERMAN

Many mysterious changes take place in your body as you mature. Now, the glands under your arms begin to secrete daily a new type of perspiration containing substances which will — if they reach your dress — cause ugly stains and clinging odor.

You'll face this problem throughout womanhood. It's not enough merely to stop the odor of this perspiration. You must now use a deodorant that stops the perspiration itself before it reaches — and ruins — your clothes.

As doctors know, not all deodorants stop both perspiration and odor. But Arrid does! It's been proved that the new cream deodorant Arrid stops underarm perspiration 1 to 3 days safely — keeps underarms dry and sweet.

Remember this, too. Arrid's antiseptic action kills odor on contact — prevents formation of odor up to 48 hours and keeps you "shower-bath" fresh. And it's safe for skin — safe for fabrics.

So, don't be half-safe. Don't risk half-safe deodorants. Be Arrid-safe! Use Arrid to be sure. Arrid with Creamogen will not dry out, and it's so pleasant and easy to apply. Get Arrid — Canada's largest selling deodorant — today!

FUNNY BUSINESS -- By Hershberger

"What fenders?"

Special Purpose Menu Offered by Mary Moore

A reader who was first a friend and now keeps track of me through this column, sent me a quick note: "Listen Mary, if you want to know a dish that a genuine native-born German family will enjoy give them Pokelfleisch Gekocht Mit Saurekraut. The sauerkraut is a cinch—but that Pokelfleisch Gekocht had me stopped.

But after an hour or so of hunting in all the cookbooks and German-English dictionaries that were handy I found the recipe. I was worried about it because I thought even if I did find it I would not be able to buy the ingredients to test it on my own unsuspecting brood.

However, all is well for "the Thing" turned out to be pickled pork with sauerkraut. Why didn't she say so in the first place?

✧ ✧ ✧

A Truly German Supper

Pokelfleisch Gekocht Mid Sauerkraut
Gefullte Gartoffeln
Sour Cream Apple Pie Coffee

✧ ✧ ✧

Directions

Pokelfleisch Gekocht Mid Sauerkraut

As I said above this is pickled pork with sauerkraut, so you buy a piece of cured pork shoulder or even sweet pickled back bacon, cover it with water in a large kettle, put on lid and simmer after it comes to boiling point, until it is nearly tender. One-half hour before serving time, add about 1 quart sauerkraut and 1 finely sliced onion and some pepper, and cook until kraut is very tender. Serve meat on platter surrounded with kraut. Some folks serve a little hot mixed mustard.

Gefullte Kartoffeln

Bake in hot oven the number of large potatoes you need. They should be of uniform size. When soft cut a neat circular opening at top with a very sharp knife. Then empty out the centre with a small spoon, leaving only the skin. Force the potato through a sieve into a bowl and add 1 or 2 tablespoons butter for each potato. For as many as six large potatoes add yolks of 2 eggs, 6 tablespoons cream, salt, pepper, 1 teaspoon sugar and a sprinkling of nutmeg. Mix in 2 to 4 tablespoons grated old cheese. Stuff the mixture back into the potato skins, sprinkle grated cheese on top, dot with butter and bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for 25 minutes.

Sour Cream Apple Pie

Three cups, well packed, of chopped tart apples, ¾ cup sugar, ⅛ teaspoon salt, 1 cup sour cream, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, pastry for 1 9-inch pie. Mix together the sugar, salt, flour, then add sour cream and beat until smooth. Add chopped apples and mix. Pour into unbaked crust with rather high fluted edge. Mix together 1½ tablespoons sugar and the cinnamon and sprinkle over top of filling. Bake at 425 deg. Fahr. for first 15 minutes, then reduce heat and bake 35 to 40 minutes in all.

There are many sour cream pies. One that may be better known to you is Sour Cream Raisin Pie, which calls for only 2 cups raisins, or only 1 cup if you prefer, but needs 2 beaten eggs to thicken it, and a little lemon juice.

Spring Shows Stressing Twin Models

NEW YORK — (CP) — Dame Fashion is seeing double, say advance notes on Spring style trends.

Everything will come in twos, from the silhouette—one for day, one for evening—through fabrics and colors, two to a costume, down to details such as twin collars and belts, double sleeves, hat brims and skirt flounces.

Ultra-slim is the word for suits and street dresses, with taut hipline and many skirts actually "ducking under" the hips at the back. Walking ease is provided through "black flips" or morning-glory flares.

Coats, afternoon dresses and evening clothes run to extreme fulness. Stately, elaborate evening gowns are reminiscent of the 18th century and Edwardian eras, with boned bodices, poufed overskirts, crinolines and hoops. Even many of the short evening frocks have their full skirts crinolined.

Wide-Shoulder Effect

Various devices are used to give a widened effect to shoulders without use of padding. They include extra wide and deep Dolman sleeves, elbow-length puffed sleeves, yokes, big cape collars and extremely short, full boleros.

Other interesting features are low-cut backs in some daytime dresses—though necklines show an upward trend—and puffed-out harem or lantern hemlines on an afternoon and short evening dresses.

Among favored fabrics, light in both texture and color, silks lead in importance. They range from mohair and rich ribbed ottoman to paper taffeta, chiffon, silk organdies and oriental gauze. There are also zephyr woollens, wool chiffon, wool that looks like linen, and cotton that looks like wool. Some two-fabric combinations are organza with satin, lace with taffeta, wool with faille, and jersey with taffeta.

Steel blue gives the perennial navy—a lighter shade this year—competition for first color choice. Other contenders include boldly contrasted black and white, blue-tinged pinks called sherry orchid, tones of violet and of white—wax, white rose, magnolia—and a raft of gastronomical hues such as iced coconut, banana, honey, butter, strawberry ice, French vanilla, pumpkin and tobasco.

Farm Women Ask Harsher Penalties

TORONTO, Jan. 10 (CP)—The women's committee of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture, at a meeting Tuesday, adopted a resolution asking the provincial government to make pnalties more severe from drunken drivers.

Mrs. George Ridley, of Caledonia, who presided, urged closer relationships between urban and rural women's groups so that each could understand better the other's problems.

"There must be parity and equality in opportunity in health and educational services so that we rural people should have the same opportunities as the urban population," she said.

LABOR OF GENIUS

Handel, the great composer, wrote the famous "Messiah" in 24 days.

Millbrook H&S Hear Talk

MILLBROOK, Jan. 10 (ENS).—W. H. Carleton of Cobourg public school, inspector for Northumberland and Durham, was guest speaker at the Home and School Association in the school on Monday evening. Mr. Carleton spoke on the parents' role in the education of the child.

He stated that a new-born infant has just two fears, of a loud noise, and of falling. All other fears are learned from those around him. It was sad, he said, that parents do not regard themselves as teachers. It should be the interest of both parents and teachers to see that a child acquires basic skills, good habits, desirable interests and right attributes. If you want a child to learn to sing, it was necessary that you show an interest in having him acquire that skill.

The school, Mr. Carleton said, has a bigger job in teaching children how to live than in teaching them to learn subject matter.

Mrs. Henry Gray introduced the speaker and Herbert Patton moved the vote of thanks.

Other items on the program were a girls' chorus by Betty North, Marlene Richards, Marie Claire and Marlyn Husser and Frances Dawson, with Yvonne Richards taking the solo part and descant, accompanied at the piano by Miss Mabel Clarry. A square dance was done by Lenore Ouellette, Helen Wright, Dorothy Dawson, Nancy Innis, Doreen Chapman, Elinore Crowley, Nancy Powell and Elizabeth Ann McKnight. The dance was directed by Mrs. J. W. Wright and Mrs. G. MacKay.

Mrs. Gray's room, the primary, won the attendance prize for having the most parents present.

The public school board meeting which was also scheduled for Monday evening, was held early in order to allow the members of the board to attend the Home and School Association meeting in a body.

Refreshments were served by Miss Ellen Kent and her committee, assisted by some of the men.

majorities of less than 1,000 in large ridings.

He added that a recent Gallup poll had indicated the strength of the Liberal party was up 10 per cent.

Turning to the immigration scheme which would bring out workers from the United Kingdom, Mr. Thomson warned Premier Leslie Frost to choose the immigrants with care.

"Let him choose an outstanding trade unionist to go over there and pick out suitable imigrants," he said.

He said he wanted controlled immigration in which there were people for the jobs in the country and jobs for the people brought over. He said labor and work must not be out of balance.

Closer Union

Mr. Thomson called for closer union between northern and southern Ontario. He denied that he had ever talked in favor of secession of the north of the province from the south.

He said a scheme could be worked out by which both parts of the province and the province as a whole could benefit by the north turning out raw materials, mostly ores, and the south manufacturing them.

As an example he pointed to Steep Rock where iron ore is now starting to be mined. He said 10,000 men were needed to mine the district. If a road were built from Steep Rock to the lakehead at Fort William, the miners could begin to work in earnest. The Court Dismisses Traffic Charge

On his evidence that a stopped car blocked his view of a parked car as he was completing a left turn because there wasn't room between the two vehicles, James H. Thorongeau, Arnprior, was given the benefit of the doubt and found not guilty in police court Tuesday of careless driving.

Constable Louis Rodreque testified that the evening of Dec. 15 Thorongeau driving west on Sherbrooke St. made a left turn and hit a parked car on Rubidge St. about seven feet from Sherbrooke St.

The parked car was driven forward by the impact and hit another car parked ahead of it. The streets were icy in some spots and dry in others, he said.

He said Thorongeau had been drinking, but was not drunk.

Thorongeau testified that as he approached Rubidge St. about 20 miles an hour and slowed down for the turn he saw a car come up on Rubidge to Sherbrooke and come to a stop with its front projecting a foot or two into Sherbrooke St.

He said when he drove around this stopped car, he was suddenly confronted with the parked car and there wasn't room to go between the two vehicles. He put on his brakes and skidded into the parked car.

Two friends who were passengers in his car, William Ferguson and Vernon Farrell corroborated Thorongeau's evidence.

Douglas Dawes, driver of the parked car hit first by Thorongeau, said he had stopped for his wife and child. They were all in the car when it was hit. He said he didn't see any car stop beside his car just before the collision.

200 Lives Lost In Flu Epidemic

LONDON, Jan. 10—(AP)—An influenza epidemic which already has taken almost 200 lives is sweeping through western Europe.

In Britain alone it has killed 150 in the last two weeks and sent thousands of others to hospitals. Some factories in the industrial [illegible] of every 10 [illegible]

In Greenland, the malady has caused the death of 17 persons in Frederickshaab, a hamlet of 500 population.

Physicians along the North German coast say the epidemic is the worst in 15 years. They have listed 23 deaths in that region and say 780 others are being treated in hospitals. Authorities in both East and West Berlin reported a "high number" of cases.

Swedish health authorities say that the epidemic in that country is the worst of the last decade.

Some schools are closed in the Bruges area of Belgium because of the outbreak.

Daring Actress Dies

BOURNEMOUTH, England, Jan. 10—(AP)—Olga Nethersole, English actress noted for her daring stage portrayals of several decades ago, died here Tuesday at the age of 80. After the last of many tours to North America, in 1913, Miss Nethersole gave up acting and turned to social welfare work. She founded the Peoples League of Health and became a crusader for the prevention of Tuberculosis.

to a mill at the south end of Lake Huron near the American market.

In this way, Canada could sell iron to the US rather than buying it and having to dicker with the US using aluminum for bait to get it.

Will Develop North

"In my cabinet when I form it (and I didn't say it, I said when), there will be ministers delegated," he said to begin working on the development of the north of the province.

He said he had been accused of being interested in and helping millionaire lumbermen.

"I don't care about the millionaire lumbermen, but I do care about unemployed lumber workers and I do care about people waiting for homes," he said.

He charged that only because of his needling the Conservative government was anything done about the Kennedy report on the province's forests submitted by Major-General Kennedy May 17, 1947. Now the government was talking about building a mill for lumber, but he asked the government where it was going to get steel for a mill.

Only recently had the committee on forestry been appointed that the report had suggested three and half years before. And he questioned that it was free of special interests as it was supposed to be.

Report Not Printed

He charged that an Agriculture report finished five or six years ago has not yet been even printed.

The new provincial Liberal leader charged that Frost was failing his trust as premier of the province by not trying to get all the industries he could for the province. He said Frost had no business ignoring new industries until the people of the province told him to.

He said Quebec was now getting more new industries than Ontario and was developing its electric water power at a great rate.

He charged that the government of the province was a "fen of stagnant water" and proclaimed that it was time for a change, and asked that Liberals of Peterborough West do their part to

Inflation Now Strikes Cafe In Sudbury Can't Get A Meal Less Than 10 Cents

SUDBURY, Jan. 10—(CP)—Inflation has hit the North Cafe. You can't get a meal for less than 10 cents.

Mounting food costs have done away with manager John Raivo's special of a bowl of thick vegetable soup with dumplings and all the bread and butter you can eat for a nickel. As of today, it costs a dime.

A nickel will still buy you a cup of tea at the cafe, but ham and eggs has gone from 35 cents up to 40. Three fried eggs and potatoes are up five cents at 35 cents and two pork chops will set you back 50. All the bread and butter you can eat still accompanies each order.

The 25-year-old cafe charges 30 cents for a bowl of stew—almost a quart of chopped beef and vegetables — which is renowned through the northern bush country from which Mr. Raivo draws most of his trade.

"It's the big business that allows the low prices," he says.

Girls' School Returns To Galt

TORONTO, Jan. 10— (CP) — Ontario Training School for Girls at Cobourg will move back to its original quarters at Galt in the near future, Reforms Minister Foote said today.

The Cobourg site was chosen as a wartime measure, the buildings at Galt being taken over by the Federal Department of National Defence in 1942.

The Galt school, situated on the Galt-Guelph highway, consists of four houses with accommodation for 25 girls in each of the rooms.

During the war the property was used for training of women personnel for the Canadian Navy. Later it was used as a branch of the Ontario Training School for boys.

Major Foote said that the Boys' School now at Galt would occupy the Cobourg premises when the move is completed.

"I realize that for a time there will be some upset in staffs, many of whom have homes in the areas of both schools," the minister said. "Everything possible will be done to make the transfer an easy one."

Miss Isabel J. Macneill, O.B.E., is superintendent of the Girls' School.

Officials of the department said that the physical character of the two sets of buildings was largely responsible for the switch in occupants.

"The Galt buildings were construetde with the idea of housing girls. There are private rooms. Boys are more adaptable to dormitories such as exist at Cobourg," said C. F. Neelands, deputy minister. "The department feels that the facilities at Galt are more suitable for girls".

2 Men Face Charges Of Joy-Riding, 2 Theft

Two men were charged in police court today with stealing $90 from Ernest McNair and going joyriding in his car.

Harold Joseph Benedict and Arthur Hornbeck, 231 Armour Rd. were remanded to Tuesday on $1,000 bail each.

To Expel Foreigners In Red Demonstration

PARIS, Jan. 10—(AP)—France today ordered the immediate expulsion of all foreigners identified in Tuesday's Communist-led demonstration against Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

The government also suspended and took "disciplinary measures against government employees who obeyed a Communist strike call tied to the demonstration.

Police rounded up some 200 of the 4,000 demonstrators for an identity check.

36 Cases Of Measles Reported In Cobourg

COBOURG, Jan. 10 (ENS) — Thirty-six cases of red measles were recorded in Cobourg for the week ending January 8, it was revealed by the Northumberland and Durham Counties Health Unit. Altogether 98 new cases of communicable disease were listed, 33 cases of German measles and 48 of red measles comprised the bulk of the cases. There were ten cases of mumps, two of chickenpox, one of scarlet fever and four of whooping cough.

Big Four Conference Necessary Moch Says

PARIS, Jan. 10— (Reuters)— Defence Minister Jules Moch said today it was "absolutely necessary" that a Big Four conference take place.

"No matter how difficult such talks might appear they must be carried out irrespective of all winds and tides" he told reporters.

"To argue even harshly — to clash, oppose each other or take opposite sides, will still postpone the breach and the catastrophe," he added.

Bring Relief Party

PARIS, Jan. 10 (Reuters)— The French Antarctic exploration ship Commandant Charcot arrived at Adelie Land, a French South Polar posession, Tuesday with a relief party of 14 scientists, the navy announced here. The 14 scientists will relieve the Frenchmen left on Adelie Land by the Commandant Charcot more than a year ago. Their research will include sending meteorological reports and studying fish and bird life.

Fund For Family Reaches $812

COBOURG, Jan. 10—(ENS)— The fund to help re-establish the Hoare family, who lost a child and all their household possessions when fire destroyed their home last Wednesday, had reached $812 when the contributions were totalled yesterday at noon.

In addition they received dishes, some furniture and groceries from local citizens. Last night Lieut. D. E. Rea of the Salvation Army, who has been looking after the clothing donations, received a complete layette for the infant child of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hoare from the T. Eaton Company.

Fire Hazard Reduction Urged

COBOURG, Jan. 10 (ENS). — Discussion of fire hazards in Cobourg occupied a considerable portion of the inaugural session of the Town Council last night. What to do about shack dwellings and trailers engaged the attention of Council and the members were addressed by a representative from a fire pumper manufacturer.

Improvement of fire fighting services, enlarged school accommodation, civil defence, by-law revisions, better street lighting, alterations to the Town Hall and elimination of the odors at the sewage disposal plant were listed by Mayor Jack Burnet as matters meriting attention in 1951.

Councillor Rhena Stephens told Council that issuance of building permits should be tightened up and more attention paid to fire hazards. Deputy-Reeve George Galbraith suggested that one way to tackle the problem the Fire Marshal's Department to would be to ask an inspector from took over some of the dwellings that were objectionable and the owners would either have to fix them up or tear them down. On motion, Council turned the matter over to Councillor Otto Curtis to consult the town solicitor on elimination of unsuitable trailer dwellings.

The finance committee was instructed to look into the suggestion of suitable recognition for the Cobourg Galloping Ghosts, who won the Dominion intermediate "A" football title last fall.

Worthless Cheques Bring Extra Term

WHITBY, Jan. 10—(CP)—Ernest Leslie Currie, Toronto used-car salesman, Tuesday had two months added to a sentence of one year definite and six months indefinite he is already serving for fraud and false pretences.

Magistrate F. S. Ebbs sentenced him to the extra two months for giving a taxi driver two worthless cheques for a trip from Whitby to Orillia last Oct. 20.

Currie also was given two months concurrent on fraud charges involving transactions at Minden, Orono and Atherley, Ont. The court was told that in one of the deals, Currie obtained $60 from William Coneybeare, operator of a general store at Minden, through worthless cheques.

Wins Custody Of Child After 5-Year Battle

TORONTO, Jan. 10—(CP)— Mrs. Marianne Bayless of Los Angeles, Calif., has won custody of her daughter, Sharron Lee, 12, after a five-year legal battle.

The Ontario Court of Appeal Tuesday ruled that the girl is to live with her mother and stepfather in California, rather than with her paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William John Henshaw of Windsor, who sought to adopt her.

The girl's mother divorced her husband, Max Henshaw in Nevada in 1946 and took Sharron and a younger child, Guy, to California. She returned Sharron to Canada on condition that her former husband would not contest her Nevada divorce. She later married another man.

Pallbearers at the funeral Monday of Archibald Millar, 53, of Concession 11, Smith, were Leonard Hawthorne, Ernest W. Dunford, Leo Spencer, Gordon Fitzgerald, Robert Northey and William Fairburn.

Mr. Millar, a lifetime resident of Smith, died Friday in hospital after a lengthy illness.

Flower bearers were Russell Mortimer, Max Kidd, Clarke Garbutt, Charles Crawford, Bruce Fitzgerald, Herbert Tucker, and David Millar.

The funeral was at the family residence with the Rev. R. D. Duncanson of Norwood officiating, assisted by the Rev. Horace Kaye, Lakefield. Burial was in

Teachers Rap Publicity On Gang Trouble

CALGARY, Jan. 10—(CP) — Calgray school principals and teachers, at a special meeting Tuesday, expressed the opinion that alleged "gang activity" by juvenile hoodlums in the city should not be aired before the public. They rapped Calgary newspapers for publishing reports on the situation.

"It served no purpose," declared a spokesman following the closed meeting. At the same time, it admitted that the situation probably is worse than had been revealed in newspaper reports.

One principal said there has been "bootlegging" of liquor at school dances.

Following Tuesday's publicity on gang activities, a Calgary newspaper (The Albertan) received a telephone call from one of the "10th street boys" to "lay low on us guys."

"All the people in the neighborhood are staring at us and treating us like social outcasts."

Chief Constable Reg Clements has warned gang members that their actions will not be tolerated. Police have received reports of assaults on youngsters by gang members who sport "shivs" and "knuckledusters."

True Blue Lodges Instal Officers

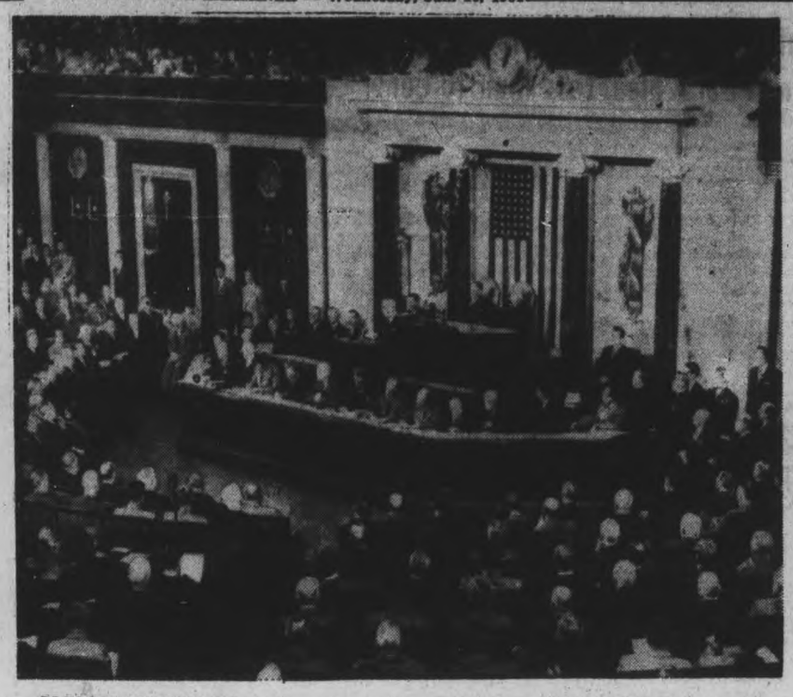
Campbellford Kin To Send Schools Milk

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 10 — (ENS). — Members of the Campbellford Kinsmen Club were entertained Monday by feats of magic, mostly card tricks, by F. F. Long, of Campbellford. Mr. Long has been performing his feats of magic at gatherings for a number of years, and has performed in Peterborough and in many surrounding centres.

The club decided to co-operate again this year in sending milk to the junior grades of the schools as they have done in former years. This service is carried out throughout the winter months, and usually terminates at Easter.

Americans In Formosa Receive No Warning

TAIPEI, Formosa, Jan. 10 — (AP)—The United States Embassy said today that Americans in Formosa are not being warned to send dependents home as was done in Hong Kong, "nor is it contemplated."



Some 600 American families in Hong Kong, British crown colony bordering on Red China, are being urged to remove dependents because of "the deterioration of the situation in the Far East."

There are about 220 American citizens on this Chinese Nationalist island. Formosa is separated from the Red China mainland by a 100-mile strait.

Canadian Arsenal Output Expected To Jump 5 Times

By HAROLD MORRISON.

OTTAWA, Jan. 10 (CP).—Canada's government arsenals, slowly gathering steam, produced $10,800,000 worth of armament in 1950 and likely will produce three or five times that amount in 1951, Maj.-Gen. John H. MacQueen said Tuesday.

The president of the Canadian Arsenals Ltd., a $90,000,000 Crown organization spreading into two provinces, added that the plants' labor force in Ontario and Quebec now totals 3,600 and likely will be doubled by the end of the year.

Most 1951 production, he predicted in an interview, will be in development of radar and the 155-millimetre gun, a United States artillery piece.

He anticipated too, that soon a multi-million-dollar retooling program will be approved to reanimate plants now functioning in low gear and that more millions will be set aside for resumption of giant armament production in Canada.

The retooling program and the production plan, which would extend over a period of several years, may be approved within the next few months, Gen. MacQueen said.

Other Expansion

Coupled with these moves is one to expand electronics production facilities with the building of a new $2,000,000 plant in Toronto. This development still is in initial stages.

Gen. MacQueen, veteran of two world wars, said prospects for armament production in Canada appear promising, but Arsenals still can absorb a lot more orders than they are getting.

Some of them are working only at 10 per cent of capacity. He hoped to be able to interest the United States, for example, in placing more orders in this country, particularly for small arms, ammunition and guns that Canada can produce easily.

Here is the situation at each of the seven plants:

Small arms ammunition at Quebec — produced $3,400,000 worth of Canadian and U.S. ammunition in 1950, employing 466 workers. Still working at far below capacity.

Gun division at Longueuil, Que. —produced $241,000 worth of two-pounder and six-pounder guns, mortars and rocket-launchers, now working on the 105 and 155-millimetre U.S. weapon for the Canadian Army. Concentration will be on 155-mm. fun, each to cost $32,000. Peak production expected in 14 months, when 15 custom-built guns will roll out of the plant each month. This plant employing 288 workers may increase its labor force to 400 or 500 by end of year.

Filling plant at St. Paul L'Ermite, Que.—produced $3,146,000 in 1950, employing 440 persons. Working at 10 per cent capacity, this plant is expected to increase 10 or 15 per cent in 1951.

Explosives Division

Explosives division at Valleyfield, Que.—produced only $55,000 worth of explosives in 1950; employs 542, mostly on rehabilitation; now being re-animated and likely will concentrate on RDX, an explosive many times more powerful than TNT.

Gun ammunition division at Lindsay — Produced $965,000 worth of shells for mortars, 40-millimetre anti-aircraft guns, six-pounders, 17-pounder guns, as well as other weapons. Tooling up for extensive production of ammunition for the three-inch U.S. naval gun, now being produced at Sorel, Que. Working at roughly 50 per cent capacity and likely will be sharply increased in 1951. Employs 350 persons and likely will absorb another 700 in year.

FLORENCE MARTINEAU, 14, was rescued by her 13-year-old brother, Jean-Guy, when their home in Ville Jacques Cartier was swept by fire leaving the rubble shown above. The home was destroyed in 20 minutes. The boy was returning from school when he noticed fire sweeping through the kitchen. He rushed into the bedroom where his sister was asleep, woke her and led her to safety through a window.

Invisible World Now Seen By Television Microscope

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE.

PRINCETON, NJ, Jan. 10 — (AP). — A television microscope, something new for seeing into the invisible world, was shown Tuesday by the Radio Corporation of America.

The secret of the new microscope is use of television eyes, which see things invisible to unaided human eyes.

The new microscope is made by setting a television camera to look through an ordinary microscope. This gives on the television screen an enlargement of 15 to 20 times the size of the microscope view. But the enlargement is not the important thing.

The television camera uses electronic tubes wihch are the seeing eyes of the television set.

If the blue television eye is used, for example, it shows the microscope view in blue shades.

But some parts of any object, even of a single molecule, stand out much more clearly in blue than any other color. The reason is that these parts absorb blue.

The same thing is done with a red television set, which then shows sharply those parts of an object which absorb red rays.

This microscope, in nearly a year's use at Princeton University, has revealed things never before seen while alive. These include granules (specks of living matter) in red blood corpuscles, which heretofore have had to be stained and killed before becoming visible. They include numerous other parts of living tissue cells.

The television eye has another advantage never before available. It sees by extremely weak light. The living tissue exposed under this mild light remains alive, unharmed and moving for hours. Heretofore the bright light needed at high magnification has after a time deadened or killed the tissues under observation.

The Princeton studies were reported by Dr. A. K. Parpart, chairman of the Dept. of Biology.

Britain Scraps Peanut Project

LONDON, Jan. 10 (Reuters).—Britain Tuesday night announced she is virtually scrapping her £36,500,000 East African peanuts experiment because it has proved incapable of fulfilment.

The scheme, launched in 1946 by the Labor Government to bring oils and fats into the national larder from 3,000,000 acres of jungle and bush will be cut back to less than 200,000 acres under cultivation by 1957.

What's left of the scheme will be administered by the Colonial Office, not by the Food Ministry as in the past. The Colonial Office will run it as a normal colonial development scheme, on which it is expert—and which critics have demanded for years.

The announcement in a government white paper said Parliament will have to write off the money sunk into the scheme.

Under the scheme announced Tuesday, nuts will give way to other crops on 50 per cent of the cultivated land. The new scheme will be organized as a seven-year plan.

Salesgirl Slugged

TORONTO, Jan. 10 — (CP) — Marion Pollard, 24-year-old cigar store salesgirl, told police Tuesday night a six-foot man slugged her on the head and looted the shop of $225 in cash. She said the thug entered the store and asked for a cigarette lighter. As she reached for the lighter he hit her. She was treated at hsopital for a scalp wound.

Exceed Steel Target

LONDON, Jan. 10 (Reuters)—British steel production in 1950 exceeded the target set by the government, the Iron and Steel Federation announced Tuesday. Figurs issued Tuesday night said that production in 1950 was 16,293,000 tons compared with a target of 15,750,000 to 16,000,000 tons.

Cabinet Minister Pushes Car Out

REGINA, Jan. 10— (CP). — "Whew!" said the Minister of Veterans' Affairs.

Hugues Lapointe puffed and shoved with the rest of his official party for half an hour Tuesday when three department cars bogged down in powdery snow in a field near the Dewdney Avenue veterans' home.

The minister, here on a tour of veterans' hospitals and branch offices of his department, saw his tightly-knit schedule thrown helter-skelter by the drifted snow.

"Heave ho!" said Mr. Lapointe, putting a shoulder to one of the cars. "I've got stuck in the battlefields of Europe, but this is my first trial in Saskatchewan."

Ask For Report On Improving Monaghan Road

With Park St., south of Lansdowne St., in the course of grooming to city standard, finance committee of the council recommended Monday night renewal of attention to another problem inheritance of township annexation, Monaghan Road, also south from Lansdowne St., the former south boundary of the city.

A motion by Aldermen Young and Burrows asked City Engineer Chalmers for a report, and in that brevity of present and temporary action there is more than a casual job for Mr. Chalmers.

Improvement of Monaghan Road south expanded from a letter received from W. A. Richardson, general manager of Peterborough Canoe Company, whose plant is situated on the west side of Monaghan Road and with a siding from the C.N.R.

Mr. Richardson called attention to disordered ringing of the signal bell at the C.N.R. crossing on the Monaghan Road slope south of Lansdowne St., a traffic trap with at least one fatality and a number of other accidents charged against it.

If the bell is left in prolonged ringing, it loses its warning purpose, and motorists get into the habit of ignoring it, Mr. Richardson said. He also told the council that the sound of the bell could not be heard by drivers of truck cabs. He suggested that something more efficient than the present bell be substituted.

A copy of the letter is going to G. A. Johnston, C.N.R. agent here, and a motion by Ald. Young and Ald. Anglesey directs also that it be "drawn to the attention of the Dominion Railway Board".

Broader Problem

Ald. Doug Miller, chairman of the finance committee, said there was a broader problem facing the council in the improvements that are required on Monaghan Road. The laying of a sidewalk is one detail, and related to it is change in the line of electric power poles by the Utilities Commission.

"We ought to see early what we can do about it," Ald. Miller remarked.

Mayor Swanston: "City Engineer Chalmers has plans for down there. It will likely be a costly job."

City council wishes to avoid involving the C.N.R. in traffic safety costs, but recognizes that something should be done as suggested from the experience of W. A. Richardson. A sidewalk on the east side was promised to Nashua Paper Co. for the convenience of their employees, when they built their new factory. James Hamilton was mayor when the development of Monaghan Road to suitable conditions for city use and traffic was first considered. The power line was an entanglement outside the council's authority, although they can ask for the co-operation of Utilities Commission.

These are some phases of the problem that is visualized in the brief phrasing of the committee's motion asking Mr. Chalmers "for a report".

Say Evacuation Not Planned

OTTAWA, Jan. 10 —(CP)— Canada is planning no further evacuation warning at this time to Canadians in the Far East, the External Affairs Department said Tuesday.

They were commenting on word that the United States Consulate General in Hong Kong is planning to warn all American citizens there to evacuate their dependents "because of deterioration of the situation in the Far East."

An official here said there are few Canadians in Hong Kong and those who are in the vicinity of China generally know they are there at their own risk.

Canadians in China were warned more than a year ago to consider evacuation but there still are 200 or more Canadians, missionaries and others, inside Communist China.

HOW TO GET QUICK RELIEF from sore, PAINFUL PILES

A Candid and Honest Discussion on a Delicate Subject

IMPORTANT! Here is frank information — in non-technical language—regarding an annoying, painful, often embarrassing physical condition which now afflicts countless thousands — you, perhaps, among them. Far too frequently this condition, at first superficial in itself, can be Nature's warning of more serious trouble to come. We believe everyone who suffers from this condition owes it to his or her own personal comfort to read the statement below. LEONHARDT PROPRIETARIES, LTD.

Since the dawn of civilization, medical men have been fighting a ceaseless war — to save lives and to conquer dread diseases.

When they discover a new "miracle" drug or surgical technique, the news rings round the world! Yet all the while, other "unsung" men of science are working equally hard to relieve suffering caused by less dramatic, "everyday" maladies. Among them is perhaps the most painful of all — piles!

A Subject Seldom Discussed

Pile sufferers are burdened with a double hardship. They yearn for relief, but hesitate to seek it because of false pride and embarrassment. Yet to the man or woman who knows the agonizing torment of itching, burning piles, the truth about their trouble may mean a world of difference in business efficiency, in social pleasure, in good looks and vitality!

What Causes Piles?

Piles are not a primary ailment. Conditions which cause them never originate in the parts affected. At first, piles are simply inflamed and distended "varicose veins" in the delicate membranes of the rectum. A common cause is hepatic congestion (torpidity of the liver) which results in ordinary, everyday constipation.

How Piles Develop

As the liver function slows down, blood flow from the lower bowel to the liver is retarded and small rectal veins swell with blood. Then, usually, constipation starts. Hard, clogging masses form in the lower bowel — irritating and bruising the distended rectal veins. Blood stagnates in and bruised areas, until the tiny veins become greatly inflamed, lumpy, horribly painful.

This agonizing pain aggravated by constipation, is "self-perpetuating". The constipation adds to the itching, burning pain and soreness—which in turn increases the constipation — which then tends to further enlarge the swollen veins until they become pile tumors. If this vicious circle is not broken, there is only one choice — chronic piles or the surgeon's knife!

Why Face This Choice?

Decide now to break this vicious circle! Many others have done so, thanks to an able professional man who, more than 50 years ago, began an intensive study of piles — their cause and effect. Knowing that piles are caused by congested conditions inside the body, he wisely searched for an internal medication that would relieve hepatic congestion, stimulate bile flow, gently ease constipation and improve circulation of the blood in the lower bowel — thus helping Nature herself promote a healthier condition in the sore, painful areas where piles are found. Finally, in his own practice, he devised a formula of medically-proven elements — small tablets taken by mouth — which showed amazing results in 86 out of 100 cases that came to his personal, professional attention!

Sufferers Acclaim Hem-Roid

He gave his formula the trade name of Hem-Roid — using it first in his own practice, later supplying it to friends and acquaintances. In 1904 he sold the formula and name. Since that time, millions of packages have been bought by the public throughout the world — and countless satisfied users of Hem-Roid testify to its quick, efficient action.

Accept This 10-Day Offer!

Naturally — long-standing, neglected cases of piles may call for a doctor's advice. But for average pile conditions, we know nothing better than Hem-Roid to give you the relief and results you want. To prove it, we make this special 10-day offer!

Now from any drugstore, get a package of Hem-Roid — 60 tablets, 20 full days treatment — at the amazingly low price of $1.50. Use the tablets exactly as directed for 10 days. If at that time you are not delighted with results you get, just return the package with unused tablets to your druggist for full refund of the purchase price! You risk nothing — and you stand to gain immeasurable relief from the embarrassing discomfort and torment of itching, burning piles. Ask for Hem-Roid — today!

9 Prime Ministers Urge US-Chinese Peace Talks

Two Transports Meet Head-On Drivers Injured

Two transport drivers were injured today when their vehicles met headon, a mile and a half east of Welcome, on the Dale-Welcome cutoff.

Donald Hampton, 26, Toronto, driver for the Toronto-Peterborough Transport Co., received a cut left wrist and bruises, a cut over the left eye, and lacerations of the right thigh.

Floyd McDonald, 32, Oshawa, driver for McCallum's car transport, received a broken left hand, a cut on the right knee, and bruises on the left knee and right elbow.

Both men were taken to Port Hope where they were given medical attention and then released.

Comes To Rescue

Provincial Constable B. Baluk of Cobourg, investigating police officer, had praise for the actions of a third transport driver—James Cranley, 30, a driver for Herb Payne Transport.

Cranley, a driver with Payne for nearly seven years, assisted both of the dazed and injured men from their cabs, made them as comfortable as he could, and then put in the call for help.

The accident happened during a heavy morning fog and the road was covered with slush. The McCallum transport, empty of its normal load of cars, was travelling west. When a mile and a half east of Welcome it started to pass Cranley in the Payne truck but too late the driver saw the oncoming tractor-trailer of Hampton.

Both Hampton and McDonald headed for the south ditch but they collided on the left shoulder of the road. The tractor section of both transports was wrecked.

Cranley's transport pulled over to the right shoulder of the cutoff and was undamaged.

Stands By His Story Of Korea Withdrawal

TOKYO, Jan. 11 (AP). — A correspondent who reported Gen. MacArthur had recommended withdrawal of United Nations forces from Korea said today he would "stand on the story" despite denials by headquarters.

Keyes Beech, veteran Chicago Daily News correspondent, reported Wednesday that MacArthur was "understood to have recommended to Washington the withdrawal of all United Nations forces from Korea."

Beech said the information came from "authoritative sources."

Col. M. P. Echols, MacArthur's public information officer, Wednesday night called the story "a figment of the writer's imagination."

Crown Seeks To Appeal Brophey's Liquor Acquittal

WINDSOR, Jan. 11—(CP)—The Crown is seeking leave to appeal the acquittal of Henry Brophey of Windsor, who was charged with illegal possession of liquor. The case was dismissed Jan. 4 by Magistrate Angus W. MacMillan. A transcript of evidence at the trial has been forwarded to the Attorney-General's Department.

In the trial, Brophey said that all but three of 186 bottles of liquor seized in his home on election night, Dec. 6, had been legally purchased. Three bottles of liquor purchased in Quebec were bought more than three months ago, he said.

His defence was that a three-month statute of limitations barred court action on the Quebec liquor.

Brophey, whose home was entered by a squad led by Inspector John Burns, is a brother of Thomas Brophey, who was elected mayor on election night results and lost office when a recount Monday found a 16-vote lead for Mayor Arthur J. Reaume.

Scot Demands 'Big 3' Meeting

LONDON, Jan. 11 — (AP). — John J. Campbell, leader of a Home-Rule-for-Scotland group, today demanded a British "Big Three" meeting of himself, Prime Minister Attlee, and Winston Churchill.

The demand was the latest development in the Christmas Day snatching of Britain's Coronation Stone — also known as the Scottish Stone of Destiny — from Westminster Abbey.

The proposal was made public by Campbell, head of the Scottish National Covenant Committee, in letters to the Prime Minister and Churchill, Conservative Party Leader.

Campbell said:

"The removal of the Stone has torn away the veil of secrecy concealing from the English people our demand for an amicable revision of the terms of the Treaty of Union, in accordance with the needs of modern states."

He called for an immediate conference with the two British political leaders with a view to rewriting the Treaty, which in 1707 made Scotland a part of Britain.

Gets Month's Pay

WINDSOR, Jan. 11 —(CP)— Thomas R. Brophey got a cheque for $375 for his eight days as mayor of Windsor, City Treasurer Eugene Langlois said today. Board of Control Wednesday decided to pay Mr. Brophey for one month. He took office the first of the year and lost out last Monday when a recount reversed the original counting and re-elected Mayor Arthur J. Reaume.

Faking Collapse Ilse Koch Says

AUGSBURG, Germany, Jan. 11 (AP).—Ilse Koch has admitted that she is only faking in her courtroom collapses, witnesses testified today.

The "Red witch of Buchenwald," on trial for alleged concentration camp atrocities, was carried from the courtroom Wednesday night and refused to leave her jail cell to attend the court session today.

But Dr. Rudolf Engler told the court that Mrs. Koch bragged to him, after Wednesday night's seeming collapse, that "she had played a good comedy."

A jail wardress testified that Mrs. Koch told her, after a previous courtroom collapse, that "it was only, theatre," and that she "could play the same comedy again."

For nearly six weeks, Mrs. Koch has listened to former Buchenwald prisoners accuse her of cruelties, while she lived in Buchenwald as wife of the camp commander.

The judge said yesterday that these prisoners' testimony was supported "about 95 per cent" by written camp records.

Canadians In Korea Have High Morale

TOKYO, Jan. 11—(CP)—Canada's senior army officer in the Far East came back from Korea today with the word that the morale of Canadian troops is "incredibly high" and that they're as hard as nails and training day and night.

Brig. Frank Fleury said a few Canadians are "seeing a bit of action from time to time" while acting as liaison officers or on the staff of forward British and American formations.

But the Canadian unit itself, the 2nd Battalion of the Princess fantry, could only grouse that the Korean guerrillas—isn't too good. Korean guerillas—isn't too good.

CGE Gets Contract

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., Jan. 11 (CP) — Canadian General Electric Co., Ltd., Wednesday announced a $1,600,000 contract to supply the main electrical drive for a plant at Algoma Steel Corporation, Ltd.

It is understood that the value of the completed plant will be $10,000,000.

It will be built by Morgan Construction Company of Worcester, Mass., and is expected to be in production by early 1952.

Red Divisions Threatening Flank Attack

UN Troops Clinging To Salient In South of Wonju

TOKYO, Jan. 12 —(Friday) —(AP)—American 2nd Division troops clung stubbornly Wednesday night to a salient 1½ miles south of Wonju on the critical central Korean front, but two Korean Red divisions were attempting a flanking move from the North and East.

A spokesman with the Americans, who were bolstered by French and Dutch troops, identified the Reds as about 20,000 men of the North Korean 6th and 10th Divisions.

The censorship withheld further details of this action.

A 2nd Division spokesman also said a Red force was beaten back with 2 to 300 casualties when it tried to encircle a 2nd Division unit five miles to the southeast on the Wonju-Chechon highway.

Otherwise the front was stabilized Thursday, with only some small-arms fire south of the wrecked and empty town of Wonju.

On that front, 55 miles southeast of Seoul, the Reds lost an estimated 2,100 troops in an earlier fight that lasted seven hours.

The allies abandoned Wonju Monday. On Wednesday, a tank-led patrol of the U.S. 2nd division pushed back into the town from the southeast.

Run Into Trap

Finding no Reds there, the patrol looked around for a while, then voluntarily withdrew towards the overlooking hills in the south.

South, on the road towards Chongju, the company-sized patrol was jumped by more than 7,000 North Koreans. At one stage the Americans fixed bayonets and charged.

After other allied forces reinforced the patrol, the Reds broke off the battle Wednesday night.

Greater Menace

But the greatest menace to Allied arms was shaping up in a 50-mile stretch between Chungju and Red-held Osan in western Korea.

Chinese and Korean Red forces estimated at 285,000 were in the area or moving toward it in an apparent bid to cut off the main forces of the U.S. Eighth army on the road south of abandoned Seoul.

In that area roads fan out through the hills, affording many avenues of approach to the Allied forces.

AP Correspondent John Randolph said the Chinese evidently hope to force the Eighth Army to accept battle in the rough country suitable for swarms of night-fighting Red infantrymen.

Six Chinese armies were in the general western area, south of Seoul, and seven armies were north and west of Wonju. This force included wiry Mongolian cavalrymen. Intelligence officers

Two Fight Way Through Flames

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Jan. 11 (CP)—David Ryan, 30, and C. W. Smith, 61, were badly burned early today fighting their way through a flame-filled apartment. They were rushed to hospital in a police cruiser.

Fire broke out in an apartment occupied by Ryan, his wife and four-year-old daughter. Ryan was sleeping alone on a chesterfield on the lower floor when he was aroused by smoke in one of the cushions. He ran to the kitchen and put the cushion under a water tap.

He returned to the living room to find it ablaze and rushed upstairs to help his wife and child, who in the meantime had been aroused by the smoke and escaped outdoors.

Smith, owner of the building, who lives in the adjoining apartment, ran into the Ryan apartment to help. Flames trapped the two men as they decended from upstairs. They suffered bad body burns before finally making their way outside. All of Ryan's hair was burned off.

Damage was estimated by Fire Chief J. C. Shapton at $300.

Jailed Seven Years

HULL, Que., Jan. 11—(CP)—Graham Lapierre, 24, of Ottawa, today was sentenced to seven years imprisonment. He had been charged with murder but convicted on a reduced charge of manslaughter for the Hull tavern slaying of his father last July. Evidence in the trial brought out that young Lapierre and his mother had lived a life of maltreatment at the hands of the hard-drinking father, 64-year-old Allan James Lapierre. The elder Lapierre was shot to death while drinking in a Hull tavern July 12. Young Lapierre, fleeing from the scene after the shooting, wounded a bystander and was himself wounded.

Canadian Troops Presented With UN Flag

PUSAN, Korea, Jan. 11 (CP)— The United Nations flag which the 2nd Battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, will carry into action in Korea was presented to the unit in a ceremony today.

Members of the United Nations Commission for the unification and rehabilitation of Korea, headed by Australian Minister James Plimsoll, visited the battalion to make the presentation.

While most of the battalion carried out scheduled training, a color guard of 39 men was drawn from the company commanded by Maj. John Firth of Paris, Ont.

Lieut. A. S. Wagstaff of New Westminster, B. C., commanded the guard, of which CSM H. O. Larson and Sgt. Bernard Holigan, both of Calgary, were right and left markers, respectively.

After receiving the blue and silk flag, on which a globe surrounded by laurel leaves appears in white, Lt.-Col. J. M. Stone of Salmon Arm, B. C., commanding officer of the battalion, gave it to Sgt. William Sim, also of Calgary today's orderly sergeant, to hoist.

Fly at Headquarters

Henceforth, it will fly in front of general headquarters alongside the Canadian flag and the regimental ensign.

Plimsoll told the men that the United Nations Commission was pleased when the batalion landed in Korea.

"We knew the reputation of the Canadian Army in previous wars and, in particular, that of this unit," he said. "The latter has a reputation built in the First and Second World Wars and we know it will be maintained under the present commanding officer."

U.S. Air Force Plane Crashes, 11 Survive

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Jan. 11 (AP).—United States Air Force twin-engined C-47 crashed and burned about 30 miles west of Albuquerque Wednesday night but all 11 persons aboard survived.

Ground search parties early today found the three crew members and eight passengers. Seven of them were injured.

The crew had radioed the military control tower at Kirtland that it was abandoning ship before the crash.

Eisenhower Begins Talks With Dutch

THE HAGUE, Jan. 11—(AP)— Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower today began a series of talks with Dutch leaders to find out what this little country has to contribute towards the defence of Western Europe.

After a conference with the chiefs of the Dutch Army, Navy and Air Force, Eisenhower left for the office of Premier Willem Drees.

Later he will fly to Copenhagen for the fourth of a 10-country check-up on western Europe's contributions to the Atlantic alliance.

In his visits to both Belgium and the Netherlands Eisenhower has had the task of convincing these two small powers that defence against Red aggression is a job the west must assume to save itself. In both lands the fear of war between Russia and the west is great, but in both countries observers said that there has been an awakening realization of the need for rearmament.

New Delay Faces UN On Peace Bid

No Formal Proposals Ready Yet, Committee To Delay

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., Jan. 11 (AP)—The United Nations today faced a new delay in its quest for a Korean peace settlement.

The General Assembly's 60-member political committee was scheduled to meet this afternoon, but informed quarters said it probably would adjourn until next week because no one had any formal proposals ready yet.

The situation was this:

The Assembly's three-member cease-fire committee had a six-point truce plan, but wasn't ready to submit it because India's Sir Benegal N. Rau wanted to get approval first from his chief, Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru, who is in London.

Israel had a similar seven-point plan, but did not want to formalize it in a resolution unless it received substantial support.

The United States had a plan, calling for condemnation of Communist China as an aggressor, but wanted to give the UN another chance to seek a cease-fire.

Getting Impatient

The picture was complicated further by the fact that the whole Far Eastern problem was under consideration by the conference of Commonwealth prime ministers in London.

Diplomatic sources reported, meanwhile, that the other two members of the cease-fire committee were getting impatient over the slowness of the Indian government in approving the proposed truce formula which was sent to Nehru in London almost a week ago.

These two are Assembly President Nasrollah Entezam of Iran and Canada's Minister of External Affairs, L. B. Pearson. One informed source said they might come forward with the cease-fire appeal without Rau, unless he sends a go-ahead soon.

Although there is little hope here that the Peiping government will accept the new truce bid, there is general agreement that another clear-cut rejection by the Chinese Reds will clear away some of the objections to United States demands that they be labelled as aggressors.

'Quake Topples N.Z. Chimneys

AUCKLAND, N. Z., Jan. 11 — (AP). — Sharp earth tremors rocked southern New Zealand early today, toppling chimneys and buckling railroad tracks. No casualties were reported.

The quakes, which lasted over a period of seven hours, set church bells ringing in the village of Christchurch and brought chimneys crashing down in Cheviot, 75 miles to the north.

The railroad station at Cheviot settled three inches into the earth and the main rail line north was knocked out by the quakes.

A Sad Plight!

WINDSOR, Jan. 11—(CP)—Zygmunt Leo Figlerowicz, 21-year-old Polish youth, is wondering what he'll do next now that he has been ordered to leave Canada within two months by immigration authorities. He does not wish to return to Poland where his parent were killed by the Communists. He illegally entered Canada after a hectic wartime existence that included service in a German labor camp and escape from imprisonment in the Buchenwald concentration camp. After the war he was sent back to Poland and spent several months in a Communist jail.

St. Laurent Faces Stormy Session Over Defence

OTTAWA, Jan. 11 —(CP)— Prime Minister St. Laurent returns to Ottawa Monday to prepare his governmental forces for a parliamentary battle whose opening rounds have already been fired.

The question of Canadian and joint Western defence and, within it, the key problem of manpower is expected to dominate the debates of the new House session beginning Jan. 30.

Mr. St. Laurent will muster his cabinet frequently between next week and the House opening to whip together a defence program without precedent in Canadian peacetime history.

A defence budget beyond $1,000,000,000, overseas commitments for Canadian forces and aid for Europe beyond the $300,000,000 already authorized are expected to emerge.

From both sides of the House, according to indications already given, will come calls for forces bigger than those now in existence.

Battle Keynotes

Keynotes for this battle were sounded in Saskatchewan this week. Veterans Minister Lapointe said Canada must increase her forces. John Diefenbaker (PC—Lake Centre) pointed out that if Canada were keeping pace with the U.S. or U.K. she would have at least 227,000 men under arms.

Neither specified how the enlarged forces were to be found.

Canada now has 62,000 in the regular forces.

Present indications are that the government remains hostile to any form of conscription. The Progressive Conservative's first caucus is expected to tackle the central problem of manpower but so far there is no sign that it will bring the old problem of conscription out into the open.

But the manpower problem is bound to hang heavily over the entire session and in its shadow there will always be the conscription issue that has caused some of Canada's most bitter political moments.

VOTE ON SUNDAY SPORTS

CORNWALL.—Cornwall ratepayers will vote on Sunday sports in a referendum April 4 it was decided Wednesday night at a joint meeting of city and township councils.

Entry In UN Proposed As Beginning

Return Of Formosa To Chinese State Included In Plan

LONDON, Jan. 11—(CP)— Britain and India have proposed a high-level conference between the United States and Communist China to discuss a Korean peace, informed sources reported today.

Their move had the blessing of the seven other Commonwealth countries represented at the Commonwealth Premiers' conference under way here.

The proposed get-together would be under United Nations auspices, the informants said. Neither the United States nor Red China has so far reacted to the suggestion. The new move apparently has the support of the leaders of all nine Commonwealth countries who have been discussing the tense situation in the Orient and in the rest of the world in a conference which began here last Thursday.

Few details of the proposal were available, but its immediate objectives were clear.

It would seek to avoid formulation in the United Nations of a new cease-fire resolution which might prove unacceptable to either the United States or Red China. It would seek to defer offering of a projected United States resolution to have the United Nations brand Communist China an aggressor.

In Difficult Position

Britain, other members of the Commonwealth and many western countries would find it difficult to support such a resolution. Some have recognized the Peiping government. All want to keep out of a limited or open war against Red China. They fear labelling Communist China an aggressor eventually would lead to imposition of economic sanctions against China, which could be a step to war.

Ottawa Refuses Stay Execution

OTTAWA, Jan. 11—(CP)—The Federal government has turned down a request for a stay of execution and a new trial for J. Albert Guay, Quebec jeweler, scheduled to be hanged shortly after midnight tonight for the murder of his wife in the time-bombing of a passenger aircraft.

The announcement was made today by the remission branch of the secretary of state's department.

Counsel for the 33-year-old Guay presented a petition Wednesday to Justice Minister Garson requesting a stay of execution and a new trial.

The remission branch announced simply that there will be "no interference" with the death sentence.

Earlier in Quebec, Chief Justice Albert Sevigny of the Quebec Superior Court turned down a petition requesting a stay of execution for Guay.

Liquor Control Board Headache

Drinking Drivers Tough Survey Problem

TORONTO, Jan. 11 (CP). — Drinking drivers are tough nuts to crack in Canada or any other country, the Liquor Control Board of Ontario says today in a 70-page document.

On top of those encountered by other countries, Canada has "labelling" troubles. In Newfoundland, Nova Scotia, and Prince Edward Island, drivers are a problem when "under the influence." In other provinces they are difficult when "intoxicated."

The report on problems posed by drinking drivers is the result of an extensive survey conducted by H. David Archibald, Director of Research for the LCBO, and Dr. H. Ward Smith of the University of Toronto's Pharmacology Department.

One of their points is that legislation and enforcement, while extremely important, are not the whole answer.

In Norway, the report says, where legislation and enforcement appeared in proper balance for the last 14 years, there has been no significant decline in the incidence, and the number of convictions for intoxicated driving has altered little.

Other Steps Needed

"No doubt an efficiently-administered law is a major step toward solution of this problem," the report says. "However, it appears that other steps are also necessary. The direction of these steps may be revealed by future research."

One line suggested is an improvement of education in dangers of drinking and driving. Twenty-two countries have programs of this sort.

These programs should be based on facts derived from scientific research; should be continuous and not confined to problem periods such as Christmas or New Year's and be co-ordinated with existing programs of alcohol-traffic education.

A combination of clarification of terminology and the institution of scientific standards — breath or blood tests and clinical observation — should produce high-level legislation dealing with drinking drivers in Canada.

The report, first of a series planned by the LCBO Research Department, has been presented to both the Federal and Ontario Provincinal Governments.

Parliament Won't Be Same

MP's Will Miss Sprightly Smith In House

OTTAWA, Jan. 11—(CP)—It won't be the same around Parliament Hill without Arthur Smith—the genial lawyer from Calgary noted for his short but pungent speeches.

The hefty Progressive Conservative member for Calgary West announced Wednesday he would resign soon after parliament reassembles Jan. 29.

The veteran battler of the courts and the hustings, who will be 65 next Feb. 13, said he is not well but "not incapacitated," and will resign from parliament on advice of his physicians.

It is a safe assumption that his friends of all parties in the House will hope he reconsiders, because Art Smith has been the kind of member who can always strike a blow for his party when it is needed most, and stick a barb into his opponent so gently that they enjoy it.

He became best known here in 1932 when he was one of the counsel in the investigation of the Beauharnois power development, a political issue of the first magnitude at that time.

Always A Realist

In the courts, as in parliament, he is a realist and it has been his self-appointed job in the House of Commons to intervene when he believes it necessary, to puncture evasion and oratorical camouflage.

Thus, when members might be solemnly debating the wisdom or otherwise of taking an afternoon or evening off, he would get the speakers' eye and wearily but bluntly say everyone knew most of the members wanted to go to a football or hockey game, whichever it might be, and that whatever was decided, he was going anyhow.

An active sportsman in his youth, he is one of the keenest sports fans in the House and many of his speeches have been spiced with the idiom of the playing fields.

In his period in parliament he has fought realistically for the rights of the working people, and gives his gifts of legal argument to the support of labor's aims while still maintaining the rights of those whose enterprise and foresight create labor.

One of his big days in parliament came last year when, during debate on government subsidies and price support programs, he said:

"So long as greed and fear are motivating factors in human conduct—and in my judgment they are and always will be—requests will be made for special legislation . . .

"I think it is about time we members of parliament started looking after the consumers a little."

Like the great majority of members he almost invariably begins each speech with a promise that he will be brief. But what endears him to his fellow members—and the press gallery—is that he always is brief, also interesting.

Believe Count Of Enemy Dead Quite Accurate

FIFTH AIR FORCE HEADQUARTERS, Korea, Jan. 11—(AP)—The United States Air Force claims its estimates of enemy troops killed by planes are more nearly correct than many people think.

(The question was raised most pointedly last week by the London Daily Mirror in a front-page story scoffing at air force claims. It said pilots flying fast planes could not glean much information on how many enemy personnel they killed).

Here's the way the air force arrives at its conclusions:

An interrogation officer—a sort of professional doubting Thomas—questions each pilot after every mission. There are usually four planes in each fighter flight—and fighters are doing most of the work now. So the interrogator has four stories to check on each flight.

He evaluates each pilot's report, trying to strike a reasonable medium. Then, in most cases, he subtracts up to a third of the total claimed killed by the pilots and balances that with what aerial observers and ground intelligence have reported on the enemy disposition.

Cameras In Action

Plane cameras record the action in each strike; the movies are reviewed daily.

Pilots are not allowed to claim having killed any troops they do not actually see themselves. In the cold Korean climate troops try to stay indoors as much as possible. Buildings strafed and bombed are not permitted to be added to air force calculations of personnel casualties.

The U.S. Eighty Army says the air force actually underestimates casualties inflicted on the Communists.

Here is an actual case in point: Nov. 28 the air force announced it had killed 230 enemy troops by strafing. The Eighth Army took the enemy positions the next day and found 1,025 enemy bodies—all killed by .50 calibre machine-gun bullets. U.S. fighter planes are armed with .50 calibre machine-guns.

Child's Eyes Not Cancerous Mayo Clinic Bans Operation

ROCHESTER, Minn., Jan. 11—(AP)—Eye specialists at the Mayo clinic answered Mrs. Frank Purcell's prayers Wednesday. Her four-year-old daughter Carolyn will not have to undergo an operation for the removal of her eyes, according to clinic doctors.

The child was brought to the clinic Tuesday for a verdict on a reported cancerous condition around her eyes.

After a detailed diagnosis, clinic physicians said there was no evidence of any cancer. A clinic spokesman said this confirmed the opinion of an Atlanta, Ga., physician, who had examined Carolyn earlier.

Great Anxiety

The Mayo clinic climaxed a long period of anxiety for Mr. and Mrs. Purcell. They had been told by specialists that one or both of Carolyn's eyes must be removed to save her life.

Their plight reached the ears of the Atlanta Mounted Shrine Patrol, which arranged for the trip by air to Rochester for a final opinion before an operation was performed.

Before the trip to the Mayo clinic, Mrs. Purcell had spent several days in prayer with a group of faith-healers—hoping against hope that her tiny daughter's eyes could be saved.

The clinic doctors said there was an inflammatory reaction within the child's eyes, but there would be no treatment here. That would come later when Carolyn was back home.

Raps Army Angle In Civil Defence

REGINA, Jan. 11 (CP).—Professor John Morgan of the University of Toronto School of Social Work today said the present plan for civil defence in Canada is "wrongfully conceived, issued by the wrong people and devotes itself to the wrong subjects."

"Civil defence must be organized along civil, democratic lines, planned and organized from the bottom up," he said.

"It should not be organized on a military basis or in association with the Department of National Defence. It should not be on a military plan or rely on personnel with military training. It should be led, not commanded."

Most problems would deal with human relations for which military personnel does not usually have the proper training or aptitudes."

New Field Men For Federation

TORONTO, Jan. 11 (CP). — Ontario farmers were told Wednesday that if they want benefits comparable to those of organized labor they will have to dig into their jeans a little deeper in support of farm organizations.

V. S. Milburn, secretary of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture speaking to 500 delegates at the Federation's annual meeting, said the association effectiveness has frequently been crimped by a lack of money.

The coming year's budget was being increased by 25 per cent to $95,000.

President J. C. Broderick of St. Catharines and Lloyd Jasper of Mildmay also spoke on making the farm organization produce dividends for farmers similarly to industrial workers' unions.

Mr. Milburn said the association hopes to add two new field men, undertake more research into marketing legislation; aid wheat and poultry associations and get started; dispense information for members; add another secretary and more office space.

Mr. Jasper urged financing at the county level. Mr. Broderick plumped for effective marketing legislation to "do for the farmer what organized labor has done for the industrial working man."

The prime ministers have been studying a set of principles which Britain and India are said to feel would help end the Korean war. These include admission of Red China to the U.N., reaffirmation by the big powers of the 1943 Cairo declaration promising return of Formosa to China, a time-table for withdrawal of foreign troops from Korea and a seat for Red China on any U.N group set up to restore Korea politically and economically. Foreign Secretary Bevin of Britain is said to have laid these principles before Prime Minister Nehru of India last Friday—but the word "proposal" is avoided.

Put Out Feelers

Britain is understood to be sounding out the Americans in Washington on the idea of meeting the Red Chinese. India has put out feelers in Peiping.

While it has the blessing of the Commonwealth bloc as a whole, the initiative does not represent a joint Commonwealth move.

The sources were careful to stress the Commonwealth in no way is ganging up on the U.S. over the Korean crisis.

The action stems from general agreement recorded by the prime ministers that the non-Communist world must try everything possible to keep out of war with Red China.

Setting for an American-Chinese get-together presumably would be Lake Success if it is held under United Nations auspices.

Not Definite

The informants did not say whether the conference proposal called for unconditional acceptance.

Known Red Chinese conditions for a Korean settlement in the past have included her prior admission to the United Nations, the return of strategic Formosa and the withdrawal of all foreign troops from Korea.

The United States has many times stated its readiness to negotiate a settlement if Red Chinese troops quit Korea and if UN objectives in Korea to re-establish the battered country as an independent, unified, democratic state—are fulfilled.

Opposes Open War

Bevin was represented also as opposing any limited or open war against China and as having spoken out against imposition of any economic sanctions against the Chinese Communists.

The nine commonwealth countries were said to be agreed that East-West talks should be held to settle the Cold War, but that the West should enter freely into talks with Russia under no threat of force, and that a wide agenda should be worked out for the talks to ensure positive results.

County Judges In Purple Robes

Judge Sheldon L. Smoke has given his reserved approval of the new violet and black robes for county judges.

Ontario judges are the first in Canada to wear the simplified version of the robes worn by English county judges. Though the robes have not been officially approved a number of Ontario judges have worn them in court.

"I have always felt that the county judge should have a gown other than that worn by KCs," said Judge Smoke. "Yes, I think it will add to the dignity of the court."

Judge Smoke added that he had not seen the robes, designed by Harcourt's of Toronto, and had no comment to make on the color scheme.

Not Just K.C.

They reportedly differ from the robes of a KC as they have a violet facing and collar. And there is a violet-colored sash extending across the chest, from the left shoulder to the waist on the right-hand side.

More than a year ago justices of Ontario's Supreme Court brought some color into the courtroom by adopting another and more elaborate type of English gown.

Coalition Government Suggested In Britain

LONDON, Jan. 11 (AP)—The Liberal Evening Star says today the Labor Government and its Conservative opposition may agree on a "party truce or a new coalition government" in the near future.

John Carvel, the Star's political expert, says in a front-page story:

"Mr. Attlee and Mr. Churchill have publicly repudiated the idea of a coalition arrangement on several occasions during the past year and there is no doubt that they carried most of their supporters with them at the time.

"Since then, however, the international outlook has darkened and opinion among MP's has shifted greatly."

Sources close to Prime Minister Attlee and Conservative Leader Winston Churchill pooh-poohed the story.

The Conservative informant asked: "Can you imagine Winston Churchill as Mr. Attlee's right-hand man?"

Sinclair Lewis Asks Body Be Cremated

ROME, Jan. 11 (AP)—Sinclair Lewis, American author and Nobel Prize winner, who died here Wednesday, left instructions that his body be cremated and the ashes placed in his father's family burial plot, an American Embassy spokesman said today.

The instructions, received by cable at the Embassy from Lewis' lawyer and executor of his estate, directed that the ashes be sent to a surviving brother, Claude B. Lewis, of St. Cloud, Minn.

Alexander Manson, Mr. Lewis' secretary here, Wednesday night talked by telephone with Dorothy Thompson, newspaper columnist and writer and divorced wife of the late author, and with Michael Lewis, his son.

DOLLAR STILL CLIMBS.

MONTREAL, Jan. 11 — (CP)—The American dollar today opened at 4 31/32 per cent premium to the Canadian dollar, 1/32 higher than Wednesday's close. That is, it took $1.04 31/32 Canadian to buy $1 American.

The pound sterling was $2.93-15/16, up 1/8.

FAMILY OF 8 HOMELESS

BROCKVILLE.—Fire destroyed the two-storey frame house of Frederick Coates early today, driving a family of eight into the cold. All escaped with minor burns.

Pope Forbids Clergy Attend Rotary Meetings

VATICAN CITY, Jan. 11 (AP)—Pope Pius XII has forbidden Roman Catholic clergymen to join Rotary clubs or attend their meetings.

A decree of the Supreme Sacred Congregation of the Holy Office—one of the 11 congregations that govern Catholic church affairs—was published today in the Vatican newspaper L'Osservatore Romano, giving that directive. The Pope is the Prefect of the congregation.

The decree, printed in Latin, advised laymen against joining Rotary clubs, but did not expressly forbid them from doing so, Vatican sources said.

It was drawn up at the December 20 meeting of the congregation in answer to queries on the subject. It said clergymen could not join the organization or attend its meetings.

Laymen, it added, should be exhorted to follow the dispositions of canon law number 684, insofar as Rotary is concerned.

The church law to which laymen are referred by the decree states:

"Those faithful (members of the Catholic church) are worthy of praise who give their names to associations promoted by the church, or, at least, recommended by it. They (the faithful) should guard themselves, however, from secret associations (which are) condemned, seditious or suspected, or that seek to draw away from the legitimate vigilance of the church."

Vatican sources said today's decree was in reply to a specific question which was about the Rotary Clubs, and that thus the decree would apply only to that service organization. The sources said this in reply to queries whether other service organizations would be affected.

No Comment

In Chicago, headquarters of Rotary International said the news report of the ban was the first officials had heard of it. The club made no comment immediately.

Rotary described itself as a world fellowship of business and professional men united in the practice of the "ideal of service" which it defines as "thoughtfulness and helpfulness to others." It says in its "fact sheet":

"Rotary does not seek to supplant or to interfere with any religious or political organization. It assumes that its concepts are in accord with all religions and it does not concern itself with a Rotarian's politics.

"Rotary expects him to be faithful to his religion and loyal to his citizenship."

said 500 Chinese planes and 200 tanks are available to back the push.

Another hint that the Reds may be about to challenge Allied mastery of the Korean skies cames in far North Korea. Fifteen Russian-made MIG-15 jet fighters attacked a B-29 Superfortress as it lagged behind a formation because of engine trouble.

Narrow Escape

The B-29 took cover in a cloud bank but its gunners reported the possible kill of one Red jet. The bombers had dumped more than 100 tons of explosives on the airfield at Pyongyang, North Korean capital, and other cities in North Korea.

Except for the bombing raids and a few fighter sorties, Allied planes had been grounded for two days because of snow and rain. But fighters returned to the fray Thursday and caught hundreds of Reds in the open.

Ten navy planes dived through a hole in the clouds and plastered Red troops on the Wonju front. U.S. Fifth air force fighters fanned out against enemy troops and supplies in the Seoul area.

The blistering local defeat handed the Reds three to four miles south of Wonju was heartening, although the over-all picture was grim. Eighth Army headquarters called the action a "successful operation".

Gen. MacArthur's headquarters said it was a counter-attack aimed at throwing the enemy off balance.

After the Reds broke off the engagement, the allied line was stabilized two miles south of Wonju. AP correspondent Don Huth reported from Eighth Army headquarters that Chinese and Korean Red forces threatened the line at Chechon, 20 air miles southeast of Wonju.

An estimated 200 Communists were engaged by allied patrols eight miles northeast of Chechon, and another 1,300 were observed east of the city.

Reports reaching Eighth Army headquarters said a large number of Reds was seen eight to 10 miles south of Chechon and moving south.

There were no reports of any action between Chechon and the Sea of Japan coast on the east side of the peninsula.

Chinese and Korean Red forces have been spotted moving south along the coast, however. Last week they were between the 38th parallel and abandoned Hungnam in North Korea. It was at Hungnam that the navy removed some 200,000 U.N. troops and Korean civilians in December.

On the western front, AP correspondent Stan Swinton reported that a force of some 5,000 Chinese Reds was seen moving south of Osan, 28 air miles south of Seoul.

Judge Refuses Plea To Dismiss Suit

TORONTO, Jan. 11—(CP)—Mr. Justice F. H. Barlow Wednesday refused a request by Empire-Hanna Coal Company for dismissal of a damage suit by Industrial Molasses Corp.

The suit arose from an order by Corby Distilleries Ltd. for delivery of 2,124 tons of molasses from Industrial Molasses Corp.

Industrial Molasses said it pumped the 2,124 tons in its end of the pipeline at Belleville, and submitted a bill for $29,180. Corby's said only 421 tons came out its end of the line and refused to pay.

The Molasses Company brought suit against Empore - Hanna, claiming the coal company caused a leak in the line by piling too much coal on its property, under which the pieline runs. They said the molasses seeped out into the ground near Belleville.

Prices Rise Steadily On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO, Jan. 11 — (CP)—Prices climbed steadily as the session progressed on the Toronto stock exchange in a recovery move after yesterday's sharp break.

Advances ranged to almost $2 in industrials with steels and papers leading. Both groups showed a wide list of issues ahead. Agricultures, foods, liquors, retail stores and manufacturing companies showed a majority of gains in the groupings.

Base metals climbed over a broad front in active dealings. East Sullivan held the spotlight with an 85-cent jump in brisk trading. Every leading issue was ahead and advances ranged to $1.

Senior golds added up to 75 cents with McIntyre out in front. Junior producers advanced pennies.

Western oils showed a solid array of gains that ranged to 50 cents. Royalite, Calgary and Edmonton and Anglo-Canadian paced the list.

More Drunks Arrested Than Since Year 1913

TORONTO, Jan. 11 (CP). — More persons were arrested for drunkenness here during 1950 than in any other year since 1913, Chief Constable John Chisholm said today.

The chief's annual report said 13,788 arrests were made last year, compared with the record number of 15,116 in 1913. The city's population last year was approximately 700,000, as against 417,000 in 1913. The 1950 arrests for drunkenness exceeded those for 1949 by 1,209.

During 1950 there were 995 liquor prosecutions, 138 involving narcotics and 48 cases under the Lottery Act.

Carl Lywood, 70, died in Lindsay hospital last night after neighbors discovered him overcome by coal fumes in his home. Julia Hamly, his housekeeper, also was overcome but is reported recovering.

Ontario Ball Pitcher In Jet Plane Crash

BROCKVILLE, Jan. 11 (CP)—W. J. (Jimmie) Proctor, well-known Central Ontario Baseball League pitcher and captain of the 1950 Brockville Memos, is in the United States Naval Hospital at Jacksonville, Fla., with injuries suffered when his jet fighter crashed on an aircraft carrier during night-landing exercises in the Caribbean Sea.

The former Brockville hurler was called into active service with the U.S. Naval Auxiliary Air Service shortly after the baseball season ended and had been stationed at Cecil Field, Jacksonville.

The crash broke his collarbone, dislocated his shoulders and broke four ribs.

Latest word reaching here was that complications had set in and that he would be in hospital for at least a month.

A record 436,000 tons of sugar beets were delivered to southern Alberta factories in 1950.

Sect May Return To Home, Deadline Over

KEREMEOS, BC, Jan. 11 (CP) —The village assembly bell today may toll the dispersal of the "Children of Light" cult, whose members have been isolated 17 stormy days in search of serenity.

That is, unless the 35-member religious sect wants to face the consequences under the School Attendance Act.

"K" Day—for Kingdom — has passed. Now it's "C" Day—and the "C" is for classroom. The Keremeos School Board issued the return ultimatum Wednesday.

If the children venture out from the farmhouse retreat on the edge of town, the elders are expected to follow, thus ending the long wait for either the "world's end" or a "message from God."

But there may be one loophole. One of the cult members is a former school teacher, and the law says if equal education is provided by a teacher, children are not compelled to attend the public school. Whether this is the situation must be decided before any action is taken.

Get Back To Books

The leader of the white-robed, hymn-singing group, 50-year-old Mrs. Grace Carlson, has promised that the youngsters will get back to their books.

"We have every reason to hope they will return voluntarily," said Fred C. McCague, junior high school principal. "If they don't, their parents will feel the full force of the law."

When the extremists first locked themselves in the ramshackle cottage, they said they were awaiting the end of the world. Later they said they were awaiting a heavenly message, in form unknown.

Residents are waiting, too—for the cult to move out of the cottage and thus blotting the spotlight the "Children of Light" have cast on this tiny town.

France Solves Spanish Worry

PARIS, Jan. 11 (AP).—After a month of diplomatic squirming and inspired rumors, France today apparently found a formula for having an ambassador in Spain without adding to political trouble at home.

French Socialists oppose sending an ambassador to Franco's Spanish regime, and Socialists are an essential link in the present French coalition cabinet.

The formula calls for elevating 51-year-old Bernard Hardion, now French Charge D'Affaires, in Madrid, to the rank of "Ambassador of the French Republic." This means he will be merely a "high functionary representing the government of France," instead of a full-fledged ambassador responsible to the president of the Republic, one official explained.

Some Spanish circles in Paris predicted Franco might delay approval of Hardion for months, in retaliation for France's public display of distaste for his regime.

Ford M. Warren Returns As Bank Manager

Ford M. Warren, assistant manager of the Bank of Montreal's local office from 1941 to 1945, has been named manager of the branch. He succeeds Charles S. Cummer, who is retiring at the end o fthe month. Mr. Warren has been an assistant manager in the main branch at Montreal for the past three and a half years.

A native of Lansdowne, Mr. Waren began his career there, and later served at numerous branches in this province, including those at Newington, Arnprior, Ottawa and Belleville, as well as Quyon, Que., and in Montreal. He received his first appointment, as accountant, at the bank's Cornwall office in 1936, and was transferred to the head office four years later. He came to Peterborough as assistant manager in 1941, returning to the head office as an inspector in 1945. In 1948 he was made assistant manager of the Montreal main office.

Wherever he has bene stationed, Mr. Warren has taken an active part in community affairs. When last here he was successively treasurer, vice-president and president of the Kinsmen Club. He was forced to relinquish the presidency when his work took him to Montreal.

FORD M. WARREN

A keen sports fan, the new manager takes a particular interest in golf, lawn bowling and fishing.

Mr. Cummer, who completes a 44-year banking career at the end of the month, intends to reside in Peterborough after his retirement.

East Northumberland School Area Board Elects N. N. Haggerty

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 11 —(ENS)— The first meeting of the newly-formed High School Area Board was held in the council chambers in Campbellford on Wednesday night with a good attendance. N. N. Haggerty of Wooler was elected chairman.

Members of the new board are V. Farrell of St. Mary's Separate School, Campbellford; W. R. Loucks, Seymour township; B. H. Meyers, A. K. Loucks and George Nicholls, Campbellford; Fred Spence, Colborne; W. O. Graham, Castleton; Wesley Down, Hilton; N. N. Haggerty and Douglas McMaster, Wooler; Gordon McCubbin, Warkworth and A. E. Hennessey, Brighton. A county appointment will later be made.

ed to Campbellford town clerk, J. F. McGregor, for officiating at

A vote of thanks was extend- the opening of the board meeting.

It was decided to name the board The East Northumberland School Area Board.

Fifty dollars was voted the Colborne High School for the purchase of books, and the chairman was authorized to purchase a suitable typewriter for the Wooler High School. The Campbellford High School will get a new hot water tank, and a $15.00 petty cash account, as will all other schools in the district.

A recommendation that all school principals attend the board meetings was decided on, and an allowance of 7c per mile will be paid those attending.

The following committees were named:

Property Committee: V. Farrel chairman and Fred Spence, Gordon McCubbin, A. E. Hennessey, N. N. Haggerty and George Nicholls.

Finance committee will be chosen at the next meeting.

Transporation Committee W. R. Loucks, chairman and George Nicholls, W. O. Graham and Doug. McMaster.

Management Committee: W. R. Loucks, chairman and Wesley Down, D. H. Meyers, Gordon Cc-Cubbin and A. E. Hennessey.

Owen Finlay was chosen as secretary of the board, at a salary of $1500 and Wesley Stephens is the assistant secretary at a salary of $250.

A motion to do business through the Royal Bank in Warkworth was accepted, and a "Borrowing By-Law" was passed to authorize the borrowing of up to $75,000. It is not likely this amount will be necessary.

It was decided that meetings will be held the first Friday of each month with the next meeting at Wooler.

S. L. Gray, Inspector of High Schools, addressed the gathering giving his observations during his recent visit to the High Schools i nthe area. Mr. Gray visited some of the schools last fall and recently visited the Campbellford High School.

A number of recommendations were made by hte inspector.

Martin A. Coughlin

Pallbearers at the funeral Wednesday of Martin Ambrose Coughlin, 69, of RR 4, Lakefield, were B. Q. Dench, Vincent Hickey, Clifford Galvin, Andrew Kelly, George Charlton and Ed Hanrahan.

Mr. Coughlin, a lifelong resident of Douro, died Sunday in hospital after a short illness. He was twice a township councillor.

The funeral was from the Anderson funeral home to St. Paul's church, Lakefield, for requiem mass celebrated by the Rev. Dr. J. V. Masterson. The Rev. J. J. McCarthy said graveside prayers. Burial was in St. Joseph's cemetery, Douro.

Village Treasurer Resigns After 30 Years

HASTINGS, Jan. 11 —(ENS)— J. M. Baker who has held the office of treasurer for the past 30 years, and that of clerk and treasurer for 17 years, tendered his resignation at the inaugural meeting of Hastings Village Council Monday.

On motion of Lynch and Jones it was with regret that Mr. Baker's resignation was accepted and is to be effective at the next regular meeting on Feb. 2nd. Reeve Stevenson asked Mr. Baker to carry on until his successor is appointed and expressed regret at losing Mr. Baker, who had given faithful and loyal service during his term of office.

Mr. Baker said it was with regret he was leaving but he appreciated the words of praise and congratulations extended him on his work.

Council Takes Oath

The council, Reeve J. S. Stevenson, Councillors J. R. Jones, W. A. Thomas, Joseph Lynch and Walter Peck took their oath of office at 11 a.m. on Monday with the Rev. N. Cole in attendance. The council then adjourned to meet for regular meeting at 7.30 p.m. of the same evening.

The assessor, Mr. George Humphries handed in his resignation but will complete unfinished assessing.

The constable, Robt. Kemp approached the council about a raise in salary of $200 a year and fuel for his apartment. Motion by Peck and Jones that the request be considered and decision be given at February meeting.

On motion by Messrs. Thomas and Peck that the assessor's resignation was accepted.

Tenders will be received for the position of clerk and treasurer for the period of ten days, up until noon, Jan. 19. Notices are to be published in both Hastings press and Peterborough Examiner.

Campbellford Midgets Defeat Belleville

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 11 — The Campbellford Midgets defeated the Belleville Sea Cadet team by a 9-2 score at the Campbellford Arena on Wednesday evening in an OMHA Junior C exhibition game.

This was the first time the local boys had played together as a team, and their teamwork and stickhandling earned them a great deal of respect from the 250 fans.

The play was fast and a little rough in spots and Referee Wilson handed out eight penalties, six to Belleville and two Campbellford.

Guerin accounted for three of Campbellford's goals, while Dooher got two, and Fields, Garvey, Baker and Wilson each got a single.

The following is the lineup.

Belleville Sea Cadets Goal, P. O. Richards; centre, Caliberry; wings, Hannah and McKenna; defence, Day and Buck; alternates, Shandock, Easeltine, Walbridge, Mintz and Newton.

Campbellford— Goal, Barnum; centre, Wilson; wings, Garvey and McMillen; defence, Baker and Seymour; alternates, Guerin, Dooher, Field, Brown, Hendricks, Poulton, Ferguson, Girrard, Forrestal.

The State-Of-The-Union Speech

The State-of-the-Union message to the United States Congress from President Truman was a grave and serious statement of the foreign policy of the U.S. government in dealing with the situation created by Communist aggression. The message touched lightly on other matters, but its chief content was that described in the preceding sentence, and the aspect arousing most interest and satisfaction in the capitals of other non-Communist nations was the positive affirmation of United States policy on the defence of Europe. There has been great concern in these capitals on this score, caused by the limited international defence programs urged by two influential U.S. Republican leaders, Senator Robert Taft of Ohio and ex-president Herbert Hoover. This concern, it is reported, has been allayed by President Truman's message, which is regarded as a conclusive rejection of the Taft-Hoover theories.

* * *

Mr. Truman's message was undoubtedly reassuring, but reassurance must be qualified by the present position of the United States government. The implementation of U.S. foreign policy will depend, in some of its aspects, on legislation, and the U.S. government is in a most unenviable position in this respect. It has little assurance that legislation it submits to Congress will be approved—and it has full assurance that legislation regarded as unpopular by Southern Democrats and Republicans will be smothered in the House of Representatives. The first act of the eighty-second Congress was to restore to the House rules committee the power to smother any bill under most circumstances. This power had been suspended for the past two years, during which the House was allowed to vote on measures after a period of twenty-one days delay in committee.

* * *

Congressional procedure requires that chairmanships of committees shall be awarded on a seniority basis, and other appointments generally follow that rule. Since most of the senior Democratic members of Congress are dissident Southerners, the committees are in the hands of legislators opposed to much of the administration's legislative program.

* * *

This is especially so in the case of the House rules committee, on which Southern Democrats and Republicans comprise a majority. Any time these forces form a coalition, legislation it disapproves may be bottled up indefinitely.

* * *

There are one or two means of rescuing such legislation from committees and bringing it before the House. Washington observers, however, regard them as clumsy and impractical. One, for instance, is a petition signed by a majority of the House of Representatives, and Congressmen are reported reluctant to sign such petitions; and in the case of legislation bottled up by a Republican-Southern Democrat coalition in the rules committee circulating a petition would be useless. A similar coalition of Congressmen can defeat any legislation, or refuse even to consider legislation.

* * *

President Truman undoubtedly had all this in mind when he appealed to Congress for unity and for a "sense of responsibility on the part of every member of this Congress". No doubt he also had it in mind when he refrained from appealing for priority for prime objectives of his fair deal program, such as repeal of the Taft-Hartley labour law, and confined his remarks to a general statement that labour and agricultural legislation needed improvement. He must realize only too well that the legislative branch of the U.S. government is in the hands of his opponents.

* * *

That is the tactical situation. An arrangement of forces opposed to government legislation can reject it. There is reason for optimism, however, with regard to foreign policy, since Southern Democrats have supported, in the past, the policy now reaffirmed by Mr. Truman. Some Republicans have also supported it, and may continue to do so. It is to be hoped this will be the case with present U.S. foreign policy, and that the new rules committee will exercise its almost complete control over bills with a high sense of responsibility and great care.

The Brantford Expositor says that the mummified head of Oliver Cromwell is kept in an English vicarage. As a goodwill gesture, what about sending it to Ireland, to be used as a paper-weight in the Dail?

Farewell To Sinclair Lewis

The stormy life of Sinclair Lewis ended yesterday. It is twenty years since his best work was done, for the novels and plays which he wrote after 1930 added little to his reputation. But between 1920, when he wrote Main Street, and 1929, when he wrote Dodsworth he performed a great service for his country as a social critic. During that decade, when there was a literary revival more powerful than anything which the U.S.A. had known since the period which Van Wyck Brooks has called "the flowering of New England", Sinclair Lewis produced the two novels already mentioned, and Babbitt (1922), Arrowsmith (1925), Elmer Gantry (1927), and The Man Who Knew Coolidge (1928). These books were a one-man crusade against the crass materialism, the stupidity and intellectual cowardice of American middle-class life, and they made Lewis almost as unpopular as H. L. Mencken.

As novels, these books are unsatisfactory. Lewis had little sense of style, a clumsy and ill-chosen vocabulary, and when he was not angry he sometimes lapsed into a painful sentimentality. But he had qualities which minimized his defects: he had generosity of spirit, a savage indignation against shams and hypocrisies, and a wildly extravagant sense of satire which enabled him to produce some of the funniest writing in American literature. He had boundless courage—for it took great courage to attack the sacred cows of American society and American ....on—and his weapon was not the rapier, but the baseball bat.

Of the characters which he created there will be little dispute that George Follansbee Babbitt is the greatest. In Main Street he gave the world a picture of the American small town, founded upon Sauk Centre, Wis., in which he was born. Arrowsmith is an embodiment of all the promising young scientists who have sold out to the politics of research and money-making. Dodsworth is an admirable portrait of a successful industrialist, bewildered by the complexities of a world which does not function as reasonably as an industry. Elmer Gantry is too thoroughly detestable in a mean way to be a great creation, although he is still notable as a portrait of a not sufficiently uncommon type of clergyman. But Babbitt is great: we despise him, we laugh at him, we pity him, we love him and we see in him certain dismaying resemblances to ourselves. Babbitt has not much intelligence and ... Babbitt prates about business ethics but he is not above a sharp deal; Babbitt is a noisy supporter of popular morality and a secret and fumbling sinner. But Babbitt is kind, unmalicious, pitifully eager to be liked, and thoroughly human. Babbitt alone will ensure Lewis of a lasting place in American literature.

Lewis aired cupboards of the American spirit which had become fusty. Because of what he wrote about them, the American people will never be quite the same again. His friends called him "Red" Lewis, and the nickname well suited his pugnacious, critical and unquiet spirit. He did a fine job for the country and people which he berated because he loved them, and wanted them to be great.

Centenary Of The New York Times

One of the papers upon which we lean heavily for news, full reports of important events, and informed opinion, is the New York Times. We have never heard that the Times relies with equal assurance upon the Examiner, but we fully expect that that day will come, and until then we are happy to keep up our subscription to the larger paper. This year the Times will celebrate its centenary; its first edition appeared on September 18,1851. It had a staff at that time about half as large as the Examiner's at present, and it was a modest four pages in size. The founders announced that their purpose was to "encourage and advance education, to promote economy, concord and justice in every section of the country, to elevate and enlighten public sentiment, and to substitute reason for prejudice, a cool and intelligent judgement for passion, in all public affairs and in all discussions of public affairs". The Times has carried out these aims as successfully, we think, as any paper in the world.

We wish it well. We wish it at least another century of publication along its present enlightened lines. There are a handful of papers in the world, in Britain and the U.S.A., which have been able through a happy combination of intelligence, integrity and great wealth to carry great weight in political and artistic affairs, and to wield an immeasureable but certainly gigantic influence for good. The Times of New York is one of these, and millions who have come to rely on it could ill spare it.

NOTE AND COMMENT

A waitress in B.C. is reported to write stories in her spare time. Between taking orders and serving them?

Steel can now be rolled so thin that it is compared with a human hair—and we all know how thin hair can get.

We read that Ottawa — though just who in Ottawa and on what authority, is left vague—has declared that apple pie with cheese is "Canada's No. 1 dish". As the delicacy came from Yorkshire, and is about as exclusively Canadian as roast beef, we suggest that Ottawa think again.

Towards A New Cathedral

By COLIN ST. JOHN WILSON

THE publication of the competition conditions for the new cathedral at Coventry will reassure those who were bewildered by the sudden "Battle of the Styles" that recently blew up in a certain quarter of the press. "Fake Baroque" versus "Fake Gothic" makes fashionable Punch and Judy, but now that the conditions have clearly stated that there is to be no a priori restriction upon the "style" or materials employed, we may turn with relief to the real issues involved.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE most striking implication of the promoters' decision is that the moderns are now entitled to enter the fray. The fact that this right should ever have been called in question is odd, and that anti-modern bias should usurp the title of Tradition is odder still. For the study of architectural history reveals that style does not "evolve" in a tidy and regular fashion, age after age respectfully "developing the idiom" of its predecessor. Its progress is more like a passage through a new chrysalis stage at each transformation in the temper of man's spirit.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE crucial birth of a new expression has never allowed itself to be cramped by undue respect for its predecessors. This is preeminently true of the three major expressions of Christian architecture, the Byzantine, the Gothic, and the Baroque. Stylistically speaking, they have only one feature in common—an astonishingly self-assured indifference to the past. The "traditional" spirit has in fact always been empirical and adventurous.

✧ ✧ ✧

AN historical example is the Piazza of St. Mark, in Venice, which affords an interesting comparison with the existing Coventry spire and the nearby Holy Trinity Church. When, in 1536, Sansovino was asked to design the new Library in the Piazza, he did not think of "matching up" his design to the Byzantine domes of St. Mark's, or the Moorish arcades of the Doge's Palace opposite, or the "reserved" brickwork of the campanile alongside. He set to work in the "modern" manner of his day, and the resultant "playing off" of four totally different styles makes for the most dynamic and refined combination of buildings since the Acropolis.

✧ ✧ ✧

THIS misconception of the true nature of tradition is closely bound up with a misinterpretation of the very spirit and scope of the modern movement: and this has been largely the fault of the moderns themselves. Nearly thirty years ago, Le Corbusier published the book which became the manifesto of the movement—"Towards a New Architecture." Its most striking feature was a hymn of praise for the Engineer's Aesthetic; for the designers of aircraft, bridges, cars, ocean-liners, grain-stores, and factories. The Gallic wit behind such remarks as the famous "A house is a machine for living in" was sadly overlooked. And so the movement came to be considered exclusively analytical, abstract, and machine-minded, to such a degree that it could finally be summed up as "a department of the packing-case industry." It had set the Dynamo in place of the Madonna.

✧ ✧ ✧

TO expect a cathedral from this caricature of a movement would be to attend upon a Deus ex machina indeed! But the same book contained such sentences as "the business of Architecture is to establish emotional relationships" and "passion can create drama out of inert stone." And the problem most acutely felt by modern architects at the moment is precisely this question of the possibility (and desirability) of a monumental and emotive expression. It is not surprising to hear that Le Corbusier is at present engaged upon an immensely suggestive project for a grotto-church in Paris.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE Coventry competition does not, of course, take place in a stylistic vacuum, as this argument might suggest. The social and spiritual context of today is crucial and illuminating. For great buildings arise only from irrepressible necessity: and one may ask if there is behind this project for a cathedral an organic necessity that will make it a more convincing monument than, for instance, the statue of Lenin, 325 feet high, which is planned to crown the Palace of the Soviets in Moscow.

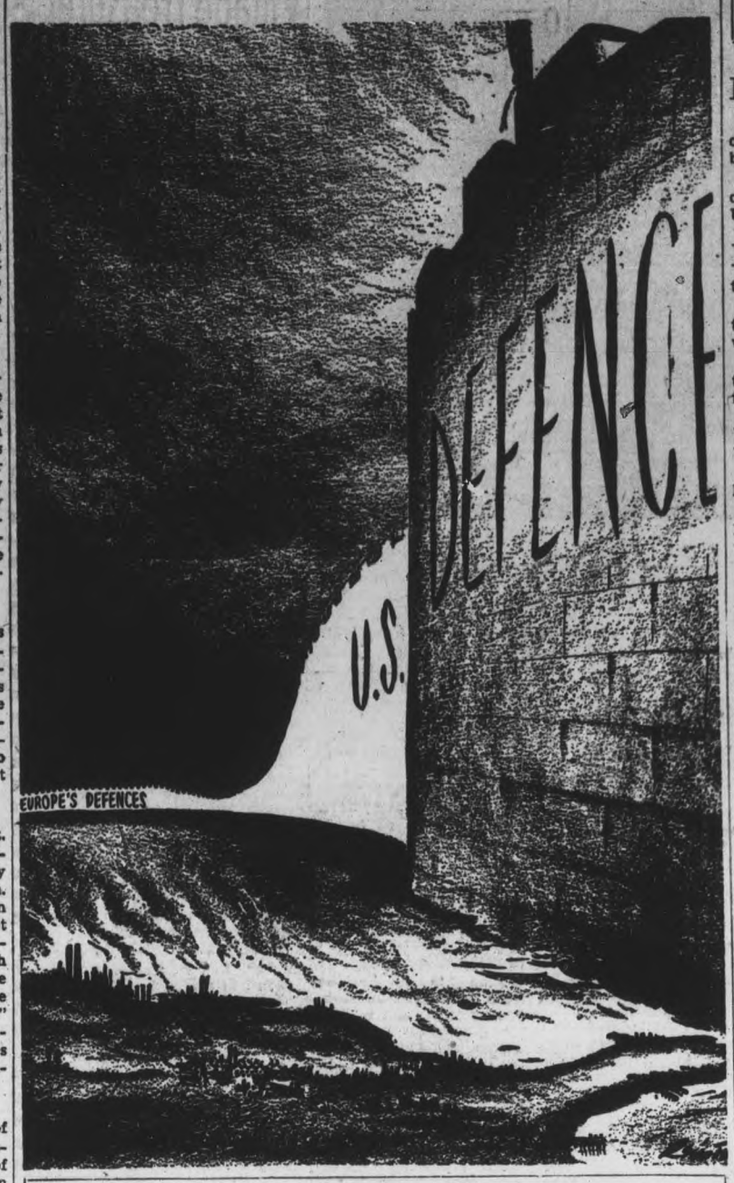
✧ ✧ ✧

THERE will be many who consider the Coventry project an extravagant anachronism at a time when the needs for new homes and schools are so urgent. On the other hand, there is the renaissance within Christian thought which, during the last fifteen years, has noticeably claimed many of the advanced positions in contemporary literature and philosophy, and requires such self-expression as one of its functions.

✧ ✧ ✧

HERE it is dangerous to discriminate between the arts: for the claim of the poetry of Eliot, for instance, or the existentialism of Jaspers, is precisely that they are not self-contained "movements" within a specialized art, but are the expression of a total way of living and thinking. If this way is really strong, it must find its own integral expression in an architecture whose "function" will be to symbolize an activity and an awareness that are both traditional and unpredictable.

✧ ✧ ✧



OPPORTUNITIES have been rare, this competition is the biggest yet. All one can say on the evidence of the other arts is that, compared with a Marxism that seems content both philosophically and aesthetically to stop the clock at 1870, the conditions here are at least more favourable to creative expression.

✧ ✧ ✧

IN the end, however, more is needed than simply freedom of expression or any amount of technical and imaginative genius. Although the idea of a great cathedral may be conceived by a single architect in isolation, its very existence and power will derive from the assent of many. If the result of this competition, however beautiful and original, is to be anything more than merely "another essay in style," it must spring from one of those mysterious acts and exchanges of common will and intellect and heart which no amount of Planning alone will produce, but which in the past have unpredictably known how to lift "out of the populous city, grey cliffs of lonely stone, into the midst of sailing birds and silent air."

Genghis Khan Marches Again

From MICHAEL DAVIDSON
(By Cable from Korea)

IN this demented war Chinese peasants mounted on ponies are advancing against mechanized troops; camel transport challenges terrific air power. Genghis Khan (Mongol conqueror 1162-1227) marches again in this atomic age, and pushes back his armoured and radar-equipped antagonist almost with bare hands.

It is terrifying to watch—and perhaps perversely comic, like a joke in bad taste: for it seems to make the proudest ingenuities of modern progress look silly.

Return to this war after some months' absence, to the very place where one last saw one's closest friends alive, to the mud villages through which one accompanied the dismal retreats of July, does not induce amusing emotions. And now, with the second evacuation of Seoul, with the appalling flames of demolition and abandonment rising again, one feels almost pangs of despair—not despair because one is losing in battle again but despair about the worthiness of the human race to survive.

For to us here the fall of Seoul, though militarily unimportant, seems symbolic, a sort of pronouncement of sentence, as if henceforth humanity will never return to decency. Last week Seoul looked like a dying city; today it is dead, under the flames which the remnants of its own people lighted.

The heat, dust and crawling filth of July have been succeeded by the ice and frozen filth of winter; but these are but two sides of the same bad coin. Blistered or icebound, Korea still has no redeeming feature, no relief from ugliness and cruelty.

One revisits Taejon, where with Ian Morrison (correspondent of "The Times" London), and Christopher Buckley (correspondent of the "Daily Telegraph", London) both killed soon afterwards, one had that memorable Chinese meal and talked about books. Today the Chinese restaurant is in ashes—its proprietor was seen weeks later in Taegu, penniless and hungry. Chochiwon, Kongju,—all those preposterous placenames which in those days were tactical symbols or the scenes of horror; Suwon still the gracious walled city of antiquity but doomed perhaps soon to destruction; Waegwan where the railway curves round the vast shallows of the Naktong river; are they all going to see for a second time the sadness and the vileness of six months ago?

FOR essentially it is a war of sadness and grossness; there is no respite from the sense of tragedy it spreads, from the negation of human dignities and decencies which is innate in it, from the intolerable pathos of the people—blank-faced, bewildered infant orphans; swaddled caricatures of children playing coldly in decaying gutters; mule-like refugees plodding dumbly along frozen tracks from the north; inarticulate civilians in military cities, a prey now and then to the easy trigger of a drunken soldier or the vainglorious callousness of some motordriver.

Only the Jews of Central Europe can have known just that deadening fear that pervades this people; the fear that they are already condemned to death. "To Pusan?" a family man from Seoul asked. "And where do we go from there if they come down? Nowhere. We shall simply be killed." They feel trapped; for them there is no escape to Japan.

And every day one gets the pathetic question: "Do you think we are safe here? Will they come here?"

I watched some South Korean recruits drilling. Facing one another in two ranks, they took it in turns savagely to slap the faces of their opposites for five minutes at a time. (Little Pacifist Japanese boys in Tokyo do the same thing in joke when they mockingly play "Japanese soldiers.") It was a deliberate inculcation of brutality, an exhibition of the technique of "toughness." It seems to typify the degradation of man which this war demands.

But if even in the magnificence of winter these frozen slopes seem cruel rather than beautiful—they are too harsh a background to the privations and perils of this life to provide emotional relaxation—and if the indignities and rigours of this campaign tend to obscure in one's fellows that goodness one knows to be in them, there comes rare flashes of that human spirit one used to know before.

One sees it in the gentleness of the boy from Alabama who drives a jeep and in his soft, nostalgic voice talks of his family on the farm; in the simple and exciting love music of the American tank officer who composes symphonies when he isn't fighting; in the exuberant generosities of even the crudest G.I. (American soldier); in the unfailing good manners, unfailing good humour and unfailing friendliness of any British soldier.

AS the middle-aged R.A.S.C. (Royal Army Service Corps) reservist—his time on the reserve ran out three days after the ship which brought him to Korea left England—said as he proffered me a mug of tea: "This is the most horrible place I ever dreamed of, but that needn't stop a chap from being neighbourly."

But one advantage Korea has was detected by a British colonel. "If one must have a war," he said, "this is the best country to have it in. There is nothing beautiful or memorable to destroy, and no amount of horror could make it worse."

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And Jesus went into the temple of God, and cast out all them that sold and bought in the temple, and overthrew the tables of the money-changers, and the seats of them that sold doves, and said unto them, It is written, My house shall be called the house of prayer; but ye have made it a den of thieves.

And the blind and the lame came to him in the temple; and he healed them. And when the chief priests and scribes saw the wonderful things that he did, and the children crying in the temple, and saying, Hosanna to the son of David; they were sore displeased, and said unto him, Hearest thou what these say? And Jesus saith unto them, Yea; have ye never read, out of the mouth of babes and sucklings thou hast perfected praise? And he left them; and went out of the city into Bethany; and he lodged there. (Matt. 21: 12-17.)

And they come again to Jerusalem: and as he was walking in the temple, there come to him the chief priests, and the scribes, and the elders, and say to him, By what authority doest thou these things? and who gave thee this authority to do these things?

And Jesus answered and said unto them, I will also ask of you one question, and answer me, and I will tell you by what authority I do these things. The baptism of John, was it from heaven, or of men? answer me...

And they answered and said unto Jesus, We cannot tell. And JeJsus answering unto them, Neither do I tell you by what authority I do these things. (Mark 11: 27-30, 33.)

RED DAWN ON THE DOME OF DISCOVERY

Free Dollar Halts Flow of US Capital

OTTAWA, Jan. 11 (CP)—Freeing of the dollar apparently put movement of U.S. capital into Canada. That's just what the government wanted.

The Bureau of Statistics Wednesday reported that the capital movement was sharply reduced in October, after achieving unparallelled heights in August and September.

This rapid flow, mostly of speculative capital in the form of security purchases, was the main reason why the government decided to set the dollar free Sept. 30.

In October, said the bureau, the sales balance in transactions of securities with the United States declined to $20,400,000, far below the $54,100,000 in August and $147,000,000 in September.

However, the October balance with the U.S. still was about six times as large as the average monthly balance in the first half year. Dominion Government bonds continued to be the principal type of security sold to American investors.

Sparked By Speculation

Officials have stated that the big purchases of Canadian securities in the New York market were sparked mainly by speculation that the government was going to bring the dollar, held at a discount of 9.1 per cent, back to par with the U.S. dollar.

By buying at a discount and selling at par, the U.S. investor would have made a small gain. However, the government turned the tables on him by setting the dollar free instead. The dollar has moved up to a discount of about 4 per cent.

The U.S. investors took immediate steps to liquidate any large part of their holdings. The bureau said that Canadian repurchases from the U.S. of Dominion Government bonds totalled only $15,500,000 in October.

This was more than twice the September figure, but a small amount compared to sales of such securities totalling $173,600,000 in August and September.

Causes Upset

LONDON, Jan. 11 — (AP) — When Harman Bickers, 61 applied for new ration books he found out he was listed as "deceased." Coroner W. R. Heddy called Bickers alive and explained the mixup occurred when the body of a man found in the Thames was identified erroneously as Bickers. Bickers got his new ration books, but his wife, with whom he had not been living, lost her widow's pension of 16 shillings ($3.44) weekly.

Recruiting Blind

LONDON, Jan. 11 (Reuters)—Britain hopes soon to recruit 16,000 to 17,000 fully-trained blind people for industry. A government - appointed committee which studied the employment of the blind reported this Wednesday and said "the blind person can and should do a full week's work for a full week's pay."

Nootka Sailors In Top Form Trained For Early War Role

ABOARD HMCS NOOTKA IN THE PACIFIC, Jan. 11 (CP) This Canadian destroyer, slated to step into the Korean War next weekend, has brought battle training to its final pitch in the last stages of her six-week's cruise from Halifax.

The Nootka is due in Japan next weekend to relieve H.M.C.S. Sioux, one of the three destroyers Canada has had under the United Nations banner off Korea for more than five months.

Nootka's battle training reached its final phase Tuesday, when the 270 officers and men closed up at action stations for a six-hour period and exercised under almost every condition warfare can impose.

At 6 a.m., while the Nootka slipped beneath tropic stars and the first light of dawn tinged the eastern horizon, action alarms rang throughout the ship.

A few minutes later, anti-aircraft batteries shattered the darkness, with spurts of flame and streaking tracer shells arching skyward as simulated air attacks were carried out.

The pressure never let up. In the control positions, radar plotters sweated, anti-submarine operators probed beneath the sea with the magic of their asdic, ammunition supply teams stood by their hoists, damage control parties swung into action as mock damage exercises were conducted, and gun crews awaited the order to open fire.

In th main galley, supply officer Lieut. Jim Drummond of Ottawa attacked the feeding of 270 men at action stations. He was assisted by chief cook CPO Robert McNeil of Halifax.

The rest of the cooks were engaged as members of gun crews and supply parties.

Action messing meant coffee, sandwiches, apples and oranges.

It was hot as the sun crept up the sky, but those really taking the heat were Lieut. Hugh Clarke, Victoria; CPO Keith McIntyre, Prince Albert, Sask., and Dartmouth, N.S., and all the engine rooms staff who toiled in temperatures of more than 120 degrees.

At noon came the order to relax. Hot, dirty and tired, the men climbed from their posts.

Says British Industry Timid On Nationalization

LONDON —(CP)— A call to leaders of private industry in Britain for an all-out fight against nationalization has been issued by L. D. Gammans, Conservative member of parliament for Hornsey.

Addressing the fall conference of the Institute of Directors, Mr. Gammans charged that nationalization was the biggest swindle foisted on the British public since the South Sea Bubble.

The trouble, he said, was that private enterprise, with a few exceptions, had tended to let the fight go by default. If industrialists were asked for information to be brought out in a debate on the subject, the reply was: "Oh, no. Don't ask me. Try someone else."

Mr. Gammans suggested that too many industries were enjoying controls and fixed prices with enormous advantages to those who happened to be in that industry back in 1939.

"Drop this ridiculous pretence that industry has no interest in politics," he urged. "Stop any attempt at feather-bedding. We who represent the people in parliament have the rifles, but industry must have the courage to give us the bullets."

Kingston Nylons Winners Over Eagles In Overtime

Two quick goals in overtime here last night gave Kingston Nylons a 6-4 OHA senior "B" victory over the Eagles before a fair-sized crowd. The win cemented Nylon's grip in second place behind the Eagles and Petes, who are still tied for top spot. Apart from a fist fight between Doug Patterson and Keith Montgomery, play generally was clean, speedy and exciting. Eagles led 3-2 in the first and 4-3 going into the third, when Nylons sewed it up early.

The veteran line of Ken Partis, Walt Gerow and Joey Catlin clicked smartly on the Kingston attack to account for four goals and two assists. Partis shone with two important tallies, while Catlin had a goal and two assists and Gerow a goal. McKeown also was effective with a goal and an assist, as Aitken got the other marker.

A Good Chore

Andy Milne turned in a good chore for the Magee men with two neat markers, while Joe Rochetta had one and an assist in a fine showing. Bill Crowley got the other counter, with an assist apiece being chalked up by Keith Montgomery, Bert Hill and Freddy Mortimer. Play was pretty even throughout, with Goalies Udall and Nicholls having plenty to do, and kicking aside a flock of hot thrusts in every period. The rival defences tolled hard and checked ruggedly.

George Patterson was gated early for tripping with Doug Mortimer following for holding. Both were back when Rochetta slapped home Montgomery's corner passout. McKeown got it back as he swooped in fast on some poor home clearing to sink the disc. Milne put Eagles up on a rebound on a play built up by Hill and Freddy Mortimer. With Vitarelli off for interference, Crowley took Rochetta's pass on a breakaway to blaze in with terrific speed and finish it off smartly with a score. Burns got it for holding and, with Eagles shy two, Gerow made no mistake with Catlin's in-close pass. George Patterson got the nod again for tripping near the finish.

Tied It Up

Nicholls robbed Gerow to open the second and then Aitken banged in McKeown's passout to tie it up. Rochetta missed on a breakaway when Crowley was gated for cross-checking. Play was hot and even in this frame with both goalies on the jump and going good. McKeown climbed the wall for tripping but Nylons held off their rivals in torrid travelling. McKeown returned and Kingston pressed, but Milne broke away fast to go right in on Udall and slip the puck into a corner.

Early in the third, Partis went down the side, then moved fast over in front of the defence and blazed a hot screened shot by Nicholls for the equalizer. In stiff checking near the Nylons' goal, Doug Patterson and Keith Montgomery dropped sticks and swung fists. They drew major penalties. A Milne-Hill play nearly paid off as it swept up and down fast and pretty even, with the goalies hopping.

Hill and Freddy Mortimer were thefted by Udall to start the overtime chukker, and it was a case of a scramble at one goalmouth and seconds later a pile-up at the other. Partis broke the tie when he poked Catlin's corner pass-out by Nicholls on the latter's doorstep. Less than half a minute later, Nylons poured in again and Catlin's swipe at the bootheel in a scramble hit the twine to settle matters. The Eagles fought furiously the rest of the way and forced Nylons to ice the puck but it wound up 6-4. Teams:

Nylons: Goal, Udall; defence, D. Patterson and Plumb; centre, Partis; wings, Catlin and Gerow; alts., G. Patterson, Londry, McKeown, Aitken, Joyce, Potts, Williamson and Harrison.

Eagles: Goal, Nicholls; defence, Munroe and Montgomery; centre, Rochetta; wings, Vitarelli and Crowley; alts., Parnall, Greenlaw, Stewart, Hill, F. Mortimer, Milne, Burns and D. Mortimer.

Referee—L. Heffering; linesman, A. Dugan.

Summary:

First Period

Eagles—Rochetta (Montgomery)	10:08
Nylons—McKeown	11:48

Lindsay Muskies Edge Bowmanville

LINDSAY, Jan. 11—A seven-goal outburst in the second period gave Lindsay Muskies a 12-6 edge over Bowmanville Imperials in a free-scoring OHA Intermediate "A" Lakeshore league game here. Jumbo Jenkins and Mac Ellis each sniped a pair for Lindsay while Bird and Lintner were the pick of the visitors. The win kept the Berlett-Jackson crew in first place.

Fred Metcalfe Hockey Scout Dies Suddenly

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 11 (CP)—Fred Metcalfe, widely-known hockey player, coach and scout, died suddenly Wednesday. He was 43.

Metcalfe, known as an expert at spotting young hockey talent, succumbed to a heart attack just after entering Santa Anita race track. He had been in failing health since 1948.

Born in Scranton, Pa., Metcalfe started his junior hockey career with Regina Pats more than 20 years ago, and played professional hockey for 11 years. He coached the Lethbridge Maple Leafs senior club, and recently was voted in a poll in that Alberta city as "the most outstanding coach of all time."

Probably his greatest season was in 1941, when he led an underdog Regina Ranger team to victory over Sydney Millionaires for the Allan Cup. On the Regina team were goalkeeper Jimmy Henry and Grant Warwick, both of whom graduated to the New York Rangers of the National Hockey League.

After two seasons at the helm of the New York Rovers, an amateur team sponsored by the NHL Rangers, Metcalfe joined the United States army in 1943 and served in the Pacific theatre.

Suffrs Stroke

He returned to coach the Rovers in the 1947-48 season when they entered the Quebec Senior League. During a road trip in mid-season, Metcalfe suffered a stroke in his Montreal hotel room.

On his recovery, Metcalfe took on a scouting position with the New York Ranger organization. He later got the urge to return to coaching and joined Boston Olympics as their mentor in 1950. Ill health again forced him to retire.

He was recuperating in Los Angeles when stricken.

Frank Boucher, manager of the Rangers, called him "one of the best developers of young players I have ever seen."

Wednesday night in Regina, a one-minute silence was observed at a senior hockey game when officials learned of his death.

Al Pickard, of Regina, president of the Western Canada Senior Hockey League and past president of the Canadian Hockey Association, said Metcalfe's passing came as a shock to his many friends in Regina.

"Freddie was held in particularly high esteem by all those interested in hockey. As a player in Regina more than 20 years ago, he exhibited all the qualities which endear a player to the fans. He played cleanly but played to win . . ."

Foster Rolls A 401

Ross Foster smashed out a terrific single of 401 this week in the Major Bowling League at Playfair as high three of 883 went to George Walton. Edgewater's total of 3516 took top pinnage and Hunt's led in singles with 1257. Six points were taken respectively by Edgewater, Plaza, Bassell and Modern over Parkway, Crowley, Kaw. Deaf and Mongraw; as 4-2 wins were marked by Hunt, Wade, Bickell, Selkirk, Post Office, Odeon, Wood and Calvert over Kingsmen, Caccavella, E and B, McWilliams, Campbell, Wonder and McLeod.

Other good scores were by W. Harris (344, 301) 862, Tic Caccavella (326) 837, J. Dormer (340) 824, R. Foster 812, Art Heal 810, Toots Collins (339) 770, Bill Flint (301) 755, J. Barnes 742, W. SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

A summery item or two just to partly defrost the old Show Window. Lou Vitarelli says the junior lacrossers will hold a re-organization meeting next week. Plans are afoot to strengthen the local junior "B" champs of the OLA to the point where they'll take the "A" crown next season and go into Canadian playdowns. Nor will it be long ere Ken Kingston and his executive will commence re-organization work for the PMLA-ers. Senior "A" club officials have been named for the Petes and some quiet looking-around is going on at this early date. The gutted-stick sport will be quite prominent in Peter's borough during '51.

* * * * * *

Word from Toronto is that the annual meeting of the Viaduct Senior Baseball League will be held early in February. Hugh McLean will go back as president, with Orval Wyckoff secretary and Howard Campbell treasurer. Tracey Shaw, George Clarke, Bob Lavery and Eddie Hosking are expected back on the executive with some others. Oshawa Merchants and the Petes will play in this loop again, along with New Toronto, Aces, Staffords and Dovers. There's also a possibility of Peter Pans and Milwaukee Sports of Toronto entering to make it a healthy eight-team circuit, with practically all games being under lights, except Sunday afts in Toronto.

* * * * * *

Might Be The Gunner

The Petes haven't re-organized as yet for baseball, and the club will miss the late Vern Dawson, and also Eddie Murphy, now in the Maritimes. It is quite probable that Ed (Gunner) Whitehill will be named manager of the baseballic Petes this season—that's been the word since autumn. Ed Murphy suggested the Gunner, who has long been connected with the club as a fine flinger, and he can still pitch a good game when needed. He knows the diamond sport thoroughly and has some connections in the States when and if any imports are needed to make the Petes strong senior "A" contenders. And the players like him. We do, too.

* * * * * *

Next OHA senior "B" attraction here is tomorrow night at 8.30 in Civic Arena. It's Belleville Redmen vs. the Petes, with Wally Kent's boys of Bella Villa really roaring for revenge. They import a goalie who had quite a rep in Edmonton and did many NHL practices — having Joe Primeau's recommendation—and what do the Petes do? They ruin his Quinte debut with a barrage of burnt biscuits, though 'tis claimed the Redmen folded up and didn't give him any support after the first few goals. They've been told to get in there this time and hustle or lose their jobs, so they'll be a "hungry" and vengeful crew tomorrow eve. But they'll have to show a lot to down the Petes on home ice. Should be quite a battle and ought to draw well.

* * * * * *

Screwy Senior Setup

The screwiness of this senior "B" setup showed last eve when Kingston Nylons—fresh from a beating 8-3 at the hands of the lowly Queen's—edged out the high-flying Eagles 6-4 here in overtime. And actually earned it with more finish inside in a close contest. You just can't figure any of 'em in advance, eh? Eagles certainly tried hard and came up with a good display, but the veteran line of Partis-Gerow-Catlin, plus some rugged defence work and nice goalkeeping proved just a bit better this time. Nicholls, too, kicked away a bunch of hot ones, and the local defence and forwards labored lustily the whole 70 minutes. A neat tussle to view, but tough from a home point of view. Arn Dugan came on as linesman in the second when Eagles' linesman didn't show up.

* * * * * *

Rumors fly around the senior "B" circuit, some of 'em being pretty hard to pin down as possible facts. 'Twas said not long ago that Jake Wade of the Petes and Lorne Smith of Eagles wanted to accept offers to play for Moncton but couldn't get the CAHA permission to transfer at this late date. Smith is making an effort to get a reversal on the ruling. Lally Lalonde wants to go out with the Petes but the latter apparently are objecting to buying his release from Eagles, who want their out-of-pocket money on Lally to date. Young Jim Irwin, the new Belleville goalie—who is quite a talker during a game—is said to be on the list of an AHL team and will play next season in the States. And so it goes.

Six Basketball Fravs On Tap For Weekend

Six basketball games are scheduled for this weekend at the PCVS, the YWCA aud the YMCA gyms. Five of these will be played on Friday while the other will be played Saturday night in the YMCA. Two exhibition school games will be staged by PCVS cage teams on Friday and Saturday out-of-town.

Peterborough intermediate "B" lakeshore league team will be tested this weekend when they meet the Bowmanville entry Saturday night in the YMCA. The locals wound the Oshawa Grads into a tight knot last Saturday 64-19 to take their first win. This week's game should indicate just how strong the Petes are for the Bowmanville team is considered one of the better ones in the circuit.

Two Girl's Games

The girls' city league has two games billed for Friday night at the YWCA. The first game at 8.00 p.m., featuring the Nurses juniors and the CGE, should be only a preliminary to the second tilt between the Nurses seniors and the Normalites. After this week there is only one game to play, CGE and Neills, a week Friday.

In the Collegiates' lakeshore games, St. Peter's senior, junior and bantam teams play return tilts with Lindsay Collegiate Friday at the PCVS gym. Last Friday the Peterborough teams lost out in the opening tripleheader. In Oshawa, Central Collegiate has a three-game night with the Oshawa CVI, teams who were trimmed here last week by PCVS.

PCVS senior and junior "A" teams are off to Hamilton, Fort Erie and Buffalo for the weekend. On Friday night, Coach Bev Goulding's teams will play in Hamilton Westdale Collegiate's gym in exhibition games while on Saturday afternoon they play another exhibition doubleheader with Fort Erie High. Saturday night the teams will be on the sidelines for the Bradley game in Buffalo. Bradley is considered one of "the" teams in American college basketball this year.

Otonabee Results

KEENE, Jan. 11 — (ENS) — Downers Corners took the first game of the Otonabee Rural League double header at Keene Tuesday night by 9 to 0. Westwood showed lack of practice and will do better after a few games under their belt.

The second game turned out to be the best one this season as Keene barely edged the Hiawatha Indians by 2-1. Both teams played hard, fast and very clean hockey all the way and a good crowd enjoyed this one.

Thursday night—Assumption at Westwood at seven and Downer's at Indian River at nine.

Vote Ben Hogan Makes Greatest Sports Comeback

NEW YORK, Jan. 11 (AP). — Bantam Ben Hogan's phenomenal, movie-script rally from a near-fatal accident to regain his old golfing heights was rated today as the greatest comeback in sports for 1950.

American sports writers and broadcasters, participating in the year-end Associated Press poll, had little trouble making up their minds in this category, giving an overwhelming vote to the plucky little shotmaster from Texas.

Feb. 2, 1949, Hogan was critically injured in an automobile accident. There was doubt that the sinewy veteran who the year before had scored professional golf's grand slam—the PGA, open and western—would ever walk, much less play, again.

But by mid-summer Hogan was hobbling around on crutches and in December he played his first round of friendly golf.

There was a flurry of excitement when it was announced Hogan would attempt his comeback to competitive golf in the rich Los Angeles open Jan. 6. Could Hogan do it? He replied quickly.

Walking stiffly on legs held together by hailing wire, Hogan amazed the golf world by finishing in a tie with Sam Snead for first place, shooting a remarkable 280. It was immaterial that Ben later lost to his old rival in a playoff.

Spectacular Climax

Hogan won the Greenbrier open in May with a record-tying 21-under-par 259, and then climaxed his spectacular comeback by winning the national open at Philadelphia in June.

Hogan received 112 first-place votes from the 214 who cast ballots, and piled up 393 points on the basis of three for a first-place vote, two for second and one for a third.

Second place went to another whose career was almost cut short by tragedy—Eddie Waitkus, first-baseman of Philadelphia Phillies.

Waitkus was shot and badly wounded in Chicago June 15, 1949 by a 19-year-old girl who explained she just had an "urge to kill somebody."

He came back last year to play 154 games for the Phillies, help them to the National League pennant and play in the world series. He batted .284.

The Navy football team that rose up to shock Army, 14-2, in the final game of the season won third place, followed by Johnny Mize, the veteran fire-baseman whose bat helped lead New York Yankees to the world championship.

Richard Pulls Habs Ahead Blanks Rangers By 3-0

By MEL. SUFRIN,
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

Just a week ago the supporters of Montreal Canadiens were shedding tears for their team and saving their cheers for amazing Mr. Maurice Richard.

Today they can scream happily for both. The team, which appeared to be heading for the National Hockey League cellar, is back in the contenders' circle, and the Rocket is flying higher than ever.

Canadiens jumped back into a third-place tie with Boston Bruins Wednesday night when they put the chill on what has been described as the hottest team in the league—New York Rangers.

The score was 3-0, and Richard distinguished himself once again by scoring all three goals while Gerry McNeil was working hard for his fifth shutout of the season.

Richard's scoring feat shoved his season's total up to an impressive total of 24 goals. It increased his second-place figure for the all-time modern scoring race to 274—four better than Aurel Joliat and the late Howie Morenz, whom he had tied last Thursday night. And it brought him closer to the all-time high of 323 scored by Nels Stewart during his lengthy ice career.

In Third Place

Richard also stepped up a notch in league point standings. He now is in third place, five points behind Detroit's Gordie Howe.

A crowd of 8,372 in Madison Square Garden saw the Rangers do everything but score in dropping their first game in nine on home ice. A victory would have pushed the New Yorkers into third place ahead of Boston. The loss drops them into fifth, three points ahead of last-place Chicago.

Richard scored his first goal midway in the first period after taking a pass from defenceman Doug. Harvey. He got the others in a quick burst in the third period. Bert Olmstead and Elmer Lach set up his second goal at 17:38, and just 28 seconds later Olmstead fed him a pass for the final goal.

The Montreal victory served to jumble even more the standings of the bottom four teams in the NHL. With only four points separating the third and sixth teams, the positions are likely to change again before the week ends.

Chicago visits Montreal for tonight's only game.

St. Michael's Trample Hamilton 4-3 In Wild Melee

By The Canadian Press.

There's always a battle when Toronto St. Michael's and Hamilton Tigers of the Ontario Hockey Association Major series lock horns. Usually it is just a hard-playing contest but Wednesday night it started with a rough-and-tumble game and reached its bitter climax in a fist and stick swinging melee that embroiled even Hamilton fans in the scrap.

The league-leading St. Mikes pushed their lead over the second-ranking Toronto Marlboros to five points by salvaging a 4-3 victory in overtime. Kenny Watson, who got the overtime goal, today leaves for Buffalo for a United States army medical.

The wild outbreak of fighting between players and spectators came in the third period.

Apparently a fan sitting near the penalty box started all the trouble by attacking St. Mikes' defenceman Frank Sullivan serving a minor slashing penalty. Both Sullivan and teammate Gordon Hannigan did some stick-swinging at the fan—more joined in—police got into the action and some of the fans were ejected and Sullivan and Hannigan got match misconduct.

Goalie Hit

Hamilton lost goalie Art Child in the middle frame when he was hit in the head by one of Sullivan's shots. He was replaced by Bruce Dale, Tigers' goalie earlier in the season who has been sidelined six weeks with an injury.

Tigers opened hot in the first three minutes when Toronto was shorthanded and by 2:48 Tom Smelle, Johnny Conick and Harvey Fraser had each counted once. But that was all. Johnny Ubriaco, Sam Kennedy and Peanuts O'Flaherty, St. Mikes' playing coach, got Toronto's other counters.

In the junior division, Waterloo Hurricanes just about proved their victory Saturday over Barrie Flyers was no flash in the pan.

They led Oshawa Generals 4-1 going into the third period. Generals knotted the count at 6-6 before the period ended and put the finishing touches to the Hurricanes' dream by slapping in two unreplied goals in the overtime period.

Alex Delvecchio and Lou Jankowski, the league's top point-getters, paced Oshawa with three goals apiece. George Samolenko and Ted O'Connor got singletons.

Ron Pletsch, with two goals, and Charlie MacDonald, Reg Campbell, Oliver and Doug Warner with singles were Hurricanes marksmen.

At Windsor Guelph Biltmores snapped Spitfires' victory skein at nine games with a 7-5 victory. The win gave Guelph sole possession of fourth place while Windsor remains in third.

Ken Laufman had a big night, scoring four goals, Chuck Henderson sniped two and Aldo Guidolin got Guelph's other goal. Eldor Thomas had [illegible] sor's counters while Earl Johnson, John Oddidani and Jim Anderson got the others.

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press

Professional hockey's most famous partnership was broken up 18 years ago today when it was announced Howie Morenz and Aurel Joliat would no longer be together on Montreal Canadiens' front fine. The great pair played together for 10 years and finished with identical records of 270 goals scored, topped only by Nels Stewart's fabulous 323 total.

Have No Steel For Civilian Use Till Survey Ends

OTTAWA, Jan. 11 — (CP) — Kenneth Harris, Canada's steel administrator, said Wednesday there is little chance of more steel being made available for new civilian production until the whole steel situation in Canada is reviewed.

He said he now is conducting a survey to get concrete figures from various segments of industry in Canada on how much steel they need both for defence and civilian production.

Defence production will get top priority on available steel, Mr. Harris said. The remainder likely will be split up as evenly and as fairly as possible among civilian industry.

That, he said, brings up the question: Who in Canada should get steel and how much?

The factors that will guide final decisions will be how much new steel Canada can produce and how essential various civilian industries are to the Canadian economy.

Not all industry wil lbe able to get steel, Mr. Harris said. From the current look of things, it may be necessary to extend the ban on the sale of steel for amusement construction to other industries considered non-essential.

Steel mills in Canada are allocating steel on a quota basis. This system may be replaced by further government controls. That would be a matter for the government to decide.

However, at the moment, Mr. Harris said he can see no immediate way of meeting the appeal for more steel by producers of truck trailers.

Keene Victorious 7-5 In Millbrook Tussle

KEENE, Jan. 11 (ENS).—The Keene pucksters opened the EPHL season at Millbrook with a 7-5 win in a rather rugged and lively contest, which started half an hour late. Most of the 11 penalties were handed out in the second period, while most of the scoring was done in the third when Keene showed a little more punch after fairly even first two heats.

A. Hutchison scored for Millbrook in the first but Keene counted two, Stock and Kempt scoring, as Whalen and Houle had an assist each. L. Sellaby tallied from D. Musgrave in the second. Millbrook markers in the third were two by Edmunds and on each by Guthrie and McGill, McDowell and McGill each having one assist. Hayfield hit the mark twice for Keene, with Stock and Kempt getting the others.

Keene: E. Musgrave, Stock, Brown, L. Sellaby, Hayfield, D. Musgrave, Burns, Whalen, Kempt, Thompson, Anderson, Colby, G. Selleaby, Houle.

Millbrook: D. Edmunds, Lowrey, Dawe, R. Edmunds, Guthrie, Agnew, A. Hutchison, E. Hutchison, McDowell, Hanley, McGill, Ginn, Lunn.

Norwood Wins, 6-2

NORWOOD, Jan. 11 (ENS).—In a TVL fixture here last night, Norwood downed St. Peter's of Peterborough 6-2. Each counted one in the first, Williams from Burns for the Saints and Payne from Thompson. Fennell and Marshall mixed it to draw majors the latter also getting a misconduct penalty. Norwood went ahead in the second on goals by Ferguson and Webb, Whitnall aiding on both. They added three in the third by Webb, Thompson and Whitnall, Payne, Starke and Gilbert getting an assist apiece. Forestell tallied one for St. Peter's.

St. Peter's: Goal, McGrath; defence, Giardino, Berwick, centre, Griffin; wings, Forestell, Menzies; alternates, Williams, Burns, Boyle, Vyse, Basciano, Russelle, Dundas, Marshall.

Norwood: Goal, Renwick; defence, Rogers, Fennell; centre, Starke; wings, Thompson, Payne; alternates, McMasters, Benze, Wilson, Ferguson, Whitnall, Webb Gilbert, Brown.

Referees: W. Leggitt and H. Payne.

OSHL Abandons Waiver Rule

MONTREAL, Jan. 11 (CP). — The Quebec Senior Hockey League, in one of the stormiest sessions in years, Wednesday night voted to abandon the waiver rule, through which lower-placed teams have first claim on players released by teams in higher standings.

The meeting was convened in an attempt to straighten out recent player transfers and numerous protests that have arisen following the move that sent Ted Hodgson and Stan Warecki from Ottawa Senators to the lowly Sherbrooke Saints.

The first vote on the transfer ended in a stalemate. A second vote taken among the seven representatives nearly cleared the way for players to remain with Sherbrooke, but Valleyfield opposed the move.

A third ballot again showed Valleyfield the lone dissenter.

As the result of the abolition of the waiver rule, the players will be signed to intermediate cards by the Sherbrooke team, and will be able to move up to the senior team for the balance of the season.

Hockey's Big Seven

By The Canadian Press.

Maurice Richard packed all the punch Wednesday night, scoring all three goals as Canadiens downed New York Rangers 3-0 to take over third place in the National Hockey League's individual scoring race.

Richard now has 24 goals, tops in that department, and 10 assists for 34 points, one more than Tod Sloan of Toronto. Gordie Howe of Detroit continues to pace the pack with 41 points, one ahead of Max Bentley of Toronto. Both Howe and Bentley have 25 assists, high marks for that section.

Terry Sawchuk is shutout king with six, one more than Gerry McNeill of Montreal and Turk Broda of Toronto. Toronto's Gus Mortson, with 90 minutes in the penalty box, is league bad man.

The leaders:	G	A	Pts.

Accept Increase

HAMILTON, Jan. 11 (CP). — The Stelco local of the United Steelworkers of America (CIO-CCL) Wednesday night voted to accept a five-cent-an-hour wage increase offer from the Steel Company of Canada. The wage boost, affecting 6,000 workers, is to be dated back to Sept. 1. It brings the plant's basic rate to $1.17 an hour.

Here and There In Sport

E. B. Stewart's Can Locate and P. T. Zalinger's Head An' Tell won the first and second races respectively at Florida's Tropical Park Wednesday for a daily double payment of $1,947.20 — second largest double in the track's history.

The second race was marred, however, when jockey Gerald Champagne suffered a broken collar bone and possible internal injuries. His mount, Lovely Lady, crossed her legs and fell in front of the grandstand.

Can Locate, which has beaten only seven horses in the last eight starts, won the opener by a length to reward $2 backers $201.60, $82.70 and $14.20. Head An' Tell won by 1½ lengths and returned $8.30 for a $2 straight ticket.

Eighteen ticket holders selected the winning combination. The double pool was $41,236.

The largest double daily payoff was in March of 1935 when Wanoah and Arakey combined to return $7,205.40 for a $2 combination ticket.

Roy Campanella, catcher for the Brooklyn Dodgers, suffered face and head burns Tuesday night when a hot-water heater in his St. Alban's home exploded as he attempted to re-light it.

Campanella suffered a superficial burn on the cornea of his right eye. He was taken to hospital and will remain there three days.

Dr. Arthur Minsky, who attended the injured athlete, said Campanella would suffer no permanent injury.

Fighting Frenchman Ray Famechon took a lot of punishment but survived to take a split decision from Charley Riley, St. Louis Negro, in a 10-round featherweight fight at St. Louis Wednesday night.

The International Boxing Club now hopes to match Famechon with the winner of the Sammy Saddler-Willie Pep Feb. 23 championship bout. If the match goes through, it probably would be in New York in April.

Famechon, European featherweight king, got a red nose and a cut above the left eye in the first round, and in the eighth Riley staggered him with a kidney punch. But Ray recovered both times and had the edge the rest of the way in the bruising encounter.

The 8,116 fans paid $21,295.50 to see the 128½ pound Famechon and 129¾ pound Riley fight.

A Glen Martin Risch Memorial Trophy is to be presented to the goalie with the fewest goals scored against him in Toronto Township Hockey League games.

It will be given in memory of a 12-year-old goaltender of the Dixie Pee-wee team who died on Sunday from pneumonia following an attack of measles.

Young Risch played in a league game 24 hours before his death.

Earl Hiltz, Dixie coach, said Wednesday that Dixie sweater No. 1—the Risch boy's—will never be worn again. It will be wrapped around the base of the trophy for the annual presentation.

Crushed Flower Lindsay Charm

LINDSAY, Jan. 11. — New York Rangers can have their elixir drink. Lindsay Kin Juniors, current Central Ontario Junior B league leaders are riding high on "crushed carnations."

It all started three weeks ago when Doug Powell, an employee of a local florist, decorated the dressing room with a carnation as a good luck charm. For two periods the locals went scoreless against Oshawa Bees. Powell, a Hamilton lad, who played with Shawville in the Upper Ottawa Valley League last year, combined with Herb Baker of Haliburton to crush the "bloomin' bloom." The team promptly scored five goals in the third period to win 5-3.

Since then the flower ritual has been carried out at the end of each second period and the Kin Kids have come from behind to win twice over Port Hope and once each over Peterborough and Oshawa.

Twice the flower was missing, and the locals lost to the Petes and Belleville Rockets. Coach Red Mitchell has ordered a special carnation for the important event here Friday night against their arch rivals the second-place Peterborough IOOF.

Want Top Athlete

TORONTO, Jan. 11 (CP). — The board of judges of the Lou E. Marsh Memorial Trophy is calling for nominations of outstanding Canadian athletes of 1950. The one it considers outstanding will be awarded the trophy which perpetuates the memory of the late sports editor of The Toronto Star. Elwood A Hughes, chairman of the board of judges, said in the announcement that both men and women athletes may be nominated.

Brintons Triumph Against Marmora Team

MARMORA, Jan. 11—(ENS)—Marmora Millionaires lost their home game with Peterborough Brintons on Wednesday evening by the score of 11-2, it being the heaviest defeat they have sustained for several seasons. They lacked the services of Kerr and McInroy, but otherwise had their regular players for the tussle. It chanced to be one of those games when the locals were off color while the Brintons were at their best. A crowd of 500 watched the game.

Brintons—Goal, Byers; defence, Ritchie, K. Anderson; centre, Richlark; wings, Lawson, Aikens; alternates, Reed, Willshaw, B. Anderson, Huard, McEndoe, Berardi, Kimbell.

Marmora—Goal, Borland; defence, Doyle, Gray; centre, Stewart; wings, Lavender; Trumble; alternates, Brooks, Brown, Jones, Mantle, Maynes, Paranuik, Nayler; spare goalie, Drummond.

Referees, Carson and Barrett, Belleville.

The summary:

First Period

Brintons—Reed (Willshaw) 6:15
Marmora—Stewart (Lavender, Doyle) 9:30
Brintons—Willshaw (B. Anderson) 12:15

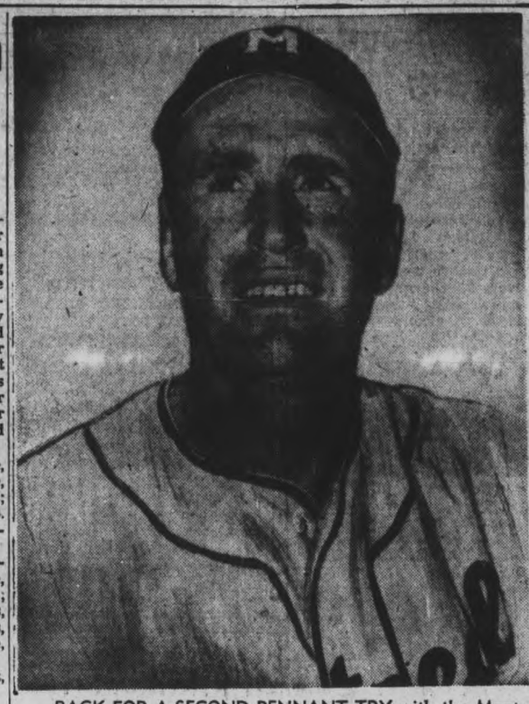
North Dummer Wins

COTTESLOE, Jan. 11 (ENS).—The Bush League played their first game of the season on good ice in the Warsaw Arena with South Dummer losing to North Dummer 7-4. It was a good clean game. Wellington Robb scored the first goal early for South Dummer. Percy Little then scored for North Dummer with no assist. Fred McCracken counted for North Dummer, Orville Clements for South Dummer, and Don McCracken for North Dummer before the end of the first period.

In the second, North Dummer added two more goals with Earl Cooper and Morris Little scoring. Arnold Lobb tallied with an assist from Barnett.



In the third, North Dummer was again on top with two more goals from Everett Carveth and Don McCracken. Within the last minute of the game Bill Bott scored for South Dummer.

Meal For Moose

PORT ARTHUR. — (CP) — William Jaffray of Toronto, former CPR worker who met a bull moose near here, related that the moose walked up to his group of railroad men and ate rather unenthusiastically from a plate of roast beef sandwiches that was offered. He has pictures to prove it.

BACK FOR A SECOND PENNANT TRY with the Montreal Royal's baseball club comes Walter Emmons Alston. He finished second in the International League final standing last season.

Veteran MP Mark Senn Dies

CALEDONIA, Ont., Jan. 11 — (CP). — Mark Cecil Senn, one-time authority on agriculture for the Progressive Conservative Party in the House of Commons, died Wednesday at his home in nearby Oneida Township. He was 72.

He was born in Oneida Township and lived all his life on the farm.

Mr. Senn entered politics in 1921 as a Conservative candidate for Haldimand. He won that election and never was defeated until his retirement in 1948.

During his many years at Ottawa, his interests centred largely on agricultural matters and for many years he was his party's official critic of the government's agricultural policies.

He was a member of the United Church of Canada and took an active part in his church at York. He also was a Mason, a member of the Shriners' Club of Brantford, and a member of the Orange Order.

Surviving are his widow, three sons and three daughters.

Mr. Senn's 28 years in Parliament were exceeded only by few men, including the late Prime Minister King, Hon. C. G. Power, and Joseph Harris, Progressive Conservative member for Toronto Danforth. For 23 years, Mr. Senn sat in Opposition.

Cleveland Blanks St. Louis Flyers 3-0

By The Canadian Press.

It's a monotonous parade in the American Hockey League. Cleveland Barons and Buffalo Bisons seem to have the league's two divisional leadership sewed up between them.

They won again Wednesday night. Cleveland beat St. Louis Flyers 3-0 while Buffalo whipped Providence Reds 4-2.

In the two other games scheduled, Cincinnati Mohawks beat Indianapolis Capitals 4-2 and Springfield Indians managed a 2-2 tie with Pittsburgh Hornets.

High School Student Has Mystery Disease

TORONTO, Jan. 11 — (CP) — Allison McCabe, 16-year-old high school student from Cornwall, is in hospital here with a mysterious disease which after seven months still is listed as "undetermined."

During the last three months, treatment with cortisone has brought about improvement in her condition and eased the ache in her muscles and joints, doctors say.

The girl became ill last summer while picking fruit at Vineland, Ont., in the Niagara district. Doctors found her suffering from inflammation of the muscles and acute rheumatic fever and complications set in.

She is the second-youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry McCabe, of Cornwall.

Ever Heard of the Animal Farmer?

During the fall, the western pika cures grass into hay before storing it.

Unlike most other animals, the pika carefully gathers grasses and spreads them to dry in the warm autumn sunshine. When they are fully cured, he stores them in a dry, easily accessible place for winter feeding.

Nature has its oddities. This series of advertisements is designed to acquaint you with some of these unusual features.

JAMES LEACH AND PATIENT: Once he took 587 cows to sea.

Island-Hopping Vet Goes To Dogs and Cows By Air

EASTHAM Mass.— (NEA) — When James Leach goes to the dogs, he goes by air. Also when he goes to the cows.

That's because Leach is a flying veterinarian. Dividing his practice between his own farm-hospital here and the island of Nantucket, of the Massachusetts coast, Leach travels in a light airplane.

At least once a week, he takes off from the bay in his pontoon-equipped plane for his Nantucket patients. He averages about 20 to 25 calls on the island, then flies back.

The 40-year-old Pennsylvania native worked with K-9 dogs during the war, as a Coast Guardsman. He had taken his veterinary degree at Villanova in 1943.

After the war, continuing his interest in animals, he shepherded 587 cows and 36,000 chickens on a ship bound for Poland. The cargo was part of an UNRRA shipment When the vessel docked, there were 597 head of cattle, but only 26,000 chickens.

"You really haven't lived," says Leach, "until you've delivered a cow of a calf in a hot, smelly stable below the waterline of a Victory ship."

After that experience, Leach settled down as a practicing veterinarian. He took up flying as a hobby first, then studied it seriously under the GI bill when he realized his vocation and avocation could work together.

His 60-acre farm has about three-quarters of a mile fronting on the salt water inlet, making an ideal runway for his amphibious plane.

The island of Nantucket boasts about 100 head of cattle, plus a large assortment of dogs and cats. Leach who knew the island well from a teen-age summer job exercising horses, first built his practice there by traveling on chartered planes.

Now, with his own plane, his private airport and an established practice he feels like he's living a veterinarian's dream come true.

SHAPE'S TEMPORARY HEADQUARTERS—Inside the hotel MP's and gendarmes; down the street, a police van.

Eisenhower's New Headquarters Overlook Tomb Unknown Soldier

By ROSETTE HARGROVE

PARIS-(NEA)- From the temporary headquarters of his new military command, General Dwight D. Eisenhower, Supreme Commander of the Allied Powers in Europe, has an undisturbed view of two famous monuments of other wars-the Arc de Triomphe and the tomb of the Unknown Soldier.

The big semi-circular room on the first floor of the Hotel Astoria, which the general will use as his personal office, overlooks one of the most famous sites in the city he helped liberate—also as an Allied commander — six years ago.

Although the balconied, six-story hotel will serve only as temporary headquarters for SHAPE, it underwent a complete overhauling before Eisenhower's arrival.

Once rated among the leading hotels of Paris, its luxury had been tarnished by Army use during World War II. Painters and decorators went to work on round-the-clock shifts just before Christmas; a delicate beige wall-to-wall carpet, was put down in Eisenhower's office, and furniture was moved in from the French government's Garde Meuble National —the National Furniture Storeroom

The storeroom includes a vast collection of historical furniture, priceless antiques, and modern pieces. Exactly what went into the general's office, however, is something of a military secret. No outsider is allowed to peek inside or even tarry anywhere on the first floor of the Astoria.

Although it is on the edge of the Place de l'Etoile, one of the notable landmarks of Paris, the hotel has been out of bounds of tourists for a long time. It was built with German capital around 1906, became an Army hospital in World War I, was occupied by the Germans in World War II until Paris was liberated, and has quartered U.S. Army units ever since.

Now it is more impregnable than ever. Two MPs and two Paris gendarmes stand guard in the lobby; outside the French police keep a 24-hour watch.

There is even a police van kept in readiness nearby, which is somewhat disconcerting to patrons of the fashionable bar a few doors away run by Georges Carpentier, the former prize fight champion. The van is parked near the entrance to the bar, but customers have been assured there is no connection.

How long the SHAPE signboar dstays up at the Astoria depends on Eisenhower. He will look around for permanent headquarters and consult with the SHAPE planning group before making any further move.

Historic Versailles appears to be at the top of the list of possibilities, with Metz and Strasbourg as alternates. Anywhere SHAPE goes will present a considerable housing problem, since there will have to be room for officers, enlisted men and civilian personnel of the staffs of the 12 Atlantic Pact nations.

When Eisenhower and the rest of SHAPE headquarters move on, the van will probably disappear from in front of Carpentier's bar. But the Astoria, which now is simply 131 Avenue Champs Elysees, will still retain its MPs and other military atmosphere. The U.S. Army plans to keep the hotel as a center for travel arrangements and similar facilities.

University Reduces Student Total

By ERNEST SANDFORD.

PARIS (Reuters).—The Sorbonne, University of Paris, has fewer students this year but it's still the biggest university in Europe, and it's still crowded for space.

There are 45,000 students enrolled, compared with 49,200 a year ago and 55,800 in 1948. The drop in numbers is believed due to the low birthrate during the difficult days in the early 1930s, the years that are producing today's students.

Apart from this there is still a shortage of teachers, books, lecture space, lodgings and money.

It would be impossible for everyone to get into the average Sorbonne lecture room if all the enrolled students turned up. But enrolment secures reduced price theatre tickets, cheap meals in students' restaurants and other privileges—while involving no obligation to study—the university authorities estimate at least one-third of the enrolments are not "serious." Even so, in the science school, for example, 2,000 students have to pack into a lecture room built to hold 500.

Medical students are packed equally tightly in their ancient Latin quarter halls. Nearby, in the Rue Des Saints Peres, the semi-skyscraper intended to become the new medical school still rears gaunt unwalled girders—as it has done since pre-war days. The building should be finished some time next year.

Professor Shortage

But even if all the new buildings were completed, there would still not be enough professors and lecturers.

More and more students today are turning to professions which offer immediate employment and quick financial returns. The Ecole Des Mines (mining engineering school) and the Economics School are rapidly gaining recruits, while many students are deterred from entering the law school owing to the cost of getting started as an attorney afterwards.

Other acute problems which the student faces today are the difficulty of finding lodgings and the rising cost of books.

In Paris, where "key-money" is the accepted method of getting rooms, the student is the weakest member in the army of home-seekers. He has the students' lodgings service to help him and the magnificent Cite Universitarie with its 25 hotels and rooms for 5,000, admitted on a strictly priority basis.

But for most, a room in the Latin quarter is the normal billet. Even a tiny room, if it can be found, costs $14 a month without board, a high price in view of the cost of living.

Seven Scouts Receive Tenderfoot Badges

BRIDGENORTH, Jan. 11 (ENS) —Seven scouts received their tenderfoot badges Wednesday night at a special investiture held in Bridgenorth United Church. District Boy Scout Commissioner G. E. Groombridge, assisted by Assistant - Commissioner Fred Ford, presented the boys with their neckerchiefs, slides, and Ontario badges.

Tenderfoot badges were presented by Scout leaders Jack and Bill Frisken. A sing-song was held following the investiture.

Those receiving their tenderfoot badges were: Bill Lawrence, Bob Whitehilll, Eric Seidel, Jim Caldwell, Butch Donnelly, Harry Gravelle, and Bob Nicholls.

Union Prepared

CAPETOWN — (CP) — Defence Minister F. C. Erasmus said in a speech at Pietermaritzburg that South Africa's defence expenditures now are estimated at more than $48,000,000, compared with $8,000,000 in the 1938-39 fiscal year.

Salvage Jobs

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. —(CP)— Efforts are still being made to salvage equipment from the British trawler Flatholm which went ashore at Shoal Bay on Newfoundland's south shore Nov. 17. Experts say it is unlikely the ship itself will be refloated.

Millbrook WA Women Made Life Members

MILLBROOK, Jan. 11 (ENS)—Three former members of St. Andrew's Women's Association were presented with life membership pins and certificates in recognition of their services on behalf of the church Those receiving life memberships were: Mrs. Harold Bigelow, of Port Hope; Mrs. J. H. Might, of Peterborough, and Mrs. Percy Stinson, of Cobourg.

Mrs. John McKnight made the presentation to Mrs. Stinson; Mrs. Smith to Mrs. Might, and Mrs. H. R. Edmunds to Mrs. Bigelow. Mrs. P. I. Bentley read the dedication service in connection with the presentation, and Mrs. F. A. Spicer sang "The Beautiful Garden of Prayer."

Rev. T. G. Husser installed the following officers of the new executive for 1951: immediate past-president, Mrs. A. R. Payne; president, Mrs. John McKnight; vice-president, Mrs. H. R. Edmunds; secretary, Mrs. P. I. Bentley; treasurer, Mrs. J. T. Crowley; press reporter, Mrs. Fred Smith; leader of the north country group, Mrs. Wilfrid Elson; leader of the south country group, Mrs. Lawrence Winslow; leader of the town group, Miss C. Sutton.

The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. H. R. Edmunds with the new president, Mrs. John McKnight, in the chair.

Mrs. J. T. Crowley, the treasurer, reported a bank balance of $515.54 to start the year.

For the congregational meeting which is to take the form of a pot luck supper on January 19, the following committee was appointed: Mrs. Fred Smith, Mrs. G. Barranger and Mrs. C. Sutton.

It was decided that again the main money-raising event of the year for which all groups unite should be a bazaar and tea held in the waiting-room Nov. 17.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by members of the executive.

Cobourg Takes Game Over Lakefield 11-7

LAKEFIELD, Jan. 11 (ENS)—Cobourg Pavs defeated Lakefield Indians 11-7 here before a small crowd in a lakeshore OHA intermediate "A" fray last night. It was generally clean, with a Buckhorn fan, Iris Armstrong, injured slightly when hit by a puck. Quigley and Smith nearly came to blows once and drew roughing penalties.

Hunter scored first for Lakefield from Birch but Cobourg added two in the opening heat, Maundrell and Tripp scoring from Forbes and B. Cane. They got five next inning, Maundrell sinking three and Tripp and Hogan one each, as B. Cane and Tripp drew an assist each. Henry, Blewett and Hunter scored for Lakefield, an assist apiece going to Quigley, and Birch. Maundrell added a pair in the third, Forbes and B. Cane getting one each, the latter also having two assists. Hunter, Blewett and Birch counted for Lakefield, the latter also aiding on two, and Blewett and Jopling on each. Teams:

Cobourg: Goal, Rowe; defence, Forbes, Smith; centre, B. Cane; wings, Maundrell, Tripp; alternates, Buchanan, McMillen, Wilson, Ferguson, Hogan, J. Cane, Jones.

Lakefield: Goal, Atchison; defence, Jopling, Blewett; centre, Birch; wings, Wasson, Hunter; alternates, Conlin, Burton, J. Fawcett, K. Fawcett, Henry, Quigley.

Referee, P. Nigh; linesman, D. Cane.

Roseneath LOL Elects 1951 Slate Of Officers

ROSENEATH, Jan. 11 (ENS)—Douglas L. Coyle was elecetd Worshipful Master of Roseneath LOL No. 261 at their annual meeting and election of officers held in the lodge rooms on Wednesday evening.

Following are the slate of officers elected: Worshipful Master, Bro. Douglas L. Coyle; deputy master, Bro. Thomas Robins Jr., recording secretary, Bro. Cephis Robins; treasurer, Bro. Clarence Parker, chaplain, Bro. R. C. White, marshal, Bro. R. A. Nichol, tyler, Bro. Arthur Murphy.

Canada's Population Reaches 14,000,000 Mark, Still Rising

OTTAWA, Jan. 11 — (CP) — Canada's population has hit the 14,000,000 mark, nearly double the figure at the start of the First World War.

Government officials confirmed Wednesday that the figure has been reached, virtually coinciding with the halfway mark of what Sir Wilfrid Laurier called Canada's century.

The figure compares with these others:

The 7,200,000 people in Canada in the 1911 census, last before the First World War.

The 11,500,000—2,500,000 less than now—Canada had in the 1941 census, after the start of the Second World War.

The figure of 15,000,000 Canadians by 1990, predicted by the Bureau of Statistics in 1946.

The 1946 prediction on the basis of facts then available, was that the Canadian population, barring future wars, immigration "and other unpredictable events" would reach a maximum of 15,000,000 around 1990 and thereafter decline slowly.

This prophecy of eventual decline, still valid, is based on knowledge that general decline in both fertility and mortality has set in over the past 100 years in the western nations.

The Bureau of Statistics forecast in November that Canada would probably celebrate Christmas, 1950, as a nation of 14,000,000 people.

A population boosted by immigration and a buoyant economy had hit 13,921,000—just 79,000 short—on Sept. 1. It had been going up at a monthly rate of 25,000 to 26,000 over a 12-month period.

Bureau officials said today they don't know the exact date the 14,000,000 mark was reached, but they are checking to find out. Meantime, they are satisfied it has been touched and passed.

In other words, Canada is already on the way to the 15,000,000 mark. She'll probably reach it long before 1990, too.

Two Billion Riders On London Transport

LONDON —(CP)— Undertakings run by the publicly-owned London Transport Executive in 1949 carried more than twice the equivalent of the world's population—about 2,300,000,000.

Road and rail vehicles travelled a record mileage equal to more than 25,000 times the world's circumference—25,000 miles.

Buses, subways and street-cars carried 2,000,000 passengers a day more than pre-war.

The figures were disclosed by Lord Latham, chairman of the Transport Executive, in a personal letter to transport staffs.

Marines Too Strong

NORWOOD, Jan. 11 (ENS).—Peterborough Marines "blanked the local juvenile puckists 15-0 here Tuesday. Kearns, and McDougall got two each in the first and McGillen and Dodds one each. Ball counted two in the second and Strickland and Holden one apiece. In the third, Corbett scored a pair, with one each going to Turner, Ball and McGrath. Teams:

Marines: Delahaye, Burns, McGrath, Strickland, Frizzelle, Kearns, Ball, Dodds, Turner, McDougall, McCormick, Holden, Corbett, Morewood, McGillen.

Norwood: Monahan, Wrightly, Horne, Morrison, Aldred, LaBrash, E. Spencer, B. Spencer, Stackhouse, Scott, Mainland, Peoples, Davis, Hanavan.

Postal Deliveries May Be Once A Day

OTTAWA, Jan. 11—(CP)—The postman may call only once instead of twice a day as a result of government economy planning.

A Postoffice Department official said Wednesday the question of reducing house-to-house deliveries of mail from two to one a day is under consideration. The reduction, if it is enforced, will effect deliveries to residential areas, but not to business concerns.

Most residential areas get mail delivery system twice a day. This means a staff of about 4,000 postmen. If deliveries are reduced, the plan will be not to replace postmen who retire or leave their jobs. There would be no drastic large-scale firing of employees.

Perfect Records

GUELPH —(CP)— Two members of city council had perfect 1950 attendance records at council and committee sessions. They were Ald. J. D. Oaks and Ald. Albert J. Frank. Average attendance for the whole council was 95 per cent.

CRANBERRY PORTAGE, Man. —(CP)— The girls of Knox Presbyterian Church, accompanied by the minister, were not stopped by 30-below zero weather from making their traditional rounds singing Christmas carols. The 12 girls warmed the town with their ancient songs.

2 Big Reasons Canada Needs British Market

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

Some might wonder why, in view of the tremendous development of Canada's export trade to the United States, we should be so concerned regarding our exports to the United Kingdom.

James S. Duncan, chairman of the dollar-sterling trade advisory council, Wednesday night told the Ontario Federation of Agriculture that the answer is two-fold.

"The first, that the United Kingdom is our traditional, and so far at least, only adequate market for our surplus agricultural products. The second, that our economy is in so many ways parallel to that of the United States, that our exports are vulnerable to any serious drop in their purchasing power, whereas such a situation does not prevail in regard to the sterling-area markets, which are consequently more stable and more permanent."

Mr. Duncan, president of Massey-Harris Co. Ltd., gave some comments on a recent trip to Italy, Greece, Turkey, Africa and London. He stated in part:

In all countries where political opinions can be freely expressed, Communism is losing ground, although recent events in Korea and weakness which they have revealed are, undoubtedly, bringing encouragement to subversive elements everywhere. There is greater will to get together, to pool one's resources, to look upon things from a European rather than a national point of view.

Praises Turkey

He gave, for instance, his view of Turkey, "with a long continuous frontier with Russia, the guardian of the Dardanelles, Russia's only access to the Mediterranean, a country which is traditionally at enmity with the Soviet.

"Are they downcast, fearful or discouraged? On the contrary, we find their people resolute and undismayed. Turkey is setting an example of stedfastness, of determination and courage, which, if followed by the rest of the free world, would go a very long way, indeed, towards warding off aggression."

Millbrook Beaten 8-3 In First Arena Game

MILLBROOK, Jan. 11 (ENS)—Although the date for the official opening of the Memorial arena has not yet been set, the first hockey game was played there on Tuesday evening. The local boys had had only one opportunity to practice before the opening game of the junior "D" OHA group series. The clubs taking part include Aurora, Bowmanville, Orono and Millbrook.

The first game of the double-schedule was between Aurora and Millbrook on Tuesday night. It was a clean, fast game with Aurora winning 8-3.

The referee was Peter Nigh and the linesman L. Ingram.

Separated Wife Has Compensation Right

TORONTO, Jan. 11 (CP) — A wife who is separated from her husband does not lose entirely her right to compensation in case of his accidental death, the Ontario Court of Appeal ruled Wednesday.

The court was dealing with a $5,000 award made to Mrs. Walter Kowakowski by a jury at London, Ont. The appeal court reduced it to $3,000.

Kowakowski was killed by a car in June, 1949. The jury awarded $13,450 damages, all but $5,000 to be held in trust for the four Kowakowski children. John K. Martin, driver against whom the judgment was entered, was the appellant in the case Wednesday. The court refused to interfere with the awards to the children.

Wheel Off Transport Crashes Windows

TILLSONBURG, Jan. 11 (CP) village of Vienna, 12 miles south of here received a fright Wednesday. Steel slugs crashed store and car windows, missing several children playing in front of a store.

The excitement started when a large rear trailer wheel of a Walmer Transport truck, broke lose going around a curve.

The wheel kept on going along No. 19 highway with considerable speed and crashed into a parked car causing $95 damage.

One wheel lug crashed through the screen door and window of the Leslie Brown hardware store and finally came to rest in a new oil stove.

Another lug crashed through the window of a parked car owned by Earl Smythe of Vienna and a third banged into the side of a car.

Veteran Carrier

KINCARDINE, Ont. —(CP)— Mail carrier Wallace Perrin, who has watched delivery methods develop from stage coach to motor-car, has retired after 24 years' service. He worked the whole time on the route between Kincardine railway station and the post office.

DOMESTIC ANIMAL and human are similarly burdened with all the family possessions at Korean refugees from the Seoul area wearily wend their way southward in the wake of the retreating United Nations' forces. Thousands of civilians are seeking safety in like fashion. A tired native pauses at left to warm himself at a small fire and fix his worn footwear.

Wind Tunnel To Be Tested Secrecy Barring Public

OTTAWA, Jan. 11—(CP)—The National Research Council's new supersonic wind tunnel is open for business—but not to the public.

Last operational parts of the $250,000 project as the eastern outskirts of the capital were bolted into place Wednesday night. At the same time, security authorities erected a big, black sign proclaiming "prohibited area."

This means no one will be allowed to enter the fenced grounds without documentary indentification.

The new aerodynamics laboratory, in which the huge globular wind box has been erected, will deal chiefly with supersonic speeds and with the behaviour of airframes at speeds faster than sound. Experiments will range up to 3,000 miles an hour.

The idea of the supersonic wind tunnel is to get around the immense mechanical and personal problems in the way of attempting to push a missile along at a speed faster than sound.

Instead of propelling the missile, a current of air is shot through the tunnel around a missile that doesn't move. Octually, it is the air which screams by at faster-than-soaunl speed. The missile itself remains stationary.

But the scientists say that for development purposes you get the same effect as though the missile itself actually were whamming through the tunnel.

Farm Federation Told To Improve Their Marketing

TORONTO, Jan. 11 (CP)—J. C. Broderick, president of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture, Wednesday urged effective marketing legislation "to do for the farmer what organized labor has done for the industrial working man."

Speaking to 500 delegates to the federation's annual meeting, Mr. Broderick said that only by greater organization farm workers in Canada their standard of living. F prices for agricultural prod would continue to be a main plank in the federation's platform.

"Although a bright picture is painted for agricultural products in the future and the gross national income is high, there must be some true relationship between what we buy and what we sell if our net income is to bear its proper relationship to labor and investment."

Pass On Costs

Marketing farm products in 1951 would be easy in the light of full employment and increased population. But labor, because of its highly-organized position, was able to pass on its increased living costs to the consumer. Industry did the same.

"Agriculture, because it is not so well organized, finds great difficulty in passing on increased costs of operation."

V. S. Milburn, federation secretary-manager, said consumers and labor now blame the farmer for high prices because a weak public relations program left the public with the idea that "farmers are getting rich at their expense."

U.K. Dollar Reserves Jump $554 Million

LONDON, Jan 11 — (AP) — Britain's gold-dollar reserves shot up $544,000,000 during the last quarter of 1950, the Treasury announced Wednesday.

The total reserve — trading capital of the pound sterling area for commerce with dollar countries—went up to $3,300,000,000 on Dec. 31.

This compares with $1,340,000,000 before the pound was devalued in September, 1949, to give dollar exports a shot in the arm.

The Treasury said $398,000,000 of the gain last quarter represented actual earnings of the sterling area—that is, the excess of dollar exports over dollar imports.

The other $146,000,000 came fro the European recovery program.

The sterling area's fourth-quarter dollar earnings on trade with the dollar countries compared with $187,000,000 in the preceding three months and $180,000,000 in the quarter before that.

CHURCH RITE — Every year, on the Sunday following the Feast of the Epiphany, Quebec's Lower Town parishioners cram the picturesque Roman Catholic church of Notre Dame des Victoires, where thousands of tiny loaves of bread are blessed during a special mass whose origin goes back to a miracle in Paris 1,500 years ago. Parishioners are shown obtaining a supply of the tiny loaves of Ste. Genevieve, the shepherdess credited with the miraculous feeding of Paris during a siege by the Huns in 451. The rite was imported to Quebec in 1688 by French settlers.

Whites In Asia Can't Decide To Go Or Stay

By FRED HAMPSON.

BANGKOK, Thailand, Jan. 11 (AP).—All over Communist-menaced Southeast Asia Caucasians again are confronted with the question: "Shall we go or stay?"

Even here in placid Bangkok, which by comparison with most of Asia is as peaceful as its famous reclining Buddha, members of the white race are pondering the question.

White residents of Asia who lived through Japanese internment and those who were caught by the Communist revolution in China have no desire to risk it again.

The Communist anti-west and anti-American campaigns of the last few months are viewed by most whites as a warning that it will be dangerous business to fall into their hands from now on.

Tension is mounting in Hong Kong. In view of the Chinese Communists' disregard of international borders by invading Korea, Hong Kong now appears to be a target which the Reds may hit almost any time. Families of some white business men there have been sent home.

Profound Effect

The announcement more than a month ago by Pan-American Air Lines that it was removing dependents from Hong Kong had a profound effect on other Asian countries.

It is true that Hong Kong is nearer the source of danger — literally under the muzzles of Chinese Red guns—but whites in this part of the world feel they are all pretty much in the same dilemma.

Some places will last longer than others. But once the Red swarms move south from China it will be only a matter of time.

The recent Republican foreign-policy speeches in the United States, taken in these Southeast Asia areas as advocating a return to isolationism by the United States, have boosted the evacuation sentiment.

If the U. S. officially writes off these areas, it is felt here that the quicker the whites get out of them the better.

Buy More Cars

OTTAWA, Jan. 11 (CP)—Canadians purchased almost twice as many new cars during the first 11 months of 1950 as they did during the corresponding period of 1949, the Bureau of Statistics reported Wednesday. A total of 300,323 new passenger cars were sold, compared with 185,697 in the first 11 months of 1949. Truck sales totalled 97,084, compared with 77,880, and buses 624, compared with 543.

A $20,000 COMMUNITY HALL for Hamilton Township is nearing completion. Mostly built by volunteer labor, the hall will be 75 to 30 in size, and will contain a stage, space for dancing, a modern kitchen and banquet hall. Land for the hall was donated by the Coldsprings Women's Institute.

Will Russians Provoke War? Not Deliberately, Writer Says

By WES GALLAGHER.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11 (AP). — Will the Russians provoke a war? When? What do you do about it?

Despite their seeming lethargy, these three questions give Europeans the same nightmares they give people in the western hemisphere today.

No one knows positive answers to these questions, including the so-called Russian "experts," but if you live next door to the Russians in Europe—as I have since the end of the last war—the answers go like this:

1. The Soviet Union is apt to blunder through an aggressive act into a world war rather than start one deliberately.

2. The greatest war danger period since 1939 is from April through September of this year.

3. You must fight in Europe as long as you can, no matter how little you have.

It is useless to speculate on whether the Kremlin is planning a deliberate all-out attack. This would be the most closely-kept secret in the most closely guarded country in the world. The best intelligence agencies in the world frankly admit they would not likely obtain such top-secret information. The best they hope for would be a few days warning of a possible attack by evidence such as troop dispositions, build-ups and similar movements.

No Change

On this count they all say there has been no significant change in troop dispositions along the iron curtain through Europe in the last year or two. But the Russians always have had enough there to overrun Europe. It would only need an order and minor shifts to send them into action.

The argument that the Russians would not attack because they are "getting what they want without it" does not hold water.

Hitler was getting all he needed in Europe in 1939 without war. He had the continent economically in the palm of his hand. He needed only to be patient. But he wasn't. He miscalculated that the west would not fight.

The danger seems to be that the Russians will not be patient, that they will make the same miscalculations of the west and that they will make one more aggressive grab in Europe that will touch off a war just as Hitler's invasion of Poland did.

At Its Weakest

Western Europe now is at its military weakest. Its morale is low. Many countries are divided by political quarrels. Although steadily declining, the influence of Communist fifth columns still is potent in key areas. The United States has not yet rearmed and has only a handful of troops in Europe. Britain is in a similar fix.

The western military situation in Europe can not get worse; it can only get better. Therefore it may be felt from the Soviet point of view 1951 would be the year to strike.

The big deterrent is the atom bomb, which Winston Churchill believes is the only thing now stopping the Soviet from embarking on all-out world conquest.

Community Hall Near Completion In Hamilton Twp.

COLDSPRINGS, Jan. 11 (ENS) —A completely modern building which will serve as the Hamilton Township Community Hall is nearing completion. Through money and land donations and volunteer work by the community, the building will be valued at approximately $20,000 when completed.

The land site for the steel and brick structure, adjoining the Coldsprings ball park, was donated by the Coldsprings Women's Institute. Over $2,000 has been collected with further donations to be received.

At a cost of $2,400 the old town hall building was erected in 1855. This building has been demolished by volunteer labor.

The new building, which will be air-conditioned and oil-heated, is 75 feet by 30 feet. In the basement will be a modern kitchen, electrically equipped and the balance of the floor space there will be used as a banquet hall.

Large Floor Space

The main floor has a stage with two dressing rooms, and an up-to-date snack bar. The floor space is large enough for community dances as well as other recreations, having a seating capacity for 400 as well as room for another 50 in the gallery.

Since 1930, Deputy Reeve Harry Brisbin has advocated the building of a new community hall and has worked considerably in the erection of the building. A resident said of the efforts of the former reeve, former councillor and present deputy-reeve:

"Through his consistent efforts we have this beautiful building at the community's command."

In addition to the grant of land the Women's Institute will supply all the furnishings such as an electric stove, kitchen equipment, snack bar equipment, piano, chairs and cutlery. During the building period the Institute supplied meals to the workers which sometimes numbered as high as 50.

St. Laurent Broadcast

TORONTO, Jan. 11 (CP). — Prime Minister St. Laurent will speak from London tonight over the CBC Trans-Canada network. The Prime Minister, attending a Commonwealth conference, will speak on "The Commonwealth and the World Today." The recorded talk will be broadcast at 7:30 p.m. EST in Eastern Canada.

MOVE MEMORIAL PARK — Muir Memorial Park, laid out in Toronto in honor of Alexander Muir, composer of "The Maple Leaf Forever," is being moved to make way for the city's new subway project. A red maple from the gardens is shown on its way to the new site at Chatsworth Drive. The large block of frozen earth attached to the roots was fitted into a hole cut to the same size.

UK Press Lauds St. Laurent Talk

LONDON, Jan. 11 (Reuters)—The British press today applauded Prime Minister St. Laurent for his broadcast speech Wednesday night.

The Daily Telegraph said the Canadian prime minister's address was an "exceptionally lucid and sincere broadcast."

The Daily Herald said his speech showed that those who looked with hope to the Commonwealth Prime Ministers' Conference in London did not have their hopes misplaced.

Coming straight from consultation with his colleagues, St. Laurent "revealed in bold and inspiring language the spirit animating the Commonwealth leaders."

The Herald welcomed St. Laurent's statement that the western world did not want to see the Korean crisis develop into an undeclared war between the United Nations and China.

"It is good that this statement should be so bluntly made," the paper said. "It represents we are sure, the overwhelming sentiment of the British people. It should help to kill some of the malignant Communist propaganda about so called 'western imperialism.'"

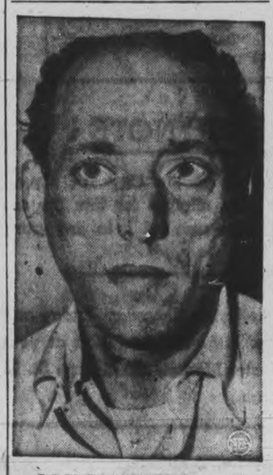
Anti-Smoke Bylaw

TORONTO, Jan. 11 (CP). — A bylaw which would make it a punishable offence to smoke in any Toronto store employing more than 25 persons was approved Wednesday by the civic property committee. The measure, which would not apply to restaurants and rest rooms, must be passed by city council before it becomes law.

Ottawa Shelves Ungava Trip

OTTAWA, Jan. 11 (CP)—Dr. V. B. Meen, director of geology at the Royal Ontario Museum, said Wednesday the federal government has shelved its part in a proposed expedition to Quebec's remote Ungava peninsula to study a giant Cubb crater there.

He said defence commitments persuaded the government to abandon the scheme.



Dr. Meen told reporters that the government had earlier agreed to finance a party of scientists to spend a summer in the crater, smashed out of solid granite when a meteor struck and exploded thousands of years ago. The crater is 500 feet deep and 6½ miles in circumference.

Resigns Presidency

MONTREAL, Jan. 11 (CP) — Marcel Francq, president of the Quebec Federation of Labor, announced Wednesday he had resigned his position. Roger Provost, vice-president of the QFL succeeds him. Mr. Francq declined comment on a quest report that the Quebec government would appoint him within a few days a member of the Quebec Labor Relations Board.

Absenteeism Down

OTTAWA, Jan. 11 — (CP). — The Army said Wednesday absenteeism, once involving as many as 700 men, has decreased "very considerably" in the Special Force since it went to Fort Lewis, Wash., for intensive training and detached a battalion for service in Korea. Headquarters gave no figures.

LOCKER SUSPECT — Pasquale Donofrio, 38, confessed to police that he murdered his common-law wife, Dorothy Martin, then hacked her body to pieces and hid them in a Brooklyn, NY luggage locker last November. The object of an intensive manhunt, Donofrio was trapped by police in a Brooklyn rooming house.

YOU CAN SMELL THE DIFFERENCE

Perhaps you think your wash is perfectly clean. Yet a faint "musty" odour often betrays the presence of invisible dirt, grease, scum left in clothes by ordinary suds. Scientific tests show Surf gets out this hidden cause of odour!

SURF-CLEAN . . . SWEETER! (Right)

Even if dried indoors! Yes, even without rinsing, Surf gets clothes cleaner . . . removes every last trace of dirt, every hint of "dirty clothes" odour. Surf-clean clothes are whiter, brighter . . . and so wonderfully fresh and sweet to smell!

New scientific tests show why

Surf gets your washes SWEETER!

TRY THIS LATEST WASHDAY TRICK IT'S SO EASY— IT'S SO QUICK!

1. Even without rinsing, Surf-clean clothes are the cleanest clothes. But, better still, try adding a little Surf to the rinse-water. This helps keep your clothes sweeter longer.

2. This single light Surf-rinse is better than several clear-water rinsings. It's easier on your clothes, too. And, it leaves everything so wonderfully soft and easy to iron.

3. Surf-washed, Surf-rinsed, Surf-clean clothes are sunshiny-white, sunshiny-bright, fresh-air-sweet, even if dried indoors! Truly astonishing! There never was anything like it!

Tests show SURF gets out more dirt, grease and germs than any other leading washday suds! Gets clothes so clean you can actually smell the difference!

You can tell by the smell that your Surf-clean wash is deep-down sweet and clean. Not just whiter, not just brighter to look at—but sunshiny, fresh-air-sweet to smell, even if dried indoors.

Laboratory tests explain why this is so. They show that Surf—even without rinsing—actually gets out more dirt . . . the kind you can see and also "invisible dirt"—grease, germs and scum. Because it gets out this hidden dirt that other suds leave in your clothes, it gets out every trace of "dirty clothes" odour—far more than any other product tested.

Yet Surf is as gentle to hands and to fabrics as it is hard on dirt. It contains a wonderful purifying ingredient that gently floats out even deep-down soil and odour . . . that lets you safely cut down or eliminate rinsing.

Keep several boxes on hand for laundry, kitchen, bathroom. You'll find Surf's faster, gentler, sweeter action saves time, work, water—and washables. Gives you the cleanest, sweetest washes ever. Yes, your eyes and your nose will tell you: If it's Surf-clean, it's really clean! Sweeter!

NO OTHER SUDS GETS CLOTHES WHITER, BRIGHTER . . . SO FRESH-AIR-SWEET AS SURF!

Michelle Farmer Tries Luck On British Stage

By SYDNEY MIRKIN

LONDON, Jan. 11 (AP)—Gloria Swanson decided that daughter knows best.

So daughter, 18-year-old Michelle Farmer, remained in London last fall when Gloria returned to the United States. Michelle wants to be an actress and feels the British theatre is the best of all possible dramatic training schools.

Daughter of a woman who was in show business in her 'teens, Michelle at 18 has acted in summer stock and in the west coast company of Tennessee Williams' "Summer and Smoke" and was a photographer's model in New York.

Michelle insists she is not a young woman in a hurry.

"I have a fear of anyone rising too quickly," she said in an interview, "and I don't care if it takes me 20 years to get to the top."

No Dramatic School

Michelle's plan of action does not include a dramatic school. "I never was good at school and book," she smiled. "I have to get out and play even if I fall on my face, until I learn to be an actress."

One of her reasons for choosing England as a training ground is the abundance of repertory theatre, which has all but disappeared in the United States.

She is especially interested in one of England's best companies at Windsor and that holiest of holies for young British actors and actresses, the Young Vic, breeding ground for the world-famous Old Vic company.

But her plans are elastic. If she can get a role in a play—Michelle is available.

OPERATING THEATRE — One of several operating theatres in the new Hospital for Sick Children in Toronto, this one embodies all the latest features, including provision for televising operations and a gallery for internes and students. The entire room is constructed to eliminate danger from static electricity and all switches are spark-proof. Oxygen and compressed air are piped into the room from a central supply. Equipment used is the most modern available and many features of the room are being used for the first time. The group shown in this photo are demonstrating operating technique.

Wedding Assistants Of 1901 Sought

Are Charles Dickson or Elizabeth Ritchie living in Peterborough? If both or either of them do reside in the city or district they are invited to attend a golden wedding aniversary on February 27.

George Ellen Barton of Willowdale, outside Toronto, sent a letter to the Examiner asking if these two people live in this city. The writer explains that Mr. Dickson and Miss Ritchie stood up at his wedding in Ashburnham 50 years ago, and he and his wife would like to have them attend their golden wedding anniversary.

If anyone knows the whereabouts of these two persons, Mr. Barton would appreciate it, if they would forward the information to him. His address is 169 Horsham Ave., Willowdale, Ontario.

Won't Pay Rent

WINDSOR, Jan. 11 — (CP).—Adam Krzyston told the city on Wednesday that rather than sign an agreement to pay nominal rent for part of his building that encroaches on city property, he would hack off the offending part. He will have to chip off half an inch of glass and brick, two feet wide and extending from the street level to the top of his one-storey building.

Named To Board

LONDON, Jan. 11 (CP).—E. W. T. Gill of Ottawa, counsellor at the office of the Canadian High Commissioner in London, Wednesday night was named to the new Atlantic Pact Defence Production Board. Plans are under way to call the first meeting of the group today.

Belmont Council Holds Inaugural

HAVELOCK, Jan. 11 (ENS)—The inaugural meeting of the Belmont and Methuen council was held Monday when Reeve W. E. Griffith and Councillors G. Newton, R. Wrightly, N. Whitney and G. Gawley met and signed the declarations of office.

The clerk was authorized to write and ask what value the road allowance across west half of lot 13, concession 9, Methuen, would be to the American Nepheline Company and also state the council would expect expenses of transfer.

The reeve and clerk were authorized to sign the statement of road expenditures for 1950 and submit it to the Department of Highways for subsidy.

On motion by Councillors Whitney and Gawley, the clerk was instructed to send the county treasurer the sum of $1,143.42 as the balance of county rate and $276.75 as the indigent account for 1950.

The clerk was instructed to contact R. A. Dean of Norwood, regarding auditing township and school accounts of 1950.

Hope To Ban Parking

TORONTO, Jan. 11 — (CP).—H. R. Bufton, city traffic engineer, Wednesday recommended eventual elimination of curbside parking throughout Toronto "on a progressive basis, as rapidly as circumstances will permit." In a report on traffic policy, he said street traffic conditions promise to become so serious "as to threaten the well-being of the city."

U.S. Casualties 42,713

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—Announced American combat casualties in Korea rose to 42,713 Wednesday. This was an increase of 2,537 since the defence department's last previous weekly report. The new total includes 6,247 killed in action, 29,306 wounded and 7,160 missing in action.

Asks Committees Set Up For Financing Rearmament

MONTREAL, Jan. 11—(CP)—James Muir, president of the Royal Bank of Canada, suggested today that democratic governments consider setting up advisory committees on financing in the move toward rearmament.

These committees would comprise governors of central banks, representatives of industry, finance and labor and senior civil servants who would review expeditures and advise on possible economies.

In his prepared address before the bank's 82nd annual meeting of shareholders, Mr. Muir said the committees' functions "should be confined to restrictive action, with no power to suggest new expenditures or the increase of those already proposed."

"At this stage the most important weapon in the whole arsenal of war controls is the control of ordinary government expeditures."

At the same time, Mr. Muir outlined a course to provide for rearmament while curbing inflation. In a summarized appraisal of ways to fight inflation he suggested:

"1. Voluntary saving through the patriotic restraint of consumption should be encouraged by the precept and example of government, business and private citizens: i.e., through less non-military expediture by government, less capital expansion by business and less consumption —especially on credit—on the part of private citizens.

"2. Voluntary saving should be encouraged, borrowing discouraged and fiscal policy made effective by allowing a continued movement towards higher interest rates.

"3. Taxes required to prevent inflation should penalize consumption and reward saving.

"Such a criterion would rule out drastic increases in corporate taxes, including an excess profits tax. Extremely-high corporate taxes, especially excess profits taxes tend to encourage waste in management, and, in addition, excess profit taxes are arbitrary and inflationary in their final effect.

"4. Direct controls, especially in the form of price control and rationing, should be measures of the last resort and should be treated as stop-gap devices, not as substitutes for a true anti-inflationary policy."

Chinese Try Indo-China

SAIGON, Indo-China, Jan. 11 (AP)—The radio of the Communist-led Indo-Chinese Nationalists pointed Wednesday to Chinese Communist successes in Korea as a guarantee of eventual victory for the Soviet-backed regimes in Indo-China and elsewhere in Asia.

The clandestine radio quoted an important official communique issued by the Vietminh (Nationalist) Ministerial Council, presided over by Communist-trained leader Ho Chi Minh, which said:

"The victories won in Korea are proof of the formidable power of the Chinese people who are able to assure the triumph of democracy and peace in all Asia."

Searching for clues as to the likelihood of a Chinese Communist "volunteer" invasion of Indo-China, observers interpreted the broadcast as a possible keynote of a campaign to prepare the Indo-Chinese for direct Chinese Communist intervention.

Best informed speculation was that Communist China would not openly send troops into Indo-China unless Ho Chi Minh showed himself incapable of defeating the French.

The recent stiffening of French resistance in north Indo-China under the leadership of Gen. De Lattre, new French commander, has led some to believe that Ho Chi Minh may now be ready to ask for Chinese intervention. The recent Vietminh offensive on the Hanoi-Haiphon was stopped.

Discover Actor Who's Satisfied Not To Be Star

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 11 (AP)—Found: A film player who doesn't want to be a star.

The guy is Chill Wills, the rangy, drawling actor from Seagoville, Texas, who has often been mentioned to play the life of Will Rogers on the screen. He is also known as the voice of Francis, the talking mule, and as the comic character in a variety of westerns and other films.

I asked him: "Do you want to be a star?"

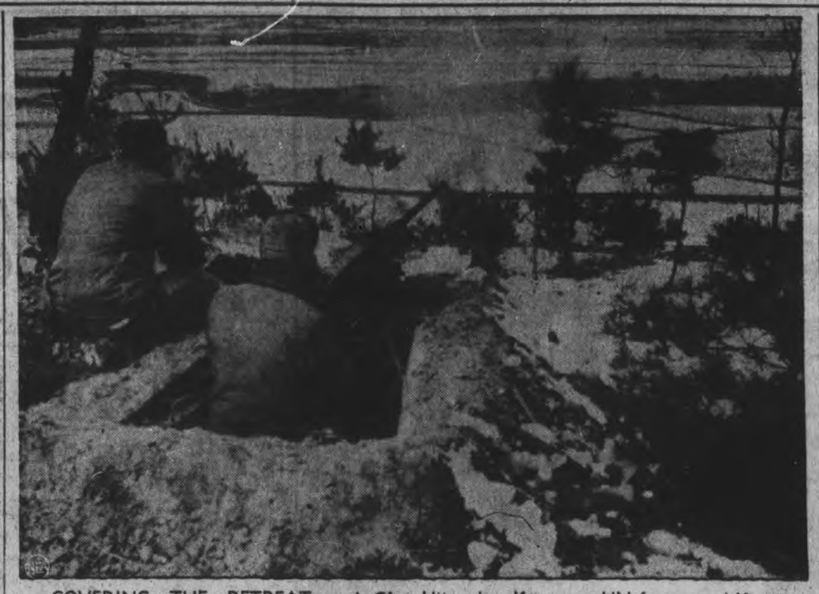
"Waal," he answered, "I wouldn't mind getting some of that money the stars get, but I don't want any of that fuss and feathers that go with it. I'd just as soon let the boy and the girl carry the load on the theatre marquee.

Don't Get Blame

"You know, I've been in a number of pictures that have been real turkey-shoots. But as long as you're just doin' a role in it, you don't get the blame. It's the stars who take it."

"I was in two pictures with Clark Gable," he said. "And I think they were two of his best—'Honky Tonk' and 'Somewhere I'll Find You.' One time a producer showed me a script for another Gable picture and asked me what I thought of it.

"I read it and told him: 'I think it's diseased.'"



The picture was called "Adventure" and the stars, Gable and Greer Garson, had no easy time recovering their careers after it.

Chill's independent spirit has often proved baffling to the studios. For instance, he turned down a contract which would give him "all the money I could use." Reason: He didn't want to be tied to a deal that wouldn't give him a choice of roles.

"I don't care how big or how small a role is," he explained. "All I want is something to make people say 'that dad-blamed guy was pretty good.'"

Jet Transport Sets New Record

TORONTO, Jan. 11 (CP)—The Canadian-built Avro jetliner, only jet-powered commercial transport in North America, returned late Wednesday after completing a record-breaking, 1,570-mile triangular flight—with stops at Chicago and New York—in four hours and 22 minutes.

Officials of the A. V. Roe (Canada) Limited said the flying time of regular airliners over the same route is seven hours and 20 minutes.

The big plane reached a ground speed of 520 miles an hour on the flight from Chicago to New York. It averaged 360 miles an hour for the 1,570 miles.

On the Chicago-New York flight it set two records for transports in the United States: An altitude record of 36,000 feet and a rate-of-climb performance by climbing to 30,000 feet in 22½ minutes. The jetliner has flown as high as 39,000 feet in Canada.

Officials said the plane flew the 360 miles from New York to Toronto—a two-hour flight for regular passenger planes—in one hour and nine minutes.

Ships From Nine Nations Patrol Waters Off Korea

By a Special United Nations Correspondent

SASEBO, Japan — A massive grey tender ship in the sheltered harbor of this naval base is the headquarters of a hard-hitting United Nations fleet which has had an essential part in supporting UN troops fighting in Korea and in keeping open their supply lines.

This fleet—officially called the UN Blockading and Escort Force or Task Force 95—now includes vessels from nine nations. The ships range from aircraft carriers to tiny patrol vessels. The men who man them may speak English, French, Dutch, Korean or Thai. Their ships fly the flags of Australia, Canada, France, the Netherlands, New Zealand, the Republic of Korea, Thailand and the USA. And a ship from Colombia is now on its way here.

"They are doing an outstanding job of working together," Rear Admiral Allan E. Smith of (Detroit) the United States, said here recently. "There has not been the slightest difficulty. Perhaps it is easy for naval men to cooperate because they all speak the same kind of technical language. But the biggest factor has been willingness to work together."

Control the Seas

Admiral Smith pointed to a chart of Korean waters in a corner of his office aboard ship to show how effective the UN force under his command had proved. He explained that the Blockading and Escort Force controlled the seas around Korea, so that supplies could easily be brought in, and often added the striking power of naval guns and aircraft to the support of embattled ground troops.

"This is one of the greatest ventures I've ever participated in," Admiral Smith declared. "It appears to me that the United Nations has really become a going organization and is definitely here to stay."

Top-level conferences here show, just as counting the number of national flags aboard moored ships does, that the Blockading and Escort Force is a United Nations fleet. Top officers of Task Force 95 include Vice Admiral William G. Andrews of the United Kingdom, commander of the British Commonwealth and French, Dutch and other units; Rear Admiral Won Yil Sohn of the Republic of Korea Navy; and Rear Admiral John Higgins of the USA, who commands a group of mainly American ships. And other officers of all nine participating countries often attend the conferences.

The international composition of the Blockading and Escort Force is apparent even aboard some of its individual ships. Admiral Andrews' flagship, the British light cruiser "Kenya," for example, has a commanding officer who calls Vancouver, BC, Canada, his home town. The navigation officer is a New Zealander, while a defense officer is from the Union of South Africa. In addition three midshipmen from India and one from Australia are being trained aboard the "Kenya."

Communication among ships which use different languages has been a major problem, officers of Task Force 95 said, but even that has been mastered by intensive training programs. These programs received a head start, when it was found that most Thai and Korean officers spoke English, while officers and men of Dutch and French units also could follow the language. But English-speaking officers were not by themselves enough to turn a polyglot fleet into a striking force with excellent communications.

"The officers would be too busy navigating, supervising the radar and sonar equipment, piloting and doing other tasks while underway to spend much of their time on the signal bridge or in the radio room," explained Junior Lieutenant N. Siridhara, who serves aboard the Royal Thai Navy's coverette "Prasae," "We simply don't have enough officers to go around. Therefore, it was necessary for our signalmen to learn some English in order to do their work—at least the alphabet and the uniform procedure of radio traffic."

Today Thai and Korean signalmen are reading messages in English and orders and information are transmitted throughout Task Force 95 without difficulty, officers declared. In addition, training programs have made it possible to put a number of vessels of the Republic of Korea Navy to work at the delicate and difficult task of minesweeping.

The UN Blockading and Escort Force not only has been keeping the Korean water under control, but it also has taken part in several spectacular maneuvers. These include fire support and protection for the UN armies which outflanked North Korean forces with amphibious landings at Inchon and Wonsan and the rescue of 7,000 persons, including refugees, civilians and wounded, from Chinnampo, port city of evacuated Pyongyang.

Warsaw WMS Meets

WARSAW, Jan. 11—(ENS)—January meeting of the WMS was held in the Sunday School room with Mrs. Dyson, the president, in charge. Those taking part in the program were Mrs. Dyson, Mrs. George Taylor, Mrs. William Darling and Mrs. Harold Ray. Mrs. Dyson gave a paper on the life of Fanny Crosby. Mrs. Thomas Russell gave a paper on Stewardship. Lunch was served by Mrs. Harold Ray, Mrs. George Taylor, Mrs. Wm. Darling and Mrs. Harold Payne.

AWAIT GOD'S MESSAGE — Thirty-five persons clad in white, calling themselves "Children of Light", held a vigil in this grey ranch-house awaiting a "message from God." They went into seclusion in this fruit farm cottage at Keremeos, BC, 150 miles east of Vancouver, Dec. 26. Mrs. Grace Carlson, grey-haired leader, said: "We hope to meet with God, but we don't know in what form."

Urges Pakistan Start On Own

KARACHI, Pakistan, Jan. 11—(AP)—Gen. Abdul Kayum Khan, premier of Pakistan's northwest frontier province has urged his country to break with the British Commonwealth, charging British indifference to the bitter Indian-Pakistani dispute over possession of Kashmir.

At a public meeting Tuesday the premier said the continued deadlock over the Kashmir question and the lack of interest shown by the western powers brought Pakistan face to face with the question whether it would not be advisable to reorientate this country's foreign policy.

"They (the western powers) want us to fight for Korea or against Communism," Kayum Khan said, "but they remain silent about Kashmir. This position is fantastic."

His speech came at a time when Pakistan's Premier Liaquat Ali Khan is attending the London conference of commonwealth prime ministers. Earlier he had refused to go to the meeting unless the commonwealth members agreed to talk about the Kashmir question.

Barbara Brent's BUYS AND WHYS
A WEEKLY INFORMATION SERVICE

MONTREAL, Jan. 11th—"Let's have a pancake party!"... It's the youngsters' suggestion and it is a good idea! Best of all—it's no trouble at all with AUNT JEMIMA READY-MIX PANCAKES. Make some paper "Chef" caps and collect some old aprons...for everyone can help make Aunt Jemimas—they're easy as 1-2-3 to prepare! Just add milk or water—stir—and pop 'em on the griddle. Off they come—golden brown and ready for butter and syrup. Yes, Aunt Jemimas are always fun—whether they're the Big Reason for a party—or just a Family Treat at breakfast, lunch or supper. One more thing I've discovered...Aunt Jemima Pancakes are particularly kind to Food Budgets!

Wondering What To Do with that left-over chicken? Even though it's picked-to-the-bone and clean-as-a-whistle, there's something delicious you can do with it! It makes simply luscious chicken soup, with the savoury, flavour-help of BOVRIL! Here's how:—

Cut the chicken carcass into pieces and simmer, covered in 6 cups of water. Then add the following ingredients and simmer, covered, for 1 hour more:

1 cup tomatoes	1/2 cup turnips
1 cup celery	1/4 cup parsley
1 cup carrots	3 tbspns. barley
1/2 cup onions	1/2 tspn. salt
	1/4 tspn. paprika

Before straining the soup, taste and add more seasoning, if required. After strained soup has been chilled, skim before reheating. Before serving add 2 BOVRIL cubes or 2 tspns. Bovril Cordial.

Want My Secret Formula for dealing with a cold? Alkalinize your system by drinking the juice of one lemon in a glass of water with a half teaspoon of bicarbonate of soda every 2 to 3 hours first day... then 3 or 5 times a day thereafter, if necessary! Add the soda slowly and drink as foaming quiets! You'll be wise, too, to drink hot lemonade when you go to bed... it induces system-cleansing perspiration. Naturally, a good supply of lemons is a "must" these cold-catching days...and I urge you to get SUNKIST CALIFORNIA LEMONS. That's because they're the finest, juiciest grown!

Tax Consultant To Address Resort Owners

An ultimatum from the Income Tax Department that all resort operators must keep a set of books, and submit proper returns annually will be one of the chief topics on the agenda when the Tourist Resorts of Ontario members meet in annual convention at Toronto January 15-16.

C. O. Phillips, Rosedale, president of the association, which has almost 400 members, including the largest resorts in Southern Ontario, said today that a tax consultant would address the convention on income tax accounting and depreciation allowable.

Guest speaker at the annual dinner Tuesday evening will be Louis Blake Duff, historian from the Niagara Peninsula, author of "The County Kerchief," and veteran newspaperman, whose topic will be "Canada Today." Other convention speakers are Hon. Louis P. Cecile, Minister of Travel and Publicity, D. Leo Dolan, director Dominion Travel Bureau, Ottawa, Thomas C. McCall, Deputy-Minister of Travel and Publicity, George Martin, president Canadian Resort Association, J. J. Bachunes, who operates five resorts in Michigan and Tennessee, and Pete McGillen, outdoors editor of the Toronto Telegram.

EYE TOPICS

JAVAL And the Hygiene of Reading

The hygiene of vision, especially as relate to reading, is of vital importance to everyone, since 85% of our knowledge comes through the eyes. Up to fairly recent times people thought the ability to read rapidly and well was simply a matter of "intelligence." Then about 1870 a Frenchman named Emile Javal made a series of discoveries that threw a new light on the hygiene of reading.

Javal was the first to notice that in reading, the eyes do not move continuously from left to right, but advance in a series of leaps and pauses; that good readers take in two to five words during each eye movement, while poor readers take in only a word at a time and often allow their eyes to go over what already has been read.

Many new developments to promote reading efficiency are used in advanced schools. One takes a motion picture of the reader's eye movements. Another device is used for training the eyes to good reading habits. This training is effective because reading is in part a mechanical activity. Eventually all school children will benefit immensely from such discoveries.

Boys of Vienna Choir Learn By Travel; May Tour City

Father Josef Schnitt, Dean of the world-famous Vienna Choir Boys, who will appear at Peterborough Collegiate next Tuesday, Jan. 16, smiled when we asked him what life was like in the choir.

His kindly face was wreathed in wrinkles as he told us he had answered this question more than a thousand times since he had reorganized the 450-year-old organization after World War. I.

"I thing," he said, "any boy would love the life of the Vienna Choir. What child would not enjoy the adventure of world travel by ship, plane, rail and highway; the excitement of living geography lessons? And besides, formal schooling is postponed while on tour."

Because evening concerts result in late bedtime, Director Schnitt has prescribed twelve hours of sleep daily.

"After breakfast," he said, "the boys generally are taken on a sight-seeing tour of the city. It is so much easier to learn history that way. When they see the Peace Tower in Ottawa, imagine how much more thoroughly they are impressed by the history and character of the country".

Should the next performance date require early transportation the boys board their special bus and roll onward. It is not yet known whether the boys will have time to tour Peterborough. A short rehearsal precedes lunch, then a nap.

Afternoon Nap?

"The natural animal spirits of the boys sometimes make the afternoon nap difficult to enforce," said Father Schnitt, "but we have an effective cure. The recalcitrant loses his chance to sit next to the bus driver and honk the horn at crossroads."

Father Schnitt said illness among the choir boys is rare because their diet and health are well guarded. A nurse always accompanies the group on tour and the boys are never out of her sight. Some years ago the choir crossed the equator three times and despite continual climatic changes only one boy suffered a mild cold.

Up at 6.15 a.m.

Discussing their life in Vienna, Father Schnitt said the program was less exciting. The boys arise at 6.15, have morning prayer before breakfast and classes are scheduled from 8 to 10.

"The differences in age," he said, "require divisions of the groups into small units; in many cases it results in individual tutoring.

There is a recess before lunch and 45 minutes of play are followed by song and musical study periods, dinner at seven, recreation until eight, which is bedtime. The curriculum includes academic and musical subjects and some 7,000 parents attempted to enroll their students after the last war. Only 100 were accepted.

Dr. Schnitt, who was imprisoned by the Nazis during the war for refusing to allow the choir to become a propaganda medium, said the boys remain active in the choir until their voices change after which they are encouraged to pursue their interests in any field of their choice.

"Two years ago our alumni gave me a reunion party," Father Schnitt recalled. "There were 37 former Choir Boys among them who held university doctorates. It was wonderful."

ANIMAL SPIRITS and beautiful voices chagacterize the world-travelled Vienna Choir Boys, in the city for a concert next Tuesday. Here are two of them robed for sacred songs which form part of their program. The youngest chorister is seven years old.

Review Allowances

SASKATOON, Jan. 11 (CP).—Hughes Lapointe, Veterans Affairs Minister, said Wednesday that war veterans' allowances probably will be reviewed at the next session of Parliament. He said the Parliamentary Committee on Veterans' Affairs will again be set up and that it will undoubtedly review the allowances and make any changes it thinks necessary.

Find Few Takers Of Old Pemmican Mix

STONEY PLAIN, Alta. (CP)—They have some extra food on the shelf at the farm instructor's home in this northern Alberta Indian reserve, but no one feels like eating it.

The mixture—now a hardened mass of buffalo meat, fat and Saskatoon berries—is known to the Indians as pemmican, once a staple food on the prairies.

This particular pemmican was unearthed recently at the home of a farmer near here.

No one can be positive how long it was buried but historians point out the last major camp of Indians in this district was in 1885.

Pemmican was a major diet for Indians and early white traders and missionaries. It was made by cutting buffalo meat into long thin strips and hanging it up to dry.

Made Solid Mass

Saskatoon berries were then added and pounded into the meat and finally hot buffalo fat was poured over it until the mixture was a solid mass.

Indians at the reserve here claim the recently discovered pemmican may still be edible even after being buried for at least 65 years.

An elderly buck said he had often heard his aunt tell of eating pemmican that was more than 15 years old and that it was as fresh as any modern "deep freeze" product.

But except for the odd sniff of a few dogs and the curious glances of sight-seers, there seem to be no takers for the aged pemmican.

Lindsay Airman On Mercy Flight

Flight Lieutenant G. J. Williams of Lindsay took part last week in a RCAF mercy flight 300 miles north of the RCAF station at Goose Bay. He was navigator on a Dakota transport which flew out a seriously-ill Eskimo to hospital attention in Goose Bay.

The ski-wheel equipped Dakota flown by Goose Bay's commanding officer, Group Captain L. J. Birchall of St. Catharines, first made a landing at Nutak on the Labrador coast and learned that the Eskimo was too ill to make the 15-mile dog-team trip from his cabin.

Aided by one of the two white residents of the remote settlement, the Dakota took off and put down again at Pessijoak Bay where the patient was loaded aboard on a stretcher. The return trip to Goose Bay was without incident and the patient is now in the RCAF hospital there.

Apsley Institute Has First Meeting Of Year

APSLEY, Jan. 11 —(ENS)—First meting of the Women's Institute for 1951 was held at Mrs. Don Newberry's home with 18 members and one visitor present.

Plans were made for purchase of more books for the library.

Mrs. Norman Reddick took charge of the program on community activities. She read a paper on "Jamaica's Growing Pains" and conducted two contests: "Famous people," won by Mrs. Harvey; "Games and Sports" won by Mrs. Wilson.

Mrs. Newberry and Mrs. T. H. Lean served lunch.

Clock Gets Rest

OTTAWA, Jan. 11 — (CP). — The big clock in the Peace Tower of Canada's Parliament Buildings is going to get a two-day rest. Public Works Department employees start today cleaning and adjusting the timepiece, a job which is undertaken every two years.

BARBARA ANN "RELAXES" — Barbara Ann Scott is taking a well-earned vacation at her new home in Toronto. A couple of hours skating each day, swimming and rhumba lessons, skiing, the occasional dance and officiating at bazaars provide the "holiday" for the blonde skater. She is shown with her French poodles, Sambo and Scoop. Sambo was acquired in Hollywood, while Scoop was a gift from the Toronto Men's and Women's Press Club.

Dayus Denies Brophey Charge

WINDSOR, Jan. 11 —(CP)—Wilfred Dayus, who ran third in Windsor's mayoralty contest, Dec. 6, denied today a charge by Thomas R. Brophey that he had entered the race to split the vote in favor of Mayor Arthur J. Reaume.

A recount Monday reversed the original election count and returned Mayor Reaume by 16 votes, to replace Mr. Brophey who had been Mayor only eight days.

Mr. Dayus said he had entered the contest for the sole purpose of being elected, and would be a candidate again in the 1952 voting.

Mr. Brophey's statement said Dayus "posed as a reform candidate" and "tricked" 2,500 voters out of their vote. He drew 2,561.

"He forgets," said Mr. Dayus, that on Dec. 7 when he was elected Mayor by a plurality of 38 votes that it was Dayus who was the hero of Windsor, being congratulated by Brophey and his supporters for taking 2,000 votes away from Mr. Reaume. What a short memory he has."

Granit Teapots

JOHANNESBURG — (CP) — The biggest tea installation in the world started operating at a Johannesburg gold mine recently. It consists of six giant "teapots" which supply 1,250 gallons a day to 10,000 workers.

Joyriding Fine Of $300 Given City Man

Norman Rendell, 21, 107 Aylmer St., pleaded guilty to a charge of joyriding in police court today and was fined $300 and costs or three months in jail.

A charge of theft of the car was dropped by the crown when Rendell pleaded guilty to the lesser charge.

Provincial Constable Clive Naismith testified about 2.30 a.m. Dec. 24 he spotted a car that had been reported stolen about two hours before.

Rendell Behind Wheel

The car was going north on Downie and he followed it. He said the car pulled into a lane on Murray St. and Rendell was behind the wheel.

Rendell told him he had been sitting in a downtown beverage room earlier when a man approached his table and told him he could borrow his car for the evening. He was to bring it back the next morning. But he was unable to give the name of his benefactor. The name of the owner of the car was found by police to be Glen Brockley.

The constable said Rendell had been drinking but was not drunk.

Asks Fine

Arguing for a fine rather than a jail term, Rendell's lawyer, W. J. Arthur Fair KC said Rendell had been drinking during the afternoon, had followed his sister and brother-in-law to a dance and his memory of what took place was vague. He said Rendell did not remember how he got into the car or where it was.

Rendell was recently released from reformatory where he served an eight-months term when found guilty of breaking, entry and theft Jan. 6, 1950.

"I think Your Worship dealt very fairly with this young man," said Mr. Fair. "He's just young and perhaps we can do something with him."

AN ICE-RIMMED DAM NEAR LANG on the Indian River has been providing water power for the mill, (background) for the past 110 years. The mill was built in 1841 by William Lang, Esq., as a carding and fulling plant and was later changed to a sawmill. It is owned now by a great-grandson, John Hope, and will start winter sawing in February. The stone work of dam and mill was so well constructed that a spring flood of 1870 swept all bridges and dams from the Indian River, except this one. "Good Scottish craftsmanship was the reason," say present-day family descendants.—(Examiner Staff Photo)

Second Meeting Held In Week Of Prayer

Rev. M. J. Aiken of St. Andrew's United Church and Archdeacon C. W. Balfour of St. John's Anglican Church addressed approximately 500 people at the second service of the annual week of prayer held in St. Paul's Presbyterian Church Wednesday night.

"The gadgets and trinkets of our age have not furthered our salvation," stated Rev. Aiken while developing his theme, prayer in the knoweldge of Jesus Christ.

Archdeacon Balfour spoke on the theme, thought of prayer in Jesus Christ. In his address, he explained the instructive nature of prayer life of Christ—a life entirely devoted to dependence on God.

The Rev. C. G. Boyd conducted the service and welcomed the congregation. Prayers were led by James Dutton, Sr., and the Rev. W. J. Moorhead.

Mrs. B. Shortly Dies At 85, Old City Family

Daughter of an old Peterborough family that was prominent in the affairs of the town of nearly a century ago, and later, Mrs. Benjamin Shortly, 546 Aylmer St., died Wednesday at Civic Hospital. She had been in declining health about four years, but her final illness had been only a few days.

Mrs. Shortly was the widow of Benjamin Shortly, retail dealer in leather goods on George St. for many years. The Shortly store was in part of the premises now occupied by Metropolitan Store, on the west side of George St.

Mrs. Shortly was born in Peterborough 85 years ago, Florence Rutherford, daughter of Arthur Rutherford and his wife, Mary Ann Ford. Her mother was also a native of Peterborough, and Mr. Rutherford, born in England, was at one time a member of Peterborough municipal council, and a builder of many dwellings, including quite a number of older residences in the west end. His name is perpetuated in Rutherford Ave.

Active Church Worker

Mrs. Shortly was a life long member of George St. United Church, one of the original members of its Women's Missionary Society in which she was especially active; president of the Women's Association of the church, and superintendent of primary department of its Sunday School. Her husband died Dec. 30, 1933.

She was the stepmother of Mr. Orville B. Shortly of Toronto and of Mrs. Edith Kavanagh of Bronksville, N.Y. She also leaves her sisters, Mrs. W. H. Lyfle (Belle) of RR 3, Peterborough, and Mrs. M. F. Tate (Jessie) of Oceanside, Calif.

Mr. James Kavanagh, husband of Edith Shortly, was a member of the teaching staff of Peterborough Collegiate Institute years ago. He retired from teaching, went into insurance and became a vice-president of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company.

The funeral service will take place Friday at 2 p.m. from the late residence of Mrs. Shortly at 546 Aylmer St., and will be conducted by Rev. Arnold Matthews of George St. United Church. Interment will be at Little Lake Cemetery.

DISCUSS CONTRACT PROPOSALS

Tonight Local 524, United Electrical Workers, will hold a membership meeting to discuss the 1951 contract proposals. A negotiating committee is to be elected and there will also be nominations from the floor for the local's 1951 officers. The meeting will be in the Brock Street Summer Gardens at 7.30 p.m.

RECEIVES CERTIFICATE

Alex Sinclair, recreation director, received today a certificate as director of municipal recreation administration. The diploma is awarded by the Institute for Training in Municipal Administration conducted by the International City Managers Association in Chicago. He completed 14 examinations successfully.

COLD DIP IN CREEK

Two employees of the Board of Works report that the water outdoors is much too cold yet for swimming. Francis Hickey and Lawrence Smith were breaking ice in Jackson Park Creek at Murray and Reid Sts. Wednesday when they slipped and went into the shallow but chill stream. They scrambled out in a hurry and headed for their homes and a change of clothing.

OSHAWA LABOR COUNCIL

Ed Cline has been returned as president of the Oshawa and District Labor Council. He succeeded to that post in 1949 after the resignation of Thomas Hart. Other officers are Harold Henning, vice-president; M. J. Fenwick, secretary-treasurer; and board members Lloyd MacInally and W. G. Wilkins. It was the first time in eight years that Fenwick has been opposed for the secretary-treasurer's seat. He defeated Lloyd Peel, 29 votes to 10.

Six Ex-Wardens 1951 Members County Council

When the Peterborough county council holds its statutory meeting next Tuesday afternoon there will be six ex-wardens in hand among the 18 reeves and deputy-reeves.

Oldest in length of municipal experience is W. E. Griffith, reeve of Belmont-Methuen, who this year succeeds Ross Barrons. Mr. Griffith was warden of the county exactly 30 years ago, in 1921.

Other ex-wardens are Rork Ferguson, in 1934, then reeve of Asphodel but now reeve of Norwood; James Gifford, Ennismore, 1936; Ernest W. Seeney, 1941, returned this year as reeve of Havelock after being out of municipal office for a number of years; James Humphries, Asphodel, 1943; and Norman Wilson, Burleigh-Anstruther, 1950.

John McColl, chairman of the county's reforestation committee, is a former reeve of Asphodel and warden of the county in 1940.

Of chief interest at the statutory meeting will be the election of the warden for 1951. Two reeves have been mentioned unofficially—Peter Pearson of Galway-Cavendish, and William E. Grant of Lakefield.

Mr. Pearson is the senior of the two as he now begins his seventh term as reeve, while Mr. Grant begins his sixth term. Galway-Cavendish has not had a warden since John Clark in 1923. Lakefield was represented 20 years ago by Charles S. Tanner.

In 1950 there were three nominations for warden—Norman Wilson, William E. Grant and Ernest J. Leeson. Both Mr. Grant and Mr. Leeson declined and Mr. Wilson went in by acclamation.

Brothers Eating Bear After Felling Its Tree

LINDSAY, Jan. 11—The Harrison brothers of Carnarvon—Ray, Bill and Ivan—are eating bear steaks these days. They came by them the hard way—they had to kill the bear with their axes.

Felling timber at the edge of Rainbow lake near Minden, the brothers dropped a tree which knocked over a hollow one in falling.

The bear, sleeping inside the hollow tree, came out of hibernation on the double and charged the brothers.

Obituary

FRANK ANDERSON KIDD

After a length illness Frank Anderson Kidd, 569 Patterson St., died today in hospital in his 43rd year. He is a former employee of the Western Clock company where he worked in the automatic department.

Born in Fraserville, he is the son of Mrs. Martha Jane Kidd and the late Walter Allen Kidd. His wife the former Ruth Wright survives. Mr. Kidd has been a Peterborough resident practically all his life except for brief periods in Detroit and Fraserville.

Besides his mother and wife surviving are a son, Ronald of Detroit, two brothers, Orville of Peterborough and the Rev. Clayton Kidd of Laurel, Mississippi, and a sister, Mrs. H. North (Jean) of Detroit.

The funeral will be held on Saturday at 2 p.m. from the Nisbett funeral home, the Rev. Walter Crone of the Church of the Open Bible officiating. Burial will be at the Fraserville cemetery.

70 Boys and Girls Practise In Public School Band

The boys and girls of the Public School band, nearly 70 of them, are progressing in the rudiments of music under the training of Albert Croasdale. Since October they have been practicing in the auditorium of Queen Mary School Saturday mornings from 10 to 12 o'clock, and Wednesday from 10.45 to 11.45 a.m.

Lessons and use of the instruments for practice at home cost them 75 cents a week. That low fee provides for renting of instruments and tuition.

Make Up of Band

These young novices in music have been chosen from Grades 6 to 8, and in the age group of around 10 to 12 years. The band comprises: 16 clarinets, about half of them purchased from France; 9 trombones, 3 bases, 3 French horns, 5 baritones, 22 cornets and trumpets; 1 flute, 1 C soprano saxaphone, and 8 percussion detail.

Total investment at present is approximately $6,000. The plan of rental was adopted until the Board of Education completed the financing of the PCVS Band which is also directed by Mr. Croasdale.

At the Collegiate the band personnel has a background of 26 players of experience from last year and 12 others who are mostly beginners.

Public School band, now under way with an enthusiastic group of youngsters who have been learning the notes and scales, generally the mechanics of their instruments, will gradually supply trained and competent members to the senior band, also sponsored by the Board of Education. That system will extend for the Public School juniors advanced work when they reach the Collegiate, and will obviate the delays, now resulting from graduation of seniors, in rebuilding each year the PCVS organization.

Increase PCVS Band

This music course will now begin in the lower school, and the Collegiate Band will carry the juniors to a high level of music until in turn they pass from the senior school. It is altogether likely that the PCVS band can eventually be increased from around 35 members to probably 50 or 60.

Meanwhile there are some 65 to 70 homes in the city with ambitious juniors tootling on clarinets, blowing on bases and doing blaring things with trombones, to say nothing of drums and other accessories of percussion, injecting a new variety of sound to domestic life.

Patience and endurance of those parents is their contribution to the prospect of John and Mary some day becoming musicians. It is part of the joy and penalty of parenthood, not of the moment, but reaching across the years of adolescence. Any way, it is the ground work from which all musicians necessarily develop.

City Ski School At Kemp's Hill Opens Saturday

Arrangements have been completed for opening the annual ski school Saturday morning at Kemp's hill. Alex Sinclair, recreation director, said today that everything depends now upon the co-operation received from the weatherman. The school is operated jointly by the Recreation Commission and the Peterborough Ski Club.

The school which has been conducted for the past several years will be held for five successive Saturdays this year for the pupils of the public schools. The ski club will be supplying the instruction and the commission will look after transportation and the like.

The usual fee of 50c for the five lessons will have to be paid by each youngster. This will entitle them to use the tow free on the school mornings, to receive a junior membership in the ski club, a club crest, and allow them a special rate on the tow throughout the week.

The cost of the school which averaged 185 children a day last year is expected to be about $250. Most of this expense is for the three buses which take the young skiers to the Kemp's hill slopes.

Buses At 9 a.m.

Mr. Sinclair said the buses will leave the scheduled stations at 9 a.m. and have the children home by noon, leaving the hill by 11.30 a.m. The first bus will leave the King St. depot to pick up children at Murray-Water streets and at Park Hill Road—Water Street. The second bus will carry children from the Prince of Wales School area, leaving first at the school and then picking up children at the Queen Mary School. Ski school children from the south end will be picked up at Confederation and King Edward schools by a third bus.

Women's Ski Meet Planned On Sunday

Peterborough will have a ski meet this weekend when the Southern Ontario ski zone will hold its annual class C meet for senior and junior women at Bethany. Mrs. Mollie Craig, chairman of the women's section of the Ontario division of the Canadian Amateur Ski Association, announced today that the meet will be held Sunday. It was originally scheduled for January 21.

This will be the only ski meet to be held in the Peterborough area this season and will be the first time the new meet has been held here. Last year in Hamilton the Cedar Springs club were hosts to the first meet of this type.

Peterborough skiers registered only one win last year, Mrs. Craig winning the slalom event. Forty entries were made then in the slalom and downhill events for the senior and junior women from clubs throughout Southern Ontario.

The downhill events will start at 11 a.m. and the slalom events at 1.30 p.m., Mrs. Craig said. The Peterborough Ski Club expects the number of entries this year to equal last year's.

A trophy will be presented to both the senior and junior division winner for the combined downhill and slalom. Eight prizes will be awarded for the first and second place skiers in each event.

A number of entries will be made by the Peterborough club. Others are expected from Hamilton, Toronto, Oshawa, Huntsville, Collingwood, Kitchener and Barrie.

If snow conditions force a postponement, the meet will be held in February.

CHARLES K. FRASER, chemical engineer at the Peterborough CGE plant, has been re-elected to the 1951 council of the Association of Professional Engineers of Ontario. This body administers the affairs of the association, representing 12,000 professional and undergraduate engineers in Ontario.

James Rollo, 98 Cleared Land With Oxen Dies

James Rollo, 98, a retired farmer of Seymour township and linked with the pioneer days of that district, died Wednesday night at the residence of his niece, Mrs. R. A. Tate, 231 King St.

Born on the family homestead near Campbellford, Mr. Rollo was well known as a horse breeder in Northumberland county. His horses were shown at all the fall fairs in the surrounding district for many years. He was the son of Grenville Sharpe Paterson Rollo and Mary Jane Lumsden.

Mr. Rollo remembered helping his father clear the land on the family homestead with a team of oxen, and claimed that they were better for plowing than horses.

Mr. Rollo has resided in Peterborough with his niece, Mrs. Tate, for the past 25 years. On March 23 of last year he celebrated his 98th birthday. He was a Presbyterian and was a member of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Campbellford, for many years and an elder. When he moved to Peterborough he joined St. Paul's Presbyterian Church.

The eldest of a family of nine, who all predeceased him, Mr. Rollo never married.

The fuperal will be held at the Bennett Funeral Home, Campbellford, on Friday, at 2 p.m. Burial will be in Mount Pleasant cemetery, Campbellford.

Concert Assoc'n To Canvass Early

Peterborough's Community Concert Association will hold its annual canvas for members for the 1951-52 season in the week of February 19th. This was decided at a meeting this week of the Board under the presidency of Mrs. W. B. Brown. Renewal memberships will be accepted at the February 10th concert. The executive expect that the demand for membership will be greater than ever this year and a waiting list may have to be established again.

John A. Bradshaw reported on the piano committee's schedule, and Albert Robinson, New York representative of the Community Concerts Inc., gave an account of a recent headquarters conference during which new artists were auditioned and selected. Several of the new artists on the roster are Canadians, and Mr. Robinson says that their popularity with concert-goers is already evident.

Concert Schedule

Details of the Members' Concert were outlined by Mrs. Allan Clark. This concert will be held on March 21st, and Peterborough talent will be exhibited on it. Two professional concerts will be heard before it: David Lloyd, tenor, on January 20th, and the Loewenguth String Ensemble on February 10th. Following the Members' Concert will be the male quartet, known as The Revellers, schedule for May 4th.

Cockerill Bailed For Trial Charged With Stealing Bronze Ingots Worth $750

Jack Allen Cockerill, 384 Holloway Drive, was committed for trial by a higher court on $2,000 bail by Magistrate W. R. Philp KC in police court today. Cockerill was charged with stealing about 120 bronze ingots worth a total of about $750. from the DeLaval Co. the night of Dec. 30. Provincial Constable Jack McKendry testified he and Corporal Joseph Hanson came upon a truck stopped at the side of Lansdowne St. about 150 yards west of Park St. beside the fence of the grounds of the DeLaval Co.

Cockerill told him he had motor trouble. On the back of the truck were about 35 or 40 ingots dumped into one of the back corners.

No Lading Bills

He asked Cockerill for the bills of lading to cover the load and Cockerill did not produce them. Cockerill told him he was working for the Cope Transport Co., but his truck had broken down and he rented a truck from the Hertz Drivurself.

He said Cockerill appeared very nervous and although the night was cool, beads of perspiration were standing out on his forehead.

Just at that point, the officers received a complaint from a motorist about a hit-and-run accident and went in pursuit of the car involved. About half an hour later Constable McKendry told Constable Allen Edmison of the city police force about the load.

John Donnelly, proprietor of the truck renting company, testified he had rented a truck to Cockerill whom he had dealt with before.

Boy Found Ingots

Fred Burns, 69 Maple St., told the court his son had told him someone had brought a load of ingots on a toboggan along Maple St., which is about five minutes walk from the De Laval, and dumped them in front of the Burns' home.

Burns went out and counted eight or nine ingots there. One was brought into the house and later turned over to police.

Burns watched the street and soon saw a truck drive up the street and turn around. Two men loaded the ingots into the truck and one of them drove the truck away while the other walked away. While waiting, Burns had phoned police.

Constable Eldon McDonald drove to Maple St. in answer to the phone call. Driving south on Park St. about Parnall St. he saw a truck a block-and-a-half ahead of him. He followed as it crossed Lansdowne St. and turned west into Brioux St. and stopped at the end of the blind street.

Taking Ingots To Toronto

He said Cockerill got out of he truck. He said Cockerill told him he had brought the ingots from Smiths Falls and was taking them to Toronto where he was to deliver them to two men at the Snack Shack on Kingston Rd.

He let Cockerill go and went to Maple St. After talking with Burns, he went searching for Cockerill again and caught up to him on Lansdowne St. west of Park St.

He asked Cockerill about picking up a load on Maple St. and Cockerill told him he had had motor trouble, dumped the load on Maple St. and then later picked it up.

Checked Fences

The constable checked the fences of the Outboard Marine Co. and the De Laval Co. He found marks in the snow on both sides of the De Laval fence beside the railway tracks west of the fence. Tracks of a toboggan were seen going toward Romaine St. between the rails of the tracks.

In the ditch opposite the marks in the snow at the De Laval fence, he found 14 more ingots. Altogether he collected about 120 ingots weighing about 21 pounds apiece. The toboggan wasn't found.

George MacDonald, plant superintendent of the De Laval Co., testified the company was about 3,000 pounds short in weight. He said it would take a few hours for men to move the ingots from the metal storehouse 100 yards to the fence and throw them over the seven-foot-high fence, topped with barbed wire.

He said a man could be in the grounds without the night watchman seeing him. The watchman did not ordinarily closely check the metal warehouse.

James B. Fowler Descendant Pioneers Dies

James Ballantyne Fowler, 54 River Rd. N., a descendant of pioneers of North Monaghan who came into the township in 1818, died at his home on Wednesday after an illness of nearly five years. Mr. Fowler was 86 years old.

Son of John A. Fowler and Agnes Huggan, he was born on the old family homestead five miles south-west of Peterborough on Highway 28. He was the grandson of William Fowler who walked overland from Port Hope in 1818 and in North Monaghan picked out lots from amongst the virgin timber.

Member of a family that has always taken a prominent part in both community and church life, Mr. Fowler as a boy attended St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church and in later years was a member of the Springville Presbyterian Church. There he sang in the choir. For the past 25 years he has been a member of St. Paul's Prebyterian Church and for many years an elder.

Mr. Fowler was of a quiet, unassuming disposition, held in high respect by everyone who knew him. For years he farmed in North Monaghan immediately north of the family homestead. He was of a kindly nature, a good neighbor and a splendid citizen. Ten years ago he retired to Peterborough.

Mr. Fowler is survived by his wife, the former Daisy Duncan, daughters Mrs. Albert C. Raymark (Jean) and Phyllis, both of Peterborpugh, and one son, John C., of Toronto. A sister, Mrs. Harry G. Webber, resides on Frederick Ave.

The funeral will be held on Saturday at 2.00 p.m. at the Comstock Funeral Home, with the Rev. C. G. Boyd officiating. Burial will be in Little Lake cemetery.

Three Cents a Tree

An estimated 12,000 Christmas trees were collected during Wednesday's special tree collection. The cost of the operation is expected to be about $350 or approximately three cents a tree. A misplaced zero made the price of removing trees appear at 30 cents each in Wednesday's paper.

Moneybag Hunt Lively Time In Pioneer Life

BANFF, Alta.—(CP) — David M. Soule likes to look back on the days when he had so much money he slept with it. But the night he spent tramping along railway tracks looking for $45,000 in cash stands out as the coldest in his memory. It wasn't the temperature that gave him the chills; it was the fear of losing the money.

Soule then was postmaster at the booming coal-mining town of Bankhead, five miles from here. Once a month the Canadian Pacific Railway, which owned Bankhead Mines Ltd. sent along the payroll in the mail.

The train which brought it never did stop at the Bankhead station, some distance from the town. The mail clerk merely kicked out the bag in the general direction of the station.

And one night, Soule, waiting there with the buggy team, couldn't find the bag with the $45,000 payroll. He and others, whom he roused out of bed, searched all night along the tracks before they finally found the payroll in a snow drift.

"After that," Soule recalls, "the railway sent the money under escort and I was happy about it. Once a month I would have so much money, I'd always sleep with it in bed with me."

That was only one incident in a life of 66 years. Soule came out from England and worked as a farm hand in Saskatchewan before joining the mounted police at Regina in 1904.

He was in Regina when the force was granted the right to use the prefix Royal. It changed from the North West Mounted Police to Royal North West Mounted Police and because of it there had be some blue in the uniform.

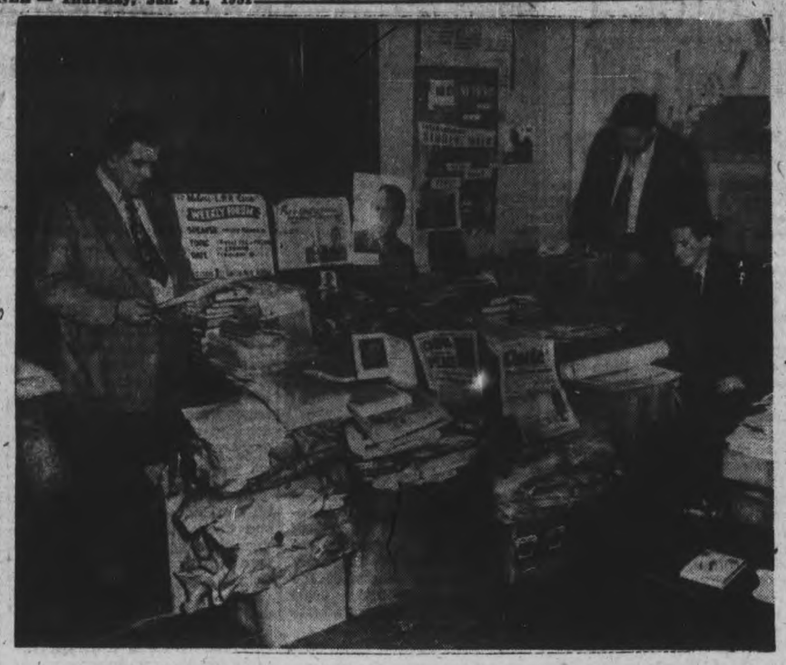
Modelling for the new uniform and keeping an eye on the Doukhobors provided Soule with his liveliest moments at Regina. Even in those days the Doukhobors held undress rehearsals around Kamsack and Yorkton.

He was on guard detail one time for a party of Doukhobors working along Wascana Creek as an aftermath to one of their performances.

"They were odd people," he recalls. "They found some kind of grass by the creek that tickled them so much they ate it."

Soule later made a name for himself in the real estate business. He's still in it and enjoys the distinction of being the oldest notary public in Alberta who isn't a lawyer, and one of the two living members of the original Banff Advisory Council.

Fertilize Soil By Use Of Straw



SASKATOON—(CP) — Fifty million tons of straw, huge by-product of Canada's agriculture, is produced annually but most is either abandoned or burned.

That's an estimate contained in a recent Canadian Chamber of Commerce booklet published by its chemurgic committee. Authors G. A. Ledingham, J. B. Marshall and J. E. Stone of the National Research Council laboratories at Saskatoon and E. S. Archibald of the Dominion Department of Agriculture advocate returning that straw production to the soil. They also urge greater research both in industrial and agricultural use of straw.

Dr. Archibald said recent tests in Western Canada show crop residue including straw from a yield of 10 bushels an acre would return about 900 lbs. of organic matter an acre to the soil. Fertility is increased and erosion lessened.

Laboratory technicians, the booklet says, are studying various industrial uses of straw such as corrugating material, containers, structural boards and fuel briquettes.

It was noted that "cereal straws" would give a sheet of white writing paper almost indistinguishable from high-quality wood pulp bond although such producton is not an immediate research objective.

QUEBEC PROVINCIAL and Montreal Police this week seized 16,000 communist pamphlets in a series of raids aimed at smashing the Labor Progressive Party's propaganda centre in the metropolis. The raids were carried out under the Quebec Padlock Law, designed at curbing the dessimination of subversive literature. Sorting through the material the police found a letter written to Gui L. Caron, head of Quebec's communists, from John Berlioz, an active communist in France, thanking him for money the Quebec leader had sent.

Community Affairs Topic At WI Meeting

MARMORA, Jan. 11 (ENS)—The monthly meeting of Marmora Women's Institute was held Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Ed Hewitt. Mrs. P. Gray presided. Mrs. E. Brady gave the financial statement which showed finances to be in a satisfactory condition. Letters were read from a co-operatve medical service and from the Ontario Departmental Nutrition Committee.

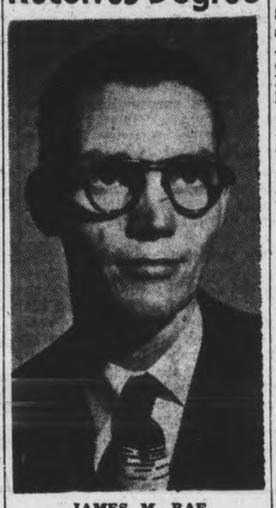
The first dealt with sickness and accident insurance and the latter touched upon the selection of right food for children. Mrs. F. Sweet followed with the report of the sick committee. A paper on community activities and public relations was given by Mrs. E. C. Prentice. The program was in charge of Miss Grace Warren who gave a reading "Beatitudes for a Housewife and Yourself." She also conducted a Marmora citizens contest with Mrs. E. G. Prentice winnig and Mrs. H. P. Nayler coming a close second. Mrs. Prentice passed out material for the making of articles for the Children's Aid Society. Refreshments were served by the hostesses of the evening.

Brave Bulldog

MONTREAL —(CP)— A brave bulldog gave his life to protect his master's savings here. Four masked bandits who entered the home of Ferdinand Chartrand shot the bulldog when it attacked them, then fled without any loot.

Anglican Budget

MONTREAL — (CP) — The Montreal Anglican diocese has set its 1951 budget from parishes at $127,040, compared with $120,870 for last year. This amount is additional to other expenditures expected to bring the total to $170,540.



Recalls Interment

THREE HILLS, Alta. —(CP)— Miss Elizabeth Klein, a nurse at the Three Hills Hospital, was formerly a nurse with the Dutch Missionary Union. She told a meeting here of her internment for four years in a Japanese concentration camp after Java was over-run. Her weight dropped from 150 pounds to 86 in that period.

James M. Rae Receives Degree

JAMES M. RAE

James M. Rae, 29 Crescent St., was one of the 37 students who graduated today from the Canadian Memorial Chiropractic College, Toronto. The graduation exercises were held in Eaton Auditorium this afternoon.

Mr. Rae is a former Navy veteran and was a DVA student at this college which is the only college of its kind in the British Commonwealth. Students, when they complete the four year course, receive their Doctor of Chiropractic degree.

Since its founding in 1945, the Canadian Memorial Chiropractic College has graduated 239 students. Many have been American and Canadian army veterans.

Roseneath YPU Hears Travelogue Account

ROSENEATH, Jan. 11 (ENS)—"Little Visits To Big Cities", a picture travelogue illustrated by slides presented by Rev. R. C. White, was the highlight of the YPU meeting held on Monday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Coyle were host and hostess. The president, Mr. Neil Adams, presided with Mrs. Flex McMillan pianist. Miss Myrna Adams was secretary and there was an attendance of 28 members and visitors.

Mr. Charles Burrison, Gores Landing, was the guest speaker. His subject "Our Trip To Florida" was illustrated by souvenirs, including the fruit of a sausage plant from Florida.

The program and recreational period were in charge of Miss June Linton and George Linton and concluded with a contest.

Lunch was served by the hostess.

Lecturer Records 15,000 Speeches

WINNIPEG — (CP) — Dr. Spencer Elliott, now professor of systematic theology at St. John's Anglican College here, recently delivered the 15,000th of the lectures, sermons and addresses he has given in his lifetime.

Dr. Elliott, who came to Canada in 1938 from England and served as rector of Christ Church Cathedral at Victoria, BC, has recorded each of the addresses by location and subject in nine volumes.

He has preached, lectured or given addresses at Westminster Abbey, St. Paul's Cathedral, in a cave, on board ship and in a number of countries including India, Switzerland, Germany, the United States and Canada. Born in 1883, Dr. Elliott has published several literary works plus a number of pamphlets.

Says Veterinarians Must Be Given Raise

TORONTO, Jan. 11 (CP) —Dr. L. C. Swan of St. Catharines said Wednesday night increased rates of pay for government veterinarians is essential if an adequate staff of trained men is to be maintained in the Domnon Health of Animals Branch.

He told delegates to the annual convention of the Ontario Veterinary Association of which he is president that low salaries paid government veterinarians made such employment unattractive to young graduates.

It was impractical for Ontario taxpayers to spend money training young men in veterinary science only to have them emigrate to the United States where more attractive salaries were offered.

Ghost Fails To Make Debut On Television

LONDON, Jan. 11 (AP)—The ghost of Catherine Howard failed to make her television debut Wednesday night and the BBC was sorry—and just a trifle embarrassed about it.

BBC publicity had held out the promise to the television audience that they might see the ghost of the 20-year-old beauty who became Queen of England and was beheaded by her husband, King Henry VIII.

Television cameras were all primed Wednesday night in the gallery of Hampton court, the historic palace on the Thames, where legend says the ghost of the unhappy queen walks up and down nightly counting up her sorrows.

Audrey Russel, BBC commentator, referred touchingly during the program of the "Pure Little Ghost of Catherine Howard." Miss Russel spoke from the gallery, too. But such honeyed words failed to persuade Catherine Howard to make a show of it.

TWO GENDARMES drag away a demonstrator near Hotel Astoria in Paris, France, recently, during noisy anti-Eisenhower demonstration by some 4,000 Communists in the heart of the city. A concentration of 3,000 policemen arrested about 200 of the demonstrators and kept the others on the move. There was plenty of pushing and shoving but no serious disorder.

New Zealand Sees New Threat Of Inflation In Wool Bonanza

By J. C. GRAHAM

AUCKAND, N.Z.—(CP)—For the first time in its history, New Zealand is seriously worried about over-prosperity.

The rapid rise in wool prices is the cause of the trouble. The Dominion's prosperity depends very largely on dairy produce, meat and wool, its main exports.

For more than a decade prices of these goods have been rising steadily, but wool has shown the most marked increases. In 1932 returns from New Zealand's wool brought only about $18,000,000. Last year they realized $180,000,000, an all-time record.

But this increase has been dwarfed by developments this season. In a single year prices have jumped to about three times their former level and it is conservatively estimated that the season's wool cheque will be at least $450,000,000.

Fear Inflation

Such a jump in a major industry presented New Zealand with the prospect of rampant inflation. Farmers would obviously have far more money than there were goods and services available.

Australia was faced with a similar situation and decided to deduct 20 per cent from farmers' wool cheques and use the money to balance the budget. The New Zealand government called representatives of wool-growers together and assured them that it had no wish whatever to get its hands on their money, apart from the proportion that would normally be paid in taxation. It also acknowledged the opposition of wool-growers to pool accounts such as introduced by the former Labor government for dairy and meat farmers.

Frozen Profits

Instead it proposed that 33 1-3 per cent of all wool cheques be frozen in farmers' individual accounts in the trading banks. This step was approved by the farmers.

The money will not bear interest while frozen, but also it will not be subject to taxation until it becomes available for the farmer to use. Farmers may leave up to 50 per cent of their wool cheques frozen under the same conditions if they wish. It is estimated that the measure will tie up between $120,000,000 and $150,000,000. No period has been fixed for which the money will lie idle, but the position will be reviewed after a year.

Meanwhile a farmers' committee will advise the government on cases of hardship and anomalies. It is taken for granted that hill-country farmers, who need all the money they can get to improve and develop their properties, and ex-servicemen newly settled on farms and in urgent need of capital, will be allowed to use some or all of the frozen portion of their cheques.

Even after the frozen portion has been deducted from cheques, however, wool farmers' incomes will be far above the record levels of last year, and economists think the increase sufficient to seriously disturb the Dominion's economy.

Can Imoprt More

Prime Minister Sidney Holland has announced that the resulting great increase in overseas funds will enable the country to afford a considerable increase in the volume of imported goods. Arrangements are being made to expand import licences substantially and in many cases to abolish import licensing altogether.

Several leading economists and many newspapers are not satisfied that this is going far enough. They are urging strongly that all import licensing, at least from soft currency areas, be abolished.

A further problem plaguing the government is the prospect of a big rise in local prices of woollen goods at a time when it is striving to keep down the cost of living. As a means of cutting state spending the government early this year abolished many subsidies. The prime minister has now stated that the government appears to have no alternative but to use part of the money obtained from increased tax returns from farmers to keep down the cost of woollen goods.

Dots Add Dash In Silks For Spring

Pure silk for spring is interpreted by Eisenberg in these designs. Pure silk surrah in grey with tiny yellow dots fashions a coat dress (left) with gently flared skirt, tucked bodice, three-quarter sleeves. A dress with straight wrap-around skirt (above) is in pink silk surrah with black dots, its overlap bodice fitted, its wing collar notched. The belt is in shiny black patent leather.

Dotted Silk Dresses Rustle Into Spring Fashion Styles

By GAILE DUGAS
NEA Staff Writer

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Silk, in many variations, will rustle enticingly through warm spring days. For silk, in prints, surrahs, taffetas and shantungs, is a big, happy revival in dresses.

The trumpet line leads dress silhouettes this spring. It's used in many variations on the one theme: centre-front trumpet, one-side trumpet and back trumpet. But the tunic is important, too, and so are diagonal and oblique lines.

The costume, a dress with its own jacket or coat, is coming up in importance. Frequently, the tie-in comes through dress fabric which is matched to coat or jacket lining.

Eisenberg uses pure silk surrah in grey, speckled with tiny yellow dots, for a classic spring coat dress. The skirt flares gently; the bodice is tucked. A yellow kid belt encircles the waist. Pearl buttons are used for the front closing, from neck to hemline.

Silk surrah appears again in another dress from this same designer. This time, it's pink dotted in black. A straight wrap-around skirt has jet button closing and is topped by an overlap fitted bodice. The wing collar is notched and sleeves are smartly short. The dress is belted in black patent.

Affirmative Wins Debate On Seasonal Topic

Alpha Theta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi held the first meeting of the new year Monday evening at the Y.W.C.A.

President, Mrs. B. C. Rolfe, was in charge of business and members were asked to attend a work meeting at Mrs. Rolfe's home on Monday, January 15.

Mrs. J. Taylor was in charge of the program and Mrs. H. Goodwin introduced the first speaker, Mrs. Le Foord. In her subject "An Analysis of Absolute Music" Mrs. Foord gave an informative outline of the various forms of absolute music and a comparison of absolute and programme music.

"Has Christmas Become Too Commercialized" was the subject of a lively debate with Mrs. B. C. Rolfe and Mrs. H. Lambert taking the affirmative and Mrs. J. Taylor and Mrs. E. Cochrane the negative. The affirmative side won by a slight margin.

Mrs. H. Goodwin and members of the Social committee served coffee at the close of the evening.

Hastings News

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Johnston were visitors on Monday with the former's sister, Mrs. Warren and Mr. Warren at Cobourg.

Miss Maureen O'Shea, nurse-in-training at Hotel Dieu, Kingston, was a recent visitor with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. A. O'Shea.

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Warner and Mrs. Ellen Warner are spending the winter with the former's son, Mr. D. Warner, Warkworth.

Mr. H. Chennell, Sr., is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walton, Wooster, Ohio.

Mr. Timothy Coughlin, a student at St. Augustine Seminary, Toronto, spent a few days visiting Mr. and Mrs. M. A. O'Shea.

Woman at 106 Prefers 'Good Old Days'

MODERN, N.S. — (CP) — Nova Scotia's oldest resident, who at 106 years of age still enjoys car drives and the movies, thinks the "good old days" were the best.

Mrs. Eliza Whynott was active in housework until she became ill recently.

Born in 1844, she married at the age of 15, and became the mother of 10 children. She now has 101 descendants, including 39 grandchildren, 49 great-grandchildren and nine great-great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Whynott enjoys looking back over her long life. She admits she wore bustles, but she "likes modern day women's clothing."

"In those days," she relates, "the ox cart was the chief means of transportation. There was no electricity and no corner store. Everything was made at home, even our clothing."

As for entertainment, Mrs. Whynott says people 50 years ago went to barn dances and bean shelling parties and "had a lot better time than they do now."

Of Interest to Women

MARY MOORE SAYS:

How to Change Complexion Of Those Mid-January Meals

The perennial January reducers are busy making, and trying to keep, their brave resolutions. I know. I'm one of them.

It does not show though, in the dishes I am serving up to you this time, but if you had had only one-half piece unbuttered whole wheat toast with your four-minute egg and a half grapefruit for breakfast; and, for lunch the same small volume of food, you would not blame me for trying to get some vicarious satisfaction from writing about "verboten" food. For these are "verbotens" if you are slimming seriously.

These are all spaghetti and macaroni dishes—things that will give your meals a new interesting complexion.

✧ ✧ ✧

New Style Swiss Steak with Spaghetti

Buy a whole flank steak which will weigh about 1 to 1½ lbs. and patiently pound it to break the long fibres, with your steak pounder or ordinary strong saucer. As you pound sprinkle a little flour into it. Cut into the same number of pieces as you have folks to serve. Sear these in hot fat in frying pan, and when golden brown, lift out onto plate. To approximately 3 tablespoons fat in pan add 1 tablespoon flour, stir, then stir in 1½ cups boiling water, until thick. Replace meat in gravy, reduce heat to "low simmer," add 1 cup raw carrot dice (¼-inch), 1 cup finely chopped celery, ¼ cup chopped onion, sprinkle with salt and pepper, cover and simmer until all are tender. Meanwhile boil until tender 6 or 8 ounces spaghetti in boiling, salted water. Drain. Spread on hot platter. Lift meat out onto this bed of spaghetti and pour gravy containing the vegetables over.

✧ ✧ ✧

Buttered Noodles with Poppy-seeds

When I serve poppy seeds on noodles I think of them as the perfect accompaniment for Baked Chicken Supreme. But they are unexpectedly good with Veal Fricassee or with cold sliced headcheese or other economical cold cuts.

Boil packaged or homemade noodles in a very large amount of heavily salted water until tender. Drain. Rinse with boiling water, and drain. Put in serving dish which is preheated and add as much butter as your budget will allow—up to ½ cup. One package of noodles needs at least 1 tablespoon poppy seeds sprinkled over top. If the water has contained enough salt no more needs be added. I have a Viennese friend who says poppy seeds should be pounded to a paste and added to the butter and then stirred through the noodles. This tastes better but is not as interesting to look at.

✧ ✧ ✧

Savoury Macaroni Squares (an ingenious meat extender)

One-half lb. broken macaroni, ¼ cup butter or margarine, ¼ cup flour, 1 teaspoon salt, 1½ cups milk, ½ lb. partially sauteed wieners, ¼ lb. cheese cut in small cubes, fresh tomato slices. Cook macaroni in plenty of salted water until tender. Drain and add ½ teaspoon salt. Melt butter, stir in flour, then stir in milk to make thick sauce, add ½ teaspoon salt. Add sauce and sauteed wieners, and cheese to macaroni, mix well, and pour into wax-paper-lined square pan to depth of 1 inch. Cool to room temperature then chill for 6 hours until very cold to touch. Cut into squares of serving portion size. Place on well-greased baking sheet. Pour cheese sauce over (see below) top with slice of fresh tomato, bake at 400 deg. Fahr. for 25 minutes or until golden brown. and hot.

Cheese Sauce: Melt 2 tablespoons margarine add 2 tablespoons flour, stir, then stir in 1 cup milk until thick. Add ½ teaspoon salt and 1 cup well-packed grated old cheese. Stir until very hot.

The above is a very popular dish with men, and children.

GUIDE SHIPS

By maritime tradition buoys showing a conical top should be kept to starboard, or the right; buoys with flat-tops to port.

Designer Paul Parnes stresses the bolero suit for spring. Grey wool and striped taffeta (left) are combined effectively in this slim suit. The mess boy bolero is lined to match the blouse fabric. A button-on blouse of organdy appliqued with white pique (right) tops a slim wrap-around skirt of silver grey sheer wool. Large revers on the jacket are in the fabric of blouse and jacket lining.

Feminine Tailoring Makes Spring Suits More Wearable

By GAILE DUGAS
NEA Staff Writer

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Suits, this spring, are not extreme. No longer do they demand unreasonable things of hips or shoulders; they're notably wearable. There is no severity.

Suits are soft. Even the man-tailored suit, returning to favor, has its classic lines relieved by feminine touches.

While the feminine, fitted suit presents the important silhouette, the boxy, boyish lengths in both long and short lengths is part of the picture. Where the jacket is boxy, the skirt is very narrow.

Grey flannel, all-important last fall, carries on into spring in lighter weights. Beige is emphsized, but this spring it's beige with a rosy or golden cast. Lighter navy is a spring choice and both copper and heather will be worn.

The arched hipline, no longer extreme, appears in many suits. It points up the look of a small waist. One-button suits, heralding the return of man-tailored wear, are here. And asymmetry, achieved through oblique pockets, side closings and draped scarf necklines, appears throughout.

From designer Paul Parnes come handsome soft bolero suits with deft costume touches. One pale grey wool suit has a striped taffeta blouse with the front worked into a huge bow. The blouse, which buttons to the narrow skirt, is matched to the lining of the mess boy bolero.

Silver grey sheer wool is effectively frosted with white organdy appliqued in pique in another design. The organdy is used for both the blouse and for large revers on the bolero jacket of a slim suit with wrap-around skirt. Jacket, too, is lined in the organdy.

Norris-Campbell

ROSENEATH, Jan. 11— (ENS) The wedding was solemnized Saturday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Campbell, Huntsville, when their daughter, Verna May, became the bride of George Allan Norris, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Norris, Roseneath.

The Rev. T. C. Robson was the officiating clergyman. Traditional wedding music was played by Mrs. George May, Huntsville.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a dress of taupe grey crepe with navy accessories and a corsage of talisman roses.

Miss Fern Divinnell of Coldwater was bridesmaid, wearing a royal blue velvet dress with matching accessories and corsage of petal pink 'mums.

Mr. Cloyse Varcoe, Roseneath, attended the groom.

Following the ceremony the bride's mother received wearing a dress of wine crepe, assisted by the groom's mother dressed in royal blue crepe. Both wore corsagese of carnations.

After a honeymoon spent at Western points, the couple will live at Campbellford.

Guests were present from Peterborough, Toronto, Coldwater, Tavilstock, Roseneath and Huntsville.

FALSE TEETH
That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wabbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you! Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH the alkaline (no-acid) powder, on your plates. Holds false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH at any drug store.

PARKHILL SCHOOL

Following a talk by Mrs. A. W. Nelson on "The Aims of Home and School" and "What We Should Expect from Home and School," a round table discussion was held at the Parkhill Association regular meeting Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Nelson, district chairman of the Federation, who was introduced by Mrs. B. Holloway, stressed that members should always be working toward a better understanding between parents and teachers for the betterment of the child. In the discussion, which was led by Mrs. Nelson, the parents had the opportunity of stating their individual needs as far as Home and School is concerned.

The meeting was opened with the president, Mrs. L. Parnall in the chair. In absence of the secretary, Miss C. E. Bailey read the minutes.

Roll call was taken and the prize picture was won by Miss Bailey's room.

A vote of thanks to Mrs. Nelson was moved by president Mrs. L. Parnall, and the meeting was adjourned.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. A. Seppala and her committee.

ST. ANNE'S SCHOOL

Parents who were unable to attand the Christmas concert at St. Anne's school were given an opportunity of seeing part of the splendid performance at the meeting of St. Anne's Parent-Teacher Association Monday, when pupils presented a fine program.

The rhythm band from grade 2, led by Dorothy Lucas, was accompanied by the teacher, Miss M. Neville in two Christmas numbers. Grade 3 presented a folk dance with teacher Mrs. G. Moore accompanying on the violin and Miss Neville at the piano. The contribution from Sister Borgia's room, grade 4, was a three-act play, "Tommy Finds His Star."

A comedy film was then shown.

President Mr. J. P. Hallihan announced a social evening to be held January 12. The attendance prize was won by Mrs. Moore's room with 23 parents present.

Mrs. A. McCormick convened the tea and an enjoyable social hour was spent in the kindergarten room. The children were served ice cream, soft drinks, sandwiches and cookies.

The Rev. F. K. Malane was winner of the Christmas cake drawn for at the school concert.

CONFEDERATION SCHOOL

Mr. Alex Sinclair, director of recreation in Peterborough, was guest speaker at the meeting of Confederation Home and School Association Tuesday evening. In his talk he compared the lack of recreation time at school 100 years ago with the amount allotted on today's curriculum.

The value of teaching team work to overcome selfishness in children was stressed by Mr. Sinclair who had learned this from his experience in a detention hostel. "Recreation is a much cheaper way to build character" he added. Good leadership for the children was also stressed.

Questions about this city's recreation facilities were answered by the speaker.

President Mrs. W. Thompson presided for the business period. Mrs. Cy Whatley, membership convener, announuced a drive for members. Mrs. E. Poole made a bid for more parents to attend education meetings.

A Valentine tea to be held on February 7 in the kindergarten room with social convener Mrs. G. Kiff in charge, was announced.

A motion by Mrs. D. Wood and Mrs. L. Monk which carried unanimously was that the Home and School Association send a request to the Recreation Commission for a rink in the south end of the city.

Mrs. H. Sutton read a paper on the treatment of colds.

Miss Johnston's class won the attendance prize.

A social time followed the business, headed by Mrs. L. Monk and Mrs. C. Porter. Contests and games were enjoyed and Miss B. Snider contributed several piano selections. Mrs. Kiff and her committee served lunch.

RIFLE RANGE SCHOOL

"Fathers' Night" proved to be a genuine success at Rifle Range School, when the male members of the organization took over Monday evening. Mr. E. Davis was in the chair. Devotions were taken by Mr. B. Neely, who chose a poem appropriate for the opening meeting of the year. Mr. B. Amos, acting secretary, read the minutes.

Speaker of the evening, Mr. J. A. Hill, of the teaching staff of Prince of Wales School, spoke on "Recreation and Hobbies." Mr. Hill stated that the primary duty of the school is to train children along specific lines, including a certain amount of citizenship with scholastic subjects. The time used by the child should be apportioned carefully; to work, to play and to recreation. He explained the word recreation as "the wise use of spare time."

As recreation for the small child, he suggested games. For the older boy or girl, hobbies of various kinds were mentioned, including wood-work, metal-work, leather-craft, photography, radio and reading. Regarding the latter Mr. Hill said that it was most important that the parents set a good example when it came to the choice of literature.

One point emphasized strongly was that the child should be trained when young to be interested in hobbies. He should be encouraged in his efforts no matter how clumsy they may seem to the adult. Helpful criticism and unbounded patience will build confidence in the child, and pay dividends in the long run," he said.

In conclusion, the speaker said "Whether our recreation comes through hobbies, reading, or service club work, its purpose is to train, develop and give pleasure. If our spare time is diverted along those channels, the result should be a well-rounded, successful and happy life."

Miss Shirley Flint, a talented young pupil, contributed a tapdance number to the melody of "Five Feet Two," which was played on the piano by Mrs. N. Andrew.

Door prize was won by Mr. G. Hodgson.

Following the adjournment of the meeting, lunch was served by Mr. J. Quinn, assisted by a number of efficient male helpers.

Stress Mauve, Other Pastels For Springtime Party Whirls

By GAILE DUGAS
NEA Staff Writer

NEW YORK —(NEA)—Dresses for both big and little parties this spring will often be mauve. Mauve stressed as an accent color in daytime designs, will see a merry whirl after dark.

The pastels follow mauve and after them, striking combinations of black-and-white.

There are as many short-skirted formals as there are gowns which sweep the floor. The short party dress can be truly formal and when it is, can be worn to the places where grand ball gowns go.

Fabrics for spring are as fragile as the designs they conjure up: embroidered organdy, silk satin, shirred chiffon, taffeta and nylon net.

Designer Ceil Chapman, who is fond of mauve for spring, uses pastels, too. She turns aqua silk satin into a slim-lined evening gown with side-split skirt draped in an obloque line. This is not a topless gown; there are slender straps. The top is draped; the bodice is tight and smooth.

Embroidered white organdy topped by a fitted pink silk taffeta coat is typical of this designer for spring. The coat, with sailor collar and very wide cuffs, tops the full-skirted evening gown, which has a fitted midriff.

Mrs. R. Goodacre Is Winner All-Expense Trip

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Goodacre of 275 McGill St., are going to remember their eighth wedding anniversary possibly with more pleasure than any other in their lives because a great treat is coming up for them on the week-end of January 26 to 29, during which the occasion will be marked.

Mrs. Goodacre is the winner of a four-day, all-expense trip to New York City on her entry to the Ogilvie Flour contest, which was judged the smartest and best of the thousands received from all parts of Canada. She is invited to take along her husband, who has been granted the time off from his job as driver for Smith Transport, and their three children will be cared for in their own home by a baby-sitter provided by the contest offer.

In addition, Mrs. Goodacre is to be outfitted with a latest style short party dress, and the outings planned for them in New York City will give her opportunities to wear it. The couple will appear on radio broadcasts and television, attend shows and be taken on sight-seeing tours. High class rooms are being provided for them in the Plaza Hotel and they will enjoy the luxury of "breakfast in bed" on the first morning.

Such luck as this comes rarely and Mrs. Goodacre, while being envied on all sides, is receiving the congratulations and wishes for full enjoyment of the wonderful weekend from the citizens of Peterborough.

Mrs. S. J. Rowe and Mrs. A. Olmstead took charge of graduation exercises for the boys and girls coming from the Baby Band to the Mission Band. The children were Carol Thompson, Sharon Leonard, Linda Parnell, Mary Ann Kingdon, Karen Gatfield, Frances Kelsey, Allan Kingdon, Donald Ward.

Devotions were taken by the executive, Mrs. R. Powell reading scripture and Mrs. F. Horton leading in prayer.

During a social half hour following, the executive served refreshments.

PTA News

ST. PETER'S PARISH

The Parent-Teachers' Association of St. Peter's Parish, met on Tuesday evening in the Knights of Columbus Hall, with president Mr. W. J. Cunningham as chairman. His Excellency Bishop Berry opened with prayer. Mr. Cunningham welcomed a number of guests from the other PTA units.

Little Anne Collins entertained with two vocal numbers, accompanied by Mrs. J. O'Brien.

Guest speaker was His Excellency Bishop Berry and the Bishop devoted the time to a description of his recent visit to Rome in November. The occasion was the definition of the dogma of the Assumption of the Blessed Virgin in Heaven.

Various steps in the enquiry into that question was dealt with and the petitions addressed to the Pope since 1870 were enumerated. But the principal part of the address described the series of meetings between the Holy Father and Bishops, who with Him constitute the teaching body of the Catholic Church. The semi-public Consistory of October 30 was one step in which the Holy Father, after consulting the Bishops of the world in his letter of 1946 on the teaching commonly given in their jurisdictions, reported the results of such and the basis on which the definition of November 1 would rest.

Considerable time was given to description of the great ceremony of the definition itself. The gathering of some 650 Bishops at one time, the first such occasion since the Council of the Vatican in 1870, the extraordinary acclaim of the seven hundred thousand people crowded into St. Peter's Square the terms in which the dogma was defined; all these items were given withthe detail that an eye-witness can provide. Finally the Papal celebration of the Holy sacrifice in St. Peter's was described, with its blessing of the rites of the Eastern and Western churches.

The latter part of his talk included a description of the general audience accorded to the Bishops by the Pope on November 2nd during which the Holy Father delivered an important address on the needs of the hour in the ministry of the Church. Afterward the Pope mingled among the assembled Cardinals for 40 minutes and held private conversations that were, for many of the Cardinals, their only opportunity of seeing the Head of the Church at this time, he said.

Parent attendance prizes were won by Grade three of St. Peter's School and room six of St. Mary's School.

Luncheon was served by Mrs. D. J. Emery and Mrs. P. J. Anglesey, social conveners, and the room mothers, Mrs. R. MacPherson, Mrs. R. Armitage, Mrs. T. Pearson, Mrs. G. Hearn, Mrs. J. Marino, Mrs. J. Legris Mrs. J. Rutherford and Mrs. A. Rose.

FUNNY BUSINESS -- By Hershberger

"No more slipping on the soap—my husband fixed it so he can take his shower sitting down!"

DOROTHY DIX

How Can Young Man Meet Right Girl In Strange City?

DEAR MISS DIX: The girl I would like to marry must be physically attractive. She must have a charming personality. She must be intelligent. She must have common sense. She must have a sense of humor and be fun-loving. She must be domestic. But where am I going to meet such a girl? That's the rub.

Probably it is true that this type of girl is at home most of the time, but how can I find that home or how gain admittance if I did? Parties and dances do little good to the girls who are not asked, and the girl who is asked owes her escort the right to her company and the obligation of not prowling around for new acquaintances.

Dorothy Dix

Our social codes, in so far as they relate to introductions and acquaintances, were designed for simple and small communities where every one grew up knowing everyone else. But today, if we live in cities, there is no community life and the family across the street are as much strangers as if they lived in another land. This makes it very difficult for young people of the opposite sex to meet under suitable conditions.

GEORGE.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: This exceedingly interesting letter presents a problem with which both the church and the social agencies have grappled with but poor success. For the cities are filled with fine young people who have come from communities in which they knew everybody. They are dying of lonesomeness and the desire to meet other girls and boys of their own kind and to have some of the clean fun to which they have been accustomed. Nobody seems able to devise a way in which this can be properly done. And so the youngsters who might be friends who might be the ideal that each seeks, pass each other by like ships in the night without ever being able to give a hail.

No Set Answer

But this does not answer my correspondent's question of how, in a world full of girls, he is to find the particular one that he desires and who has the qualifications that he wants in a wife and, alas, neither I nor any one else can tell him down what road to ride on his search, or on what doors to knock.

Certainly there are plenty of such girls as he desires for a wife —good-looking, charming, domestic girls who would be real helpmeets to any man, girls who are eager to marry but who have as little chance of finding him as he has of finding them. They are waiting while he passes by on the other side of the street.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I have a friend who is a good woman, but she has a son she is ruining and who will break her heart later on unless s[illegible] stopped from treating h[illegible] e does. She has worship[illegible] so that he thinks he is t[illegible] important person in the [illegible] She has spoiled him until [illegible] selfish that he thinks eve[illegible] must be granted immediat[illegible] She manages all of his affa[illegible] follows him on the telephone so [illegible] knows his whereabouts every minute, acts as his valet when he dresses, waits up and tucks him in bed. The boy is good-looking, intelligent, and has an especially nice personality. He's not physically fit for the service, he can't keep a job, and now that he is facing the world it is rocking under him and he is going to pieces. Is there any way that you can suggest to make his mother realize that she is ruining him?

A FRIEND.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: You cannot convince a possessive mother of the fact that she is possessive, or make her realize that by keeping her child tied to her apron string she is doing him the worst possible harm that she can do to him.

Her alibi, in the first place, is that she isn't possessive and, in the second place, that she is doing it for the child's good.

If anyone told her that by keeping her children in a state of perpetual babyhood she was doing a worse thing than if she bound their feet so they couldn't walk, or did something to their brains that turned them into morons, or put some pressure on their bodies that would stunt their growths so they would be dwarfs, she would be horrified. But when a mother deliberately unfits her children for life by making them dependent upon her, by never letting them use their own judgments, by never forcing any responsibility on them, she is committing a crime that is far worse than any physical handicap she could put upon them.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: When a boy and girl marry should they destroy all letters, pictures and souvenirs from former sweethearts?

MARIE.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Certainly when people marry they should destroy all letters, pictures and souvenirs of former sweethearts, and they should quit talking about their former loves.

Variations on the spring coat story are shown in these designs. Philip Mangone creates a coat (left) in frosty white light-weight wool with small rolled collar and dramatic cuffs of smoky silver fox. Back has diamond-shaped fullness. A three-quarter length plaid coat by Vera Maxwell (center), has cuffed push-up sleeves, stand-up collar and wool jersey lining. It's in British wool. A coat, blouse and skirt costume by Pauline Trigere is in black-and-white salt-and-pepper tweed. Coat is piped in black velvet, has full back, turned-back, curving cuffs. Skirt is straight and black linen blouse is piped in black velvet.

Soft Collared Narrow Cut In Trend of Sheath Dresses

By GAILE DUGAS
NEA Staff Writer

NEW YORK —(NEA)— The narrow coat is the new coat this spring. It's companion to the sheath dress. Its cut is straight, and frequently this coat is belted. The severity of this straight line is softened by bloused sleeves, by big, soft collars and by scarf necklines.

But the loose cut with fullness is not gone yet. Designers know that women like the look of the pyramid coat so it's carrying over into spring.

There are fitted coats for spring, too, most often in the trumpet silhouette. The topper is new-looking in a barrel cut with curving contour. And there are more coats on the ensemble basis.

It seems that spring 1951 will be another navy spring. But new coats are also shown in black, in a greyed blue, in beige, violet and grey.

Sleeve treatments are significant in coat design this spring. They're bloused, loose, wide, short and cuffed. Often they're the push-up variety, allowing for change in glove lengths.

From Philip Mangone comes a spectacular coat in light-weight basket weave wool. The lines are simple and fluid. There's a small rolled collar and the back has a diamond-shaped fullness. Smoky silver fox is rolled into huge, dramatic cuffs.

Cuffed push-up sleeves appear in a plaid coat by Vera Maxwell. This is a three-quarter length coat with stand-up collar and rounded shoulders. Its lining is solid color wool jersey, for contrast.

The ensemble appears in a Pauline Trigere design, a black-and-white salt-and-pepper tweed. A perfectly straight skirt is topped by a matching coat piped in black velvet. The coat has curved cuffs and a full back. A blouse, in black linen, is also piped in black velvet.

Italian Girl Big Hit In Crosby Film

HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — A shy, slim 13-year-old girl from Italy—Anna Maria Alberghetti—has stepped right in opposite Bing Crosby in her American movie debut.

Not that she's going to take over as Crosby's leading lady. But her singing of 'Cara Nome" from Verdi's "Rigoletto" is tabbed as a high-spot of Der Bingle's forthcoming film, "Here Comes the Groom."

Anna Marie is the little girl who, completely unheralded, came to New York and aroused the big town's blase music critics in her Carnegie Hall debut last April. "The voice of an angel," was the consensus.

The same opinion, it would seem, is shared at Paramount by those who heard her big scene in the picture. She plays the role of a blind war orphan brought to this country by Crosby, this time a foreign correspondent. She sings the aria at a try-out arranged by Bing. No one knows she is blind until she stumbles against a table, going off-stage.

Even though the music had been recorded and dubbed in beforehand, cameramen and grips were observed blowing their noses heartily after the scene. Director Frank Capra calls it "one of my most effective scenes."

Remarkable Voice

Quiet, self - contained Anna Marie seems to be taking success in stride. Just barely five feet and 95 pounds, the dark-eyed girl has been trained by her singing teacher-father, Daniele Alberghetti, since she was six years old. She can send her coloratura notes soaring 2½ octaves to G over high C, but her practices and appearances are being strictly limited by her father to avoid strain.

Anna Maria, busy studying English, does much of the interpreting for her family. Her mother, who is her accompanist, and sister Carla, 11, and brother Paolo, six, also are here. She was born in Pesaro, a town of 50,000 in northern Italy.

It was exciting to be in a picture with Crosby, she said adding: "I saw many of his cinemas in Italy." This, however, is not her first picture. Just before returning here, she sang in the film version of Gian-Carlo Menotti's "The Medium," recently completed in Italy. "A wonderful little girl," says Crosby.

A concert tour starting in January is the only definite item on Anna Maria's 1951 agenda, although an operatic offer is being considered by her father.

"It would be wonderful, wouldn't it," he said, "if she becomes the youngest to sing at the Metropolitan, in the Rome Opera, and La Scala, Milan."

—In Memoriams

BANNON—In loving memory of a dear wife and mother, Mary Ethel Bannon, who passed away two years ago, January 11, 1949.
Calm and peaceful she is sleeping
Sweetest rest that follows pain,
We who loved her, sadly miss her,
But trust in God to meet again.
—Ever remembered by husband and family.

GLAUM—In loving memory of J. H. Glaum, who passed away January 11, 1947.
There is a link death cannot sever
God's love and remembrance last forever."
—Always remembered by wife and family.

ROGERS—In loving memory of a dear husband and father, James Rogers, who passed away one year ago today.
Silent thought, a secret tear,
Keeps his memory ever dear.
Time takes away the edge of grief,
Memory turns back every leaf.
—Ever remembered by his family.

—Cards of Thanks

We, and Mrs. William Whawell and family, R.R. 11, Peterborough, wish to thank their many friends and neighbors, fire and police department, Kaye funeral home and Major Everitt for their many thoughtful acts of kindness during their recent sad bereavement.

WEST-END
For those who are thinking of Building in that new Sub-Division, here is something made to order. This new Home is not completely finished, although you can move in to-morrow. It is a bevel-sided 5-Room Bungalow with Three Bedrooms and lovely large Livingroom. There is a natural brick fireplace and forced hot air oil heating unit. No garage, but you could squeeze one in on the 83' x 210' lot. $3,400 down is required.

BUILDER'S DREAM
This new Rug Brick Bungalow was built by the contractor as an advertisement for his business, and the result is perfection. A centre hall leads from the large living-room to three bedrooms and isolates the sleeping quarters completely. Grade level side entrance gives access to the large modern kitchen lined with plenty of cupboard space. The clear, high basement was designed for a recreation room and contains the oil-fired forced hot air heating unit. Down payment, $2,500.

Counties Assessor?

COBOURG, Jan. 11 —(ENS)— Members of the Northumberland and Durham Counties Council will gather here on Tuesday night next to elect a warden. One matter which the January session will not have on the agenda this year, is the counties assessor. The appointment of a counties assessor came up at one session after another, but at the closing session of last year counties council finally appointed a man to that post. It is expected that it will take five years to re-assess the counties.

Woman Improving After Fracturing Hip

CAVAN, Jan. 11—(ENS)—Mrs. Robert Morton, of the seventh line, Cavan, is in Peterborough hospital with a fractured hip, suffered when she fell on the ice near her home Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Morton was walking to the mail box by her home when she fell. She was unable to move and was forced to lie on the icy road for three-quarters of an hour until a neighbor, Walter Coyte, found her and carried her to her house.

Dr. J. W. Wright of Millbrook took her to Civic hospital in Peterborough. Her condition is reported to be satisfactory.

Hand-Towel Slaying Brings 20 Years

HULL, Que., Jan. 11 (CP) — John Ralph Hooper, 27, of Ottawa, was sentenced today to 20 years imprisonment for manslaughter in the hand-towel slaying of an Ottawa woman in a Hull hotel last March.

Hooper originally was charged with the murder of 25-year-old Gertrude Marion Davis, whose nude body was found on a bed in a third-floor room of the dingy hotel on the day of March 29.

Her body was discovered some hours after Hooper and the girl had checked in as man and wife. Police said she had ben strangled with a dampened towel knotted tightly about the neck.

Two Ontario Plowmen Enter English Matches

LONDON, Jan. 11 (CP)—Two champion plowmen from Ontario —Hugh Leslie of Georgetown and Herbert Jarvis of Agincourt—made plans today for a series of plowing matches in Cornwall and Northern Ireland.

Here for a six-week stay, Leslie and Jarvis won their trip to Britain as first prize in an international plowing match. They arrived in London last night.

Labor Council Asks For Price Controls

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Jan. 11 (CP) — Imposition of price controls to ease the suffering of Canadians from high prices was favored today by the Niagara District Trades and Labor Council. President George Pay charged that the government is sidestepping the issue since the need for price controls is greater now than at the beginning of the Second World War.

Atlantic Gales Delay RAF Cadets Departure

LONDON, Jan. 11 — (CP). — Atlantic gales delayed the departure today of 28 RAF cadet pilots scheduled to arrive in Canada Saturday for aircrew training. An aircraft waited at London Airport to fly the cadets to Montreal, but two hours after the scheduled take-off time the pilots were told their flight had been postponed until tomorrow.

A Grim Honor

NEW YORK, Jan. 11—(AP)— Some American will have the grim honor—probably within the next 12 months—of becoming the 1,000,000th traffic death victim since 1900 in the United States. The Association of Casualty and Surety Companies made the forecast today and called the unfortunate person "Victim X." The association said nearly 964,000 persons have died in traffic accidents since 1900 and that the 1,000,000th victim probably will be recorded next December or early next January.

35 Students Hurt

BRIDGEWATER, N.S., Jan. 11 (CP)—Thirty-five students riding in a school bus were slightly injured today when the bus was in collision with a truck on the Annapolis River bridge, between Bridgewater and Annapolis.

Two of the students are in hospital in Middleton, but both are expected to be released later today.

Saved From Lynching

HAVANA, Cuba, Jan. 11 (AP) —Police saved a bus driver from lynching Wednesday after he wrecked his bus, killing a nine-month-old girl and her grandmother. Five passengers were injured.

Courtesy Appreciated

LONDON —(CP)— Nurses in a London hospital who cycle to work sent Christmas cards to busmen on five different routes thanking them for "so much elbow room on the road and in sincere appreciation of never-failing kindness and courtesy."

Crabs Replace Crows

CROMER, Norfolk, England — (CP)—Fishermen believe crows are unlucky but there are three on the town's coat of arms. The council will substitute a crab design for the birds and the outlay will be covered by a firm that wants to use the town crest on souvenirs.

Monty Laughlin Heads Engineers

TORONTO, Jan. 11 — (CP)— W. H. M. (Monty) Laughlin, Toronto consulting engineer, has been elected president of Ontario's 12,000-member Association of Professional Engineers. He succeeds E. V. Buchanan, Public Utilities manager in London.

O. D. Johnston was elected first vice-president and J. Herbert Smith second vice-president. Both are of Toronto.

Branch officers elected:

Civil—J. L. Lang, Sault Ste. Marie; R. C. McMordie and W. L. Sagar, Toronto.

Chemical and metallurgical — C. K. Fraser, Peterborough; R. M. P. Hamilton, Toronto; D. S. Simmons, Sarnia.

Electrical—A. M. Doyle and A. W. Murdock, Toronto; O. W Titus, Leaside.

Mechanical and industrial — G. Ross Lord (formerly of Peterborough) and J. R. Montague, Toronto; L. C. Sentance, Hamilton.

Mining—J. W. Baker, Virginiatown; A. E. Cave, Geraldton; M. W. Hotchkin, Kirkland Lake.

Girl 19 Missing From Trenton Home

TRENTON, Jan. 11. — Police here are looking for 19-year-old Joyce Trumble, who has been missing from her home since midnight Monday.

The girl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. Trumble, had been ill for several months. In addition to an eye ailment, police said, she had suffered a nervous breakdown.

Joyce left home at midnight, Jan. 8, wearing a full-length wine-colored coat and galoshes. She is described as blond, with blue eyes and a pug nose. She is 5 feet 4 inches tall.

Dump-Truck Stalled In Coboconk, 2 Hurt

LINDSAY, Jan. 11—(A half-ton pickup truck was demolished near Coboconk when it plowed under the rear of a dump truck. Two of the pickup truck passengers were injured.

The dump truck had stalled on the main street of the village and John Weaver, driving the pickup, did not see it as he drove through. Allan Wells, one of the passengers, received a broken nose and cuts, and the other, Richard Tuft, suffered back and leg injuries. Weaver was unhurt.

Controls On Prices But Not On Wages

CREEMORE, Ont., Jan. 11 (CP) —Walter Thomson, Ontario Liberal leader, said yesterday he believes controls should be placed on prices but not on wages.

"Under the Ontario Labor law, we already have a form of control over wages," he told the Dufferin-Simcoe Liberal Association. Labor unions seeking increases usually went through a lengthy process of certification, wage talks and conciliation.

"Manufacturers may raise the price of a commodity with a snap of the fingers. Without conciliation or agreement, prices shoot up overnight."

Attacker Breaks Stick Over Woman's Head

ST. CATHARINES, Jan. 11 — (CP)—Swinging a thick stick, a young man attacked Mrs. Jeannette Watson as she was on her way to her home last night after a bingo game. He broke the stick over her head and snatched her purse.

Her screams attracted the attention of C. H. Arthur. He chased the attacker but the younger man soon outdistanced him.

Mrs. Watson suffered heavy bruises to her head.

Draws His Pension

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 11 (AP)— Dr. Francis E. Townsend, 84, who gained fame as an advocate of an old-age pension system, Wednesday applied for his own old-age pension with the Social Security Administration. The Social Security Bureau said Dr. Townsend and his wife will draw a joint pension of $105 a month. The retired physician is entitled to federal social security payments as an employee of his own pension organization which was incorporated in 1933.

Optimistic Outlook Prevails With Everyone At TB Clinic

By JACK SCOTT

I have had what the doctors call virus pneumonia. This can be a pretty nasty business, but, personally, I found it a delightful illness. The name itself has an ominous ring to it, thus earning you more sympathy than you deserve (and an extra week away from the office). Its most dramatic effect is a deep, dark lethargy, which comes naturally to me anyway.

My moments of pain, such as it was, were limited to a strict schedule of 10 a.m. and 4.30 p.m. when an efficient and charming representative of the Victorian Order of Nurses speared me briskly in the behind with shots of streptomycin. My days were spent sleeping, reading and turning the other cheek.

Indeed, the three-week session would hardly be worth mentioning at all except that it exposed me to something with a more ominous ring to it. One day my doctor dropped in, bearing some X-ray pictures of my chest. I could make nothing of them. They looked like underwater pictures of an old sunken wreck. To the doctor, however, they were less picturesque.

"Nothing to be alarmed about," he said, a phrase which instantly alerted my suspicions, "But I think you'd better drop in to the tuberculosis control clinic. There's a spot here we don't like."

Afterwards when I thought about it, I wondered how many men and women have had their lives cleaved suddenly in two by just such a seemingly casual remark. The doctor's tone of voice was elaborately offhand, but in my weakened condition it sounded like a tolling of bells.

Health Clinic

In the next couple of weeks I got straightened out on a lot of cobwebby mid-Victorian ideas about T.B. One day soon I propose to expound on that thesis here.

At the clinic, itself, I found a positive, optimistic outlook with everything as matter-of-fact as a dentist's office and the one, firm idea that the disease can and will be licked.

A suspect case goes on to a kind of diagnostic assembly line, with questionnaires, blood samples, X-rays and other tests. I had the strong and pleasant feeling of being in good hands.

Still, hospitals of any kind give me a feeling of melancholy and this big, efficient clinic is no exception. The reason, I suspect, is that no effort is ever made to separate the sick from the well. From the moment he enters the door, the hospital visitor is cast into a strange world of ether smells and patients being trundled along on those go-carts, headed for heaven knows what. The result is bound to induce a certain amount of gloom.

One of my fellow suspect cases, a gent who seemed to be preparing himself to hear nothing but the worst, spoke of this in the dressing room. To reach this room we had gone down a corridor, the doors of which opened on various tableaux, not exactly the kind of thing to bolster the morale of a man perched precariously between good health and illness.

"Why don't hospitals keep up with the times?" this fellow asked glumly. "Why, if you go to a garage they take you into the show room, not out to the back shop."

I mention the criticism merely in passing, since it's one I've felt for many years, but the mechanics of the clinic, from what I saw, struck me as marvellously efficient. In these days when the whole world seems rushing pell mell to self-destruction it's a fine feeling to meet up with some men (and women) in white quietly dedicated to keeping us alive.

Nice People

I hate to sound like an old softy, but an experience like this has a definite mellowing effect on the flintiest of characters.

It is all very well to cast yourself in the role of the rugged individualist, but when you're struck down by an unrelenting germ you begin to appreciate some of the old-fashioned, taken-for-granted neighborliness of people.

In our particular case my illness coincided with setting up house again after our cross-country trip.

Life suddenly became very hectic and confusing. Then the telephone began to ring with offers of help, sometimes from people unknown to us, and hardly a day went by that there wasn't some reminder that the world is full of a large number of very nice people indeed.

It is about as rewarding a discovery (or re-discovery) as you are likely to make in these grim days.

Stricken By Coal Gas Two In Hospital

LINDSAY, Jan. 11.—Carl Lywood of St. Paul St., and his housekeeper, Mrs. Julia Hanly, were taken to Ross Memorial Hospital Wednesday, the victims of coal gas.

Neighbors, worried because they hadn't seen the aged couple for a day, called police, firemen and doctors. Mrs. Hanly was lying unconscious on the kitchen floor; Mr. Lywood was in bed. An inhalator had to be used to revive him. Both are reported in critical condition.

Mrs. J. Sharp Funeral Held In Oshawa

Mrs. John Sharp, 77, of East Whitby township, is being buried today in Mount Lawn cemetery, Oshawa. She died Tuesday in Oshawa hospital after a sudden illness.

Mrs. Sharp was the former Clara Allison, a sister of Cameron Allison, Park St. North, Peterborough. She was born in Hope township but was a resident of East Whitby for the last 50 years.

She leaves three daughters, a son, four brothers, 14 grandchildren and three great grandchildren. Her husband John Sharp died in 1932.

Miss Catherine Behan

Requiem Mass for the late Miss Catherine Behan, 87, of Warkworth was said today at St. Jerome Roman Catholic Church by the Rev. Herbert Fitzgerald. Pallbearers were Ambrose English, Paul Gorman, Thomas Lynch, John Greenly, James Dingman and Thomas Convey. Burial was at St. Jerome Cemetery.

Miss Behan died on Monday at the home of her niece, Mrs. Richard Kelleher of RR 1, Hastings, following a short illness. She was a resident of the district for many years and leaves one sister, the Rev. Sister Mary Joseph of Mount St. Joseph, Peterborough, two nieces and five nephews.

"I see the O'Malleys bought that house on Melrose Street."

Although Mr. and Mrs. Reader are glad to know about the O'Malleys, they have a lot of other things on their minds, problems right in their own home: Is this a good time to trade in the old car? Are we carrying enough insurance on the house? What shall we have for Sunday dinner?

Legion Starts Big Campaign For Nation-Wide Conscription

UN Planes, Artillery Drive 6,000 Reds Off Wonju Height

TOKYO, Jan. 12—(AP)—Allied air attacks and artillery barrages drove off a 6,000-man North Korean force today after it had seized a dominant height and poured withering fire into American lines just south of Wonju. An AP field dispatch said the two North Korean regiments at nightfall were disappearing into the hills. With the flight of the Reds, Allied units moved back onto the commanding hill. The Allies's northernmost line in central Korea — extending in horseshoe shape within less than two miles of Wonju—remained intact.

Eleven B-29 bombers cascading heavy explosives in close support of the embattled Americans aided in routing the enemy. Ground and carrier-based fighters rocketed and machine-gunned the Communists and showered them with jellied-gasoline fire bombs.

The 2nd division artillery laid down a shattering barrage.

Part of Wonju, the field dispatches said, was wiped out by the air and artillery action.

But the American position near Wonju still was in grave peril.

Another Communist force swept wide around the American line and set up a road block on a vital supply highway 31 miles southeast of Wonju.

Drive Deep Wedge

This Red force, possibly 20,000 strong, drove a deep wedge in the allies' central Korean positions protecting the Taejon-Taegu withdrawal route for the Eighth Army toward the old Pusan beachhead.

Brisk fighting swirled north and west of Tanyang, a rail terminal 37 miles southeast of Wonju.

The Communists set up their road block near Ochi, a town on the main road between Tanyang and Chungju 22 miles to the west. They poured fire on allied vehicles carrying supplies to the 2nd division farther north.

Allied patrols rushing out to clear the supply road got into road mines. Then the Reds attacked.

Another vanguard patrol of the Communist flanking force tangled with allied troops northeast of Tanyang.

The Eighth Army did not report the results of either skirmish. It reported there were at least 1,000 Communist troops along the Tanyang-Chungju highway.

If Tanyang should fall, an important retreat route for allied troops would be lost. There is only one other road available to the hard-fighting 2nd division if it is forced to retreat from its exposed position near Wonju.

As the fight for Wonju intensified, Chinese Communist troops masses poured south from the Seoul area and west toward the Wonju sector.

Their aim obviously was to hit U.N. lines frontally and, if possible, trap the 2nd division around Wonju.

Allied planes caught thousands of the Reds in the open. At dusk pilots claimed to have killed or wounded 2,500 enemy troops in the last 24 hours.

But the Reds were getting in some air strikes of their own.

Truman Asks Huge Boost In U.S. Taxes

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12 (AP).—President Truman today called on Congress to boost taxes this session by "very much more" than the $8,000,000,000 combined total of the last two increases.

Truman, in his annual economic message, notified the Congressmen that the United States' security will demand lending and spending authority totalling $140,000,000,000 for this fiscal year and next. The present fiscal year runs out next July 1.

As he set it out, this total would be for actual military and foreign-aid spending plus contracting, lending and loan guaranteeing authority for national security purposes. Other government expenses would be in addition to this.

Truman said workers must accept wage restraints and business men must accept lower profits—that no one should seek to hike his income to escape his share of the higher tax burden.

He told the legislators, too, that 1,000,000 more men and women may be added to the armed forces within a few months. The military manpower goal has been a force of 3,200,000 by June 30, but only today this figure was raised to 3,462,205.

Truman said it should be the first principle of policy to "maintain a balanced budget, and to finance the cost of national defence on a 'pay-as-we-go' basis." He added:

Higher Taxes All Around

"Corporations should pay much higher taxes. Individuals should pay much higher taxes. Excise taxes should be higher and more extensive."

Truman said new tax proposals soon will be submitted to Congress carrying these recommendations as well as recommendations for closing "many loopholes" in present tax laws.

He also informed Congress that staffs are being rapidly gathered to apply "broader controls" over prices and wages.

Police Guarding Ballot Boxes

WINDSOR, Jan. 12 — (CP). — Mayor Arthur J. Reaume ordered a police guard on city ballot boxes Thursday after three days during which the boxes were unguarded in the city hall basement.

The boxes, stacked in cupboards behind sealed doors, were guarded 24 hours a day from the December 6 election to the final day of the recount, which re-elected Mayor Reaume.

The Mayor said he told City Clerk C. V. Waters to release the guard Tuesday, but had the police replaced Thursday when "I found out that there is the chance that action for another election can be started up to one month from the time I took office."

Mayor Reaume was sworn into office Monday after a recount reversed the earlier count that had given Thomas R. Brophey the mayor's chair for eight days.

Meanwhile, Bruce J. S. Macdonald, solicitor for Mr. Brophey, said there was no decision yet on whether to ask for a new election.

Fireball Meteorite Shatters Four Stores

MELBOURNE, Jan. 12—(Reuters)—A fireball meteorite shattered stores in an outlying Melbourne suburb when the city's heat wave broke today.

Lightning and wind left a trail of damaged roofs and trees.

The temperature quickly dropped 25 degrees from 104.

Eyewitnesses said the "fireball" came from the sea. There was a vivid flash and roar. Black smoke rose from four stores.

Corrugated iron and planks were lifted 45 feet into the air. Windows caved in to the freak cyclone which banked up floods in the streets.

U.S. Accepts Truce Plan, Russia Stalls

Immediate Cease-Fire First Proposal All Forces Withdrawn

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., Jan. 12 (AP)—The United Nations drove toward a vote today on a final peace bid to Communist China, offering a political conference on far eastern problems in return for a cease-fire in Korea.

The United States accepted the plan. Russia, in what seemed to be a stall for time, expressed coolness toward it.

Non - Communist spokesmen made it plain that if Peiping rejects this offer the Reds can expect no further overtures and the war will go on.

Diplomats here held little hope that China's Communists would agree to the proposals. They felt, however, the effort was worth while if only as a demonstration that the U.N. had explored the last possible avenue to peace.

5-Point Plan

The five-point plan, drafted by cease-fire commission members Nasrollah Entezam of Iran, Sir Benegal N. Rau of India, and Canada's External Affairs Minister L. B. Pearson, will be put before the 60-member political committee in a resolution this afternoon.

The plan then will be submitted to the Red Chinese regime as soon as the Assembly approves it.

It calls for:

1—An immediate cease-fire with safeguards insuring that it will not be used as a screen for mounting a new offensive.

2—When a cease-fire is obtained, whether through formal arrangements or as "a result of a lull in hostilities pending some such arrangement, advantage should be taken of it to pursue consideration of further steps to be taken for the restoration of peace."

3—All non-Korean forces to be withdrawn in stages from Korea. Appropriate arrangements, in accordance with UN principles, will be made for the Korean people to express their own free will in respect of their future government.

4—Appropriate interim arrangements to be made for the administration of Korea, pending the establishment of the new Korean government.

5—As soon as agreement has been reached on a cease-fire, the U.S. ACCEPTS

Rescue Teams Guard Thames

LONDON, Jan. 12—(Reuters)—Rescue teams stood along the upper reaches of the Thames today as the swollen river threatened to flood seven towns.

Even though the rain of the last few days had given way to blue skies, the river was still rising and spreading flood waters across low-lying areas.

Danger spots were Oxford, Reading, Abingdon, Henley, Maidenhead, Windsor and Staines. People there were warned to stand by to evacuate if the floods got worse.

A river board official said that a rainless 24 hours could save these towns.

KOREAN YOUNGSTERS FED BY PPCLI —To veterans of the 2nd Battalian Princess Patricias now in Korea, starving children bring back memories of the underfed youngsters they encountered during their service on the continent in the Second World War. Their camp, near Pusan, is daily besieged by children of all ages who peer through the barbed wire surrounding the area. No words are needed to say what the undernourished tykes are after as they scramble to any Canadian soldier seen with a parcel or food in his hand. Here, Private Steve Towstego, of Saskatoon, on guard duty, passes out a leg of chicken he had saved from his dinner. He had the chicken wrapped in a discarded song sheet.

Send Signal To Commence Blitz Against Ottawa, Coast-to-Coast Pressure

Registration, Training In Reserve Army Proposed by War Veterans; Charge Shortage of Military Equipment

OTTAWA, Jan. 12—(CP)—The Canadian Legion, voice of 300,000 veterans, sent out the signal today for a nation-wide blitz campaign designed to overcome Cabinet objections and bring compulsory military service into effect in Canada. The Dominion command of the country's leading veterans organization announced it is calling on 2,200 Legion branches to besiege members of parliament with demands for compulsory part-time training in the reserve forces.

The coast-to-coast attack is being timed to strike in the first week of parliament's new session, starting Jan. 30.

Legion leaders, in a memorandum now being circulated, charged that there is "a serious shortage" of military equipment, "including even boots and clothing," in Canada but argued that this only makes more urgent the need for immediate action to improve the situation.

Take Up Fight

Their call for conscription is expected to be echoed shortly in one form or other by another important veterans group, the conference of defence associations, now meeting here. It consists of senior wartime officers now back in civilian life.

In parliament's first week, the Legion memorandum calls on every branch to do three things to "focus public attention on the urgent need for immediate government action."

These include special meetings, open to the public; wires to the local M.P. to tell him of the meetings and that the Legion is looking for his active support; sending word to national headquarters of steps taken so a concentrated attack can be mounted here.

Race Winnings Taxable Board Decides

OTTAWA, Jan. 12—(CP)—Racetrack winnings are taxable when betting is an integral part of the taxpayer's business, the Income Tax Appeal Board ruled today in a decision breaking new ground in this country.

Board member Fabio Monet, in handing down that decision, also expressed the view that track losses under the same circumstances should be deductible from taxable income. However, that point was not part of the case at issue.

Up to now, the government had not sought to levy on track winnings. Nor had it permitted deductions for losses at the betting wickets.

The Board's verdict was handed down in the case of James Badame, a Toronto horseman who beat the horses for $8,435 in 1947 and $4,907 in 1948 and tried to have these amounts subtracted from his taxable income. The board turned him down.

Becomes Law

Mr. Monet's decision on the taxability of winnings now becomes law unless it should be reversed on appeal to the Exchequer Court. His opinion on the question of deducting track losses is not binding, and that point remains to be ruled on in any later case in which it is involved specifically.

In his decision, he emphasized that the taxability of track winnings depended on their having been earned as an integral part of the tax-payer's business or occupation. Casual betting was not included.

In this case, it was shown that Mr. Badame raised and raced his own horses and had no other occupation except handling his horses and betting.

Hornepayne Gets Crown As Coldest Spot

SUDBURY, Jan. 12—(CP)—The title of coldest spot in Canada, worn for years with icy dignity by the town of White River—250 miles north of here—has been challenged.

A partisan of Hornepayne, another railway town 50 miles farther north, has labelled White River's only claim to fame as "the greatest publicity fraud of the century." Reg. Pitt, columnist for the Sudbury Star, claims to have records to prove it's much, much colder in Hornepayne.

Pitt tells today the results of a survey, conducted with the help of Carmen Rajotte, the Star's Hornepayne correspondent. Miss Rajotte sent in a record of temperature readings taken every day throughout December in the early-morning hours.

Pitt compared her figures with corresponding Dominion weather office records for White River, and the "coldest spot" looked like a Florida beach resort by comparison.

On a day when White River registered a mere 18 degrees below zero, the Hornepayne thermometer hit 39 below. When it dropped to 30 below in White River, it was 42 below in Hornepayne. While White River residents sweltered in a balmy 10-below breeze, their Hornepayne rivals shivered proudly in a 36-below gale.

Pitt says his records are locked away "to escape the fate of the Stone of Scone." But he demands credit where credit is due, even if it means changing Hornepayne's name to Blizzard Gulch or Snowdrift Valley.

Woman Suffers Fractured Skull

Thrown from her car in a collision at Sherbrooke and Aylmer Sts. about 1.15 p.m. today, Miss Alice E. Johnson, 52, of 303 Pearl Ave., suffered a fractured skull and concussion.

She was rushed to Civic Hospital by Kaye's ambulance.

Driver of the other car, Lorne Magee, 127 Bethune St. said Miss Johnson's car, travelling west on Sherbrooke St., went through the stop sign at Aylmer St. without even slowing down.

Magee was travelling south on Aylmer St.

Miss Johnson's car ended up against the southwest curb facing north and Magee's car was facing west about the middle of the intersection.

There were a few drops of blood in the back seat of the Johnson car and a smear of blood on the west edge of the sidewalk about three feet from the car.

Magee said as soon as his car stopped he jumped out and ran to the Johnson car. He saw there was no one in it and when he rounded the front of it, he saw Miss Johnson, and employee of the Outram and Co. tobacco wholesalers, lying beside the car. She was unconscious.

Draft Men, Women Over 17 As Hong Kong Gets Jitters

HONG KONG, Jan. 12—(AP)—This Crown Colony adjoining Communist China had a collective case of war-fear nerves today. Officials ordered all British subjects—men and women—to be prepared for immediate military call and the rumor mart began churning out wild reports.

There were these developments:

1. The government said all British subjects above age 17 are required to register for the service of the Empire by Feb. 1. It applies to Eurasians and Chinese born in Hong Kong as well as Europeans.

2. Malcolm MacDonald, Britain's High Commissioner for southeast Asia, said British dependents would not be advised to evacuate Hong Kong—as American families have been.

3. Chinese newspapers carried front-page reports that bugle-blowing Chinese Red troops traded shots across the border with Hong Kong police. The reports were denied by Hong Kong police who said the "bugle-blowing troops" were several Chinese trying to sneak into the colony.

Stories Differ

4. A private commercial radio station said all Royal Navy men ashore had been ordered to report back to their ships. An RAF spokesman said only the crew of one frigate had been called back to its ship to search for a missing Spitfire fighter plane.

MacDonald said, "British authorities do not anticipate any developments in the near future which would expose Hong Kong to danger. They are not contemplating now giving advice to dependents of British subjects, whose presence in the colony would not be necessary to its security in case of trouble, to evacuate."

He did not mention the draft plan.

A government spokesman said the decision was made "in the light of the world situation", but that no immediate call under the emergency ordinance is expected.

Uneasiness has grown in Hong Kong with reports that the Chinese Communists have massed 45,000 soldiers on the border less than 80 miles to the north.

J. L. Murray, director of Hong Kong public relations, insisted that the draft plan was "not inspired by any immediate deterioration of which we have any special knowledge."

Eye Injured In Opera Star Finishes Show

NEW YORK, Jan. 12—(AP)—Opera star Rise Stevens went on with the show at the Metropolitan Opera House Thursday night despite a second-act eye injury.

She was reported resting comfortably at her home today.

Miss Stevens received a splinter of glass in her right eye during a wine-glass-smashing scene in the second act of "Der Rosenkavalier".

A house doctor removed the glass sliver between the second and final acts, and the singer went through the third act without wearing a bandage.

Two Children Die In Flames

MONTMAGNY, Que., Jan. 12 (CP).—Two children died today when fire destroyed their home in this St. Lawrence south shore town, 40 miles from Quebec.

The victims were Charlotte Deschamps, 8, and her 2-year-old sister, Nicole.

Their mother Mrs. Leo Deschamps escaped from the house seriously burned. A six-year-old brother, Gilles, also was able to save himself.

Mr. Deschamps was away from home, under treatment at Quebec Veterans' Hospital, at the time.

The fire was believed to have been caused by an overheated stove.

Flames had spread so quickly when Mrs. Deschamps discovered the fire she was unable to save her two sleeping children.

Kills Bear

TORONTO, Jan. 12—(CP)—Armed only with a small prospector's hatchet, Morley R. Mulliette, Toronto mining engineer, this week killed a 250-pound black bear while working in the bush near Harlowe about 75 miles northeast of Belleville.

UK Getting New Plan To Boost Rearmament

LONDON, Jan. 12 (Reuters)—British defence planners have drawn up a plan for a boosted rearmament program, to cost considerably more than the £3,600,000,000 ($10,800,000,000) allocated for defences last summer and autumn, it was authoritatively learned today.

Their plan must await the report of financial experts, now working urgently on a scheme for reallocating Britain's financial resources to meet the strain of the new defence effort. When this is complete, the two plans will b merged.

Prime Minister Attlee is expected to announce Britain's proposals to meet her Atlantic defence commitments soon after Parliament reassembles January 23.

The speed-up of the armaments drive will be pressed forward with the greatest urgency. Already more than 500,000 men in Britain are engaged on arms production, and government orders have been placed for tanks, aircraft, and weapons of all kinds worth £450,000,000.

St. Laurent Plans To Visit Paris

LONDON, Jan. 12—(CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent of Canada will leave tonight for Paris and weather permitting will fly back to Ottawa Sunday night, it was announced today.

Before leaving London, he will attend a dinner given by Prime Minister Attlee to mark the end of the Commonwealth Prime Ministers' conference.

In Paris the Canadian prime minister hopes to see President Vincent Auriol and Premier Rene Pleven.

Today, St. Laurent visited Canada House and was introduced to members of the staff by Dana L. Wilgress. Canadian High Commissioner to Britain. Later he was to attend the final two sessions of the Commonwealth conference.

Start Seaway At Once US Congress Asked

Project Vital Truman Warns; Must Get New Ore Supply Very Soon

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12 (CP)—President Truman said today the United States "should start at once on the St. Lawrence seaway and power project."

In his annual economic message to Congress, Truman said the joint Canadian-American project is vital "so that imported iron ore can be shipped efficiently by water to the great steel-producing centres of the Middle West."

He said he would recommend the development of additional public power capacity "in the Pacific northwest, in the Tennessee valley area, at Niagara Falls, along the St. Lawrence river as part of the seaway and power project, and elsewhere, to contribute needed additions to the power supply as quickly as they can be built."

Truman has often expressed desire that Congress approve legislation authorizing construction of the $800,000,000 St. Lawrence seaway and power development—a highly-controversial proposal which has been debated for more than 50 years. Congress, in one form or another, has rejected ratification of the proposal three times.

Vital To Scheme

The council of economic advisers said today that the project was a vital part of the steel-expansion program.

The council's report, sent to Congress with Truman's economic message, said:

"The St. Lawrence seaway project must be begun immediately if imported ore is to be economically available in quantity in our inland steel centres by 1956, when the flow of Mesabi ore will almost certainly have begun to dwindle."

It said that "output of the Lake Superior (iron) mines can be maintained at present levels for only a few years longer."

Foreign ore supplies will come mainly from Venezuela and Labrador and to a lesser extent from Chile, Brazil and Liberia, the report said.

The council said electric power expansion is even more urgent than boosting steel production, despite present plans to add 7,500,000 kilowatts annually for the next three years.

To meet the mounting power needs of new aluminum, atomic and other defence plants, the government must make money, materials and workers available to the power industry, the report said.

Draft Extra Grave-Diggers To Bury Epidemic Victims

MANCHESTER, England, Jan. 12 (Reuters).—Extra grave-diggers were drafted to cemeteries here today to bury victims of a violent influenza epidemic sweeping the north of England.

Reports that there had been 3,000 deaths in Liverpool alone the last two weeks were denied by health ministry officials who reported only 90 deaths in that city in the week ending Jan. 6.

Meanwhile, burials at public cemeteries are being "telescoped" — ministers taking as many as five simultaneously.

Every night this week a Liverpool evening newspaper has devoted six columns to death notices. On one night they filled a page.

Thousands of people are ill and more are reporting sick every hour. There are long queues at doctors and druggists. The epidemic, worst since 1918, threatens to cripple industry.

A national coal board official said today that coal production in the northwest of England is expected to drop this week by more than 40,000 tons because of the epidemic. More than 11,000 of the 57,000 miners in the area were away from work today — 8,500 of them with influenza and chest trouble.

In this city many buses are being withdrawn from service — there is no one to drive them. Flu has stricken 400 drivers and conductors. The great port of Liverpool, 40 miles from here, is one of the hardest hit cities of all.

Wedding and baptisms have had to be postponed because priests and parsons are on almost permanent funeral duty.

Meanwhile, six deaths from smallpox were reported today at Brighton, famous seaside resort 50 miles south of London. The latest victim was an 18-year-old nurse.

Vaccination continued around the resort city where an estimated 60,000 persons have already been treated.

Charge UK Officers With Bribery In Suez

CAIRO, Jan. 12 (AP).—More than a score of British Army officers serving in the Suez Canal zone were reported under arrest Thursday while investigations were proceeding into alleged bribes and other crimes.

The Arabic newspaper Al Ahram said 21 British majors and lieutenant-colonels, including the commander of the military police in Fayid, were involved in the investigations.

A British Embassy spokesman told reporters the story was substantially correct.

(In London, the War Office said an inquiry has been ordered into charges made by a British officer in Egypt against a "small number" of British civilians and service officers. The announcement did not explain what the charges were.)

Jaspar Forman Chairman Victoria Board

LINDSAY, Jan. 12. — Jasper Forman was elected chairman of the newly-formed Victoria County District High School Board at its inaugural meeting held Wednesday evening in the library of the Lindsay Collegiate Institute.

All the trustees appointed to the board were present at this meeting, with the exception of Clayton Taylor of Bobcaygeon, who was unable to attend due to illness.

The following trustees took the oath of office: W. H. Baldwin (Twp. Bexley), W. B. Brandon (Fenelon Falls), G. D. Connolly (Lindsay Sep.), Allan Currins (Twp. Ops), Aaron Dawson (Twp. Mariposa), J. W. Deyell (Lindsay), Jasper Forman (Lindsay), John R. Elliott (Twp. Emily), Stanley Murray (Woodville), H. H. McFadden (Lindsay), L. N. McInnis (Twp. Eldon), Geo. B. McNabb (Twp. Fenelon), Drs. F. M. Graham (Fenelon Falls) and W. D. Thomas (Bobcaygeon), and Mrs. C. M. Laidley (Lindsay).

Dr. F. M. Graham of Fenelon Falls was appointed vice-chairman.

The matter of the continuation schools in the area, Little Britain, Woodville, Bobcaygeon and Fenelon Falls, was deferred until an arbitration committee had assessed the liabilities and assets of these schools. Mr. McFadden was appointed by the board to act as its representative in the matter of the arbitration, to meet the clerks and representatives of the municipalities concerned. Mr. Wilford read the instructions of the Department of Education covering the taking over of high and secondary schools, and pointed out that as it was proposed to continue operating the four continuation schools for the time being, the board would have to lease them.

Dr. Thomas read the recommendations of the nominating committee, as follows:

Transportation — Messrs. Taylor (chairman) Elliott, Dawson, Baldwin, Currins, McNabb, McInnis.

Property — Messrs. Brandon, (chairman), Taylor, Baldwin, McInnis, Connolly and Dr. Graham.

Management — Messrs. Dawson (chairman), Murray. Connolly and Drs. Graham and Thomas.

Finance — Messrs. McFadden (chairman), Deyell and Dr. Graham.

Teachers' Advisory: Messrs. Currins (chairman), Elliott, McNabb, Dawson and Mrs. Laidley.

Curriculum: — Mrs. Laidley (chairman), Messrs. Deyell, Brandon, Thomas.

On the motion of Dr. Graham, seconded by Mr. McFadden, it was agreed that the name of the board should be, "The Victoria County District High School Board."

It was decided that the board would meet in Lindsay on the second Wednesday of each month at 7:00 p.m. standard time. At this meeting the board would approve payment of accounts to date, the exception to this being salaries, which the treasurer was empowered to pay when due. The treasurer was further empowered to approve purchases of supplies up to the sum of $100 as required, but that items of expenditure over that sum must be approved by the board before purchase was made.

The question of the appointment of Mr. J. Stanley Dix, as secretary-treasurer and business administrator, at a salary, plus mileage for his car when used on the board's business, received considerable discussion. It was reported that there had been criticism of the proposed salary, but the board was of the opinion that the sum was commensurate with the great volume of business this employee would be called on to handle. Mr. Dix was, therefore, appointed to the position of secretary, treasurer and business administrator.

Face Farm Crisis

WELLINGTON, N.Z., Jan. 12 (Reuters)—New Zealand's agriculture faces an immediate crisis owing to the world shortage of sulphur, essential in the manufacture of basic fertilizers, acting Prime Minister Keith Holyoake said Thursday night. Rationing of superphosphate manure, in which sulphur is used, is being considered.

General Assembly shall set up ar appropriate body which shall include representatives of the governments of the United Kingdom, the United States of America, the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics, and the People's Republic of China, with a view to the achievement of a settlement, in conformity with existing international obligations and the provisions of the United Nations charter, of Far Eastern problems, including, among others, those of Formosa and of representation of China in the United Nations.

Sponsors hoped for a vote before today's session ended. General Assembly approval of the resolution also could come today, since the assembly can be called merely by adjourning the committee, then convening its parent body in the same room.

Doesn't Close Door

Announcement of the plan Thursday brought from Russian delegate Jakob A. Malik the charge that it was an ultimatum. Malik, however, did not completely close the door. He said he needed more time to study the proposals.

Explaining United States' approval, American delegate Warren R. Austin said the proposals re-stated the principle that a cease-fire must precede negotiations. He added the U.S. wanted to maintain the unity of the United Nations.

Rejection of the proposals, Austin said, will cause the United States to pursue its original plan to demand that the U.N. brand Red China as an aggressor and call for her punishment.

This view was strongly supported by Britain's Sir Gladwyn Jebb, who said that "if the present offer of a cease-fire to be followed by negotiations is nevertheless rejected by the Central People's Government, then the fighting in Korea will go on. The United Nations will not abandon the principles which it is seeking to establish in Korea. . . You may be certain that where the Stars and Stripes fly in Korea, the British flag will fly beside them. We stand by our duty. We stand by our friends."

Quebec Jeweler Hanged For Plane Deaths

MONTREAL, Jan. 12 (CP). — An appalling scheme for quick, illegal riches ended early today in death by hanging at Bordeaux Jail here for Quebec jeweler J. Albert Guay.

In a double-barrelled plot to collect his wife's insurance money and gain his freedom for an illicit love affair, Guay calmly sent 33 persons to their death Sept. 9, 1949, by having a dynamite time bomb planted aboard their plane.

Guay was caught and sentenced to die. Frantic, last-minute appeals for a stay of execution failed finally Thursday and Guay mounted the scaffold at 12:26 a.m. He was pronounced dead seven minutes later.

Shoddy Illusion

Almost to the end he tried to preserve a shoddy illusion of being a "sport." "Well, at least I die famous!" he bragged Thursday to his guards. But before his execution, the Rev. Lucien Clermont, Bordeaux prison chaplain, gave him the last rites of the Roman Catholic Church.

Fame was not the word for Guay, but he achieved exceptional notoriety, and even some would-be imitators. Newspaper readers throughout the world were shocked when they learned that Guay's plot was predicated on the basis that 22 strangers would die to ensure the murder of his wife, Rita, 28.

There were other sordid elements in the scheme worked out in a run-down section of Quebec's Lower Town, where the 33-year-old Guay was an unsuccessful jeweler.

Sees Poor Pork For Canadians

TORONTO, Jan. 12 (CP). — C. W. McInnis, president of the Ontario Hog Breeders Association said Thursday that lifting of the Canadian embargo on United States pork products will mean poor-quality pork for Canadians.

Speaking to the annual meeting of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture, he said the free pork market would result in lower prices for pork products bought from Canada and flow of top-quality meat to the U.S.

"The resolution of Canadian hog breeders will be ruined unless the embargo is reimposed," he said. "The U.S. has greater purchasing power, hence can afford to buy Canada's top-grade hogs."

Removal of the embargo meant Canada now can ship both pork products and live hogs to the U.S. but can only get pork products from that country.

Mr. McInnis urged farmers to set up a collective sales agency "so we too can put the price tag on our commodity."

Truman Asks

He asked that the department of agriculture be "granted authority to control speculative trading and to strengthen its regulation of commodity exchanges."

As he did in last Monday's state-of-the-union message, Truman emphasized the great threat from Communist aggression.

"We invite disaster if we underestimate the forces working against us," he said.

The $140,000,000,000 figure used by Truman does not necessarily mean the government will spend that much in the two years ending July 1, 1952.

The funds may be committed over several years ahead and Truman did not hint at the size of the budget to be presented Monday.

But by the end of 1951, Truman declared, defence and foreign aid spending should hit a rate between $45,000,000,000 and $55,000,000,000 a year. This is roughly double today's outlays.

$860 Trade-in Offer Made For Police Cars

The Police Department is in the market for two new cruisers.

J. K. Hughes Thursday submitted an offer to the Police Commission in which he would supply new cars and take over the old ones for $430 each.

Last year when the cruisers were bought from the Hughes agency, he offered to replace them each year for about $350. The difference in the offer quoted Thursday was the result, he said, of tax and increased production costs.

The Commission decided to shop around and get offers from other car dealers in the city.

France Uneasy As Passed By

LONDON, Jan. 12 (AP). — France was reported to have expressed concern today to Britain because she was left out of a proposed big-power parley to discuss a Far Eastern settlement.

Proposals for such a conference were put forward to the political committee of the United Nations Thursday. They were hammered out largely by Commonwealth prime ministers who have been conferring here since last week. A five-point plan for settling the Korean war included a call for talks among interested powers, among whom the United States, Britain, Russia and Red China, were to be included. France was not mentioned.

Diplomatic officials reported French Ambassador Rene Massigli expressed France's disquiet when he called on Foreign Secretary Bevin.

French unhappiness at being left in the cold stems apparently from the fact she considers herself a Far-Eastern power with a definite stake—Indo-China—in the region.

Former Lake Captain Dies At 86 In Cobourg

COBOURG, Jan. 12 (ENS) — In poor health for the past two years, David Ewart, former lake captain, died at his home early yesterday in his 86th year. He was born in Haldimand township, coming to Cobourg while a boy. His earlier years were spent on shipboard and he sailed the lakes on cargo ships carrying coal and grain until 1900, latterly as master. His father, John Ewart, was a shipowner.

In 1900 he went into the shoe business which he conducted here until 1925 at which time he and his wife took over the operation of the office of clerk and bailiff of the Division Court. Mr. Ewart and his wife observed their 56th wedindg anniversary this year. Before their marriage she was Marion Eagleson of Cobourg.

The funeral will be held on Saturday with services conducted by Rev. E. W. MacKay of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church and interment will be in Cobourg Union Cemetery. Survivors are his widow; a son, Jack, town clerk of Cobourg and two sons, Don and Alex of Montreal.

Both Going Same Way Car, Truck Collide

A car and a truck travelling in the same direction on Romaine St. collided as the truck was passing the car making a right turn into a laneway Thursday afternoon.

Driver of the car making the turn was Ralph C. Speck, 207 Murray St. Driver of the truck, Clarence Thompson, 47 Lafayette St. The right front fender of the truck and the left front fender of the car were both damaged.

Constable Harold Andrew investigated.

LONDON, Ont., Jan. 12 (CP'— A rare Lanark atlas has been received by the University of Western Ontario Library, Dr. J. J. Talman, librarian, announced on Thursday. The only other recorded copy of the atlas, published in 1880, is in the Toronto Public Library, Dr. Talman said. Miss Nellie Colborne, Goderich, presented the atlas to the university.

Federation Blans To Press For Marketing Law Change

TORONTO, Jan. 12—(CP)—The Ontario Federation of Agriculture Thursday voted to continue to press for amendments to existing marketing legislation. The resolution, introduced by Lawrence Kerr of Chatham at the second day of the Federation's annual meeting, also had a good word for what had already been accomplished by marketing schemes.

Marketing schemes, however, also drew criticism.

Paul Fisher, Burlington fruit grower, said they were mere shells. A large percentage of the growers of any product should be in favor of a marketing scheme before any such plan was introduced.

Then, he said, it should be launched with the guidance of the Minister of Agriculture who should later pull out and allow farmers to handle their own business.

Charles McInnis of Iroquois, president of the Ontario Hog Producers' Association, said marketing schemes have helped farmers considerably.

William Walker of Dunnville, speaking on behalf of the Vegetable Growers' Marketing Board, said he agreed many marketing schemes are "shells of schemes but they have helped just the same." Howard Craise of St. Catharines argued in the same vein.

The federation also put through a resolution covering an expanded budget for the coming year. The new budget calls for an increase of $37,500 over last year's proposed budget and would require about 50 per cent more in contributions from member groups.

Another motion called for an increase in the levy on hog producers from two cents an animal to five cents. The meeting was told the present levy does not provide sufficient funds to enable the Hog Producers' Marketing Board to operate properly.

Skilled Workers Respond To Plan

TORONTO, Jan. 12—(CP)—Excellent response has been received from skilled workers in the United Kingdom to the Ontario government's immigration scheme, an official of the provincial planning department said today.

Industry's interest was also mounting, 20 Ontario firms having indicated they could place some of the overseas skilled workers.

He said a representative of Avro (Canada), Ltd., has already begun to sift applications. Representatives of the Ontario Hydro and of Canadian General Electric are scheduled to reach England soon to seek skilled men and women.

About 25,000 immigrants from Britain and Europe, all skilled workers, are expected to be brought into the province under the scheme announced last month by Planning Minister Griesinger. Another 50,000 has been given as the number which will likely enter the province under Federal government sponsorship.

UN Planes

Important Route

One or more enemy bombers, disguised with American markings, made at least four raids on the western front.

One definitely was identified as an American-built A-20 light attack bomber—a type turned over by the United States to Nationalist China after the Second World War and presumably seized later by Red China.

The Red planes bombed Ansong, Sojong and Oinnam, the latter twice.

AP correspondent Stan Swinton reported the enemy planes dropped seven bombs on Ansong, followed by flares.

Have Seven Armies

The Chinese Red thrust from the Seoul area is powered by seven armies.

A break-through by the Chinese from the west, if it moves fast enough, could seal off the Wonju force before it could get beck to the safety of southeast Korea.

The Chinese on the west coast have not been in heavy contact with allied forces since Gen. MacArthur ordered Seoul burned and abandoned just after the New Year's day Chinese offensive.

Literally millions of Korean refugees still clog the roads leading south before the approaching Communists.

The big Chinese force seems bent on making the U.S. Eighth Army fight on Communist terms. Just where Lt.-Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway will choose to make a stand—if he does choose to make one—rests with the developments at Wonju and the push of the approaching Reds from the west.

Legion leaders said Canada is "facing the gravest period in her history" and they couldn't accept cabinet statements to them that conscription at this time is out.

The Legion's executive originally threw their case before the cabinet No. 10. The call for compulsory training, like the rest of the program, emerged at the biennial Legion convention in Winnipeg in September.

Not Finished Yet

(Prime Minister St. Laurent recently told a press conference cabinet hasn't finally considered the Legion's argument.

(Canada and Iceland are the only two among the 12 Atlantic pact powers which have no compulsory service in one form or other. Iceland has no armed forces.)

The new memorandum, sent out over the signature of Alfred Watts of Vancouver, national president, said "no steps have yet been taken by the government to institute either national registration or compulsory service" despite the Legion's call for them two months ago.

The former R.C.A.F. Group-Captain said this:

"From information available to us, we have reason to believe that one of the chief obstacles in the way of implementing the Legion's demand for compulsory training in the reserve forces is a serious shortage of ships, planes, equipment and even boots and clothing, as well as the admitted absence of adequate organization necessary to any appreciable expansion of the reserve forces.

Present Program

"It is perfectly obvious, therefore, that if we are to be prepared in any way to meet the present threat of aggression, the government must take immediate action to implement a three-fold program."

It would include:

1. National registration because "nothing can be done to organize efficiently the resources and manpower of the country" until this is done.

2. Mobilization of industrial resources for defence production. Present armed force supplies were "inadequate for even the normal voluntary enlistments in the active and reserve forces."

3. Compulsory training in the reserve forces.

"We are told," said the memo, "that Canada's population cannot support a full-fledged draft program. This may be true but does not remove the need for Canadian citizens being given sufficient training to ensure that they will at least have a fair chance of survival in any major crisis.

Ottawa Has Eye On Hoarders Ready To Seize Stocks

OTTAWA, Jan. 12 — (CP). — The government is prepared to move in on hoarders of strategic materials through the powers vested in Trade Minister Howe under the Essential Materials Act.

This piece of legislation, passed at the last session of Parliament, gives Mr. Howe extensive power to control prices and allocations of any materials needed in Canada's expanding defence effort.

Speculators found to be gathering huge stock piles of scarce materials for the purpose of gaining big profits will be forced to turn over the stocks to the government or transfer them to some company at whatever prices Mr. Howe may consider reasonable.

So far such steps have not been necessary because Canadian industry has been on watch for excessive stockpiling by individual firms for speculative purposes.

"The average Canadian manufacturer takes a dim view of hoarding," was the way officials expressed it.

The Canadian pattern of dealing with the problem, which may become serious as the country moves deeper into defence preparedness, is different from that which is emerging in the United States, where hoarding of certain goods is punishable through court action.

Latest of these, added today, were natural and synthetic rubber, as well as industrial ethyl alcohol, chlorine, zinc dust and oxides and some textile materials.

Prices Ease Slightly On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO, Jan. 12 (CP). — Prices eased slightly from earlier advances as the session progressed on the Toronto Stock Exchange today.

Prices opened well ahead in continuation of Thursday's sharp climb but then settled to hold small gains. Trading was extremely active.

Industrials advanced fractions. Papers and steels added the most with a wide list of issues ahead.

The gold advance, unlike the rest of the market, failed to slow down. They continued their recent climb with a wide list of moderate gains. McIntyre paced the senior list with a $1 jump and junior producers added pennies.

Base metals turned mixed after strong early dealings. Hudson Bay was a feature with a $1.25 jump to a new high at $16. Steep Rock, Quemont, Noranda and East Sullivan gained up to 25 cents while Waite Amulet, Sherritt Gordon, International Nickel and Consolidated Smelters dipped up to 50 cents.

Red Patch Club To Tag For Eel's Creek Camp

The Red Patch Club, a veteran's organization, was given permission by the Police Commission Thursday, to hold a tag day June 16.

The money is to be used to add cabins to the camp the club is building as it gets money on Eel's Creek. The club has erected a main lodge. The camp is to be available to veterans who still need rest as they are released from hospitals.

Return To World They Never Expected To See

KEREMEOS, B.C., Jan. 12 — (CP)—Some of the "Children of Light" stepped outside Thursday to a world they never expected to see again.

By tonight, the cottage where the religious sect members spent more than 17 days in a wait for doomsday or a message from God may be vacated except for its owner.

They face a grim future on the "outside." In order to be ready for the heavenly manifestation they expected to experience, the group, numbering 35, sold worldly possessions at sacrifice prices.

Some sold fruit ranchlands for a few dollars an acre, while others abandoned their homes after selling furnishings and clothing.

The first to quit the cottage retreat Thursday were several small children, long overdue from their studies, and several adults. They quit the building as summonses under the School Attendance Act were about to be served on the parents.

Children Return

As afternoon classes were starting, five of the eight school-age children were driven behind the school. The children ran into their classrooms, which they haven't seen since before the Christmas holiday.

But if the sect members had their way, most say they would stay indefinitely in seclusion.

Bobby McLean, snatched from the cottage by his mother three days ago, said he would still be there if "I hadn't been dragged out."

"People think we're crazy or something," the 16-year-old said. "It's not us. It's the rest of the world."

The exact number of members still remaining in the cottage with Mrs. Grace Carlson is not known. The woman organized the cult by leading a splinter group from the Pentecostal church 14 months ago. They followed her into the retreat when she forecast the world's end, telling them Jan. 9 would be the date.

Fruit Growers Urged To Unite

COBOURG, Jan. 12—(ENS)—With the disappearance of the export market for apples, Ontario growers will have to put out a superior pack to beat competition from Nora Scotia and British Columbia, members of the United Counties Apple Growers' Association were told Thursday.

The speaker was M. M. Robinson, secretary of the Ontario Fruit and Vegetable Growers' Association.

Mr. Robinson suggested that Ontario growers would be better off to follow the trend to group packing and "retain your backyard market."

The economic position of growers was a difficult one, he declared, as the farmer paid fixed prices for products used in his own production and had to sell in a fluctuating market.

Must Unite

Only one solution remained for the fruit grower—to unite and forget individual competition.

Following Mr. Robinson's speech, the following were elected officers for 1951: president, Gordon Flynn, Trenton; vice-president, Howard Gibson, Bowmanville; secretary-treasurer, H. Morley Webster, Brighton; directors, Dawseen Beebe, Port Hope; Clare Allin, Bowmanville; John Rickard, Newcastle; Stewart Gray, Port Hope; Clayton Maguire, Trenton; Norman Raney, Brighton, Ralph Hill, Trenton; Alex Rutherford, Colborne; Foster Bolton, Trenton; C. Soul, Port Hope; Forbes Heyland, Bowmanville, and M. Ainsley, Cobourg.

Special Services Held In 2 Churches

Prayer meetings were held in Mark St. United Church and Grace United Church Thursday night which marked the third night of the observance of the annual week of prayer in Peterborough.

The theme of both meetings was Prayer in the Knowledge of the Holy Spirit, the Lord and Giver of Life. Addresses were given at Mark St. United Church by Rev. F. W. Craik, St. James' United Church, and the Rev. R. Dargan, of the Free Methodist Church. The Rev. H. G. Douglas, of Knox United Church, and the Rev. L. Linstead, of Springville United Church, spoke at Grace United Church.

The Rev. H. S. Morwood conducted the service in Mark St. United Church and the Rev. R. W. Rowland the service in Grace United Church.

Special music at Grace United Church was provided by vocal soloist Mrs. Gladys Todd, and the choir, under the direction of Mrs. Francis Turner. Mrs. W. Hepburn and Mrs. Max Pomeroy sang a vocal duet at Mark St. United Church.

Frederic R. Storey

Frederic Robert Storey, 71, of 294 Mark St., was buried Thursday in Little Lake cemetery after service at the Kaye Funeral Home with Archdeacon C. W. Balfour, of St. John's Anglican Church officiating.

Pallbearers included five sons-in-law: Robert Crowe, Gerald Pagett, Lloyd Livingstone, Stanley Killingbeck, William Reynolds and Peter Mayhew.

Mr. Storey, a resident of Peterborough for 40 years, died Tuesday at his home after a lengthy illness.

Author Dies

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 12 (AP) — Charles W. Goddard, 71, author of the "Perils of Pauline," died Thursday at his home. He had been on the staff of the American Weekly since 1923. Although he wrote other movie serials, including "The Exploits of Elaine" and "The Hope Diamond Mystery," his "Perils," which starred Pearl White, was the most famous.

140 Buildings Burned

TOKYO, Jan. 12 (Reuters) — Fire destroyed 140 buildings in Okagku, in the centre of Japan's main island, Wednesday. The blaze, fanned by a strong wind, razed the shipping district in the town of 50,767 inhabitants. Damage was estimated at 200,000,000 yen (about $8,500,000).

Narrow Escape

WESTBURY, England, Jan. 12 (Reuters)—Wind blew down a live electric cable and flung it across a highway near here Thursday. A bus carrying 40 passengers struck it and turned over amid a series of explosions and blue flashes. Only injureis were glass cuts to three passengers.

Invite Navy Pilots

LONDON, Jan. 12 (Reuters) — The Admiralty is inviting former navy pilots and those serving in the Royal Naval Volunteer Reserve who have completed 300 hours flying to re-enter the service, it announced Thursday night. Commissions will normally be for four years but may in some cases be extended to six. The maximum age on entry is 33.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out about 2 pints of bile juice into your digestive tract every day. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food may not digest. It may just decay in the digestive tract. Then gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. You feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

It takes those mild, gentle Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these 2 pints of bile flowing freely to make you feel "up and up." Get a package today. Effective in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. 25¢ at any druggist.

Kingston Whig-Standard Staff Honors Senator Rupert Davies

KINGSTON, Jan. 12 —(CP)—Presentation of a gold make-up rule to Senator W. Rupert Davies, publisher of the Kingston Whig Standard, was made this week by the staff of the newspaper in its composing room.

This is the traditional presentation of a newspaper staff to a publisher who himself has served as a journeyman printer. It is made on the occasion of a milestone in the association between publisher and staff. A make-up rule is a small tool of the printing trade used in adjusting pages of type.

Senator Davies is leaving shortly for Britain to spend a year as High Sheriff of Montgomeryshire, his native county in Wales.

A leather brief case was also presented to the publisher by the staff as a mark of appreciation.

Senator Davies paid tribute to the loyalty of the staff. And said that a great number had been with the paper throughout his 24 years as publisher.

An address was read by Frank Garrigan, an employee who has been with the Whig-Standard since its inception, after which the presentation of the gold make-up rule was made by Miss E. I. Gwatkin, who has also been a member of the staff since the amalgamation of the British Whig and the Kingston Standard. Presenutation of the brief case was made by Roy Martin, 15, the youngest apprentice on the staff.

Patrol Plane Crashes

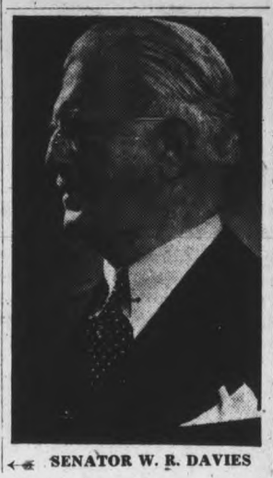
TOKYO, Jan. 12 (AP) — A navy Martin Mariner patrol bomber carrying 14 crew members crashed Thursday off Amami Oshima in the northern Ryukyus. The services newspaper Stars and Stripes reported eight crew members were rescued, one killed and five missing.

Say Farm Price Index Unchanged

OTTAWA, Jan. 12 (CP)—The Canadian farm price index held unchanged in November, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported today.

The monthly index stayed at 239.8, lowest figure since December, 1947, when it was 226.7. The index for November, 1949, was 247.8.

The index is based on a figure of 100 for the average 1935-39 prices.



In November, prices for grain, livestock and potatoes declined, but there were offsetting advances in dairy products, poultry and eggs.

November index numbers by provinces, with those for October in brackets:

Prince Edward Island, 172.4 (183.3); Nova Scotia, 211.9 (214.9); New Brunswick, 212.9 (225.6); Quebec, 266.0 (264.0); Ontario, 271.6 (271.3); Manitoba, 235.5 (234.1); Saskatchewan, 194.2 (194.5); Alberta 232.0 (232.0); British Columbia 255.4 (255.4).

Have Flood Trouble

MACKEY, Australia, Jan. 12 (Reuters)—Heavy storms flooded the main street of this town 660 miles north of Brisbane Thursday, splitting it in two. Police used boats to rescue those trapped in houses in the town which has a population of 14,000. Other parts of Austrlia were sweltering in a heat wave.

★ PLAIN TALK ABOUT THE EPIDEMIC OF "SOMETHING FOR NOTHING"

the facts

Once again, it's the silly season of sales, sales, sales . . . a rat-race of panic-stricken merchants trying to beat each other over the head with free offers — free pants, free nylons, free ice-freezers and a free pound of pistachio nuts with each purchase . . . all this despite constantly rising costs on labor and materials!

WE SAY IT'S CRAZY! No sensible customer expects something for nothing. And if this keeps up, the free-for-all boys are going to end up by selling you a substitute for a substitute of the real thing!

what can we do about it?

We'd love to tell the free-for-nothing boys to go jump in the lake. We'd like to hang out a big sign telling the world we have more respect for our product than to give it away. . . . BUT we will not sit on the sidelines and let the big-talk fellows steal the show. As a famous British statesman once said:

We don't like to fight, but, by jingo, if we do
We've got the ships, we've got the men, we've got the money, too!

DUNN'S will slug it out, toe to toe, with anybody in the business. We'll give our goods away and we'll beat them at their own game . . . because, we've said it before, and we say it now:
WE WILL NOT BE UNDERSOLD FOR UNION-TAILORED CRAFTSMAN QUALITY.
We're giving a pair of FREE EXTRA TROUSERS with every purchase of a DUNN'S suit.

Monaghan Road South

In Peterborough's old days a road was a road, not a glory-name for a street. Thus Monaghan Rd. was Monaghan road, the way to and from the township of Monaghan. Now it is a street, for several miles, one of the three principal north-south arteries of the city. Judging from the condition of Monaghan Rd. south of Lansdowne it is still a township by-way.

* * *

Despite the hundreds of new homes that have gone up in the section served by Monaghan Rd. south, the numerous new streets now running off it, and the two major factories along its path, Monaghan Rd. south of Lansdowne is in precisely the same condition it was forty years ago. True, some attempts have been made to give the street a surface that will not shake the insides out of a car, but today's factory workers, housewives and home owners who have to use the street all the time know that the jolts its surface give the liver are neither funny nor healthy.

* * *

There are other matters: poor or no sidewalks, drains, unsightly poles in wrong places, junk nests, weeds. It is time that Monaghan Rd. south was dressed up to be worthy of the city, a value for the residents' tax-money, and not discreditable to the fine new factories and fine new houses and schools in the area.

* * *

One of the worst features of the road is the dangerous C.N.R. crossing, just down the gully south of Lansdowne. It is a trap, despite the wig-wag and signal bell put up a few years ago. As a matter of fact, so little attention is paid to that crossing by officials that the bell went out of kilter the other day and rang irresponsibly for hours. It was perplexing to motorists for a while, then was disregarded completely—at risk to life and limb. As a matter of fact, as Mr. W. A. Richardson has pointed out in a letter to the Council, the bell is ineffectual most of the time. The approach to the dangerous crossing should be levelled and cleared to give full view of approaching trains. The signal system should be improved. The traffic on the street is now too heavy for these matters to be delayed much longer. They should not wait until there has been another bad accident at the crossing.

* * *

The suggestion has been made that the former junkyard property forming a triangle on the east side of Monaghan Rd. between Lansdowne and the tracks be acquired by the city, the rise tapered and the ground cleared. This suggestion warrants careful consideration. The old brick house could be torn down, the property could be expropriated and the triangle made sightly and not an obstruction.

* * *

South-enders will be relieved that some of these matters have been put before the Council and considered by the aldermen at their last meeting.

Ti-Coq

A Canadian play finishing a week's run in Toronto tomorrow has already made theatre history in Canada in its original French version; in its English version, as presented in Toronto this week where it has won a triumph, it is destined to make Canadian theatre history in the U.S.A.

Ti-Coq (The Little Rooster) by Gratien Gelinas played more than two hundred times in Montreal in 1948 and grossed about $400,000. In Toronto this week, after two years of study and work on an English translation, it has been a sell-out and won unstinted praise from all critics. It is scheduled to go in February to Chicago and New York, and will be the first all-Canadian company to play on Broadway.

Ti-Coq is a work of genuine artistic creation: as a play, in the performance and in the title-character Ti-Coq, a little French-Canadian soldier, impish, sardonic and sentimental. Gratien Gelinas is the creator of all three, as playwright, as producer-director and as actor in the title-role. He has been known to his native province of Quebec for a decade under the stage name 'Fridolin'. His revues have been celebrated and he in them. He now emerges on the English-speaking stage as a craftsman, of the theatre, an interpreter of his people and province, and above all as a great comic, original, though in the authentic tradition from Shakespearean Fool to Chaplin. It is perhaps futile to distinguish between Gelinas in his three parts as playwright, producer, and actor. Ti-Coq has the genesis in Gelinas and is fully the product of his humanity, experience and genius.

The play's subject is simple and poignant, turning on the illegitimacy of Ti-Coq and his love. New York may think that the final resolution, in which Ti-Coq and his beloved say 'Adieu' rather than go off together and brave fate and social convention, is simple-minded. It is simple-hearted.

The simplicity of the theme and sentiment gives the play much of its power. Especially remarkable is the evocation of the character and roots of the French-Canadian people in the small streets of Montreal, the modest farms along the river, and the military camp. This, heightened by the accent of the actors—indigenous, not acquired—and the quality of the translation, earthy and idiomatically English as a French-Canadian says it, give the play charm, strength, and moving sincerity.

Will New York accept the play as fervently as Toronto has done, delighting in the humour which does not let pathos become pathetic, and in the presentation of a people and mode of life different from theirs? Whether it does or not, this play, with its superb Montreal cast, its wonderfully contrived sets, and its begetter and chief actor Fridolin, is already set among the stars.

Call It Pessimism

Recently we expressed disagreement with the Brantford Expositor's opinion that preventive psychiatry and psychosomatic medicine would eventually solve the problem of crime in society. Such a belief, we said, overlooked the doctrine of Original Sin, which is not popular at present, but which has a great deal to be said in its favour.

The Expositor disagrees, as we knew that it would, and the essence of its disagreement is contained in these two paragraphs, which we quote:

> Although The Examiner does not say it in so many words, it suggests that the solution to crime might be found in religion. Religion, it is true, has been a major stabilizing factor in human life, but since it is not all-embracing, and since there are many who do not subscribe to organized creeds, this view is incomplete. Moreover, there seem to be nearly as many criminals among those who profess belief as there are among those who do not!
>
> Organized religion has exerted and will continue to exert a powerful and beneficent influence, doctrinally and morally. This, however, should by no means serve to obscure the fact that the related realm of science, of which psychiatry and psychosomatic medicine form part, can likewise make its potentially useful contribution to the common good. Thus regarded, does not The Examiner's appraisal appear to be too primitive too circumscribed—and too pessimistic?

We must correct the Expositor's belief that we consider that a solution to the problem of crime may be found in religion. Individuals may solve it in that way; society will not, for a majority of people are never seriously touched by religion and we seriously doubt if they ever will be. And, as the Expositor knows, it is quite possible for a man to be devout and a criminal also; the human mind has a wonderful ability to keep its beliefs and its deeds in separate compartments.

Nor are we frightened of being called pessimistic. This is a word often applied to those who do not embrace easy and unsatisfactory solutions for great problems. We see life as essentially a tragic predicament in which man finds himself; some spirits have found partial solutions for that predicament, but such solutions are not easy, nor are they capable of wholesale application.

Senator Davies Retires

After fifty-five years in Canadian newspaper work Senator Rupert Davies retired on Wednesday last. He began as a printer's devil on the Brantford Expositor, became a journeyman, a reporter, an editor and a publisher. The staff of the Kingston Whig-Standard presented him with a golden printer's rule—an honour which printers give only to printers, and which only newspapermen can fully understand; these golden rules are not given very often, and they mean a great deal to the recipient. Senator Davies has not been without honours during his career; we have his assurance that this sign of approval from his craft has given him more true pride than any of the others.

Senator Davies has also been the publisher of The Examiner; as he retires we tender him our sincere wishes for many years of happiness. His retirement, however, is merely from the world of active journalism; it is not in his nature to sit in a chair and watch the sunset, and next month he leaves Canada for his native Wales, where he will enter upon the duties of High Sheriff of the County of Montgomeryshire on the first of March. To a man who takes such a keen delight in life, and who maintains so much restless curiosity about every aspect of it, we cannot honestly apply the word "retired". He goes, rather, to apply his lively and energetic spirit to new activities, in which we are sure that he will be happy.

NOTE AND COMMENT

A San Francisco fan dancer has filed two suits against her employer. Probably the first fan dancer in history to have two suits.

A publisher in Rome has been convicted of selling an obscene publication; it was the Esquire calendar. Tourists who have brought home books of the frescoes at Pompeii will laugh up their sleeves.

Notes And Queries

By 'ALPHA'

Questions are solicited for this column particularly those relating to local lore and tradition.

SIR: What are the qualifications required for joining the Royal Canadian Mounted Police?

ANSWER: The applicant must be a British subject, not less than 18 and not more than 30 years of age, unmarried, not less than 5'8" in his stocking feet, and weigh not more than 185 pounds, or if he is taller than 6'1", not more than 200 pounds. He must be able to pass a stiff medical test, be of good character and have at least grade 8 education, preferably up to or beyond Grade 10. An education test is given candidates, and it is based on Grade 10 standards.

A prospective candidate should write to R.C.M.P. Headquarters, Ottawa, or apply to the nearest R.C.M.P. office. (There is one in Toronto.)

If a man is accepted, he is engaged for a first period of five years, during which time he can quit only under special circumstances. During his first year the R.C.M.P. may let him out, but he cannot let himself out. After that the man stays on for the next four years, and thereupon can be re-engaged if he chooses for other five-year periods until he is pensioned off. Mounties retire on full pension after 35 years' service.

When a man is first accepted he is sent for training either to Regina, Saskatchewan, or Rockcliffe (Ottawa).

There are all sorts of work for R.C.M.P.: general duties in enforcing law and order in provinces and cities; duties in the Yukon and Northwest Territories (Arctic), an aviation section, a mounted section, a dog section, a marine section, a clerical section, a criminal investigation department, and so on.

Men under 21 are engaged as 3rd class constables at a pay of $170 a month. Second class constables (21 years old or more) at $200 a month. The rates of pay go up to $325 a month for Staff Sergeants, and officers' pay runs from $5,220 a year to $10,000.

A Mountie may not get married without permission. Before permission is given he must have completed five years' service, be free from debt and have cash or other assets amounting to at least $1,200.

The R.C.M.P. Handbook for prospective recruits (to be had free on application to Ottawa Headquarters) says that "there is a place in the Force for the student as well as for the outdoor man and it is rare indeed that the duties in any branch become monotonous". It sounds like a good sort of career.

If I couldn't be driving a dog-team into the far Yukon, tracking down a killer, I'd like to have a nice clerical job in R.C.M.P. Headquarters, at the Crime Detection Laboratory at Ottawa, or among the files. I'd love to see the dirt the R.C.M.P. have collected on John Blow, M.P., on my good friend Rev. Samuel Snicksnooter, and even on myself. Yes, gentle readers, the R.C.M.P. have investigated even Alpha. I presume that the dossier on Alpha will show that when he was 19 he belonged to a Left-wing reading club of the Y.M.C.A. and once (A.D. 1944) had a drink in a bar in Rome with a Russian lieutenant.

STONY LAKE WALL PAINTER: A fortnight ago on the Examiner's Saturday feature page there was an article, with illustrations, about James Clague and his portrait heads, animals and flags painted on the wall of the Mt. Julian Hotel. This article interested me, and others beside myself noticed that the wife's year of death was uncertain. From Norwood information reaches me that Mr. and Mrs. William Robb have in their possession a silver pitcher presented to Mr. Robb's mother, the late Mrs. James Robb, inscribed thus: "Mrs. Robb in Remembrance of Elizabeth Clague, Died 21st May 1894". This fixes the date of the death of Mrs. James Clague. Mrs. Robb was a good friend to Mrs. Clague when she was ill.

ALPHA: How many breweries are there in Canada?

ANSWER: There are 63 brewing plants in the country which produce annually about 10,000,000 barrels. Sales last year (1950) are reported to have dropped a little from the peak year of 1949, due chiefly to the wet summer throughout most provinces. The last figures I have of values are for 1949, when the public paid $325,000,000 for beer. Of this sum more than $150,000,000 went to the Federal and Provincial governments for duties, taxes and the like. The Federal Government gets more than fifty million a year from the tax on malt alone. Malt is a chief ingredient in the making of beer. The excise tax on malt was increased in last fall's budget from 16 to 21 cents a pound—a 31 per cent. increase. That is one of the reasons why beer went up in price.

In the ten years from 1939 to 1949 domestic consumption of beer went up 171 per cent., and the gross selling value at the brewery increased 258 per cent.

Beer has been made in Canada for 283 years.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR ALPHA: Why is it that so many local lawyers and barristers and solicitors have such dingy, dirty, dark, dull, drab, doleful and dismal offices when they are reported to have the highest income of all the professions?

ANSWER: You figure it out.

ALPHA: Did the Three Wise Men arrive on the twelfth day after Christmas (Epiphany Day) or did it take them two years and 12 days for the journey?

ANSWER: Your question suggests some tradition or evidence with which I am unfamiliar. I have never heard that there was any question of a two year gap; certainly the Biblical narrative does not so indicate. Perhaps there is some scientific lore, relating to the appearance of the bright star which guided the Three Kings to the infant's stable. Have some star-gazers established that the star could only have shone (as a meteor of some kind) two years after Christ was born? In this connection, let me remind you that the Babe of Bethlehem was most likely born in the year 4 B.C., not the year zero between 1 B.C. and 1 A.D.

The Epiphany (celebrated January 6th) means 'manifestation', the manifestation or showing of Christ to the Gentiles in the persons of the Magi—the three kings.

FOR THE RECORD: In 1860 Ashburnham had two hotels, two taverns, one brewery, and three churches. In its civilizing progress the village lost its name and found another as part of Peterborough: East City.

Letters To The Editor

GRAMS AND GRAINS

Sir: In tonight's (Jan.) 3rd paper there is a sentence in "Quinine for Distemper" which reads "A moderate dose for a grown up person is usually about two grams, four times a day for several days". This should read "A moderate dose etc. .... about two grains". Throughout the rest of the letter "grains" is given correctly so probably I had written it carelessly in that one place and the mistake is mine but I do not want to go on record as suggesting, even in passing that anyone use such a dose as two grams (though actually I don't know how much that is).

Would you be good enough just to make this correction?

Thanking you, I am,

Yours truly,

ELEANOR FIFE.

ED. NOTE: The mistake was ours, not Mrs. Fife's, and we hope that no one has been misled by it.

LABOUR AGAINST COMMUNISM

Sir: The United Nations forces in Korea fought one of the most heroic battles in modern warfare in their retreat and evacuation in northeast Korea. They had to fight their way back to their beachhead through the frozen wastes of northern Korea, almost surrounded by Chinese and North Korean forces, who outnumbered them many times over.

The same elements that our soldiers are fighting in Korea are maintaining the leadership and control of many labour unions in our own country and have been using the workers money to send delegates to peace conferences and Communist controlled World Federation of Trade Union conferences all over Europe. The main purpose of these trips is to maintain unity between all Communists throughout the world. Is this fair to our soldiers in Korea who are fighting to put down Communism? I say no!

One side of Communism is crying "peace, peace", while the other through propaganda and war is working relentlessly to force a godless ideology onto a world that doesn't want it.

If the working classes withdrew their support the Communist dominated unions would soon collapse. The Canadian worker must lead the way. When I say the working classes, I don't mean only the factory worker, but the man and woman in the office, or any other work they may be engaged in. We are all workers—we must turn against Communism wherever we find it, but we must stick together one hundred per cent.

It becomes real in a piece written recently by a union representative in a union news sheet by which he uses "A Christmas Carol" by Dickens for propaganda purposes against the heads of industry. It also stands behind those who print news sheets and pass them out by thousands at plant gates throughout Ontario or other parts of Canada where Communist leadership is in control of labour unions.

You may ask what can the workers do about it. Well they can do a whole lot about it. They can join together in this country, in the U.S. and in Britain, in France, Holland, Belgium and in Italy, and all democratic countries in the world and put the Communists out of labour unions and political offices, and once the working classes get united on the right side of democracy the war clouds will start to fade away and they will show the big boss of the Communists that his agents will not be able to take over any more countries one by one.

We must hold up the light of freedom and ever keep it shining brighter and above all must shine the star of Bethlehem and the cross of Calvary by which only can come the freedom and peace the nations of the world are looking for.

Men Are Rather Queer

The owner of a car drove into his garage. When he got out he coughed and blew his nose. The cough was of the variety which seemed to start down deep and it had that intensity which threatened to tear out some tubing.

He called the man who generally looked after his car, and from a notebook read over carefully the things he wanted attended to. The timing was not exact, and the carburet seemed set a little too fine for winter driving; there was a little rattle in some other section.

After that he coughed some more and blew his nose some more, and admitted he was feeling rather ragged, but had decided to fight off what he thought was a bad cold or a touch of the 'flu.

He remarked: "I admit I am fussy about the car; I like to have it in perfect mechanical condition all the time; when I step on it I like to know I am going to get 100 per cent response."

And then he coughed some more and blew his nose some more. Yes, very careful about the car, but the truth is he needed to go in for an overhauling himself more than his car did. Men are rather queer that way. — Chatham News.

Canadian Maple For Westerham

(UK Information Office)

A number of Canadian silver trees will be planted in Churchill avenue, Westerham, Kent, as a link with General Wolfe, who was born in the village, and as a tribute to the Canadian forces stationed locally during the war. This project is part of the local Festival of Britain activities.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

My voice shalt thou hear in the morning, O Lord; in the morning will I direct my prayer unto thee, and will look up. (Ps. 5: 3.)

✧ ✧ ✧

There were together Simon Peter, and Thomas called Didymus, and Nathanael of Cana in Galilee, and the sons of Zebedee, and two other of his disciples. Simon Peter saith unto them, I go a fishing. They say unto him, We also go with thee. They went forth, and entered into a ship immediately; and that night they caught nothing. But when the morning was now come, Jesus stood on the shore: but the disciples knew not that it was Jesus.

Then Jesus saith unto them, Children, have ye any meat? They answered him, No. And he said unto them, Cast the net on the right side of the ship, and ye shall find. They cast therefore, and now they were not able to draw it for the multitude of fishes.... As soon as they were come to land, they saw a fire of coals there, and fish laid thereon, and bread.

Jesus then cometh, and taketh bread, and giveth them, and fish likewise. This is now the third time that Jesus shewed himself to his disciples, after that he was risen from the dead.

So when they had dined, Jesus saith to Simon Peter, Simon, son of Jonas, lovest thou me more than these. He saith unto him, Yea, Lord; thou knowest that I love thee. He saith unto him, Feed my lambs. He saith to him again the second time, Simon, son of Jonas, lovest thou me? He saith unto him, Yea, Lord; thou knowest that I love thee. He saith unto him, Feed my sheep.

He saith unto him the third time, Simon, son of Jonas, lovest thou me? Peter was grieved because he said unto him the third time, Lovest thou me? And he said unto him, Lord, thou knowest all things; thou knowest that I love thee. Jesus saith unto him, Feed my sheep. (JoJhn 21: 2-6, 13-17.)

Wherefore the Lord said, Forasmuch as this people draw near me with their mouth, and with their lips do honour me, but have removed their heart far from me, and their fear toward me is taught by the precept of men: therefore, behold, I will proceed to do a marvellous work among this people, even a marvellous work and a wonder: for the wisdom of their wise men shall perish, and the understanding of their prudent men shall be hid. (Isa. 29: 13, 14.)

A Man And Violets

(By R. J. Deachman in Regina Leader-Post)

There was an editorial the other day in the News-Herald, Vancouver, B.C., under the caption "African Violets". I cut it out and took it home to my wife. She has been an addict for several years. I handed it to her to read and asked her to give me the low-down on this vital subject.

It is all true, she told me, every word of it. Everybody loves African violets. "Why shouldn't they love them They have all the colours of the rainbow. They bloom 10 months of the year and rest only two. I have 25 pots of them. They require little attention, less than any other flower."

We might have been talking yet but I interrupted her and said: "How is it that some people can't grow them?" "There are", said said, "some people who can't grow anything."

She looked me straight in the eye and said, "What did you weigh when we were married?" "One hundred and sixty-two pounds", I answered. "And what do you weigh now?" "One hundred and ninety-four pounds". I confessed. "Well", she said, "you see the result. I love you both, you and the violets."

"We'll probably get Colorado beetles and a radio-active harvest this year."

Papal Decree Affects All Service Clubs

VATICAN CITY, Jan. 12 (AP) —A Vatican decree forbidding Roman Catholic clergy to join Rotary International, it was explained today, applies equally to such a similar organization as Kiwanis, the Lions and other civic groups.

A member of the congregation of the sacred office, which drew up the decree, said the document reiterated the church's preference that Roman Catholic laymen and women associate themselves with Roman Catholic church-sponsored or recommended organizations, such as the Knights of Columbus.

The members said the decree, published Thursday in the Vatican's L'osservatore Romano, is a general directive and neither a condemnation of Rotary nor an impediment to membership of Catholic laymen in the organization.

The decree was approved by Pope Pius, who is prefect of the congregation, one of 11 such bodies that govern church affairs.

The decree, this source said, is explicit insofar as it regards clergymen. They cannot be members of Rotary—or other organizations having a "worldly" character—nor attend the meetings.

Any clergyman who is a member of Rotary, this source said, must resign from the club. The implication of the decree, the source added, is that similar action must be taken by clergymen who are members of Kiwanis, or like groups.

The decree was described as a general rule open, insofar as Roman Catholic laymen are concerned, to local interpretation by bishops.

Rotary Mystified By Ban On Clergy Joining Club

CHICAGO, Jan. 12 (AP). — Rotary Internation ficials and some Roman Cath clergymen were baffled today by a decree of Pope Pius forbidding all Roman Catholic clergymen from membership in Rotary clubs.

A former president of Rotary International said he was "amazed" at the action of the Sacred Congregation of the Holy Office in Vatican City. The decree also warned Roman Catholic laymen to follow the Canon Law in regard to membership in Rotary clubs. The reasons were not given.

"We can't figure this one out," said a spokesman at headquarters of Rotary International.

He added that the organization, which has 344,000 members in 7,200 clubs around the globe, had never had any "trouble with the church that I can remember."

Nothing Secret

In a statement issued over the signature of Rotary's president, Arthur Lagueux of Quebec, who is a Roman Catholic, it was emphasized that the organization is "not secret," nor does it "seek to supplant or interfere with any religious or political organization."

"Qualifications for membership do not require information as to race, religion or politics," Lagueux's statement said. "By convention action, each Rotarian is expected to be faithful to his religion and loyal in his citizenship. In the short space of 46 years the Rotary ideals of friendship, fellowship and service to others have spread to the six continents."

The decree was published by the Vatican's newspaper, L'Osservatore Romano. A source connected with the newspaper said, it appeared aimed at European and Latin American countries where Masonic connections have been attributed to Rotary, rather than against Roman Catholic membership in Rotary in the United States and Canada.

Regrets Disunity

A prominent Montreal Roman Catholic clergyman, who asked not to be identified, said "I can see where this is a possibility the report (of the decree) might not apply here (in Canada) and in the United States."

John Bancroft, president of the Rotary Club in Montreal, said it was "regrettable that at this time there should be any show of disunity among groups opposed to Communism. . . There must be a misunderstanding somewhere."

There was no immediate comment in Quebec from the Archbishop's Palace but one prominent Quebec Rotarian said the announement "is merely a restatement of a section of Canon Law which prohibits Roman Cathtolic clergymen from joining clubs that are not Roman Catholic."

There are 25 Rotary clubs throughout the predominantly-Catholic province of Quebec.

The Rev. John Fullerton, director of Toronto's council of Roman Catholic charities and a Rotarian, said he plans to remain a member of the club until he hears "something official" about the decree.

Gives Picture Of Unjustified Fears Of Past

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

A picture of some of the unjustified fears of the post-war years, and a picture of some of the problems of what may be a pre-war period, were given Thursday night by an economist who is in the retail business.

He is Morgan Reid, secretary of the Management Advisory Committee of Robert Simpson Company, who addressed the Purchasing Agents' Association for the Niagara district at Welland.

First he expressed the opinion that irrespective of the extra stimulus of defence spending, Canada is in the midst "of a great groundswell of economic expansion, which is geared not only to immediate demands but has a far-greater long-term momentum."

Of the post-war apprehensions he said in part:

"If the business economist were to turn psychologist, the most outstanding fact would be the series of economic fears which have persisted since the end of 1945."

He detailed 1946 fears, of depression, the supposed onslaught of unemployment, the envisioned smokeless chimneys.

Struggled Through

"But somehow or other we managed to struggle through to 1947 with the smoke still billowing and everyone worrying about the manpower shortage.

By the fall of 1947 there was a new fear, "the dollar shortage."

"About the time everyone began to understand what that meant, another fear was raising the hair on a good many scalps —what rearmament might do.

"You do not have to go far to find someone who is certain that this time the inflationary potential of our rearmament program is going to dislocate the whole Canadian economy."

As to the problems ahead, Mr. Reid said he didn't wish to oversimplify them, but he came to this conclusion:

"This will be another year in unusual! We can expect a substantial increase in inflationary processes as 1951 progresses. I am convinced that they will not be so great as not to be controlled effectively by common sense and economic restraint."

Spent $30,427 In Polio Fight For People In Ontario–Foundation

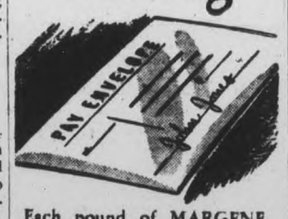
TORONTO, Jan. 12 (CP)—The Canadian Foundation for Poliomyelitis said Thursday it has spent $30,427 to aid polio sufferers in Ontario—not $10,000 as suggested in a statement by a provincial cabinet minister.

Health Minister Phillips said his department is looking into the financial and medical set-up of the foundation, whose 1951 March of Dimes campaign—for $750,000 —was launched this week.

As far as his staff had ascertained, Dr. Phillips said, the foundation's sole contribution to polio victims was a $10,000 grant to the Society for Crippled Children.

The foundation said the $30,427 figure covers the period from June 1, 1950, to Dec. 30, 1950. It included not only $10,000 to the Crippled Children's Society but also $300 to Toronto's Lakeshore Swimming Club, $3,000 to the Society for Crippled Civilians, $3,800 to the Toronto Association for Occupational Therapy, $8,774 for "post-polio cases" (including appliances, hospital accounts, financial aid, physiotherapy and transportation, $1,864 for fellowships and scholarships, and $2,687 for "administration, medical travelling and educational literature."

Earlier, Maj. John Inwood, foundation comptroller, said that of the $286,000 collected in the 1950 March of Dimes appeal some $180,000 was allocated to combat polio throughout Canada. It cost another $100,000 of the $286,000 to pay for the 2½-year job of organizing the campaign on a national basis.



The reply to Dr. MacKinnon's statement was the latest development in a lively controversy over the foundation's aims and operations.

The federal health department declined comment on the controversy but said it has never endorsed the foundation for poliomyelitis.

H. H. Bishop, president of the Health League of Canada, said the league favors establishment of a federal government commission to investigate and control all country-wide appeals.

C. H. Millard, Canadian director of the United Steelworkers of America (CCL-CIO) said the Canadian Congress of Labor had been told "by its own expert" not to participate in the Canadian March of Dimes campaign.

Cancer Society Supplying Free Dressings

The Peterborough Branch of the Canadian Cancer Society is starting a project for the first time in the city of supplying dressings for cancer patients. This information was reported to the Examiner today by Mrs. Maurice Holt, vice-president and chairman of the welfare committee.

The society hopes to fill the need of many cancer patients and doctors for dressings that has existed in the city for some time. Up until the present time, many patients have been required to make their own dressings.

With the announcement of this project the cancer society is also making an appeal to residents of Peterborough for used white cotton and linen materials. These materials should be wrapped in brown paper, tied and marked Cancer Society and left at the Chamber of Commerce office, in the Dominion Bank Building, 360 George St.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Basketball holds sway on various floors this week-end here. Couple of colleens' contests tonight in the YW, starting at eight, Nurses Jrs. vs. CGE, followed by Normals vs. Nurses Srs. This eve at the Collegiate, Lindsay and St. Peter's bantams, juniors and seniors tangle in a boys' hoop triple-header. Tomorrow p.m. in the YM, Bowmanville meets the local intermediate "B" men of the lakeshore grouping. Meantime, PCVS senior and junior "A" cagers are off on a week-end trip, playing exhibitions in Hamilton tonight and the Falls on the morrow, then taking in a college game across the line. Much action indeed for the basketeers.

* * * * * *

A scoring list for the Port Hope Redmen of the lakeshore intermediate "A" puck loop the other day shows Dave Casey leading the way with 42 points, Buck Legrow being second with 38. Alf Griffin is pretty well up in the running, too. These local chaps perform for Red Creighton's crew, just as several Peterborough puck-chasers are playing for Lakefield Indians. Then, Brintons and St. Peter's entries in the Trent Valley League keep quite a few more fellows from here in regular competition. They can't all make the Petes or Eagles when over junior age, but they shouldn't have to hang up their skates. These other teams prove a big help.

* * * * * *

Redmen Playing Petes

It's Belleville Redmen vs. the Petes at 8.30 tonight in Civic Arena, an OHA senior "B" scrap. Despite the beating the Reds took on home ice early this week at the hands of the Jopling gents, Wally Bent thinks the Redmen have a good chance of upsetting the cart here. He likes his new goalie, 21-year-old Jim Irwin, but feels the defence let him down last game. And Wally admits the Petes were very hot and the Reds pretty cold in that tilt. Upsets are becoming so common in this group lately that anyone's guess goes and the Petes may have to hustle plenty to take tonight's fray. It will likely pack in a hefty Friday p.m. crowd of fans.

* * * * * *

Junior "B" IOOF-ers are off to Lindsay tonight and Bun Kingdon's battlers aren't unduly worried about being crushed by carnations. The Scugog bunch have a hunch that carnations bring 'em luck and jinx the enemy—one of those superstitions that crop up in sports at times—so they'll have the flowers on hand this e'en. Well, we've run across many such superstitions in our prowl along the sports paths, and must admit that carnations make a sweeter smelling voodoo than some. Like certain puckists who insisted on wearing a "lucky" suit of underwear until a victory string was broken. And many other odd notions that play a part in the game.

* * * * * *

PMHA-ers In Action

Six lively minor hockey struggles staged at the arena last gloaming. In juvenile play, Clapper's won 4-1 against the IOOF-ers, while Lakefield Lions looked impressive in blanking Trojans 7-0. The undefeated midget Marines were extended in downing St. Peter's 4-2, while Martin-Hewitt and Trojans fought it out to a neat 2-all draw in their midget melee. Trojan bantams defeated the St. Peter's lads 4-1, the other bantam battle winding up in a 3-0 decision for the Empress crew against the Otonabee Wolves. The bantam and midget PMHA schedules wind up Feb. 1 with the juves squaring away for playoffs a week later.

* * * * * *

Church hockey this season here is being taken care of by the Peterborough and District Boys Work Board, Jim Edwards, prexy, informs us. An eight-team bantam schedule is in, going from Jan. 15 to Feb. 12 when four go into playoffs. No PMHA-ers allowed in this loop, boys being under 15 by Jan. 16, 1951. Entry fees will be taken by Mr. Steele of George St. Church at Riverside next Monday and any team not paying at the time will forfeit the game. Jim Edwards will collect fees at King Edward on Monday eve, the amount being two bucks a squad. Coaches should take note of these rules, and also clip the schedule for future reference.

Form Hockey League At Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 12. — (ENS). — A group of hockey-minded individuals met in the Council chambers Thursday evening to form a Campbellford town league. Attendance was larger than had been expected, with about 50 persons turning out.

Four teams have been formed, and are entered in the league. These are the Campbellford branch, 103, Canadian Legion, Lloyd's Sports Shop and Seymour East and Seymour West have each entered a team. This four-team loop will play in the Campbellford Arena Thursday evenings and double-headers will start at 7 p.m.

The league will get under way January 18, with Lloyd's and Legion, Seymour East and Seymour West playing the first two games.

Lionel Holmes has been named as referee for the league.

Utilities Lead Way

Utilities rolled 2,723 for high pinnage this week in the Mercantile Bowling League, Bond's 1,016 being best single game. The high for ladies was taken by Bernice Primeau with a triple of 689 and single of 305. Don Hume's 311 led men in singles, as Harold Mesley showed the way in three-somes with 724. Utilities blanked A. & P., while 3-1 wins were registered by Prudential over Lift Lock, Braund's No. 2 against Bond's, and Braund's No. 1 over City Hall. Loblaw's and Austin's broke even.

Other high games for ladies: Winnie McCarrell 670, Marg Widdis 635, Shirley Berwick 606, Irene Penrose 601, Verna Hopkins 580. Men's high counts: Don Hume 696, Frank Worsencroft 659, Gord Leonard 639, Curly Curtain 624, Harold Cawker 600 and Karl Dorrington 599.

Clappers-Lions Take Wins In PMHA Frays

Clapper's defeated Oddfellows 4-1 and the Lakefield Lions took a 7-0 victory over Trojans in juvenile PMHA fixtures run off at Civic Arena last night. In midget play, Trojans and Martin-Hewitt tied 2-2, as Marines won 4-2 against St. Peter's. The Trojan bantams beat St. Peter's 4-1 while Empress downed the Otonabee Wolves 3-0.

Pammett got two goals for the Clapper crew, with Sanderson and Killen each having a goal and an assist, Ferguson drawing another assist. Church counted the Oddfellows' lone marker, the losers drawing all four penalties. McCracken scored in the first for Lakefield, he and Heffernan getting markers in the second, Heffernan also having an assist. Coyle got two in the third and Sloan and McIlmoyle one each, as Twist and Coyle each aided on one. Play was clean.

Scored Early

Carleton and Renwick of the midget Trojans tallied in the first, with McFadyen helping one. Hunt and Brooks evened it in the second for Martin-Hewitt, the Trojans having four penalties to two. McGillan, Turner, Frizzelle and Corbett were the snipers for the undefeated Marines, Turner also helping out once. Kane accounted for both the St. Peter's goals in a tidy and clean contest.

Trojan bantams scored a pair in the first of their game with Godfrey and Heffernan registering, as Blodgett got one for St Peter's. Heffernan and Godfrey again tallied in the second and that did it. There was but one penalty apiece. Scorers for the Empress bantams were Goldie, Johnson and B. Armstrong in a neat joust with few penalties passed out. Teams:

Clapper's — Tyndall, Parry, Sullivan, Pammett, Richardson, Ferguson, Cupoli, Harris, Killen, Murdock, Sanders, Jones, Batley, Mongraw.

IOOF — M. Bryan, B. Bryan, Wager, Buchan, Caravaggio, White, Gooley, Spencer, Hope, Church, Daniels, Kimball.

Hockey's Big Seven

By The Canadian Press.

Montreal's Maurice (The Rocket) Richard was hitting on all cylinders again Thursday night, scoring twice and assisting on another goal to move within three points of second place in the National Hockey League's individual scoring race.

Richard now has 26 goals, target for all other league snipers, and 11 assists for 37 points, three less than Toronto's Max Bentley who has 15 goals and 25 assists. Bentley is one point off the leader, Gordie Howe of Detroit, who has a 16-25 record.

Ted Sloan of Toronto is in fourth place with 33 points while four other players follow with 30.

The leaders:	G	A	Pts.
Howe, Detroit	16	25	41
M. Bentley, Toronto	15	25	40
Richard, Montreal	26	11	37
Sloan, Toronto	18	15	33

Central Victorious

Central intermediates of the School Hockey League downed Queen Mary 6-3. Armstrong and Kelly tallied a pair each for the winners, with Naish and Floyd adding the others. Haig clicked for a brace for Queen Mary, and Brown hit the hemp for the third one. Teams:

Queen Mary: Goal, Welsh; defence, Lincoln, Staves; centre, Haig; wings, Dobbin, Brown; alternates, Brisbois, Mann, Atkinson, Doughton, Hutton, Jobbitt.

Central: Goal, Tetlock; defence, Baker, Menzies; centre, Kelly; wings, Naish, Armstrong; alternates, Pollock, Sorrie, Riel, J. Lustic, D. Lustic, Sanderson, Dinsdale, Lloyd, McInroy.

Referee: E. Loveday.

Toronto's Mayor Hiram McCallum has proposed that the Board of Control drop its plan to honor the city's Dominion football champion Argonauts.

The Mayor, noting that Argonaut president Bob Moran had declined the city's proposed gift of watches for the players after a controversy in city council over their cost, suggested that the board forget about it."

If it still wished to honor the club, it should consult its directors to find out what could be accepted since the watches had been refused.

Mayor McCallum attributed the controversy to a report that the watches would cost $100 apiece. The board had never considered paying that much.

The board decided to reserve decision on the watch question until next week.

Bill Gadsby, Chicago Black Hawk defenceman, can't seem to shake the injury jinx.

He arrived in Galt Wednesday to get himself in condition after being sidelined with a leg fracture. Today he's going to return to Chicago with orders not to do any practising for a couple of weeks.

While practising with the Galt juniors, farm club of the Chicago team. Gadsby collided with Mike Buchanan, fell heavily and limped off the ice. X-rays showed he had suffered a bad bruise where his leg had been broken.

Edgar (Special Delivery) Jones, star halfback for Hamilton Tiger-Cats and scoring leader of the Interprovincial Rugby Football Union last season, has applied for the post of head coach at Ohio State University, college officials announced Thursday.

Ohio State officials said they would make no decision for several weeks on a successor to Wes Fesler, who resigned recently.

Jockey Ted Atkinson's five-year-old son, John Andrew Atkinson, was hit and injured critically by a truck in Miami Thursday. The jockey and his wife were out fishing in the Gulf Stream aboard George Odom's yacht Sarah O, III when the accident occurred.

Mrs. C. S. Robertson's Toronto Granite rink Thursday won 11-9 extra-end victory from another Granite foursome skipped by Mrs. L. E. Wooley and took the William Robertson Trophy, symbolic of Ontario women's single rink curling championship.

Three rinks from Manitoba and one from Saskatchewan are all that remained in the hunt for the cars—major prize in the Nipawin, Sask., fifth annual bonspiel.

They are skipped by Jimmy Welsh of Winnipeg and Pete Hume of Flin Flon, Man., in Group B, and W. G. Taylor of Rivers, Man., and Lawrence Borreson of Antler, Sask., in Group A.

Plenty Of Horseplay In All-Star Game

DETROIT, Jan. 12 (CP). — Horseplay was supposed to be eliminated this year, but there was plenty of it Thursday night nonetheless as Detroit Red Wings defeated the International Amateur League All-Stars 11-8.

A crowd of 5,027 saw the game with the proceeds going to the Amateur League's hospital fund.

The All-Stars used three goalies in an attempt to best the National Hockey League leaders and at one time had 21 players on the ice. The Wings resorted to some questionable tactics of their own, once using 11 men.

Injuries to several Wings in last year's contest resulted in an order to limit the comedy this time.

P of W Victorious

Prince of Wales seniors took a 6-2 school hockey league win over Queen Alex at Inverlea rink. It was a fast and even game till well out in the third. R. Whitton and W. Whitton scored for Queen Alex and the line of Macklin, McClennan and Druce teamed up neatly. The Clarke brothers led the winners with two goals each, as J. Heron and B. Godfrey got one apiece. Teams:

Queen Alex: Goal, Morris; defence, Jackson, Baker; centre, R. Whitton; wings, W. Whitton and Brown; alternates, Macklin, McClennan, Druce, Turnbull, Alton.

Prince of Wales: Goal, Chambo; defence, Coit, Carl; centre, B. Godfrey; wings, Hancock, L. Clarke; alternates, Thompson, N. Clarke, Northrop, Heron, Hunt.

Referee: L. McNeil.

Caps Down Mohawks

By The Canadian Press.

Indianapolis Capitals and Pittsburgh Hornets were the class of the American Hockey League Thursday night. The Caps downed Cincinnati Mohawks 3-1 while Pittsburgh downed Hershey Bears 3-2 in the only games played. Indianapolis thus moved out of the league's western division cellar past the idle St. Louis Flyers, and the Caps had to come from behind to win.

Selkirk Rink Captures Waddell Cup

By HERB. MARTIN.

And now we offer congratulations to Mrs. V. Selkirk and members of her rink. They won the Waddell Trophy yesterday, when they defeated Mrs. O. Steer's rink by three shots. That makes two competitions that the ladies have settled this week. This event was the consolation to the Gibson Trophy, and we believe the ladies also started play for the Ostrander Trophy yesterday. The club looks like a going concern.

Mrs. J. Philcox, Mrs. H. Wilson, Mrs. J. Hallowell, Mrs. V. Selkirk, skip.

Mrs. A. Clark, Mrs. R. Miller, Mrs. G. Tollington, Mrs. O. Steer, skip.

We are pleased to report that F. Batten and R. Bacon, two of our popular members, who have been seriously ill, are showing improvement.

Men's bonspiel tomorrow at 2:00 p.m.

Mixed rink bonspiel tomorrow evening at 7:45 o'clock.

King George Wins

King George yanked out a 3-2 intermediate School Hockey League win in their clash at the arena Wednesday with King Edward. Grills counted first with J. Harding and B. Moffitt setting it up. Grills added one from Moffit, and Clarke tallied the final for the winners. Byers and Rose scored for the losers, Collins helping once.

King Edward: Goal, Hutchinson; defence, Riel, Murduff; centre, Rose; wings, Byers, Rowe; alternates, Stevens, Biggs, Murphy, Meredith, Collins.

King George: Goal, Jerry Harding; defence, Clarke, English; centre, Jim Harding; wings, Moffit, Grills; alternates, Mountney, Dorrington, Baptie, Pollard.

Dozens of Ontario Clubs Get Crack At Allan Cup

TORONTO, Jan. 12 (CP). — Dozens of Ontario's senior hockey clubs this year get their first crack at a Dominion championship.

They'll compete with other teams across Canada for the Allan Cup, long the symbol of Canadian amateur hockey supremacy but now relegated to a secondary spot by the new "Major Series."

The break came with the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association's decision to set up a major series, a league one notch above senior. Winners of the five major leagues — the Maritime, Cape Breton, Quebec, Ontario and Western Canada loops—now play off for the Alexander Trophy.

That left the Allan Cup for the weaker senior leagues and the erstwhile Senior B loops which formerly just played off for individual group championships.

It caused a drastic shuffle of Ontario hockey groupings and a major headache for the Ontario Hockey Association, which had to devise a playoff system for a hodge-podge of teams. Toronto Marlboros, St. Michael's, Hamilton Tigers and Kitchener-Waterloo went into the major ranks. Owen Sound remained senior. Senior B clubs and some intermediate teams moved up to senior ranks.

In Four Groups

The picture now is this:

Ontario's senior teams are divided into four rough groups — one in Eastern Ontario, one in Central Ontario and two in the southwestern peninsula. Northern Ontario does not come under the OHA.

The eastern group has entries from Kingston, Belleville and Queen's University Combines, and two from Peterborough.

The central circuit, dubbed the Big Seven, has teams from Toronto, Owen Sound, Markham, Stouffville, Woodbridge and Alliston.

Woodstock, Brantford, Port Colborne, Niagara Falls, Dundas and St. Catharines teams are battling it out in a Niagara district grouping, while Sarnia and Chatham have representatives in the fourth loop.

The champion in each group will have its choice of competing in the Allan Cup playoffs or the Ontario championships. If the top team decides not to go for the Allan Cup, the second-place team will take its place.

Group champions must be named by March 8 and playoffs start shortly afterwards. Teams competing for the Allan Cup will be called Senior A squads, those in the Ontario championship, Senior B.

The winner of the Senior A groupings will represent the province in the Allan Cup playoffs against teams from other provinces.

So far, the experts rate three teams as likely to fill that role — Owen Sound Mercurys, Brantford Burtols and Stouffville Clippers.

Belleville Wins Over Queen's 9-5

BELLEVILLE, Jan. 12 — The Belleville Redmen broke their six-game losing streak here on Thursday night by defeating the Queen's Combines 9-5 in an OHA senior fixture in the Belleville Memorial Areno. The win marked the Redmen's first victory in their last seven outings, and strengthened their grip on the fourth and final playoff berth in the league standing.

A total of 27 penalties were handed out by Referee Bill Shannon, including one match misconduct, one misconduct, and five major sentences, all in the final period. Two fights broke out in the third period that included every one on the ice.

The Redmen unleashed a savage attack in the first period to pile up a commanding 6-0 lead. The visitors came to life in the middle stanza to outscore locals 3-0, while the homesters held a 3-2 margin in the rugged final 20 minutes.

Veteran Vern Goyer led the attack for the Redmen with six goals. Johnny Green earned five assists, while Grian Mulvihill was credited with a goal and two assists. Doug Bastedo and Peter Jones also scored. Playing coach Johnny Carr-Harris and Ron Murray each earned a goal and an assist in the losing cause, while Don Muray was credited with two assists. Ross McKelvey, Eddie Klym, and Bill Shepherd got the others.

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press

Baseball commissioner Judge Landis 23 years ago today exonerated 21 players of charges of "throwing" games in the tight American League pennant race 10 years earlier in 1917 White Sox and Boston Red between Chicago White Sox and Boston Red Sox. The White Sox had been charged with "buying" four games from Detroit Tigers before they finished first and defeated New York Giants in the World Series.

Whipper Signs To Meet Yukon

Wrestling returns to the Brock Arena after the holiday season with just about the best card ever presented here. The main bout brings together the British Empire Heavyweight Champion Whipper Watson against the gigantic lumberjack Yukon Eric.

This will be Watson's first appearance here this season, and what an opponent he has chosen. The champ is at the peak of his form—and he will have to be—for in Yukon Eric he is meeting the No. 1 grappler at the present time.

It will be interesting to see just how the Whip's speed and ring science will stand up against Eric's tremendous strength. Both men are popular here and the fans will have a tough task picking a favorite.

Two more outstanding matches are being lined up by Manager Jim Laidlaw to go along with this stellar attraction. Laidlaw had to bid high to secure these two top matmen, but expects a sellout house will witness the match.

The ring has been repaired and everything is in readiness for Tuesday night.

Keys Of City Belong To Richard Scores 2 Goals, Habs Victorious

By JOHN D. HAMILTON, Canadian Press Staff Writer.

If Joseph Henri Maurice Richard were a politician, he'd probably be Montreal's leading candidate for mayor today.

The chunky, black-haired young man is the "people's cherce"—at least of those who follow professional hockey—for the keys of the city.

"Le Rocket est la!" was the cry of 14,042 Montrealers Thursday night as Richard fired two goals and got an assist to lead Montreal Canadiens to a 4-1 triumph over Chicago Black Hawks. The victory lifted the Habitants into sole possession of the National Hockey League's third place, two points ahead of Boston Bruins.

"The Rocket's got it—he's in there!" might be a free translation of the tribute to Richard, rated one of the greatest NHL right wings of all time. His performance Thursday night laid a canard started a week or two ago by general Jack Adams of Detroit Red Wings. Jolly Jawn suggested that his own pride and joy at right wing, Gordie Howe, was the best hockey player around today.

Goes To Town

Richard promptly went out and scored six goals in three straight games—and incidentally gave his team a chance to step two full games ahead of Boston when they meet the Bruins here.

Perhaps the only spectators at the Forum Thursday night who didn't applaud Richard rapturously were members of the Bruin club. A quirk in the NHL schedule brought them to Montreal ahead of time and all of the Bostonians were on hand to watch the Rocket.

It was on the only NHL game played Thursday night and Richard, like a true showman, kept his punch for the final act. His two goals brought his season total to 26 (best in the league) and his all-time NHL record to 276 in regular-schedule play.

With 34 playoff goals, he has counted 310 in his 8½ years in the big time.

Had To Wait

The fans had to wait for their thrills Thursday night.

The first period was scoreless. Then defenceman Glen Harmon put the Habs ahead at 5:46. Elmer Lach made it 2-0 on a pass-out.

Alarm! Wasn't Richard going to score for his public? True, he had an assist on Lach's goal. But. . .

Came the third period. . .

Worse and worse! Chicago's Roy Conacher scores at 4:04.

Ah, here comes the Rocket at 7:57! It's a backhander as he reaches the Chicago defence that makes goalie Harry Lumley look bad! Fifteen seconds left. There he goes again! And his 26th goal of the season. . .

Almost forgotten was Bert Olmstead, who Montreal picked up not long ago in a trade. He set up three goals, including both of Richard's.

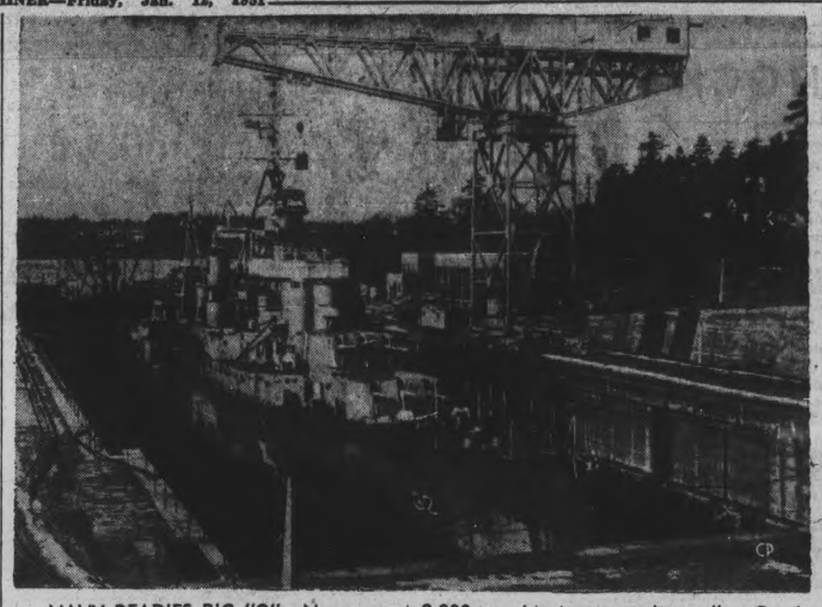
Foote Rejects Complaint Of Galt's Mayor

TORONTO, Jan. 12 (CP)—The Rev. John Foote, V.C., Ontario minister of reform institutions, said Thursday the welfare of boys and girls committed to training school must govern decisions affecting the schools.

Maj. Foote was commenting on a protest by Mayor Arthur White of Galt against the transfer of the Ontario Boys' Training School from Galt to Cobourg.

(A girls' training school is being transferred from Cobourg to Galt.)

The mayor said the move would seriously inconvenience many of the school staff members who had built or bought homes in Galt. Further, programs undertaken by Galt detachments of the provincial and mounted police in the boys' interests would be lost.



"Our first consideration must be the welfare of the boys and girls in our schools," the reform minister said. "The schools are maintained primarily to serve them, not the staff members."

Actually, Maj. Foote declared, the transfer would affect only teachers on the staff, and these would benefit by the move since it was policy that teachers must obtain wide experience in various schools before being promoted. Maintenance staff members would continue in Galt.

The boys would not suffer any loss, the reforms minister concluded, for Cobourg police detachments stood ready to give the same co-operation as that given by officers in Galt.

Hope To Reduce Forest Fires

TORONTO, Jan. 12 (CP)—Increased effort will be made this year to cut down on the number of forest fires in Ontario, Lands Minister Scott said Thursday.

Commenting on this week's annual meeting of department foresters, he said emphasis was laid on improvement of measures for detecting and suppressing fires. Additional stress also had been put on the need for educating the public in prevention.

Questions of increased safety in the woods also were discussed at the meeting. The department announced plans for district safety councils throughout the province.

Reforestation is proceeding by leaps and bounds, the foresters were told. The demand for trees was higher now than ever and supplies were falling short of requests. Only a few years ago, farmers and municipalities often had to be coaxed to carry out tree-planting projects.

Wm. J. Snyder Dies

HAMILTON, Jan. 12 — (CP-—William J. Snyder 66, who served 24 years as secretary of the Ontario Baseball Association, died Thursday after a long illness. He also was associated president for four terms— 1924, 1926-1927, and 1945. In 1945 he also served as secretary.

To Open In November

RIDGETOWN, Ont., Jan. 12 — (CP). — The Western Ontario Agriculture School for which dormitories are now under construction here will open on or about November 1, Prof. J. C. Steckley, director of the Western Ontario Experimental Farm, announced Thursday.

Swedish Budget Asks Record Defence Total

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Jan. 12 (Reuters)—Sweden's government Thursday asked in its new budget proposal for a record total 1,051,-000,000 kroner (about $220,710,-000) for the armed forces.

With the money left over from the old budget year—the new one starts next July 11—this would bring military appropriations to a 1,212,000,000 krone.

King Gustav VI, in his first speech from the throne, pledged his country's co-operation in all United Nations measures "calculated to ease the international tenson and to promote permanent peace."

This pledge regarded by some observers as voicing indirectly Swedish opposition to any call for U.N. economic and political sanctions against Communist China.

Further Brakes NeededOnCredit

WELLAND, Jan. 12 (CP) — Some brakes on further expansion in credit may be needed, Morgan Reid, Toronto economist, said Thursday night in an address to the Niagara District Purchasing Agents Association.

Mr. Reid, who is secretary of the management advisory committee of Robert Simpson Company, added:

"At the moment the retail trade is operating under consumer credit controls. It is not unreasonable to suggest that similar measures of restriction should be applied to other sections of our credit structure.

"While a modest increase in interest rates would not of itself act as an important brake on inflation, it would help, particularly in view of the enormous capital expansion program now indicated for 1951—possibly in excess of $4,500,000,000."

Mr. Reid stated that this year will be one of sustained business volume.

"It will be but the beginning of a long and indefinite period when we shall have to sacrifice some of the good things of life in order to preserve our free world."

Facing Future Kiwanis Topic

Guest speaker at the Kiwanis Club's Week of Prayer meeting Thursday was Major C. G. Everitt of the Salvation Army. He chose as his topic "Facing the Future."

Major Everitt told the Kiwanis that people now were a group of tenderfeet just becoming acquainted with the New Year. Everything during this year will be new because "we have not passed this way before."

The road ahead, he said, will sometimes be paved, then rough; broad, then narrow; straight, then crooked. Fortunately in Canada the roads are made good, he added, and the person who thought of the white strip down the centre deserves a great deal of credit.

In life, he explained, the road is not marked as clearly. The calendar with the days, months, and years is the white line's closest comparison.

From birth to old age in all walks of life he said, life goes on without knowing what will happen next. This keeps life from becoming monotonous.

Just as a guide is a "wonderful convenience" on sightseeing tours (Major Everitt told briefly of his trips to England and the United States) so there should be a guide for people throughout their lives.

He was introduced by Richard Raine and thanked by Charles Saunders.

10 Dogs Worth $2,000 Die In Kennel Fire

ALDERSHOT, Ont., Jan. 12 — (CP).—Ten valuable show dogs worth $2,000 whose owner "knew their characters and dispositions as if they were human," died Thursday when fire gutted the kennels of Miss A. L. Beattie here. Eight other dogs were saved. Faulty wiring is believed to have started the fire.

Dogs of Miss Beattie's closed line, all cocker spaniels, have been shown at Toronto, Montreal, Hamilton and in the United States. They had come of international champion stock and sold for as much as $350.

Report Bulls Gain $1 During Week

TORONTO, Jan. 12 — (CP).—Bulls gained $1 on the cattle market at the Ontario Stockyards this week and other classes were strong, the Dominion Marketing Service reported today.

Calves were from $2-$3 higher and lambs gained 50 cents to $1. Hogs were unchanged.

A sizeable cattle run of 6,607 head was absorbed on an active market. Weighty steers were $30-$31 for good to choice quality, with tops at $31.50. Good light steers sold at $29-$30 and good heifers were $28.50-$29, with a full load of choice heifers at $30. Common to medium steers and heifers were $24-$28. Medium to good cows sold at $21.50-$23.50, with tops at $24.

Canners and cutters were mostly $16-$19.50. Choice fed yearlings sold at $32-$33 with mediums downward to $27. Good bulls closed at $25-$27. A few common to medium stockers sold at $23-$28 and small lots of good stockers brought up to $30.

Calves totalled 1,207 head. Prices gained $2-$3, closing at $35-$37 for choice vealers. Common to medium veals were $23-$33. One load of top calves went for export.

Hogs were a light run of 2,106 head. The market settled steady at $31.50 for Grade A with sows at $27 dressed.

Sheep and lambs totalled 656 head. Good ewes and wether lambs sold generally at $33-$33.50 and last sales brought up to $34. Culls and bucks sold at $32 and good light sheep were $16-$18. Culls sold downward to $10.

Stress Soil Testing Important To Farmer

LISTOWEL, Ont., Jan. 12 (CP) —Crop prospects for 1951 look bright, R. J. Bryden, soil specialist at Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, told a meeting of farmers at nearby Gowanstown Thursday. He told them to go ahead and lay plans for good yields.

Conducting the first in a series of three meetings for this rural area arranged jointly by the Ontario Agricultural College, Perth County and Wallace Township Federations of Agriculture, Mr. Bryden said successful farm operation depends on good physical condition of the soil. He advised soil testing and said the best time to do this is early spring or middle of September. An understanding of fertilizers was necessary.

Use Parking Meters To Boost Fire Fund

LONDON, Ont., Jan. 12 (CP)— City officials are turning a great collector—the parking meter—to philanthropic ends. The meter, it seems, has a peculiarity—it will take dimes but not give their value in parking meter time. Just the 12 minutes that one cent buys or 60 minutes for a nickel.

City Clerk R. H. Cooper and City Treasurer W. S. J. Saunders Thursday suggested a campaign in which motorists would be asked to deposit dimes in parking meters.

Dimes collected would be sorted out and turned over to a fund. In this case the London fund is in aid of five families made homeless in two Christmas season fires. One was a disaster which took five lives.

Refuses Answer

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12 (AP). —President Truman said Thursday that wages and prices will be controlled as soon as possible, but he declined to predict a rollback of prices. Asked at his press conference whether United States consumer costs will be forced down to some previous level, Truman said he would have to cross that bridge when he got to it.

Manvers Council Holds First Meeting of '51

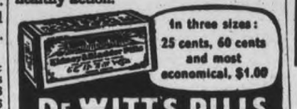
The inaugural meeting of the Municipal Council of the Township of Manvers was held Monday with all members present except Deputy-Reeve Beer, absent through illness.

Communications were received and read from the Durham County Federation of Agriculture, asking the council to appoint a member of their board of directors, Department of Health. Applications were received for appointment as school attendance officer from A. H. Monk and for appointment as weed inspector from Herman McGill.

Accounts were received for hospitalization, and requisitions for school money from SS No. 1, 2 and 14.

On a motion of Councillors Miller and Argue the printing contract was given to the Mirror-Reporter at the annual contract price of $200.

On motion of Councillors Argue and Miller the wage rate for road employees was amended to read as follows, to be retroactive to January 1, 1951:



Road Superintendent, 75 cents per hour and 7 cents per mile for transportation. Maintenance operator, 75 cents per hour; labor, 60 cents per hour; man and team, $1 per hour; and the clerk was instructed to prepare a by-law covering same.

On motion the reeve and treasurer were instructed to sign cheques for the following accounts:

SS No. 1, school money, $500; SS No. 2, school money, $700; SS No. 14, school money, $400; relief, $105; Charles Chapman, telephone tools and livery, $7; Twp. treasurer, road voucher No. 1, $1,218.11; J. C. Cummiskey, on account, salary, $100. The next meeting will be held on Tuesday, February 6.

Jewellery Store Window Broken Gems Grabbed

Fleeing from a smash-and-grab break-in in which he kicked in the window of Charlotte St. jewellery store and scooped up about $124 worth of watches and jewellery, Martin Gahagan, 36, 610 Bethune St., was chased and caught by Constable Louis Rodreque.

Gahagan was remanded in police court today on $1,000 bail to Thursday.

Constable Rodreque was alone in the police station at 2.55 a.m. this morning eating his lunch when a phone call came in from Vernon Grant Simpson, 67 Sophia St., and Joseph Doran, 482 Elm St., who were working late in the A and P store.

Crash of Glass

They heard a crash of glass and saw a man reaching into the jewellery store window.

Constable Rodreque jumped into the police truck and rushed to the scene. As he was approaching the store little more than a block away, he saw a man run into the Charlabond Apartments.

He jumped from the truck and chased him. As he was catching up to the fleeing man in the hallway, Gahagan turned and swung his fist at the officer.

Constable Rodreque caught the man's fist with his hand and clamped a wrestling hold on him.

Jewellery Found

When he got the accused out on the street, he gave him a quick search and found jewellery. Three other constables arrived at this point and Gahagan was taken to the police station.

The constable reported Gahagan had been drinking and fought as he was being taken into the station and searched.

Found on him were a gold wrist watch with a retail value of $89.50; an alarm clock $7.75, two rhinestone pins $10, one wrist watch $9 and several bill folds $7.

Suitcase Theft Charge Man On $1,000 Bail

Ernest Fenton, 267 Bethune St., was charged in police court today with stealing a suitcase and contents worth more than $25 from Frank Sloan Thursday.

Sloan had been working in a lumber camp in the north of the county and was on his way home when he reported the suitcase taken.

Fenton was remanded on $1,000 bail to Thursday.

UEW To Ask 25-Cent Hourly Increase

This year the United Electrical Workers are asking the Canadian General Electric Co. for a 40-hour week with the same take-home pay, a general wage increase of 25 cents an hour, and an extra 10 cents for day rate and other skilled workers.

At a meeting in Brock Street Summer Gardens Thursday night the membership of Local 524, UE, approved this basic formula. The negotiating committee was instructed to join with the other negotiating committees in the CGE chain in pressing their joint demands.

About 3,500 production workers are affected at the Peterborough plant.

The union is also asking for an improvement in general working conditions, including: greater piece-work and seniority protection, a revised vacation-with-pay plan, and a health and welfare plan paid for by the company.

At present the employees work a 43-hour week. Starting rate for women is 82 cents an hour with an increase of six cents in 60 days; for men the starting rate is 96 cents with progressions to $1.02 in 60 days. The average earnings at CGE are approximately $1.18 an hour.

Proposals of the joint conference board will be presented to the company January 17.

Will Add 3 Men To City Force

The Board of Police Commissioners Thursday appointed a new constable to the city police force to take the place of one who is resigning Jan. 19.

The new policeman is Jack Wilson, 214 Rutherford Ave. Constable Donald Jones is retiring from the force after about a year and a half as an officer.

The commission promoted two men on the recommendation of Chief Constable John Thompson. Donald Mackay and Edward Niziol. They are now first class constables after being on the force three years.

The police department will take on three more constables on the authority of the commission. The board members told the Chief Constable to include three more officers in his budget for 1951 department expenses.

This would raise the strength of the police force to 36 men apart from Chief Constable Thompson and Deputy Chief John Naples It would give each shift on duty one sergeant, one traffic officer and eight constables. This would be in addition to Sergeant William Aggas, Identification Officer, and the two detectives, Sergeant W. A. Clarke and Sergeant John Stevenson.

City Solicitor Feels Embarrassed

W. J. Arthur Fair and his client, Thomas Hughes, may blame the Examiner if they don't get a look this week at a bundle of city money.

News at the city hall intimates that the deal curled up in the blare of publicity. It seems that temporary silence was desired officially until the offer was made as a short cut in the city obtaining possession of the Hughes property on Monaghan Road south. After all, according to comment, it was a city business matter, in committee, and publication could have been withheld until the offer was made.

If City Solicitor Hycke was embarrassed in his proposal before it got a chance to reach the owner of the property, it was due to misunderstanding of the extent of the council's wishes in the matter.

Obituary

ROBERT HENRY MORLEY

A First World War pensioner and veteran of overseas service, Robert Henry Morley, RR 11 Otonabee, died Thursday after an illness of 10 days. He was 58.

Mr. Morley was born in Croydon, England, son of the late William Morley and Mary Ann Miles. After leaving England he worked for some time in Detroit, Michigan, and he lived in Peterborough for the last 30 years.

He leaves three sisters— Mrs. Ernest Walker (Jennie), Peterborough; Mrs. George Taylor (Lillian), Croydon; and Mrs. John Hierons (Alice), Peterborough; a brother—William Morley of Croydon.

Mr. Morley was a member of Branch 52, Canadian Legion. He joined up in the First World War with the 4th Canadian Mounted Rifles in Port Hope. And he served overseas with that unit.

He was at one time an employee of CGE but in recent years he has not worked steadily because of ill health.

The funeral will be conducted by the Legion with the Rev. Fred Craik of St. James' United church officiating, Saturday, 3.30 p.m., at the Nisbett funeral home. Burial will be in Little Lake Cemetery.

Deloro Smelting Vital Part Canada's Cobalt Recovery

DELORO, Jan. 12—A mining company that does no mining is still making money in this eastern Ontario village. Not one chunk of ore does it move out of the ground, but the company continues to flourish. It is the Deloro Smelting and Refining Co., owned by M. J. O'Brien Ltd., and is Canada's only producer of cobalt and arsenic for consumption in this country.

For 44 years, the company, which at one time owned Canada's first cyanide gold mill, has been operating. It was built about 1903, in the early days of Ontario's Cobalt silver camp.

Then, high grade silver and silver-cobalt concentrates were shipped to the United States for smelting. Increasing tonnage from the M. J. O'Brien operations at Cobalt and other large producers brought about the building of an eastern Ontario smelter.

Once Gold Mine Venture

The old brick arsenic chambers used years ago in a gold mine venture at the turn of the century formed the groundwork of the present $3,000,000 smelter.

By 1910, the company grew into the world's largest source of cobalt metal, but in 1925, after discoveries of cobalt in the Belgian Congo outstripped Canadian production, the smelter folded up.

Throughout the two world wars, the plant was the sole refiner of cobalt metal in Allied hands, and it is now at work in Canada's present rearmament program.

Though the plant can now supply Canadian manufacturers, it has not been able to fill orders from the U.S. They have now started to flow into the office.

Output this year, predicts general manager R. G. Walsh will be about 15 tons a month. But the production of cobalt, its compounds and alloys, cannot be increased rapidly. Almost all the world's cobalt is found in ores with other metals—copper, nickel, iron, lead, maganese, silver, gold, arsenic.

Used In Television

Cobalt and its compounds and alloys are used in television, radio and communications, and in stellite, the company's alloy used in facing rods, cutting metals, turbine blades for jet engines, and other items.

To Hastings county, the plant means a place to work. Two hundred and fifty are employed there, and the $750,000 annual payroll has an immense effect on the rest of the area, essentially a farming community.

This big payroll assists four other villages besides Deloro, which is a company town, and where heated house rent is from $10 to $19 monthly. Starting pay rate in the area is about 85 cents an hour.

2 Women Hurt Head-on Crash

A woman passenger, Mrs. Russell Puffer, Nephaline Mines, suffered a possible fractured skull and her daughter, who was driving, Doreen Puffer, received a cut lip when their car met in collision with a car in Lakefield Thursday afternoon.

Chief Constable Garnet Samis said the driver of the other car, Donald Montgomery, Lakefield, would be charged.

Both the mother and daughter were taken to Civic Hospital here. Miss Puffer was later released. Mrs. Puffer's condition was reported today to be fair.

The two cars met almost head-on. Miss Puffer was driving east on Bridge St. just west of the two bridges at the south end of the village. Montgomery was driving in the opposite direction.

He turned into a service station on the south side of the road.

Miss Puffer started to swing her car to the north and the right front corner of both cars crashed. About $300 damage was done to the nearly new 1951 model car Miss Puffer was driving. The whole front end of the Montgomery 1935 model car was smashed.

A small girl in the back seat of the Puffer car was shaken up and received bruises, but was not seriously hurt.

May Postpone Women's Ski Meet

The Southern Ontario Class C Ski meet for senior and junior women at Bethany this Sunday will likely be postponed.

Mrs. Mollie Craig, chairman of the Ontario division's women's section, said "things don't look very hopeful." Plans for the present are to wait until Saturday morning before putting off the meet until February.

For the second time the ski school at Kemp's hill, scheduled to be opened Saturday, has been postponed. "Dangerous" ski conditions on Kemp's hill slopes prompted the sponsors, the recreation commission and the Peterborough Ski club, to postpone the opening until next Saturday.

Skiing conditions throughout the Peterborough area are described as poor by Toby Westbye, president of the ski club. The hill at Kemp's, he said, is too dangerous for the children with some stones showing through the snow.

Mr. Westbye said that some men will be working this weekend at the Kemp's hill and if the crowd of skiers is large enough the tow may be operated. He doubted there would be a large number of skiers because conditions are so bad that skis may be damaged.

R. O. Benson Named Hospital Comptroller

Mr. R. O. Benson of Belleville, formerly of Peterborough, has been appointed comptroller of Belleville General Hospital. He was graduated three years ago from Queen's University with a Bachelor of Commerce degree, and since then has been employed in the government offices at Belleville.

Mr. Benson is a son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Benson, 657 Aylmer St. He brings to his new appointment business experience and ability.

Residents Ask Why Wires Not Underground

Residents of Park St. south and even some of those in the lateral streets toward Monaghan Road are rather rueful about the removal of trees north and south of the Jobbitt hardware store.

They are making way for a new Utilities power line, one of the steps in the gradual improvement of that stretch of Park St. south from Lansdowne St. which is being reclaimed from township conditions.

Some of the comments to the Examiner varied from comments that "it's too bad" to "why can't the Utilities put their wires under ground, especially when they are putting up new lines for years of use."

Mr. Frank Jobbitt took a realistic view of the Utilities job and was reconciled to its need. The city is really refashioning Park St. south, and it was desirable to get full width of the road for traffic of present and future.

"I think we would have lost some of them anyway," Mr. Jobbitt said today. "Naturally the neighbors down here will miss them, but I understand that plans for the changes in the street call for the planting of trees, including maples."

Big Bear Lurks At Nassau

A bear was reported seen at Nassau by Mrs. Eugene O'Carroll Wednesday night.

Mrs. O'Carroll reported that about 7 p.m. she let her small dog out the front door and left the door open for it to come back in. In a few minutes the dog bolted in, obviously frightened.

Mrs. O'Carroll went to the front door and switched on the verandah light. She saw a black bear beside her verandah.

Bear Bolted

As soon as the light went on, the bear bolted toward the east, jumped a fence, crossed the railway tracks and ducked into the small scrub bush and swamp there.

Mrs. O'Carroll called her husband and with a flashlight they examined the tracks of the bear.

Mrs. O'Carroll said she was worried that the bear might attack children in the neighborhood who go to school east of Nassau in the same general direction the bear headed.

She said a bear was seen in the vicinity last spring. But none had been seen for two years before that. She hopes some of Peterborough's hunters will go after the bear.

Driving School For Students

A safe driving school for students of PCVS and St. Peter's High School was opened this week at the Public Library. Once a week, on Wednesday, the students will receive one-hour lectures covering topics from the mechanics of a car to the actual driving under the guidance of the Kiwanis Club.

On Wednesday 22 students from both schools attended the first class. Ronald W. Cumming gave the first in nine lectures speaking about the gasoline combustion engines. Next week's lecture will be given by William M. Cumming when brakes will be the subject.

The first nine lectures will deal with such subjects as the mechanics of cars, regulations under the traffic acts, courtesy rules and automobile insurance. After this series demonstrations in practical driving will be given.

During the course the pupils will be provided with 60-day permits by the Kiwanis Club and upon completion of the course those passing will receive their first driver's license at the expense of the club.

Drunk Driving Count

A man whom police say was speeding 50 to 60 miles an hour on Aylmer St. Thursday, Bartlett Coulter, 29, River Road S., was charged in police court this morning with drunk driving.

He was remanded on $500 bail until Monday,

Judge Accepts As Chairman Of Police Commission If Council Keeps Hands Off

Judge S. L. Smoke was elected chairman of the Board of Police Commissioners at its first meeting of 1951 Thursday. He said he would take on the job and remain in the police commission only if the city council changed its mind about cutting off two weeks pay the police commission voted to pay Constable George Moore-Gough.

Constable Moore-Gough's sick leave had run out about two weeks before the end of 1950. But the constable was still in hospital because he developed a fever contracted in the army some years before.

Judge Smoke said he was not going to act on the commission if its decisions could be reversed by the city council or any board of paid city officials.

Monday night the finance committee of the city council voted to refuse to extend the sick leave which Constable Moore-Gough had used up.

Thursday the commission voted to pay the constable the two week's pay it had previously decided to pay him and gave him two more week's sick leave without pay.

Other members of the commission are Mayor Max J. Swanston and Magistrate W. R. Philp who were in turn chairmen in 1949 and 1950. They said Judge Smoke's condition in accepting chairmanship was agreeable to them.

Salary Offer Made

The Commission offered members of the police force a pay raise of $100 a year and three weeks' vacation with pay after 10 years' service.

It turned down a request by the bargaining committee of the Police Association for three days sick leave a month instead of the now existing one and a half days and turned down a request for a full 78 days off a year instead of the 76 and a half they now get above statutory holidays.

The Police Association submitted its demands to the commission at its meeting in December.

Spokesman of the policemen's committee, Traffic Officer Harold Mesley, said he would take back the decision of the commission to the policemen and they would have a meeting probably Monday night to consider the commission's offer and vote on whether they would accept it or not.

He said he had authority only to accept nothing less than the $400 raise the association wanted.

Members of the police commission said in offering $300 they had in mind that the city firemen last year were granted a raise of $150 which was back-dated to Jan. 1, 1950.

Cannot Back Date A Raise

Members of the commission said they had no authority to back date any raise and said the raise they offered would take effect as of Jan. 1, 1951. Judge Smoke said the $150 offered above the firemen was comparable to the $170 cost of living bonus given policemen during the war.

The commission said that it would like a signed agreement with the Police Association fixing the terms of their agreement when a settlement was reached. In the past agreements have been verbal, although, of course, recorded in the minutes of the police commission meetings and police association meetings.

The commission also said in the event that city employees were given any more sick leave or more days off, the police officers would almost certainly get the same.

Meet Pitfalls With Frankness In Married Life

Pitfalls in Family Relations was the topic of Magistrate W. R. Philp's address in the first of a series of six forums of the marriage counselling course held in the church parlor of Trinity United Church Tuesday night.

Magistrate Philp discussed some of the main problems that arise in married life such as difficulties in finance, different interests and living conditions. He stressed the point that these difficulties should be met with frankness and complete honesty by both husband and wife or they would grow into major problems that might prove a serious threat to the marriage.

A discussion and answer period followed Magistrate Philp's address.

John Pierce welcomed the group. Mr. and Mrs. Pierce are president of the Mr. and Mrs. Club of Trinity United Church who are sponsoring the marriage counselling course.

The next forum will be held on January 18. The topic, Home Making and Family Income, will be discussed by Mrs. W. B. Gordon and T. E. McKay.

Warning Flares Set Fire To Gas

PORT HOPE, Jan. 12—Ice was blamed for an accident Thursday when the truck driven by Ron McCaslin, 19-year-old transport driver, of Toronto, rolled over and later caught fire at the Ridout St.-Toronto Road bend. McCaslin escaped uninjured.

The transport, loaded with bundles of flattened out cardboard boxes, snapped off a telephone pole, bounced against a tree and rolled over on the opposite side of the street. McCaslin was going to Trenton.

Two unidentified men pulled the bewildered driver out of the cab and later when flares were lit to warn oncoming traffic, gas fumes from the fractured fuel tank ignited and the truck burst into flames. The Port Hope Fire Department was called to the scene.

When asked if he knew what had caused the accident, McCaslin replied: "It was ice, that's all."

County Farm Notes

By HARRY THEOB

Mrs. R. M. Malcolm of Durham County Wins Provincial Honors in Junior Farmers' Public Speaking Finals . . . Peterborough Juniors Extend General Invitation to Meeting, Tuesday, Jan. 16 . . . Farm Radio Forum Continues Maketing Series, Monday, Jan. 15.

Marketing Quality Products, the Farm Forum subject for Monday, Jan. 15, has an assertive inflection with somewhat less stress than usual on the element of question. Drop the two last words, put an interrogation mark after 'marketing,' and there you have the $64 rural problem.

Part of the answer rests in the middle word 'quality.' Few farmers and just as few consumers appreciate the accomplished fact of it.

Nowhere in the world is there higher quality of food products than in Canada. That is the result of supervision and inspection by the Federal Department of Agriculture, and of its Pure Food Act.

It is so commonplace a fact in the daily life of this country that is taken for granted. And pertinent to it is the statement Tuesday by John Reid of Ripley, Ont., at the 84th annual convention of the Dairymen's Association of Western Ontario in London.

"We have failed to keep the consumer informed of the value of these essential food products," Mr. Reid said. He also affirmed that dairymen "are very poor business men."

Initiative Of Consumer

Here is a little local incident which tends to confirm that criticism.

One of the deliverymen for a Peterborough dairy was recently puzzled by enquiries for skim milk in a wide area of the west end of the city. He was wondering whether the housewives in that residential section had become parsimonious or at least strangely economical.

The explanation was simply that they had been influenced by the wave of popular publicity which the dietary advice of Gayelord Houser has directed to milk, particularly skimmed and powdered. Mr. Reid's industry has had the advantage, largely unappreciated by his associate producers, of the Houser book and its condensation in a monthly pocket-size so-called digest magazine.

They couldn't pay for more than a fraction of that publicity. In this month's Cosmopolitan Magazine is a page of Houser recipes cut from the same dietary cloth. One of them features the use of powdered milk in homemaking of what Houser calls fortified milk. How many dairy farmers of Ontario have read the Houser gospel? Yet, milk production is their business. Its high quality is demanded by boards of health, provincial and local, and producers agree today with that greatly desirable development.

Pasteurization Enforced

Isn't it a fact that Mitchell F. Hepburn virtually had to take the public of Ontario by the nose, open their mouths and pour pasteurized milk down their throats? That goes for both consumer and producer in a large percentage of their combined numbers. Pasteurization was a new guarantee of purity, or at least of safety to the public.

That west end experience affords ample evidence that the John Reids of the dairy industry do not realize half the truth of his assertion: "We have failed to keep the consumer informed of the value of these essential (dairy) food products."

In that section of Peterborough the dairy industry was ultimately represented by a salesman who was puzzled about the enquiry of consumers for the milk products so convincingly recommended by an author named Gayelord Houser. In this instance, and it is safe to say that it is being duplicated to much the same extent all over Canada and the United States, it was the consumer who by enquiry was trying to inform the industry, including the producer and processor, of "the value of these essential food products."

Dairymen speak altogether too casually of the importance of their industry. If what Houser says of milk products is true, and there have been other earnest advocates in the last 25 years except that they missed that attractive title: "Live Longer, Look Younger," then the good value of milk has so far been only dimly glimpsed, especially by adults.

Skim Milk To Pigs

He urges the use of powdered milk, and for some years past it was the poor relation in the dairy family. You could hardly give it away, and skim generally . . . well, millions of weanling pigs thrived on it.

Mr. Reid told the 500 delegates at London that "equalization of milk prices is one of the first pressing dairy problems to be ironed out."

What those dairy conventions need are a few inspired and informed smart men like Gayelord Houser to give them a new slant on the value "of these essential food products."

Houser isn't selling cream or butterfat. But, he has sold the idea of the appearance of youth and physical slimness (live longer, look younger) in an age and country that puts a mighty high premium on aids in both these human quests. On the top rung of his recommendations are dairy products, and not the least, —skim milk.

Some day, presumably, the dairy cow will be rated by its owner for its contribution in social values, and not merely as liquid collateral in paying off the mortgage.

Stripping That Saves Soil

Hay belts in a grain field on the farm of Harry Blewett, Cheming Road, did the job of checking erosion which they were planned to do.

The slope of that farther field to which Mr. Blewett is pointing invited the new practice of strip farming not just as novelty, but for positive, practical expedience in saving top soil.

That open winter of 1949-50 with much moisture in rains and melting of snow caused excessive loss to rolling fields across Ontario.

"It was a great deal worse than in normal winters," Frank C. Paterson, agricultural representative recalled today. "I can quote Mr. Blewett's own words that those strips of hay did demonstrate their effectiveness in preventing the flow of surface water on that field which slopes down from the north fence to the shallow gully just beyond the cattle in the centre of the picture."

Mr. Paterson said "we have to depend on object lessons and persuasion, and we think this is a good example of what planned farming will do in certain circumstances."

Conservation Example

In this case, it retards the run-off of water, and keeps the top soil from eroding, that is from washing down the slope, and thereby from thinning out at the top where it should stay.

Here is an object lesson in soil conservation, Mr. Paterson said, and progressive farmers of the district can see from it for themselves just what can be accomplished in benefit to themselves on fields similar to that summer scene above.

"It is like the warble fly campaign. Our farmers are the people who have to decide it for themselves. We have had good meetings in Ennismore and Westwood. They are also active in Harvey. I feel certain the Reeves of Smith and Otonabe are interested, but the movement to be successful must come from the conviction of the people that the proposed campaign will be a benefit to their herds. Our position is that we will do anything we can to help."

The theme of the Blewett farm picture is planning, Mr. Paterson said.

Planning For 1951

"Farmers are now thinking of their work for 1951. I think they should estimate their fertilizer needs right away and buy more than ever, even if they have to take it to home storage. They should plan to produce all the roughage they can, hay, pasture, ensilage. They should not put off getting their supply of seed grain. Legumes and grass are dearer with the exception of timothy.

I would like to advise increasing flocks and herds, and those who have not yet done so should make some inquiry into artificial breeding. We have 260 names on our list now.

Good breeding cattle should be retained, but as W. P. Watson pointed out last year, herds should be culled."

Mr. Paterson suggested that some farmers might try seeding Clinton oats this season. Erban and Beaver were still high in production, and also Ajax. Clinton might be good to mix with barley.

"I think we should try to increase our pig and cattle population. There has been quite an increase in beef cattle in the last few years, even the last five. The market has been attractive, and beef tends to cut the labor cost.

Getting manure into the fields is regular practice. There may be some loss in nitrogen, but that goes on also when it is left in the yard. Top dressing during the winter disposes of the labor that would be otherwise left until spring."

EXPECT 600 AT DINNER

A full attendance of the directors of the Peterborough Holstein Breeders Association projected their officers of last year into 1951 without change. Vern Campbell continues as president; the vice-presidents are Henry Sharpe and Earl Doris; and secretary-treasurer is Stanley Wood.

Mr. Wood was named delegate to the district championship show committee.

Their major undertaking for the winter is the annual banquet March 28 at Club Aragon. The board is planning for a crowd of 600, and they feel confident that their program will sell all the tickets.

Following that, is a calf draw, perhaps for a month, to be closed off when a specified number of tickets are sold. A twilight meeting is to be held in July between haying and harvesting.

The directors gratefully declined the invitation of G. A. Brethen to transfer the county Black and White Day to Norwood Fair, next Thanksgiving Day. They switched from Lakefield to Keene last Sept. 30, had a record entry list of breeders, found the accommodation at Otonabee Community Arena to their liking.

Stuart Nelson apparently expressed the views of the directors and a motion by Ernest Fife and Earl Doris put it in recommendation form, to return to Keene.

✦ ✦ ✦

"PERMEABILITY" OF SOIL

"Soil permeability" is a rather high sounding phrase which in practical farming means porous soil. The word permeable is from the Latin construction: per, through, and meare to pass through or flow through.

Frank C. Paterson, agricultural representative, is hoping for more of this permeability. Already there is a great deal of it on farms whose owners have aimed at the porous factor. It permits good internal drainage, favors strong root development, and helps to establish helpful moisture relationships in the soil.

"The incorporation of organic matter into the surface soil will greatly improve its structure and permeability."

Water percolates through permeable soils. So this quality relates to moisture content and some degree of pervention of erosion.

$350,000 CAMPAIGN

Dairy farmers of Canada have collected $350,000 on their advertising campaign which began in December. Orville Shugg, Toronto, one of its directors, said in London this week that publicity will reach an estimated three million readers in daily papers and two and one-half million radio listeners. He told the western Ontario dairymen that margarine interests spent $800,000 in national advertising in 1949.

All that Allison Graham, Chesterville, is reported as having said about powdered skimmed milk was that it was not being extensively used in making bread, and he expected to see the day when it would take the place of fluid milk for long distance shipments.

DURHAM GIRL WINS

Mrs. R. M. Malcolm of Yelverton, Durham county, won the public speaking contest at the annual meeting of the Junior Farmers of Ontario, Tuesday night. She was awarded the silver challenge cup and other prizes. Of the five finalists, four were women.

Mrs. Malcolm, whose subject was "Korea," said the Oriental war "must awaken us to three facts: We must keep informed in current events; we must have strong convictions, and we must go forward to leadership with faith deep in our hearts that God's plans for the world will be carried out".

One of the resolutions of the junior convention urged the Ontario Federation to sponsor a proposal to the Canadian Federation meeting in Calgary next week for encouragement of youth organizations among other provinces.

John Edmison, president, and fifteen other members of Peterborough Junior Farmers' Club attended.

✦ ✦ ✦

WHEAT CLUB MEETING

First meting of the year for the members of the junior wheat club has been arranged by Robert Bell for Saturday, Jan. 20. There are 23 boys and girls in this winter wheat club. Alan Drummond is club leader.

✦ ✦ ✦

A. C. ROBERTSON, SPEAKER

Arthur C. Robertson of the department of agricultural economics, OAC, is the guest speaker at the Junior Farmers Club meeting Tuesday, Jan. 16 at Normal School. His subject will be "Transferring the Farm to the Next Generation."

Parents are specially invited with other juniors who have not joined the club.

✦ ✦ ✦

COMPLIMENT TO FORUM

"Excellent" was Frank Paterson's praise of the Farm Forum presentation Monday night of the subject, "Wanted: New Markets". He said it was a clever dramatization of a trade problem affecting Canadian agriculture, and a credit to the abilities of the Forum group who conceived and prepared it.

Personals and Social

Student nurses at St. Joseph's Hospital spent several hours of Thursday evening on a sleigh ride. After the brisk outing they enjoyed refreshments served in the residence.

❖ ❖ ❖

Mr. Thomas E. McMullen, Lindsay Highway, will celebrate his 80th birthday on Saturday, January 13, and will be at home to his friends during the afternoon and evening.

❖ ❖ ❖

The Purple and Gold Ball, an annual affair presented by the Civic Hospital Nurses' Alumnae, is the most interesting event taking place in the city this evening. Lending their patronage for the affair are Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Marshall, Mr. and Mrs. John Hornal, Dr. and Mrs. G. R. Scott and Miss A. L Thomson. Alumnae president Mrs. Roy Taylor and Mr. Taylor will be in the receiving line.

❖ ❖ ❖

Monthly meeting of the YWCA Gym Auxiliary was held Thursday evening with president Ann Price in the chair. Miss C. Littlefield reported that the campaign for new members is now led by the babies' class. The monthly gym frolic was postponed until February 3 to coincide with health week, and social conveners Shirley Milburn and Irene Chapman will be in charge. Lunch was served after the meeting and pianist Mrs. M. McBride poured the tea.

Formerly Lived In India

HASTINGS, Jan. 12 —(ENS)— Mrs. John Mood of Birdsall spoke of Mohammed and his influence on India at the regular meeting of St. George's Women's Auxiliary in Hastings at the home of Miss D. P. Plant. Mrs. Mood is well qualified to speak on this subject, having lived in India for some years. Vice president Mrs. Ellery Smullin conducted the meeting in absence through illness of president Mrs. C. M. Baker. A financial statement for the year, read by treasurer Miss Plant, showed much progress and a very gratifying balance. Net receipts from the bazaar held in December proved it a most successful event. A pleasant social hour followed the meeting and the hostess served refreshments.

Swim Club Meeting

Senior Swimming Club of the YWCA held a monthly meeting and social hour after the usual hour of swimming Tuesday night. President Mrs. E. Dinesen presided and among the items discussed were plans for participation of the club in the forthcoming Bunny Tea. Instructions were given the club girls who will be assisting in the new swimming classes for handicapped children in which the Rotary Club will work in co-operation with the YWCA. Social conveners for the evening were Eileen Gariepy, Nancy Westman, Dorothy Davidson, Bertha Anderson, Aileen Ferguson, Audrey Morris and Phyl Pilkington.

❖ ❖ ❖

Plan For Banquet

Mrs. B. I. Burgess, Albertus Ave., was hostess Thursday evening for the meeting of Trinity Scout and Cub Mothers' Auxiliary. President Mrs. R. Hutton conducted the business. A menu for the father and son banquet on Friday, February 23, was planned. Mrs. C. Spearin, Mrs. J. Perry and Mrs. D. Whyte were named conveners. Mrs. H. Chown announced a sewing meeting at Mrs. D. Whyte's home on Thursday, January 18. The program was prepared by Mrs. G. Hancock who gave a brief account of the life of Lord Baden-Powell, founder of the scout movement. Contests were conducted by Mrs. E. Horton. The hostess served dainty refreshments, assisted by Mrs. Hancock and Mrs. E. Robinson.

Home and School

PCVS GRADE 9 PARENTS AND TEACHERS

A five-year-old dream became a reality to Mr. J. H. Moebus, president, and others concerned with the PCVS Home and School Association when parents of grade 9 pupils met this week with the home room teacher, Mr. Alex Landry, and ten other teachers of grade 9 subjects. Those who availed themselves of this opportunity gained much understanding of the grade program which will enable them to give greater co-operation to their children and the teachers.

Principal Mr. C. S. Browne made it clear to the parents that teachers who are trying to do their best, can do a better job with the parents' help. A tour of the shops was made.

Mr. Landry discussed the Fall Progress Reports and advised that figures given by parents revealed an average of one and a half hours per night spent on home work. "Home work is the extra effort so necessary for school achievement" he said. "Parent interest must be persistent in order to bring about this effort." It was pointed out that some students learn as much in a half hour as others do in two hours. "Good study habits and concentration is the reason." It was advised that students be apart from other members of the family during the home work period. A time table or study program should be drawn up and strictly adhered to, putting the most disliked subject first on the list and the favourite subject last.

Dr. E. P. Ray spoke briefly of the methods used to induce punctuality and regular attendance.

Mr. R. G. Corneil, science teacher, stated he desires to interest his students in science articles in current magazines as well as teaching the regular subjects.

Mr. A. McQuarrie, teacher of English, stressed the importance of parent interest and attitudes toward reading which will encourage the student.

Mr. J. Cullis, geography teacher, outlined his course, explaining how the surrounding districts influence industry. His students are given no home work, outside of regular reviews, when they are asked to read a half page per night.

Art teacher Mr. Z. Temesy, said High School art develops creative ability. Present-day processes of painting, silk screen work, etc., are taught.

Mr. C. Holman, mechanical drafting teacher, talked of drawings and blue prints, and said the drawing is done in class and the understanding of it at home. It is not the intention of the majority of the students to become draftsmen, but this subject enables them to read and interpret drawings.

Mr. A. Weames stated that electricity calls for more theoretical work than practical. Mr. J. C. Rutherford teaches the woodwork class which gives no home work.

Mr. B. W. Switzer, director of the industrial department, spoke on the trades course and explained the differences in the grade 12 graduation certificates. Parents were enlightened by hearing of the subjects covered in grade 9, known as the occupations course, in which the student discovers the fields of work open to him, and received information regarding the careful screening of students with particular mechanical ability and interests, who are allowed to increase shop subjects and drop some of the arts subjects.

At conclusion of the teachers' addresses, there was a social hour when coffee was served and parents and teachers visited freely, discussion progress of the children and common problems.

The Home and School Association executive met afterward to discuss the probability of more meetings of this type with other grades. Future meeting dates will be decided when the executive meets again on January 17.

A film on handicraft in Nova Scotia was shown by Mrs. J. King and Mrs. R. Matthews.

Refreshments were served by the social committee.

Handicrafts To Be Exhibited

By KAY REX.

OTTAWA, Jan. 12 (CP). — Canadian handicrafts may soon be exhibited around the world wherever Canada has an embassy, legation or other headquarters.

And Canadian-made products such as ornaments, luncheon sets and scatter mats probably will go into Prime Minister St. Laurent's new residence.

This is the information Dr. Ivan Crowell of Fredericton has garnered in a four-day visit to the capital.

Dr. Crowell, chairman of the year-old committee of provincial handicraft workers who in 1950 turned out products with a retail value estimated at more than $100,000,000.

He said in an interview that External Affairs Department officials appear "very much interested" in the committee's plan to furnish missions abroad with handicraft displays.

Furnish Embassies

They also were interested in the idea of providing embassies with furniture, silverware and other Canadian-made goods.

"I think this is a wonderful opportunity to publicize Canadian culture," said Dr. Crowell "And after all Canadian handicrafts are part of Canadian culture."

The hoped-for displays in Canadian embassies may be arranged at the committee's next meeting to be held in Ontario in September. Here, Dr. Crowell said, a selection will be made from the handicrafts displayed by the various provinces.

Formed a year ago to co-ordinate handicraft work in Canada, the committee now has representatives from each of the provinces. Newfoundland, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Quebec and Ontario were its initial members.

Dr. Crowell, who also is director of handicrafts for New Brunswick, paid tribute to the many new Canadians who have brought the handicrafts of their countries with them.

6 Blind Refugees Start New Life In Canada

HAMBURG, Germany, Jan. 12 (CP).—Six blind refugees, the hardships of prison camps, Communism and their own dark homelessness behind them, leave here Jan. 15 for a new life in Canada.

The six, along with their families, will board an international refugee organization plane for Toronto. They are sponsored by the Canadian National Institute for the Blind and have been accepted as immigrants by the Canadian government.

Canada thus becomes the second country in the world to move to reclaim sightless victims from the morass left by the Second World War. Norway took the lead last year.

All six were swept up in Germany's melting pot when they fled from Communism after the war. Their existence since then has been a battle to make a new life for themselves.

Shunted from one displaced persons' camp to another, the men waited in the private, dark world of the blind while unhandicapped companions were called out for resettlement.

The Institute has undertaken all responsibility for the men and their families. But they are by no means helpless. Study in the camps and skills learned before blindness, in some cases, make them hope they may some day entirely support themselves.

Mine Victim

An exploding mine in 1944 claimed the sight of Konrads Riekstins, 28, while working in a German labor unit. Both hands were mutilated. He is trained by I.R.O. as a brush maker, and has married a Latvian widow with three daughters.

"Canada means primarily a future for our children," he said. Toronto will mean a re-union with Mrs. H. Miks of Calgary, a cousin who left him behind two years ago.

Political oppression in Czechoslovakia forced Miloslav Askamit, 40, to flee to Germany in 1949. Three foodless weeks crossing the Russian zone, and a breakdown after the arrest of his wife and two children left him blind.

"Canada means to me what is the dearest thing in life, the democracy we loved in Czechosovakia. I want to work in a free country, and I hope I may live to see Czechoslovakia free again," he said.

Affirmative Wins Timely Debate

Alpha Theta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi held its first meeting of the new year at the YWCA this week. President, Mrs. B. C. Rolfe, was in charge of a short business meeting and members were asked to attend a work meeting on Monday, January 15, at Mrs. Rolfe's home.

Mrs. J. Taylor was in charge of the evening's program. Mrs. H. Goodwin introduced the first speaker, Mrs. L. Foord, whose topic was Analysis of Absolute Music. Mrs. Foord gave an informative outline of the various forms of absolute music and a comparison of absolute and program music.

Second part of the program was a lively debate on the subject "Has Christmas Become Too Commercialized?" Mrs. B. C. Rolfe and Mrs. H. Lambert took the affirmative and Mrs. J. Taylor and Mrs. E. Cochrane the negative. The affirmative side was judged winner by a slight margin.

Mrs. H. Goodwin and members of the social committee served coffee at the close.

Thrift Means Wise Spending As Well As Regular Saving

DEAR MISS DIX: Is my husband right in his point of view, or am I rights in mine? He believes that economy consists in entirely doing without things. Thus: If you save quite a sum by doing without a thing, you are not justified in spending any of this surplus, but must put it all in the bank. I feel that if I have done without something for a while to save money I am entitled to spend part of what I have saved for something I need and want very much, and which I feel is a sensible buy. And, after having done so, I am glad to economize a little to make up for it. Surely one of us is right and the other wrong in our system of saving. What do you think?

Dorothy Dix

WIFE

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I think you are right. Economy does not mean miserliness. It means the judicious handling of money, and that involves wise spending as much as saving. I am strong for thriftiness. Everyone who earns money above their absolute daily needs should lay up something for that rainy day that is bound to come to us all.

Save for Old Age

It is the duty of every one who can to save when they are making money so that when they are incapacitated for earning they will not be a burden on other people. It is a dishonest thing for men and women to spend all their money as they go along and then expect others to support them when they are sick or old.

But, while thrift is a virtue, it is one that can easily be overdone and the saver frequently makes just as much of a mistake in hoarding his money as the spender does in throwing his to the winds. Just as everyone should put away something for the rainy day, so every one should use most of what he makes in enjoying the sunshine of today.

In the back of some savers' heads is the idea that some day they will indulge themselves in the pleasures that they crave but which they deny themselves. Some day they are going to have a pretty home and nice furniture. Some day they are going to have fine clothes and high-powered cars. Some day they are going to see the far places in the world of which they have dreamed.

But the time never comes, or, if at long last they do start out to spend some of the money they have hoarded they find it is too late. They have atrophied the power of enjoyment. They no longer want anything and the grip of their hands has grown so tight on every penny they cannot let it go.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Will you please tell me how I can tactfully tell my mother that we would appreciate it very much if she would let us entertain our own company alone some time? Every time anybody comes she takes a seat in the living room and not only monopolizes the conversation but makes very personal remarks to our guests. We are glad to have mother with us and do everything in the world for her comfort and we don't want to hurt her, but it would prevent many uncomfortable hours if she would stay in her room, or go to the movies when we have guests. What to do about it? My husband is getting nervous over the situation.

PERPLEXED WIFE

ANSWER: There is nothing you can do about it without hurting her feelings, for if you speak to her at all on the subject you will simply have to tell the truth—that you don't want her about when you have company, and between wounding my mother to the quick or boring my friends to tears, I should sacrifice the friends.

It is certainly hard on you and your husband to have your nice parties broken up by a talkative old lady who can never get enough of the sound of her own voice, and to realize that she is driving your friends away from you, but there is no help for you that I can see. All old people are lonely and they love company and they are obsessed by a desire to talk about themselves, and there isn't a chance in the world that you are ever going to be able to keep mother in her room when you have company.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a girl who does not know whether or not she is in love. I think of him a million times a day. When he is around I can see no one but him. I hear no one else when he speaks. I am in a daze of happiness and light-headed. Will it wear off in time? What shall I do? This is my first experience.

P. M.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Don't put too much stress on your symptoms of love as you diagnose them. To a dispassionate listener they sound more like an indication of softening of the brain than the grand passion. Girls who are suffering from their first heart attacks always think that they are fatally stricken but they soon find out that it was only a passing indisposition and before thy know it they are up and about and able to take an interest in some new boy.

What's Right

You want to remember the birthday of a close friend who lives in a distant city.

WRONG: Send a printed birthday card, with nothing written on it but your name.

RIGHT: Either write a letter or write some personal message on a birthday card. Printed words thought up by someone else carry very little personal meaning.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Finnan Haddie Gets a Hand In Cooking Dept.

The haddock is a handsome fish,
He graces many a platter.
Prepare to weep
Because he's cheap
I'm daily getting fatter.

✧ ✧ ✧

(Author unrevealed; later mysteriously disappeared)

Any connection between me and that limerick is denied categorically. It is just a coincidence that finnan haddie happens to be the theme of today's piece.

Fish to me, means one of the three kinds we seemed to have when I was a child many long years ago. When we have other kinds of fish now, it is because I keep stepping out of my rut.

One is lake herring that my mother used to buy from the fishman at the curb for three pounds for twenty-five cents.

Another is smoked finnan haddie — in my mind's eye always in a big iron frying pan covered with thin looking boiling milk.

Last and more elegant than either of those a long whole salmon always boiled in a sheets-worth of cheesecloth. It was my job to wash out the sticky cloth before it was hung out to dry and air.

Since whole smoked haddock are largely replaced by smoked fillets I will assume that those are what you are going to use.

✧ ✧ ✧

Steamed Finnan Haddie (with Parsley Lemon Sauce)

Steaming retains the flavor of the fish, so if you do not have a proper steamer improvise by wrapping the fish in parchment and placing it on the rack of your roaster. Put a little water in bottom and heat through in oven until fish is opaque to the bone.

I believe this is better than steaming, and keeps the fish odour from spreading through the house. The parchment holds the fish in shape as you place it on the platter. Pour over

✧ ✧ ✧

Parsley Lemon Sauce

(By the way the French call this Veloute sauce which means velvety and has dozens of variations.)

Melt 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, stir in 2 tablespoons flour, then 1 cup boiling water. Add salt, pepper, parsley chopped (and 1 or 2 tablespoons lemon juice when used for fish). When this is used on some bland foods such as poached eggs on toast or boiled parsnips or yellow butter beans make it savoury by adding a tiny bit of bay leaf, some peppercorns and a slice of onion and let it cook over boiling water for 15 minutes, skimming these latter flavorings out before serving.

✧ ✧ ✧

Haddock Chowder (use smoked or fresh fish)

If fresh haddock is used ask the fishman for the bones and head. Wash these and add 3½ cups cold water to them and simmer ¾ hour. Cut 2 ounces salt pork in small pieces and panfry the pork until golden with 1 finely sliced onion and ¼ cup very finely chopped celery. In soup pot put a little of the fat from pan, and arrange finely cut pieces of raw haddock in bottom —using as much as 1 lb. since this is to be a main course. Sprinkle with 1 teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, and 2 teaspoons flour. Over this arrange 2 cups very finely chopped raw potato. Pour onions and celery and pork and fat over them. Strain over these the 3½ cups water in which fish bones were boiled, or if none use boiling water. Cover and simmer 45 minutes or until fish and potatoes are tender. Put buttered crackers in soup tureen and pour chowder over.

Over Objective By $40 At St. James' WMS

Members of St. James WMS met in Wesley Hall Tuesday afternoon. The year's work was reviewed by the various secretar reporting. Treasurer, Mrs. R. B. English, announced the financial objective had been exceeded by $40.

Mission Band report was given by Mrs. G. Wallace and Miss Jessie Martin reported for the Junior Mission Circle of which she is advisory president.

The worship service was led by Mrs. E. Johnston with scripture selection read by Mrs. K. Sloane and prayer offered by Mrs. L. Bird.

Mrs. E. M. Davis presided in the absence of Miss M. Bowers. The Rev. F. W. Craik addressed the group briefly and installed the following officers.

President, Miss M. Bowers; vice-presidents, Mrs. E. M. Davis, Mrs. L. Bird; secretary, Mrs. E. Hunter; treasurer, Mrs. R. B. English; supply secretary, Mrs. W. K. Sloane; temperance, Mrs. E. Davis; Missionary Monthly, Mrs. A. E. Prest; associate members, Miss M. Morton; Christian stewardship, Mrs. F. W. Craik; literature, Mrs. E. Kent; community friendship, Mrs. G. H. Rowe; pianist, Mrs. H. Doig; telephone, Mrs. A. E. Saunders.

THE EXPERTS SAY:

Washington Youth Parley Big Success Canadian Says

By KAY REX

OTTAWA, Jan. 12 — (CP) — Naturally, hundreds of social workers showed up at the recent White House conference on children and youth. But the Washington sessions weren't top-heavy with the profession. Not by any means.

Phyllis Burns, Canadian Welfare Council official and one of 65 Canadian observers at the conference, returned to say she was particularly impressed by the fact the social work profession represented "only about 20 per cent" of the total group of some 5,500 persons.

Others represented labor and the church. Several hundred appeared on behalf of the teaching and medical professions.

Hundreds of young persons took part in the sessions.

Everyone Vocal

"There were a number of university and high school students," Miss Burns said in an interview, "—and all were vocal."

She described the debate on resolutions as "simply terrific." People queued all day, waiting their turn to speak.

While the conference was based on the needs of children and of youth, it covered every aspect of community life.

And among the delegates there was general recognition of a lot of conditions "inimical" to the growth of children. Among these: inadequacy of income (in 1948 one out of every two children in the United States came from a family with inadequate income); inequality of opportunity for education.

In a discussion on the effect of modern society on parent-child relationships, delegates reached the conclusion that the average family had become a victim of present-day social institutions—and that this is the cause of strain on family life today.

✧ ✧ ✧

Winter Vacation

We've just discovered a publicity release recommending the Caribbean island resorts as ideal vacation spots. It says these have come within budget-range of the average Canadian family.

A five-room villa, complete with shady palms, at Nassau in the Bahamas, now can accommodate a family of five persons for $12.50 a person for one week.

And listen to this: "Each villa has a lounge, two double bedrooms with shower and bath facilities and a spacious kitchen equipped with an electric washing-machine, stove, refrigerator and electric ironing equipment."

Mother probably would enjoy her holiday much, much more if the "spacious kitchen" etcetera could be omitted.

✧ ✧ ✧

Those "Weeks"

Now that 1951 is beginning, the "weeks" are back again—and one of the most important to appear is Canadian Education Week. This is Canada's 15th tribute to her educationists. Inaugurated by the Canadian Teachers Federation, to stimulate public interest in education, the project has the backing of at least a dozen nation-wide organizations. This year it will be held March 4-10.

6—In Memoriams

LEE—In fond and loving memory of our dear mother, Mrs. G. A. Lee, who passed away January 12, 1945.
Deep in our hearts lies a picture
Of a loved one gone to rest,
In our memories' frame we will keep it,
Because she was one of the best.
Sweet are the memories that never fade,
Of one we loved but could not save,
Sincere and true in heart and mind,
What a beautiful memory she left behind.
—Sadly missed by Dorothy, Ken, Allan and Gordon.

7—Cards of Thanks

I wish to thank the nurses and staff of St. Joseph's Hospital for their care and kindness, also the priest and doctors, and all those who sent fruit, flowers or cards, during my recent illness.—Patricia E. Condon.

I wish to extend my sincere thanks to the sisters, nurses, doctors and friends for their wonderful care and kindness to me and the family during my recent illness in St. Joseph's Hospital. — Mrs. George Woodhouse, Marmora, Ont.

WEST-END
For those who are thinking of Building in that new Sub-Division, here is something made to order. This new Home is not completely finished, although you can move in to-morrow. It is a bevel-sided 5-Room Bungalow with Three Bedrooms and lovely large Livingroom. There is a natural brick fireplace and forced hot air oil heating unit. No garage, but you could squeeze one in on the 83' x 210' lot. $3,400 down is required.

BUILDER'S DREAM
This new Rug Brick Bungalow was built by the contractor as an advertisement for his business, and the result is perfection. A centre hall leads from the large livingroom to three bedrooms and isolates the sleeping quqarters completely. Grade level side entrance gives access to the large modern kitchen lined with plenty of cupboard space. The clear, high basement was designed for a recreation room and contains the oil-fired forced hot air heating unit. Down payment, $2,500.

Young War Widow Has Unique Post With Ball Club

TORONTO —(CP)— A young war widow from Rochester, NY, is one of the big reasons why the Toronto Maple Leafs Baseball Club stays out of the red on the books, if not always on the diamond.

"It's virtually impossible for her to leave for a cup of coffee without our entire business structure crumbling," Leaf's business manager Gordon Walker says of Mrs. Phyllis Maher, the club's secretary-treasurer.

"Joe Ziegler, the general manager, and I can be spared on occasion, but not Phyllis."

It was shortly after she had become Ziegler's secretary that Mrs. Maher demonstrated she had the brains and ability to become the only woman secretary-treasurer in professional baseball.

Offered a job as switchboard operator at Rochester's Red Wing Stadium after her husband was killed serving with the US Air Force in the Middle East, Mrs. Maher at first refused. She intended to go and live with relatives in Columbus, O., until she recovered from the shock of losing her husband.

Changes Mind

Ziegler changed her mind. She took the switchboard job "to help me get my feet back on the ground, "but declined any salary. Then Ziegler's secretary quit, and Mrs. Maher explains "I hurried up and took three shorthand lessons and became a secretary.

When Ziegler became Leafs' general manager, Mrs. Maher came along. One of her first tasks in Toronto was to handle $80,000 worth of renovations to Maple Leaf Stadium. She did it efficiently. She did it alone. The club's board of directors had noticed her smooth handling of payrolls, records and dozens of other tasks.

The upshot was the directors made her the Leafs' secretary-treasurer, a job Mrs. Maher says she enjoys more every year.

Home and School Association News

GROVE SCHOOL

Grove Home and School Association had as guest speaker Wednesday night, Mr. Charles D. Forsyth, general secretary of the YMCA, who spoke about the emotional needs of youths.

"The greatest need is for affection and love," he said. "A feeling that he or she is wanted." He advised the parents, "play no favorites and hold back comparisons. There should be evident fondness for children, a desire to make them feel important, but firmness should be shown.

Comradeship is their next great need he continued. Then independence, a feeling of managing his or her own life with opportunities to make own decisions and, with guidance, freedom to choose own companions.

"Teachers play an important role toward the emotional needs of youth by bring out initiative, training in self-control and self direction," said Mr. Forsyth. "Beginning in the kindergarten it is important to a child to have social approval, the good will of all and praise for honest effort, which not only applies to work, but also in the field of sports."

Pupils of grades 3 and 4 participated in a talent show, under direction of their teacher, Mrs. J. Fife, and were judged by Mrs. G. Adams, Mr. C. Finnamore and Mr. W. MacFarlane, boys' work secretary of the YMCA.

First prize went to a trio of songsters, Brian and Teddy Higgins and Tommy Wood; second to David Foster who sang and accompanied himself on the harp; third to Karen Keene who played a piano solo. Other contestants were Margaret Whitfield, piano solo, Sylvia Adams, solo, Marjorie Sherry, ballet, Gerry Lapointe, song.

Miss E. Donald played two piano solos, Cradle Song and Londonderry Air.

Mrs. F. Sanders, president, was in charge of the meeting and announced that open school will be held in February. Mrs. Fife's room won the attendance prize.

Mrs. W. Higgins introduced the guest speaker. A hearty vote of thanks was given all who took part by Mrs. Hargreave.

During a social half hour following, refreshments were served with Mrs. E. Drury in charge, assisted by Mrs. G. Rutherford and Mrs. M. Graves.

❖ ❖ ❖

MAY'S SCHOOL

Miss C. Wagar was the guest speaker at the meeting of May's Home and School Association Monday evening. Her topic was "Art in past and present" and she showed samples of work by pupils in various grades. She also demonstrated finger painting.

Two solos contributed by Mrs. J. Marley were "Land of Home" and "Smiling Through." She was accompanied by Miss J. Snider.

President Mrs. R. Armour conducted the meeting. Attendance prize was won by room two. It was announced the February meeting will be "Father's Night."

Lunch was served by Mrs. E. Connell and her committee.

Balance Reported In Chapel Fund Of Silver Cross

Annual meeting of Peterborough chapter of the Silver Cross Women was held in the YWCA Wednesday evening. Splendid reports of 1950 were given by the conveners of all committees. The treasurer reported that the Chapel at the Civic Hospital, which had been the special project of the Silver Cross, had been completed with a small surplus still in the fund.

Mrs. B. D. Hall took the chair while the nominating committee with Mrs. F. C. Patterson as convener and Mrs. E. Davies and Mrs. F. H. Patterson submitted the slate of officers for 1951 which is:

President, Mrs. B. W. Harvey, (re - elected); Vice-presidents, Mrs. A. S. Williams, Mrs. F. C. Patterson, Mrs. G. Breckenridge; treasurer, Mrs. E. Pruner; corresponding secretary, Mrs. A. Fitzgerald; recording secretary, Mrs. N. Fee; press secretary, Mrs. E. Patte; flower convener, Mrs. F. Burnham; assistant convener, Mrs. F. Leether; social convener, Mrs. B. D. Hall; telephone conveners, Mrs. J. H. Coons, Mrs. J. Davies, Mrs. Fruer; standard bearer, Mrs. F. H. Patterson; representative to Local Council, Mrs. A. Gynane; pianist, Mrs. J. Ellis.

Mrs. Harvey took the chair for a short business period. Mrs. A. Williams was appointed to represent the chapter at the dinner of the Local Council January 18. Notice that the National Council of the Silver Cross would meet in Montreal on January 18 was read. Members felt honored that the president Mrs. B. W. Harvey has been invited to act as third vice-president on the executive of the National Council and regretted she felt unable to accept the office.

As the next regular date of meeting is St. Valentine's Day it was decided to have a Valentine party which all members are asked to attend.

Trim Lines Mark Spring Fashions In Gotham Show

NEW YORK —(CP)— Slim, trim lines, sometimes breaking into fulness below a closely moulded hipline, and a feeling of elegance mark daytime clothes in the spring showing of the New York Dress Institute.

Among novel features are backs cut down in a shallow or deep "V" or in surplice effect.

Tunics appear frequently, sometimes emphasized with contrasting piping, sometimes divided into softly gathered panels or stiffened and slightly belled-out over the hips.

The long-coat costume—a full-length coat plus blouse and skirt—is a notable feature in the collection of Pauline Trigere. The three are designed to do the work of both suit and coat.

The same designer makes much use of pleats and tucks in original ways. Pyramid tucks mould the hip area of skirts that flare into fulness below. A back panel of pleats is stitched down to about the knees, then released. Pleats of various widths form a tailored skirt.

Gentle drapery at neck and armholes softens the limmest dresses, and cowl necklines appear on many.

Ensembles featured

Every dress a costume is the principle on which Herbert Sondheim based his collection. Whether for daytime or evening, dresses were teamed with duster or jacket, sweater or stole. He also features versatile three-piece costumes combining beige silk shantung suiting in men's wear weight and black French linen. One, with diplomat's cummerbund of red silk linen, combines a slim linen skirt, halter bodice and cover-up jacket of shantung.

Emily Wilkens, whose clothes in junior sizes are aimed at career-girl needs, makes much use of year-round fabrics. Cottons that look and feel like wool or silk include a pin-check weave called "trooper" cloth because of its good performance in all temperatures, cotton ottoman and cotton surah.

Her spring suits keep both jacket and skirt flat at back and front and use stiffening to give a lilt around the hips of the jackets. She puts white pique collars on flannel and sheer wool suits in tabsco red or navy, adding striped cotton jersey maillot shirts to built-up skirts to form a dress when worn without the jacket.

Crisp white pique handlebar bows appear on the pique vestee of a slender dress of trooper cloth, or drawn through slits at the neckline of a navy wool uniform dress.

Say Slim Suits In Rich Fabrics Spring Trend

By DOROTHY ROE

NEW YORK, Jan. 12—(AP)—The well - dressed American woman for spring, 1951, will wear a sleekly-tailored suit of slim cut and conservative design, distinguished by fabrics rich as any to be found in a maharana's wardrobe.

Fine yarn-dyed woollens, imported tweeds, heavy silk linens and pure silk honans that tailor like wool are featured in the current collection of Anthony Blotta, shown to the fashion press during a week of style previews.

Blotta, noted for expert tailoring, concentrates on richness of fabric and simplicity of line for his effects, which won applause of the spectators.

New touches marking the collection strictly 1951 include the cabochon sleeve, the flask pocket and the repeated use of braid binding on suit jackets, many of which are slightly longer than those of last season.

Cabochon Sleeve

The cabochon sleeve is a variation of the balloon sleeve which has been seen in a number of current collections. Full, bloused and elbow-length, it is rounded in the form of the cabochon jewel, gives feminine softness and top interest to slim sheath dresses such as one in navy and white checked sheer wool.

Blotta imports his silks from Italy and China, makes them up into fabulously-simple shirtwaist dresses and classic suits with his own signature touches such as narrowly-spaced contrasting buttons, braid binding, telescope sleeves and sharply-angled collars. One striking example is a shirtwaist dress of natural silk siena (from Italy) with a row of small black buttons marching all the way down front, and black braid binding.

New Film Tells About Reds Working in U.S.

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 12 (AP)—Hollywood is answering Russian anti-US propaganda films with a picture designed to tell the truth about Communism in America.

The new film bears the lengthy title "I was a Communist for the FBI." It is based on Saturday Evening Post document of Matt Cvetic, who spent nine years in Communist circles in Pittsburgh and a Federal Bureau of Investigation agent.

"We aim to make an entertaining and truthful picture," said Crane Wilbur, who is writing the film. "It will be based entirely on the Post articles, plus information I have picked up over the years by attending Communist meetings open to the public and observing their methods.

Face Censorship

"We have only one limitation of censorship. That is that we can't use certain real characters who haven't permitted their names in the picture. Otherwise the story will appear exactly as it happened.

"This is the story of a man who is—to use a word that our sophisticated society has made sound corny—a patriot. He offered his services to the government as an undercover agent because he wanted to do something for his country. He was accepted by the FBI.

"He then allowed himself to be sought by the Communists. He read the Daily Worker, made some speeches and then was brought into the organization. His entire family turned against him, including his own son. His mother died thinking him a traitor to his country. Still he kept his secret and provided invaluable information for the government."

Wilbur, now a successful writer and director, was once a stage and screen star. He appeared in such hit plays as "Mourning Becomes Electra," "Dinner at Eight" and "A Farewell to Arms."

Girl Guides Launch Drive

MRS. D. BRUCE WILSON

For the first time in its forty years of work and leadership among the girls of the province, the Ontario Council Girl Guide Association is launching a campaign for financial assistance.

In four decades the Girl Guide Movement of Ontario has grown from 88 members to 35,000—without benefit of major financial assistance.

Now an objective of $150,000 has been set for the purposes of financing additional camping facilities in the province and for developing a broader Guide organization program.

The appointment of Louis L. Lang, Roy H. Thomson and Charles S. Watson to top leadership for the campaign is announced today by Mrs. D. Bruce Wilson, Guide Provincial Commissioner.

Mr. Lang will serve as honorary chairman, Mr. Thomson as general chairman and Mr. Watson as solicitation chairman in the campaign designed to underwrite additional camping facilities in the province and a Guide organization development program. Kris A. Mapp has been appointed secretary and treasurer.

Solicitation is scheduled to get under way officially on Jan. 15.

In accepting the appointment, Messrs. Lang and Thomson expressed confidence that the campaign would be a success. They explained that the campaign will be a three-year pledge appeal with emphasis on finance, business and industry.

"We do not plan a door to door solicitation," said Mr. Thomson, "our efforts will be directed to financial houses, business firms and industrial plants throughout Ontario."

"The Girl Guides," Mr. Thomson explained, "have performed a remarkable job over the past 40 years. Today they are desperately in need of additional facilities, and we are confident that the business leaders of Ontario will help subscribe the $150,000 fund to this wholesome enterprise that has meant so much to Ontario youth."

Will Take Factories A Year To Get Airplanes Rolling

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 12 (AP)—It will take the American aircraft industry at least a year to begin producing half as many planes as it did in the Second World War, a survey of main plants in southern California indicated Thursday.

President Truman has called for a production capacity of 50,000 planes annually in the present emergency.

Plane makers here claim they can expand to any capacity required if they get the necessary materials, tools and manpower.

A spokesman for Douglas Aircraft corporation said the industry turned out military planes at the rate of nearly 100,000 a year during the peak period of the Second World War. Douglas is producing at one-fourth of its wartime maximum and would have to double its production to reach the president's capacity quota.

California manufacturers agree on three principal points:

1. The factories can't retool and hire additional help until the orders come in and until they know what is expected of them.

2. There is an acute shortage of skilled technicians.

3. The whole program is going to cost the taxpayer considerably more than last time.

Vote Pay Increases For Dummer Council

Salary increases for Dummer township's clerk, treasurer and councillors, went on the books Monday night.

The clerk's salary was increased $75 on a motion by councillors Hamblin and Sloan; the treasurer's by $100 on a motion by councillors Hamblin and Olver, and the salaries for the councillors and reeve were increased $25 each on a motion by councillors Olver and Hamblin.

Accounts to the amount of $140.07 were ordered paid on a motion by councillors Gallagher and Olver, and councillors Hamblin and Sloan moved that clerk Elmor Cooper collect the balance of the 1950 dog tax.

A committee of Steward Clysdale, Gordon Hamblin, Elias Thompson, William Darling, Rollie Tedford, and Sherwood Payne was named to look after the rink on a motion by councillors Gallaher and Sloan.

Plan To Use The Nevada Territory For Atomic Tests

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12 (AP)—The United States Atomic Energy Commission announced Thursday it will use a vast Nevada area for a proving ground to speed up development of atomic weapons, indicating it has mastered a method of small-scale explosion tests.

Such an achievement would mean a valuable short-cut in vital defence research. Presumably, it also would hasten the day when the commission will know if it can actually perfect the hydrogen bomb. It also may speed up work on new type A-bombs for guided missiles and artillery shells. Military officials have indicated such developments are feasible.

AEC said nothing about small-scale atomic blasts but its statement was open to interpretation that such explosions now can be set off.

Achievement of such a method would provide a "test" of the explosiveness of materials designed for an A-bomb without the necessity of detonating a finished bomb itself as was done in the spectacular series of atomic studies in the Pacific.

Frost Asks Ottawa Resume Controls Prices, Rent, Wages

TORONTO, Jan. 13—(CP)—Premier Frost of Ontario said Friday the "present ever-spiralling inflation period" can be fought only with "definite controls of rents, prices and wages." "I hope that at the forthcoming session of the Federal parliament this problem will receive top priority," he said in an address at the fifth annual convention of the Ontario Federation of Labor. "I do not presume to tell the government of Canada what they should do. But I say that there is a problem which cannot be met by laissez-faire methods.

"A year ago it looked as if there would be some unemployment. Today it is a question of getting materials and labor to do the job. Indeed, with a shortage of labor and with industries looking for skilled labor overseas, we are going to be short of housing. This is a very definite emergency."

More Controls

Canadians must face the fact "that we are going to have more controls in this country than we have."

"If we do not face up to this, and soon, the material situation will get out of hand and the cost of living will go beyond bounds."

Controls cannot be imposed effectively by a province or a municipality, he said. They must be with the "central" government which can impose over-all controls."

Mr. Frost was emphatic in his statement that federal rent controls should be carried on after the present deadline of April 30 next.

Korea Causes Change

At the time of the last extension last year, he said, there was good reason for Ottawa to hope that the housing situation would have righted itself by this year.

Korea and the drastic changes resulting from the international situation had changed all that.

"Rental and other controls must be with the government which can impose overall controls. I cannot see that there is anything to be gained by tossing the problem from one level of government to another.

"It seems to me that the present rent control problem is part of the whole national picture, and that nothing but chaos can come by tossing this unresolved problem into the laps of the provincial governments.

Flu Epidemic Hits 12,000 In Manchester

MANCHESTER, England, Jan. 13. (Reuters) — About 12,000 persons in Manchester were estimated today to be suffering from the influenza epidemic now sweeping the north of England. Manchester's population is about 700,000.

The epidemic, worst since 1918, has thrown many of the cotton city's services into chaos. More than 1,000 postoffice engineers, telephone operators, postmen and sorters with about 400 bus drivers and conductors, are off sick.

In the northwest of England as a whole, sickness benefits claimed under the National Health scheme already total 200,000 and more claims are arriving at the rate of 20,000 a day.

Flood of Claims

Many national insurance offices are working overtime to handle the flood of benefit claims. Workmen in Manchester cemeteries are working throughout the weekend. Twenty-two burials took place today and another 31 are booked for Monday.

Manchester's southern cemetery reported 141 deaths so far this month compared with 86 for the same period last year.

Most Manchester doctors are working 15 and 16 hours a day. Many have themselves fallen sick with flu.

At Liverpool and other parts of Britain's industrial Merseyside, gravediggers are working day and night shifts so that the hundreds of graves needed shall be ready as quickly as possible.

May Spread

A sign that the epidemic may be spreading away from Merseyside, came today with reports of an increase in flu cases at Wigan, 30 miles away.

Influenza is also being felt in northeastern areas of England. Deaths in Newcastle-on-Tyne last week totalled 225, biggest weekly total since the 1918 epidemic of Spanish flu. Thirty-three of this total were attributed to infuenza.

France Urges West Soften Note

PARIS, Jan. 13 (AP)—France urged the United States and Britain today to take a more conciliatory attitude in the Big Three's next note to Russia on a Big-Four meeting, it was learned today.

French officials believe a draft reply already prepared is too unfriendly. French ministers, both privately and in public, have recently expressed their belief that a big-power meeting should be held at all cost.

The suggestions for a more conciliatory wording of the Big-Three note went from the foreign ministry to Ambassador Jean Chauvel in Washington today. Chauvel, France's envoy to the United Nations, has been meeting with U.S. and British diplomats there to frame the text of the next Western note.

The Big-Three note will answer Russia's New Year's Eve message to Paris, Washington and London regarding a big-Four meeting. The note will be the fourth chapter in the exchange that began with Russia's Nov. 3 invitation to the Western powers to talk about the future of Germany.

The Western powers agreed to the meeting, but only on condition that Russia agree to a world-wide agenda taking in the Far East. The U.S. wants the new note to Russia to demand a clarification of whether Russia is willing to talk about all the world's problems, instead of merely Germany.

Takes Smart Man To Flunk IQ Tests

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13 (AP). —It takes a pretty smart fellow to flunk the selective service intelligence tests—if he's doing it deliberately.

Maj.-Gen. Clovis Byers, Army Deputy Chief of Staff, told a Senate Preparedness Sub-Committee that psychiatrists who designed the test assure him "it would take a man of unusually-high intelligence to analyze it sufficiently to fail it."

His remark was in reply to questions as to whether large numbers of draft registrants evade service by flunking deliberately.

3 Officials Arrested Over Mine Explosion

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Jan. 13.—(Reuters)—Three mining officials were arrested and charged with responsibility for an explosion which killed 81 men in the coal mining centre of Tatabanya Dec. 30, the Ministry of Mines announced yesterday. The arrested men were held directly responsible for the disaster, caused by blasting methane pits with an explosive called paxit despite instructions to the contrary.

B.C. Plane Down In Sea, 2 Saved

VANCOUVER, Jan. 13—(CP)—A small seaplane plunged into the chilly waters of the Strait of Georgia last night but its two occupants were picked up by a passing steamer

The plane developed engine trouble and went down about 10 miles southwest of Vancouver. The ship, a CPR passenger vessel, rescued the two plane occupants and continued its voyage to Nanaimo, about 40 miles up-coast.

The unidentified persons were not injured.

Millions See Chicago Fire On Television

4 Firemen Killed By $1,500,000 Blaze In Old Building

CHICAGO, Jan. 13—(AP)—A spectacular fire and explosion in an old riverfront building — viewed on television screens by millions of persons —yesterday killed four firemen and injured four others.

The stubborn blaze—the building still was smouldering today—caused an estimated damage of $1,500,000. Fire officials, who earlier estimated loss at $500,000, revised their figures after conferring with several of the building's occupants.

Two firemen perished in the fire when an explosion blew out a huge section of one wall. Another died a few hours later. The death toll rose to four early today when a fourth fireman died of injuries suffered in the blaze.

Firemen fought the fire for more than five hours before getting it under control at 7:26 p.m.

An estimated 5,000,000 persons saw live telecasts on three networks. Many thousands of spectators also watched as nearly 300 firemen, on the ground and in boats, fought the stubborn blaze. They lined bridges and banks of the Chicago river.

Others jammed windows in scores of office buildings in the area and in the skyscrapers in the Loop, only a few blocks away.

Towering billows of smoke were visible for several miles. Flames shot nearly 100 feet above the five-story office and warehouse building and darted out of its scores of windows.

People Evacuated

Occupants of nearby buildings were evacuated, some because of the smoke and others as a precautionary meaure.

Smoke and water poured through the 60-mile network of tunnels under the downtown area. Smoke from the fire entered more than a score of Loop buildings which take air from the tunnels for ventilation. Blowers were used to clear out the smoke.

Fire officials estimated damage at $500,000. The losses ranged from 20 singing canaries to thousands of dollars worth of special radio tubes made for the government.

Fire officials said they were satisfied all occupants had escaped from the building.

Mount Etna Lava Envelops Orchards

CATANIA, Jan. 13 Reuters)—Mount Etna, in eruption for 50 days, today poured a 30-foot-high stream of smouldering lava over acres of orchards and rich market gardens.

Thousands of apple trees and crops disappeared under the grey, smoking rock from Europe's biggest active volcano.

The prefect of Catania province ordered the opening of a special office to try and find work for the hundreds of men ruined by the loss of their orchards.

Scouts posted near the erupting fissures on the 10,000-foot high volcano reported no slackening in the merciless flow of lava, which has covered thousands of acres of mountainside in its six-week eastward march towards the sea.

PMs Suggest 5-Power Talks

LONDON, Jan. 13 (Reuters)—The declaration issued by the Commonwealth Prime Ministers was warmly welcomed by today's British press.

The Prime Ministers urged in the name of humanity last night that the heads of the big five powers hold frank talks in a supreme effort to avert a new war. The nine leaders also pledged themselves "to retain mastery of our own affairs" and to strengthen defences while the fear of aggression lasts.

The Times said the conference's work and influence for peace in the east had made the meeting memorable.

The Liberal Manchester Guardian says the conference suggested the "necessary twists and turns" in policy by which the "American ideal and our ideal" may be best approached.

The Conservative Yorkshire Post termed the declaration was an impressive statement of principles, whose most heartening passage was that urging that Commonwealth defences should be strengthened with all speed.

The Liberal News-Chronicle said: "It is good to hear the Prime Ministers say they will welcome a frank exchange of views with Communist leaders. To seek to remove the causes of war by easing tension, promoting understanding, by assisting those in need of our help, and at the same time build up our own strength in case our measures of goodwill are doomed to failure—that is a policy which the Commonwealth can understand and follows."

The empire-minded Daily Express, however, criticized the declaration for giving no evidence of action to create a "stronger empire in time of peril" and called it "vaporous, platitudinous."

$250,000 Stamps Stolen

NEW YORK, Jan. 13 (AP).—The theft of $250,000 worth of rare stamp collectors' items was disclosed yesterday by 70-year-old Dr. Clarence W. Brazer, outstanding philatelist. Detectives said Dr. Brazer's office was entered last weekend.

RC Bishops To Examine Clubs After Rotary Ban

By FRANK BRUTTO

VATICAN CITY, Jan. 13—(AP)—Roman Catholic Bishops throughout the world, as a result of their Church's ban of clergymen from Rotary, are expected to re-examine all organizations of this type so as to guide Catholic laity, an authoritative Vatican source said today.

A decre of the Holy Office congregation, of which Pope Pius is Prefect, published Thursday, prohibited Roman Catholic clergymen from belonging to Rotary or attending its meetings.

Today, a member of the congregation reiterated that the decree applies "implicitly" to similar bodies. Its publication in the Vatican's L'Osservatore Romano, ordered by the Pontiff, this source said, is a further indication of its general purport.

In its light, this source said, Catholic bishops everywhere are called to re-examine all associations of this kind so that they will be able to direct Catholic laymen in respect to them.

While it explicity mentions Rotary, this source said, the decree, in the eyes of Catholic bishops has "an implicit and general value".

Retired Life

Therefore, it is expected, the informant continued, that bishops will study all similar associations insofar as membership by clergymen in them is concerned and in the light of the church's rules directing the clergy to lead a retired life.

The informant said Catholic laymen are not forbidden to be members of Rotary or similar organizations by the decree, but it points out that the church "prefers" them to associate themselves with organizations promoted by their church.

General Expects Red Attack In Europe

PETUS, Tex., Jan. 13 (AP). — Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright said he looks for all-out war before the end of 1951. Speaking at a banquet here yesterday, the retired general said he believes Russian armies now are gathering to attack in Germany as soon as possible and that he expects the attack this spring when the weather is favorable.

27 Student Officers See McChord Field

McCHORD FIELD, Wash., Jan. 13.— (CP) — British and Canadian Navy, Army and Air Force officers Friday inspected McChord Air Force base, western hinge for RCAF transports flying in the Korean airlift.

There are 27 officers in the tour, all students at the National Defence College, Kingston, Ont.

Mental Hospital

TORONTO, Jan. 13 (CP). — Health Minister Phillips said Friday that some of the facilities of the new hospital and school for mental defectives at Smiths Falls, Ont., will be in operation within a few days. It was hoped 450 patients will be accommodated by month's end. Dr. Phillips said the three buildings of the hospital will eventually accommodate 2,400 patients.

Man Killed, Wife Wanders 8 Hours

VULCAN, Alta., Jan. 13 — (CP)—A distracted woman who wandered a country road for eight hours while her husband lay dead in their overturned automobile was in Vulcan hospital today suffering shock and other injuries including frozen fingers and toes.

She is Mrs. Dorothy Kiemele, 30, of Nanton. She and her husband, David Roy Kiemele, 30, were driving from Nanton to Vulcan last night when their car went out of control on an icy hill.

The car hit the approach to a bridge at the bottom of the incline and overturned. Mr. Kiemele was pinned inside and instantly killed. His wife was knocked unconscious.

Recovering consciousness, she wandered on the dark and snow-covered road for eight hours before reaching help at a farmhouse.

Ilse Koch In Hospital Takes Fit In Prison

AUGSBURG, Germany, Jan. 13 Reuters) — Ilse Koch, awaiting sentence in her murder trial which ended here yesterday, today was in the Aichbach prison hospital after throwing a fit and breaking up her cell furniture.

Monday afternoon three judges and eight jurymen will decide whether she was guilty of murders in Buchenwald concentration camp and, if so, what sentence should be inflicted.

The prosecution has demanded life imprisonment — maximum penalty since West German law abolised the death sentence.

Other Red Forces Sweep Behind Wonju

By OLEN CLEMENTS

TOKYO, Jan. 13—(AP)—American infantrymen, supported by terrific air power, late today smashed attacks by waves of screaming Communists in the battle for the vital Sobaek mountain passes on the bitter cold central Korean front. A field dispatch from AP correspondent William C. Barbard, with the United States 2nd Division, said the Americans counter-attacked at 4:45 p.m. (2:45 a.m. EST) after holding firm against day-long assaults.

The Americans and attached units of French and Dutch troops are holding a critical horseshoe line south of the central Korean rail and highway hub of Wonju. They are blocking the Reds from using two main highway passes to southeast Korea. Also in the allied line was the South Korean 8th division.

Before the 2nd Division counter-attacked it had fought off at least five attacks on the middle and both flanks of the 15 mile front. The snow-covered hills resounded with the fury of the battle and shouts by 8,000 to 10,000 Reds.

Allied fighters ripped into the Reds.

The bloody fighting was in weather as cold as any experienced on the bleak Changjin-Hung nam front in North Korea. Temperatures went to 30 below zero

Assault At Dawn

Korean Reds opened the assault before dawn with two small "banzai" attacks on the 2nd Division's centre. By noon they had hurled up to 10,000 troops against the arcing Allied salient just south of burned-out Wonju, Central Korean transport key.

And as the Koreans struck the northernmost U.N. position in Korea, other Korean and Chinese Communist forces swept around Wonju in the strength of two divisions in a wide enveloping movement. Already some were cutting in behind the hard-pressed U.N. fighters who were standing fast only two miles south of Wonju.

To the north, a huge Communist force was building up fast, adding to the critical situation on the central front. Chinese were moving into this concentration from the western front south of Seoul.

Vital Rail Hub

The importance of the raging battle was this: Wonju is a rail and road hub that controls the avenues of advance or retreat through the Soabaek range.

"It was clear today that what may be called the Battle of Sobaek is increasing in scope," said an Eighth Army communique.

"The issue is whether the enemy can force the passes of the mountain range."

The Sobaek slants across the peninsula from northeast to southwest—a great natural barrier in front of the old Pusan perimeter.

Except for the bitter mountain battle, there was little activity along the U.N. defence line. Allied

Farmers Want Price Climb Before Ceilings

TORONTO, Jan. 13 (CP).—The Ontario Federation of Agriculture voted Friday to do what it can to prevent low ceiling prices being put on agricultural produce.

The resolution was brought up at the closing session of the annual meeting by Ken Betzner of Waterloo. He said ceiling prices during the Second World War were set at a time when agriculture was 18 per cent below any other group. He urged that the Canadian Federation of Agriculture ask that no ceilings be established until prices climb 25 per cent above the level for a base period.

The Federation also urged continued scientific research in agriculture, increased payments for hydro right-of-way privileges, adjustment of income tax on farm woodlots, reduction of soybean freight rates to correspond with those for wheat, loans for qualified young farmers, revision of tax structures on corn to put it on an equal footing with rice for brewing purposes and amendments to the Milk Control Act.

J. C. Broderick of St. Catharines was re-elected president of the Federation with C. A. Milligan of Napanee and J. A. Ferguson of Port Stanley as vice-presidents.

Crippled Liner Calls For Help

PERTH, Australia, Jan. 13 — (Reuters). — The crippled liner Liguria, with 950 displaced persons and 130 crew members on board, radioed for urgent help again tonight.

She said she was being battered by heavy seas and was making only two knots an hour, 190 miles off Western Australia.

The 7,172-ton Liguria, carrying displaced persons from Bremerhaven, Germany, to Australia, first sent out distress messages yesterday saying her position was precarious and adding: "Tugs necessary immediately."

She was then making about three knots on one engine.

The Liguria's agents here estimated a tug would take from two to three days to reach the liner's present position. They said the master had no yet reported details of the breakdown.

Nootka Sailor Drowns Navy Starts Inquiry

OTTAWA, Jan. 13 (CP).—The Navy announced Friday ordinary seaman Leon A. Gauthier, of Lakeview, Ont., a 19-year-old member of the crew of the Korea-bound destroyer Nootka, is "missing, believed drowned."

He was lost as the destroyer crossed the Pacific en route to Korea for service under the United Nations flag. The Nootka is due in Japan this weekend to replace the Sioux.

A Navy headquarters statement gave no details of Gauthier's loss but said an inquiry will be launched when the ship reaches Japan.

The statement said a search, assisted by aircraft from the United States air base at Guam, "so far has been unsuccessful."

Council To Police Press

UK Newspapermen Issue Constitution

LONDON, Jan. 13. (AP)—Representatives of newspaper owners and editorial workers today made public a proposed constitution for a council to police the British press and improve its standards.

Establishment of a council of 25 men was urged by a Royal Commission in July, 1949, following an investigation of the press at the request of parliament.

The constitution drawn up by a working committee would have as its first article: "To preserve the established freedom of the British press."

Much of the criticism of the British press, which led to the formation of the commission, came from the ruling Labor party. Its members complained bitterly that the predominantly-conservative press seldom gives the present government a break.

Health Minister Aneurin Bevan once called the British press "the most prostituted in the world."

The attitude of such Labor members has led to fears on the part of the press that the government may attempt through the proposed press council to put on controlling pressures.

In an apparent effort to allay these fears, the proposed constitution provides for dissolution of the council "if it appears to the members that the voluntary nature and independence of the council are threatened."

Under the constitution the Council would be a voluntary organization of 12 editorial workers and 12 members of newspaper management and a management chairman.

The proposed constitution was submitted for study to a joint meeting of groups representing both editorial workers and management.

In addition to Article One on Freedom of the Press, the proposed constitution provides that the Council shall undertake to:

2. Maintain the character of the British press in accordance with the highest professional and commercial standards;

3. Keep under review any developments likely to restrict the supply of information of public interest and importance;

4. Promote methods of recruitment, education and training of journalists;

5. Promote a proper functional relation among all sections of the profession;

6. Promote technical and other research;

7. Study developments in the press which may tend toward greater concentration of monopoly, and

8. Publish periodical reports recording its own work and reviewing from time to time the various developments in the press and the factors affecting them.

Take It Or Leave It

UN To Send New Peace Bid

By STANLEY JOHNSON

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., Jan. 13 (AP)—Barring last-minute Russian delaying tactics, the United Nations expects to dispatch its take it or leave it peace bid to Communist China today.

There is no doubt of approval by the veto-free political committee (meets 10:45 a.m. EST) but Russia might delay a vote until Monday.

Diplomats feel that if Russia lets the offer—which promises the Communist Peiping regime a conference on Far Eeastern problems in return for a cease-fire in Korea—pass without a fight, it may presage acceptance by Communist China. Peiping has spurned all previous U.N. peace efforts, however, and most observers think this one will suffer the same fate.

Introduced Today

The proposals, originally formulated by the three-man cease-fire commission consisting of assembly president Nasrollah Entezam of Iran, L. B. Pearson, Canadian external affairs minister, and India's Sir Benegal N. Rau, were formally introduced as a resolution today by Israel's Abba Eban. He read a provisional version to the committee last night.

The resolution asks the U.N. to approve the cease-fire group's recommendations. It requests Secretary-General Trygve Lie to forward the proposals to Peiping and ask that government for its observations.

It was deliberately couched in language acceptable to almost all countries, and some of the more optimistic delegates felt Russia's Jacob A. Malik might refrain from objecting.

Approved By Commonwealth

The five points made by the cease-fire group were approved in advance by the conference of Commonwealth prime ministers in London.

The United States agreed to the plan, because it represents the wishes of a U.N. majority and because it feels that possible rejection of the offer by the Chinese Reds would solidify non-Communist support for a strong line against that country.

Prime Minister Visits France To Discuss East

PARIS, Jan. 13—(CP)— Prime Minister St. Laurent of Canada arrived today by train from London for a two-day visit during which he is expected to discuss the Far Eastern situation and President Vincent Auriol's proposed Canadian visit.

The Prime Minister received a chief-of-state welcome at the North Station, where his train arrived an hour late. Originally he had planned to fly from London, where he attended the Commonwealth Prime Ministers' conference which ended yesterday.

No Statement

St. Laurent did not make any statements to reporters on his arrival. However, he scheduled a press conference for later today (noon EST).

On hand to greet the Prime Minister, who will confer on a wide range of topics with French officials, were Premier Rene Plenven, Foreign Minister Robert Schuman, Defence Minister Jules Moch and a representative of Auriol.

Canada's ambassador to France Maj.-Gen. George Vanier, was among those who met St. Laurent on his arrival.

A French air force band and a guard of honor were also present. The band played the Canadian national anthem as St. Laurent stepped from the train to the red carpet laid out on the station platform.

Slight Mixup

There was a slight confusion on the train conductor's part which amused both St. Laurent and his welcomers. The train stopped at the wrong platform and Pleven quickly ordered the red carpet transferred to where the train stopped. That done, the conductor then started up the train and pulled into the right platform. So, the carpet was moved back.

Officials at the foreign ministry would not say what would be discussed during St. Laurent's visit. However, it was reliably reported that Far Eastern questions would be high on the list.

Train Hits Box Cars Brakeman Injured

HAMILTON, Jan. 13 (CP). — A crew member was injured and four cars were derailed Friday night when a freight train piled into six railways cars on the Canadian National Railways main line here.

Lorne Pettit, 29, of Toronto, brakeman on the front-end of the freight bound for Fort Erie, was taken to hospital here with a fractured arm, broken ankle and head injuries.

The overturned cars blocked both main line tracks near a level crossing at the eastern limits of the city. One car blocked the roadway, halting motor and bus traffic in the area.

CNR officials said the freight, out of Mimico, was picking up speed when it hit into the six cars which had been left on the track while another car was shunted onto a siding.

Mrs. Benjamin Shortly

A great many relatives and friends and a large representation from George Street United Church attended the funeral service on Friday for the late Mrs. Benjamin Shortly at the family residence, 546 Aylmer Street. Mrs. Shortly died on Wednesday at the Civic Hospital following an illness of a few days' duration. The Rev. Arnold Mathews of George Street United Church, officiated.

Honorary pall-bearers were E. H. Howson, R. L. Dobbin, W. H. Lytle, Frank Greatrix, Samuel Currie, Ross Latimer, Malcolm McIntyre, P. M. McCarrell, Vernon Fuller, and F. R. Pope.

Active pall-bearers were Fred Hills, C. V. Elliott, James Turnbull, Dr. Harold Long, Roy Dixon and Wilfred Langan. Burial was at Little Lake Cemetery.

ESSAY WINNER — Peter Martin, 16-year-old Ottawa youth who likes to write, is one of two winners of an essay competition held by the United Nations Association of Canada to choose Canadian delegates to the World Youth Forum in England. The other was Elizabeth Goring, of Nappan, N.S. The pair will spend two months in Britain this spring.

Beavers Winning Battle Against Railway Engineer

BRAWNY, Ont., Jan. p3 (CP). —A. Hoffman, Canadian National Railways section foreman here, is a resourceful and patient dam-buster. But....

The dadburned beavers he has been trying to outwit the last three years have gone him one better right along as resourceful and patient dam-builders.

What's more, they had two strikes against Hoffman right from the start through the protection they enjoy from Algonquin Park game wardens.

Asks Advice

Now Hoffman isn't a quitter, But a word of advice would be welcome, so he has written the railways' engineering department at Toronto. Hoffman says in his letter that here is what he and the beavers have been doing so far:

"Beavers are holding up water and have built a dam just at the west switch at Brawny, which is 135 miles west of Ottawa....

"Every morning the section crew has to break beaver dams in order to stop them from flooding the track and causing damage to railway property.

"The section foreman has tried everything possible to stop these beavers from building their dam but has not succeeded in anything.

Tried to Scare Beavers

"I made a water wheel and tied cans to it and put it in the water current, as I thought it would scare the beaver and they would not build any more dams.

"As a rule, the beaver does its work at night, and I went to the dam....I saw him coming, shoving a long pole in front of him till he got near the water wheel with it and stopped the wheel from running.

"The next morning I found the water wheel covered with all sorts of sticks and mud, so I.... got a lantern and left it burning all night, thinking the beaver would be afraid of it.

"In the morning I found that the lantern was not burning and was covered with sticks and mud.

"I tried to fool the beaver and built a small culvert 12 feet long, 10 inches square, and put it down in the bottom of the dam. The beaver built on top of this dam and the water was running underneath the dam, but this was only good for three days.

Plug Culvert

"The beaver found the place where the water was going through and plugged the end of the culvert. I had to take the culvert out and let the water go through....I drove pickets about five feet from the dam and made a fence so it would be difficult for the beaver to get near the dam, but found these pickets cut off and plugged in the dam next morning.

"I put old rust oil all over the dam, thinking that this might stop the beaver, but they are still carrying on this work. There is a pond about 75 feet square and, three years ago, there was no pond at all. They are working all the mud from the bottom and putting it in the dam...."

The engineering department is still pondering the problem.

Prayer Service Held At Knox

The proper attitude in prayer was the theme of the prayer meeting held in Knox United Church Friday, which was attended by approximately 450 people.

The Rev. A. A. Mathews of George Street United Church and the Rev. Ivan C. Morgan of Murray Street Baptist Church, in their development of this theme explained that God should be approached in prayer in a spirit of gratitude, faith and humility. They also explained that God always answers prayer, but in His own wisdom decides how it should be answered.

The Rev. H. G. Douglas conducted the service and Major C. G. Everitt read the Scripture lesson. Special music was provided by the Knox United Church choir who sang "Beside Still Waters," under the direction of W. F. Potter.

Tonight an interdenominational service will be held at the Salvation Army. The speaker will be the Rev. R. Dargan of the Free Methodist Church.

191 Arenas Built

PORT PERRY, Jan. 13 (CP)— Premier Frost said Friday night that 191 arenas and community halls have been erected since the Communities Halls Act was revised and widened in 1949. In addition, 59 athletic fields and a number of outdoor skating rinks had been built. "Roughly it may be said that of our thousands of municipalities in Ontario about one quarter of them have new facilities," Mr. Frost said in an address at the opening of the new Port Perry Community Recreational Centre.

Ask $10 Weekly Raise

TORONTO, Jan. 13 (CP). — Three unions, representing Toronto's 6,500 civic employees, Friday filed formal application with the city officials for a $10-a-week pay increase. Total cost to the municipality would be some $3,350,000, officials said. In addition, certain shift bonuses and pension-fund concessions are sought.

U.S. Army

patrol action was intensive, however. The Communist build-up in the west went on apace.

AP correspondent William Barnard, with the 2nd Division, reported the quick development of the Red assault from the two predawn rushes.

By mid-morning the Reds had co-ordinated attacks on the 2nd's front and flanks with at least a regiment in action. A strong force was reported in reserve.

Hit At 3 Points

At noon the Reds were hitting at all three points with 8,000 to 10,000 men.

Only once did the Communist pressure ease. That was when Allied aricraft swooped in for another day of mighty blows. Then the Reds added more troops to the attack.

Eighth Army reported at least 1,100 Reds killed by air, artillery and small-arms fire Friday. That brought the total of enemy dead in three days around Wonju to 3,500.

Air Force and Navy planes claimed a toll of 1,300 Reds in Friday's operations throughout Korea. Bombers blasted Wonju and a 2nd Division spokesman today said the town was 80 per cent. destroyed.

Around East Flank

Red forces, believed to include Chinese elements, continued swarming over the snow-covered hills around the east flank of the 2nd division.

They were reported some eight miles northeast of the rail and road junction of Tanyang, about 30 miles southeast of Wonju. They maintained a road block 10 miles below Wonju on the Tanyanag road.

If the Communists take Tanyang, U.N. forces will have only one road on which to get out of the Wonju area southward to Chungju, 27 miles away.

The Reds also had moved into Macha, another road-rail junction town 17 miles northeast of Chechon, which is almost midway between Wonju and Tanyang.

Enemy Filtration

Maj.-Gen. Robert B. McClure, 2nd division commander, stressed the difficulties of fighting against a "goat-like enemy" filtering over the snow covered mountains. He told a press conference Friday:

"All I want is a chance to do a little fighting on a piece of wide ground.

"If we could have a good tight perimeter on flat ground, the enemy could come on by the thousands and we could plow them up.

"Our mobility is so handicapped that we are brought down to the level of a man on foot with a rifle—and the enemy has many more of those than we have."

MURDER VICTIM — Jack Burke, 22-year-old Ottawa clothing salesman, was found shot to death in a Springfield, Mass., motel. Police said he died in an attempt to prevent a companion, 53-year-old Richard Beshara, of Springfield, from cuicide. Beshara's body also was found in the motel, with a bullet wound in his head. Police termed the shooting murder and suicide.

MRS. JOHN LEASK

HAVELOCK, Jan. 13. (ENS)— The residents of the village were shocked on Friday afternoon when they heard of the sudden death of Mrs. John Leask which occurred near noon at her home on Donald Street.

Mrs. Leask's death came after a few days' illness. She was a native of Belmont township and was formerly Emma Agnes Pacey, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Pacey, the family history going back to the pioneer days of this district. She was in her 60th year. When she was a child she went with her parents to Harcourt where she received her education. She resided in Western Canada for several years, returning to Havelock about 30 years ago. Mrs. Leask was a member of St. John's Anglican Church, and also a member of Dorcas Rebekah Lodge No. 98.

Surviving besides her husband are a son, Donald of Streetsville; three brothers, Henry Pacey of Harcourt, Frank Pacey of Highland Grove, and Robert Pacey of Port Hope.

WILLIAM JAMES PALLANT

William James Pallant, 68, of 667 Donegal Street, died in hospital on Friday. He was born in England, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Pallant, and came to Peterborough 30 years ago from Suffolk.

He leaves his wife, the former Alice Saxe, of this city, and two sisters, Mrs. Rose Sharron and Mrs. Minnie Smith, and two brothers Charles and Ernest Pallant, all in England.

Mr. Pallant was an employee of the Quaker Oats Company for 26 years and retired in 1946. He was a member of St. John's Anglican Church and a veteran of the First World War, serving with the Grenadier Guards.

Funeral service will be held on Monday at the Comstock Funeral Home at 2 p.m. Archdeacon W. P. Robertson will officiate, and burial will be at Little Lake Cemetery.

The two alternates are Archie Brault and Arnold Kelbrick. This committee will automatically belong to the Joint Conference Board which meets Sunday to consider the proposals before presenting them to the company January 17.

Stock Market Bounces Back After Sharp Drop

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

The stock market this week once again demonstrated its amazing comeback power.

Observers have been predicting a set-back to the present long climb, and if there was an essential weakness it was given an opportunity to show itself after a sharp drop Wednesday.

But even before Wednesday's session was over, the market was showing power, and on Thursday more than wiped out Wednesday's losses. Yesterday, however, it showed some uncertainty in the face of President Truman's tax requests, and it faces the United States budget message Monday.

Business Active

The factors behind the current bull market seem something like this:

It is virtually impossible to have a business set-back under present conditions. True, there will be increased taxes, but business will still be active. And if traders were to take their money out of the market, what are they to do with it? The prospects are that there will be even less to do with it when goods become scarcer.

At the same time, investment money is coming along in great amounts. The public is getting more investment-conscious, and there are new investment funds, such as pension funds, making themselves felt.

Golds Strong

Golds were a feature this week, coming out of their gloom on various rumors of favorable developments.

From Friday's close a week ago to yesterday's close Toronto Stock Exchange indices showed these changes:

Industrials up 3.92 at 304.03; golds up 11.14 at 85.98; base metals up 4.02 at 173.85; western oils up 6.22 at 87.86.

Changes in Montreal averages were:

Banks up 0.32 at 32.57; utilities up 2.2 at 86.8; industrials up 7.2 at 209.8; combined up 5.5 at 168.8; papers up 34.90 at 685.36; golds up 6.55 at 62.32.

In New York the Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up $1.50 at $91.50.

Car Improvements Continue Despite Defense Program

By DAVID J. WILKIE

DETROIT, Jan. 13 (AP)—Regardless of how many—or few—civilian vehicles are built this year, engineering effort to improve them will go on as usual.

This was indicated in this week's discussions by American automotive engineers. Most of the formal talks at the annual meeting of the Society of Automotive Engineers were based on technical papers prepared some time before the size of the mobilization program became apparent. But the informal discussions indicated that the auto industry's engineering division plans no letup in its research into means of improving civilian vehicles.

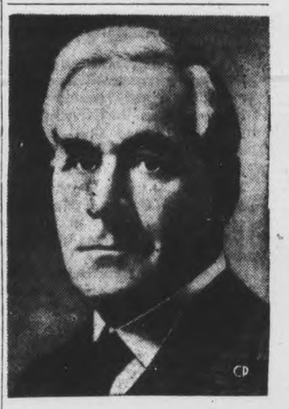
Applies To Military

Probably this can be explained on the ground that anything basically important to passenger-car and truck design has some application to military vehicle construction.

Many subjects concerned with safer and better operation of automobiles and aircraft—some exclusively of military design—were discussed by the engineers.

The industry did get something out of its wartime experiences that contributed to the better production of civilian vehicles. It learned a lot about production short-cuts, about improving fuels and materials, and the development of multi-purpose machine tools.

But for the advent of the multi-purpose tools that perform many machining operations at one time, production costs now would be sky-high.



Continue Manufacture

The last few weeks have seen a growing conviction in many quarters that the auto industry will build a substantial number of civilian vehicles this year. Output will be held back, of course, by limitations on how much steel, copper, aluminum, nickel, zinc, lead and other materials the car and truck builders may use.

The feeling has developed, however, that unless there is a deeper cut in civilian use of these essentials, total production of civilian vehicles may not fall much below actual market requirements.

Chicken Vaccine

COWANSTOWN, Ont., Jan. 13 (CP)—Perfection of a vaccine against newcastle disease in poultry is progressing, J. F. Frances, Ontario Agricultural College professor, told a meeting of agriculturists here Friday. He said a vaccine against the disease is in existence but gives only three months immunity whereas the new serum would offer immunity for 15 months.

LAW AUTHORITY—John T. Hackett, 66, lawyer and politician, is recognized as one of Canada's outstanding authorities on constitutional law. Mr. Hacket was born at Stanstead, Que., and still maintains a home there, besides one in Montreal, where his law office is established. A school-mate of Prime Minister St. Laurent at St. Charles seminary in Sherbrooke, Que., Mr. Hackett was Progressive Conservative member of parliament from 1930-39 and 1945-49.

Equipping Special Force Cut Clothes Supply—Army

OTTAWA, Jan. 13—(CP)—The Army today said it issued an order to reserve units in mid-November saying mobilization of the Special Force "has created a difficult supply situation in many clothing items" and that this situation probably will continue until March, 1951.

It is understood this order is at least partly responsible for a charge by the Canadian Legion that "a serious shortage" of equipment, including boots and clothing, would be a major obstacle to implementation of any policy of compulsory training in the reserve forces.

The Legion's statement, calling for compulsory reserve training, brought from Defence Minister Claxton a reply that the charge is "inaccurate . . . there are no shortages of equipment that would affect the situation."

The Minister said there are 50,000 suits of battledress in store, $35,000,000 worth of clothing and textiles on order and that "deliveries of clothing should enable us to meet any anticipated situation."

Anticipated Shortage

The Army dug out the Nov. 13 order in answering a reporter's query. An Army spokesman said the order "was put out in anticipation of a shortage, but so far as I know things didn't work out that way."

He said no reserve units in the Ottawa area were inconvenienced by the order. Virtually all of them, however, are well below strength and recruiting only slowly.

Greater efforts to boost reserve recruiting are expected soon.

The order said mobilization of the active force whose personnel must be clothed on enlistment and the effect, in consequence, is to create temporarily an inability to meet all the requirements of the reserve force."

These short items included battledress, boots, overalls and gloves.

There's Gold On City Streets

Traffic Bylaw Offenders Could Net Tidy Sum If Police Cracked Down

By HARRY THEOBALD

There's gold for the people's treasury in the traffic bylaw if Chief Constable John Thompson would really put a heavy and earnest hand to it.

But, most people are in accord with Chief Thompson's sense of duty. They can't accuse him of excessive officiousness, even those whose parking penalty average might be one dollar a month.

For instance there is Hunter St. bridge as a promising vein of revenue, instead of growing a crop of meters down on the market.

Here is what the traffic says, and according to Solicitor Huycke's repeated ment to the council eve is presumed to know the law: "No vehicle shall be driven over the bridge on Hunter St. crossing the Otonabee River, known as the Ashburnham Bridge, at a higher rate of speed than 20 miles an hour, and over the bridge on Parkhill Road crossing the Otonabee River, known as the Inverlea Bridge, at a higher rate of speed than 15 miles an hour."

That clause also says: "The provisions of this section shall not come into effect until suitable signs have been erected in accordance with Section 30 of the Highways Traffic Act."

That sounds like a gimmick clause, the kind that pulls punches. But there are the aforementioned signs warning those who pass by the windows of the Quaker Oats. Just think of the size of the Magistrate Philp's collection plate, if the police cracked down on those who zoom across the river.

Do you know how much is the charge as mentioned in the bylaw for each infraction on the bridge: not more than $10 for the first offense and not more than $25 for every subsequent offense, plus costs.

Bridge Sprayings

Pedestrians are all for police activity especially after numerous sprayings of a mixture of rainwater and mud, or melting snow and mud. They suspect that a lot of motorists just wait for the wet and then head for the bridge to let the sidewalk victims have it.

At any rate, the community should not forget that the width of the bridge, originally planned to give the pedestrian a little extra elbow and dodging room, was reduced to its present dimension as an economy to mollify taxpayers facing their first big borrowing and debenture bill.

And not the slowest vehicles in the crossing are Mr. Lawrie Mitchell's busses, and Mr. Mitchell is a member of the special traffic control committee that was recruited last year for advisory purposes. The Colonial coaches heading home to the Douro St. barn would yield a pretty penny if the police lay in ambush for them.

Pedestrians Also

Also in this suggested administration of the bylaw, a pedestrian detail of police could gather another netfull of offenders, every day.

Just to quote: "Pedestrians shall not step from the sidewalk (get back there) in crossing a street without looking in both directions, and shall cross at right angles with the street.

"Pedestrians shall pass to the right (walking on sidewalk) and no person shall run a race on the streets or sidewalks, or crowd or jostle other pedestrians so as to create discomfort, etc. . . . or obstruct sidewalks or street corners.

"No person shall intersect a funeral cortege or any properly authorized procession while it is in motion, except under the direction of a traffic officer."

The traffic bylaw now runs to eight pages, and that special committee is keeping busy tacking on new ones.

Consider the financial potential: All such matters as signals before starting, turning, stopping; blocking traffic and overloading; entering highways.

Stopping at Crosswalks

Here is one that pedestrians humbly submit to Chief Thompson and beg him to go to work on it: "Stopping at Crosswalks—Vehicles shall not stop on or obstruct crosswalks."

Peterborough's police can assure themselves the salary boost they didn't ask for last year if they just ignored the dollar parkers and went after those seemingly arrogant lawbreakers who take a delight in blocking sidewalks against pedestrians.

If they'd just put some double socko or triple whammy behind that one for a month, there'd be loud cheers from the sidewalk crowd.

These are only a few suggestions, culled from the bylaw of what might be done. There are probably many others, and a promising one that is going to be formulated soon is that requiring police to lay charges against all cars and trucks found parked in streets at some specified hour in the morning, say 2 o'clock.

The parking meters took in $100,000 since they went into action, and the motorists never missed the money. Apparently this general source of revenue has only been scratched. Probably that is the way it should be (with the exception of the crossing-blockers and the mud-splashers on the bridge). Most people in this country are socially minded and reasonable, and that is about what they expect, and also get, from the police who could crowd the court room any day in the week if they got fussy about a lot of the bylaws councils have been passing for a century.

Deafened People Now Hear Clearly

Science has now made it possible for the deafened to hear faint sounds. A Hearing Device so small that it fits in the hand and enables thousands to hear sermons, music, and friendly companionship. Mr. Eaton will help you select the Beltone best suited to you, and if your hearing permits, and you wish, the Beltone may be worn with No Button showing in your ear. If unable to see Mr. Eaton, write to Hearing Aid Centre of Ottawa, 44 Bank Street, Ottawa, Ont.

For Parents Only

By NANCY CLEAVER

"Sometimes I wish we had never bought a radio!" a mother exclaimed to her friend.

"Junior becomes so interested in some of those programs that he doesn't hear a word we say to him. He neglects his homework and forgets his chores."

The other mother nodded sympathetically, "What bothers me about Ann is how excited she gets when listening to a thriller! Some nights she can't get to sleep quickly, or she has nightmares after listening to the narrow escapes of one of her radio heroes."

✧ ✧ ✧

Mothers are often alarmed and puzzled by the problem of their child and the radio. Their apprehension is increased by the possibility of television becoming as popular in Canada as it has in the States. If this should happen, and the cost of TV sets should come down, parents realize that the use of the radio by boys and girls will be an even greater problem to families who have invested in television.

Children, like adults, have the chance to hear programs which are good, bad and indifferent. A quarter hour like CBC's Kindergarten of the Air", on school mornings brings to little folks the very best in songs and stories. The standard of music, stories and songs on many Saturday morning programs such as CBC's "Calling All Children" is a high one. Boys and girls have the chance to hear good bands and orchestras and soloists on various programs. Far places are brought near and new ideas come to them by means of the radio. On the debit side of the sheet are many programs of doubtful value which present an unreal picture of life, and are at best a waste of time.

Radio is being used more and more by those responsible for education in many lands. Mothers should tune in on some of the CBC School Broadcasts and see what fine programs are reaching the scholars. They will likely be surprised to discover how wide and varied is their scope. In about 20,000 schoolrooms, 430,000 Canadian school children listen to these CBC programs.

These are planned by the provincial Department of Education and specially chosen members of the teaching profession. The broadcasts are timed to coincide with certain subjects studied in the different months. Some of the series have included "Voices of the Wild"; "Adventure Through Books"; "Inland Sailors"; Shakespeare's "Hamlet"; "Things We Are Proud Of"; "Life in Canada Today"; and "Let's Make An Opera".

The CBC receives plenty of brick bats. Parents might very well write in and congratulate them on any of these school broadcasts their children are keen about and which they themselves consider particularly well done.

Children cannot be expected to have developed very much discrimination at any early age. They know what they like and what they dislike. Parents make a mistake in trying to "over sell" a program which they consider good for their child. It is a comfort to know that experts in the field of child training are agreed that most youngsters are helped rather than harmed by getting a vicarious thrill from mystery or adventure stories.

Of course, no parents want their child to be a "radio fiend". The youngster with a variety of interests and absorbing hobbies is not likely to listen too much to the radio. The spell which a certain program casts over a young listener will often fade away as time passes.

If the child is spending too much time beside the radio, this must be limited. Radio must not be allowed to take away from necessary homework. Neither should a child listen to an exciting drama just before bedtime.

Apsley Ladies Provide Pot Luck Supper

APSLEY, Jan. 13 — (ENS) — The ladies of the congregation of St. George's Anglican Church had a pot luck supper and Christmas tree for the children of the Sunday School and mothers in St. George's parish hall on Wednesday night. All enjoyed a supper of Irish stew, scalloped potatoes, baked beans, salads, jellies, homemade buns and cakes with cocoa for children and tea for adults. Following the supper the children enjoyed games and later the gifts were distributed. Each child who attended Sunday School received a toy, book or game, or article of clothing together with candy and an orange. Pre-school age children also received gifts.

The WA of Trinity United Church met at Mrs. Don Newberry's home on Thursday afternoon with a small attendance. Plans were made for Women's Day of Prayer which will be held in Trinity United Church with speaker being supplied by St. George's Anglican congregation.

Margaret Crilly and Bob Kelly listen to their favorite radio program.

Broiler Market Supply Short; Demand Heavy

Opportunity is beckoning in the broiler market, Ald. E. C. Braund remarked today to the Examiner.

"The demand is facing us, but we need a steady volume of supply. We are producing chicks for broilers on the basis of 52 weeks a year, but there are not enough birds raised in our district to maintain the steady supply the market and the trade are willing to take."

Mr. Braund said he was recently informed that the government is concerned about the poultry business, and is making enquiry among producers to obtain facts at the production source.

"I understand that there is official notice being paid to the poultry business, because if we don't get more activity than has been shown lately there could be a real scarcity of eggs by late fall.

"We are trying to do something about it. We used to be so interested in the larger poultry plants that we were overlooking the people who were raising some hundreds of chickens as compared with thousands. We have had a man at work in the country this week just on that one detail, and we have had an immediate result of chick orders. There might be more promise of development among those small producers."

Uniformity of Supply

Mr. Braund declared that the broiler market was inviting a larger production than was now forthcoming from this district. Basic need is uniformity of supply.

"You can't build up this business on 10,000 or 50,000, if you like, one week, and then none the next. The people who want the broilers from us are not interested in that kind of supply.

"From my experience I would say that we have just scratched the surface, especially in this broiler line. And, it has to be established on the full year basis."

Mr. Braund expressed conviction that there was opportunity here for large scale operations.

Jersey Breeders Re-elect Young

Officers of Peterborough Jersey Cattle Breeders Club were re-elected at their luncheon meeting Friday in the Colonial Room at George and Lake Streets.

They are: President, Harry Young, North Monaghan; Vice-President, H. L. Bamforth; Secretary-Treasurer, Roger Hanbidge.

Directors are: William Bell, Don Robinson, Harry Gainorm, Clarence Johnston.

Director to the Canadian Jersey Cattle Club: Haig Kelly; representative to Peterborough Federation of Agriculture, Wellington Sutton.

Director to Millbrook spring show, Harry Young; auditors, Wesley Bell and Clarence Johnston. Herb Armstrong of Guelph, fieldman, was introduced by Mr. Bamforth.

Dr. Campbell McKay, veterinarian with Maple Cattle Breeders' Association, discussed sterility in cattle. This association now has a membership of 2,897 farmers in eleven counties, including Peterborough, an increase of 1,000 in the last year. Conception rate is around 70% of first inseminations.

Dr. McKay told The Examiner that the records of the association showed a total of 25,064 cattle bred artificially from the Maple unit in 1950.

Possibilities of this system and its service throughout the Central Ontario area were indicated by the fact that 284 cows were bred in one day from only one of the sires at Maple.

Defective Oil Heater Blamed For Flash Fire

A flash fire, believed started from a defective oil heater, Friday afternoon gutted the room of 75-year-old Herbert McCardle, 158 Charlotte St. Damage has not yet been estimated but it will run into several hundred dollars.

Mr. McCardle, an old age pensioner, had just filled his oil burner when there was "a small explosion". The flames soon licked through his third storey room and ate into the westerly adjoining room of David Moore.

Hands Singed

At first Mr. McCardle tried to beat the flames out with a coat; when he saw it was hopeless he rushed out crying "fire", but not before his hands were singed.

The three-and-a-half storey apartment buliding in which the fire broke out is on the northwest corner of Charlotte and George streets, over McDermid's drug store. It is now owned by Woolworth's. It is understood that the residents have already had their notice to vacate, presumably so a store can be built there.

Most of the loss was sustained by Mr. and Mrs. Ezra Ketchum who sublet the westerly two rooms of the five-room suite. The bedding was destroyed in both Mr. McCardle's and Mr. Moore's rooms, and there was water and smoke damage in both.

Most of the loss, however, was in Mr. McCardle's room. The four walls, ceiling, and furniture were burned. Nearly all his clothes were destroyed as well as the rest of his personal possessions.

Lost $20

A suit coat containing $20 in the vest pocket was left lying over the rail of the bed by Mr. McCardle. When he returned after firemen had doused the blaze he found the coat in rags and his money destroyed by fire. He also lost a pair of glasses making it difficult for him to get around as he has poor eyesight.

Firemen crossed their fingers when they first saw the blaze. The old, frame building has been looked on as a fire-trap for years and when they saw the flames and smoke coming from the third-storey they thought they were in for a hard battle.

Had the flames run unchecked for a few minutes longer firemen estimated the whole floor, and possibly the building, would have been destroyed.

A crowd of several hundred jammed the Charlotte-George corner to see the outbreak but they soon dispersed when they saw the firemen bring the leaping flames under control. Extra city police were on hand to direct motor traffic and keep the curious out of range of splintering glass.

Highway In Rock

NIAGARA FALLS, Jan. 13 — (CP)—A 7,000-foot long scenic highway, a quarter of it carved out of solid rock, will be built along the Canadian shore of the Niagara river from Niagara Glen to the Queenston power house, it was announced Friday night. The road, at an estimated cost of $60,000, will be built by the Hydro Electric Power Commission to haul equipment and materials for the new power house to be built at Queenston. On completion of the power development the road will be handed over to the Niagara Parks Commission as a scenic drive.

Cardinal Dies Vacancies Now 19

VATICAN CITY, Jan. 13—(AP) —Francesco Cardinal Marchetti-Selvagiani, 79, deacon of the Roman Catholic College of Cardinals, died today.

Cardinal Marchetti-Selvagiani, a native of Rome, received the red hat from Pope Pius XI in 1930.

In addition to being deacon—or dean—of the college, he was also vicar-general for the City of Rome, secretary of the Supreme Congregation of the Holy Office and Prefedect of the Ceremonial Congregation.

His death raises the number of vacancies in the College of Cardinals to 19.

Cardinal Marchetti-Selvagiani had been ill for a long time and was unable to attend recent Vatican ceremonies.

He was ordained in 1896 and named titular Archbishop of Seleucia di Sauria in 1918. On his elevation to the purple he became Bishop of Ostia and Frascati.

The Force Of The Commonwealth

The conference of Commonwealth Prime Ministers in London is an impressive reminder that the world is not the oyster of the U.S.S.R. on the one hand or the U.S.A. on the other. In the vast territories and numbers of people (570 millions) they collectively represent, the Prime Ministers speak with greater weight than either Stalin or Mr. Truman. When they together urge a policy towards China—as they have done—however distasteful it may be to either Russia or the United States, both must sit up and take notice.

* * *

Not only does the Commonwealth, through its Prime Ministers, speak with power. It speaks with two special kinds of authority. First is the direct authority the Prime Ministers have as responsible heads of Governments. There is no need for them, as for Russian delegates to U.N., to refer back to their national capitals for direction. These men direct their own people, for they are the elected, responsible heads of parliamentary governments. They go to conferences like the London one clothed with full authority. Nor do they, like members of the American cabinet or even the American President, have to fear that a policy they adopt or measures they approve will be rejected or overridden by a Congress. They already have the approval of parliament; that is why they are Prime Ministers. Under the British Cabinet system these men head both the executive and the legislative branches of government.

* * *

The other special authority which the Commonwealth Prime Ministers have is a profound moral one. When the heads of nine governments representative of many races, colours and national interests, talk together calmly, reasonably and in good faith about issues which affect them jointly and the whole world, surely they are an example which the world must respect. When they come to agreement about these issues, surely they thus prove to other powers that their decision is reasonable, just and honourable. For the Commonwealth Nations are not a single self-seeking Power. They are not even a power bloc in an imperialistic sense, for their specific national interests, concentric as they may be, are not synonymous. Their power in world affairs is basically moral: an example of harmony among nations, of good-will, respect and co-operation. In world affairs, they can speak for humanity as wide-spread and varied as the Commonwealth peoples themselves are.

Outlook In Furs

Canadians are among the few civilized peoples inhabiting this earth who wear fur-bearing animal skins as a matter of necessity, not of luxury. In England, in France, in South America, and even in most of the United States, furs are a swank, not a need. In Canada women must have fur skins to protect their own skins against the cold. (Canadian men generally get along without them, except on the head, probably because they are thicker-skinned, except on the softer, sometimes hairless head.) Thus the commercial situation in furs is a real importance to Canadians—for wives have long since learned that it is cheaper to go out and buy furs than it is to have their husbands equip themselves for hunting and go and shoot the furry animals needed.

We are glad to report that the fur situation in Canada is pretty good. There are lots of them to be had, for a price, and foreign furs still come in. There are some slight obstacles, however. At the twenty-first annual Leningrad fur auction which started last July 24th, most of the Russian furs had been contracted for in advance, on a national barter system. The quality of the furs was good but the prices were 15 to 20 per cent. above pre-sale levels, partly in view of war clouds and the apprehension felt (so one Canadian buying firm at the sale reports) that this auction might be the last chance for some years to buy Russian furs at a regular sale at the source. Russia, incidentally, exported to various parts of the world $30,000,000 worth of furs last year, compared with Canada's export of $19,037,790 worth during the same period (the first nine months of the year). Russia secured payment in either American dollars or British pounds.

The Korean situation has been a blow to Canadian furriers, in prospect at least. They are now very much concerned about the future trade in Chinese furs. However, limited quantities of furs have been received from China since the Korean war started, so the future may not be as black as it seems. Canadian fur dealers believe that "if Canadian and American fur importers are unable to negotiate directly for large quantities of China furs British interests will undertake the task, and if both fail, the China goods probably will be sold through the Soyouspushnina trust". (We quote the head of a great Montreal fur house.) So much for luxury and utility raw furs, as imports.

Domestic furs continue to furnish much of the market. In fact, Canada is increasingly becoming a fur-sale centre. For instance, the Hudson's Bay Company's first fur auction ever to be held in Canada was staged in Montreal in December two years ago, and these Hudson's Bay Company fur auctions have been continued to the present. They are in addition to the usual pooled auctions which have been held in Montreal for many years. Prices generally on the raw fur market (as of last November) were 2.4 per cent. above those of November, 1949. Authorities feel that the opening prices of new season raw furs (the auctions are now beginning) will be higher than last year's opening levels. Fur sales of mink and fox were held last year in Scandinavian countries and Finland, but these countries' efforts to recapture their former supremacy in the fur market have not been successful, partly because so many sales there have to be based on barter and trade agreements. Montreal is increasingly becoming a world fur centre, as regards auctions as well as the number of fur wearers.

We note an end-of-the-year report that "the carry-over of favoured furs is expected to be small, and long-haired furs are gaining in strength." We are heartily in favour of long-haired furs gaining in strength. The gain may put our red foxes and our coons back into fur circulation.

Peterborough Garbage

The city's garbage collection vans are open trucks, except for one closed grinder which has been operating discreetly since 1947. The open trucks have neither the most sanitary nor the most beautiful of loads, especially when they are piled high near the end of a run. Undoubtedly during the holiday eating season there is more garbage than usual to be collected, but we really cannot condone over-loading to the extent that some of the refuse tumbles to the street. Last week the middle of a west-end avenue was littered for thirty feet with offal from a truck; Monday morning Sherbrooke street had great gobs of it splattering the roadway.

We understand that this year the collectors are more careful in their handling of householders' garbage pails, and that the usual number of householders continue to put out their waste poorly wrapped, or not wrapped at all, and in containers which the collectors have a legal right to refuse to handle. Be that as it may, the open vans are often piled too high, and a good wind or a sudden jolt of the vehicle gives the mess a tumble. Since the collectors cannot be expected to be as expert in load-making as haymakers are on their wagons, more trips and lower loads may be the answer to the problem. Incidentally, where are those tarpaulins which are supposed to cover the loads?

Guns To Protect Our Butter

The Canadian people, through their Government, own arsenals to produce bullets, bombs and some of the apparatus which throws them. Canadian Arsenals, Limited, is a Crown-corporation in Ontario and Quebec worth ninety million dollars. Last year the people's arsenals produced $10,800,000 worth of armaments and this year plans are to increase it to triple production, or perhaps increase it five times.

Five times ten million dollars is fifty million dollars. That $50,000,000 will be only one item in the very costly re-armament plans of the Government. All this money is sheer waste, from a productive point of view. It is going into missiles whose purpose is to destroy. Even the very material in them is lost, destroyed forever, as they accomplish their work of destruction. It is all a part of the humanity-foolish cost of keeping some butter in our mouths, to protect the bread whose side we know is buttered. It is perhaps well that the Canadian Government arsenals are not operating for profit, to butter a few people's bread on both sides.

NOTE AND COMMENT

If History is so fond of repeating herself, why doesn't she repeat some of those old-time prices?

The B.B.C. is anxious to televise a ghost. Imagine the outcry from the corporeal actors, if ghosts begin to crash the business!

A teacher is reported as saying that no question a child asks is silly. Does she suggest that people learn the trick of asking silly questions after their grow up?

An advertisement offers a television set concealed in a reproduction of an eighteenth century bookcase. It's curious how the new toys have to be made to look old.

A Montreal haberdasher has appeared in court on a charge of selling ties with pictures of nudes on them. Compare the puerile, prurient puritanism of Montreal with that of Toronto, and there isn't a hair's breadth of difference between them.

Diary Of A Turkey-Haunted Man

By SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

SUNDAY: Though Christmas is long over and the Christmas Spirit has departed from my soul, two persistent reminders of Christmas linger with me. One is an ingenious effigy of Santa Claus, from the bottom of which hangs a long strip of plastic tape, like a tail. When I scrape this tail with my thumbnail the Santa Claus says "Merry Christmas" in a small but cheerful voice. No fit toy for these bleak January days, but too good to throw away. The other Christmas ghost is a turkey about the size of a spaniel which lingers in my refrigerator. Every day I hack off and eat as much as I can of its flesh, but its bulk is not perceptibly less. What am I going to do? I have moments of panic when I see myself eating turkey well into June, and perhaps for the rest of my life. This breeding of Gargantuan turkeys has gone too far; does no one raise the small turkey, easily consumed in a single meal? Are there no bantams in the turkey world?

MONDAY: An almanac from a patent medicine company arrived in the mail this morning—a gaudy reminder of the immense tonnage of pills, the vast ocean of jalap, the heaped-up mountains of salts which are consumed by the Canadian public every year. Not that I have any prejudice against patent medicines. They are a relatively harmless indulgence and may even contribute to human well-being. It does a man good to take a few pills every day. It gives him a feeling that he is taking good care of himself, and this persuades him that he is in good health—but only just. It is not advisable to feel too well. People who boast about their good health are apt to overtax it. They want to lift things which should be left on the ground; they insist upon walking when it would be much simpler to ride. Everybody should have some slight, not too obtrusive ailment, which he coddles. Nobody should be without some harmless medicine which he takes. These things enable him to husband his strength and harbour his resources, and enable him to live to a ripe old age. And, what is more, the patent medicine people, who are a good and useful social group upon the whole, must live.

TUESDAY: Was talking today to a Russian, and worked up courage to address him thus: "For many years I have read in books about literature that the Russian author Nikolai Gogol was a very great humourist—the peer of Shakespeare, Aristophanes and Cervantes—and that his novel "Dead Souls" is one of the world's great funny books. During a bout of 'flu last year I read "Dead Souls" carefully, attentively and receptively, but my gravity was not disturbed. Am I stupid, or does Gogol not translate well into English, or what is the matter?" (During this I took care to pronounce Gogol's name in a gargling fashion, which I hoped would sound Russian.) To my amazement he replied: "My dear Samuel Marchbankovitch, I have never thought Gogol very funny myself. Indeed, Russian writers are never funny in the way that English or American writers are. They are rather facetious, little father, but that is all." (I observed that he pronounced the named "Goggle", which I take to be the true Russian manner.) So there it is. I suppose that the Russians, like every other nation, like to pretend that they have a sense of humour. I have been told Chinese jokes, too, by people who thought them funny though, like much Chinese art, the only interesting thing about them was that they were Chinese.

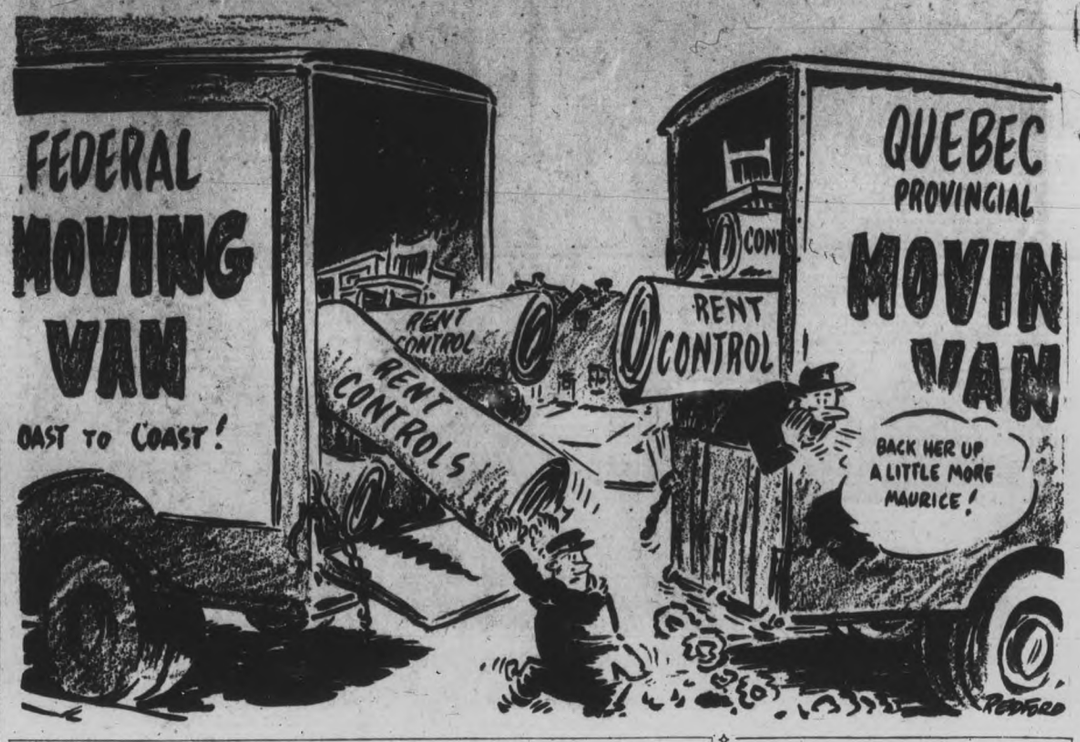
WEDNESDAY: While hanging about a friend's house this morning I picked up a book called "The Culture of the Abdomen". It proved to be a gloomy work, holding out little hope for the future of Western Civilization unless we immediately get our abdomens into a condition resembling that of the Maoris and South Sea Islanders. These people, it appears, do elaborate dances in which no part of them moves but their abdomens. I don't know that I would care to see Sadler's Wells go over to this technique, but apparently it is wonderful for the tripes.... Even a mediocre writer may create one golden phrase, and the author of this book achieved it in the following sentence: "Upon many a death certificate we read the words Heart Failure, but we know that Fat and Gas are the parents of Heart Failure." What a magically repulsive picture this calls up: Fat, the loathsome Slob-Husband, is approached by Gas, the fluttering, elusive, faintly-squealing Spectre-Bride, who whispers, "Honey, there's going to be a Little Stranger soon — little H.F., that we've always dreamed of!" And then—BANG!....When I returned home I peeped into my refrigerator. The turkey was still lying in state, under a bier of cheesecloth.

✧ ✧ ✧

THURSDAY: Somebody in the States, I see, has conceived the notion of recording classics of literature on long-playing records. After listening to such a recording it would no longer be necessary to go through the fatigue of reading the Iliad, the Odyssey, Paradise Lost, the Divine Comedy, or any other exhausting work. It must be said for such a scheme that it would restore the ear as the first judge of poetry, and depose that false judge, the eye. But I doubt if many people would hear the great works often enough to get near the root of them....It wouldn't be a bad scheme for such nugacities as this Diary, however, and I would thoroughly enjoy recording a chunk of it.

✧ ✧ ✧



FRIDAY: This evening I listened to some gramophone records of a woman called Yma Sumac, a Peruvian who has an astonishing voice with a range of a little more than four octaves. She can tweet like a bird, sing like an ordinary woman (an ordinary woman with a very good voice, that is) and roar and rumble like the voice of Fate itself. It is a fascinating and uncanny performance. One of her songs is about the Xtabay—supposedly a poisonously alluring and beautiful woman who attracts men with her voice; once that voice has been heard, a man is her slave until he dies. I reflected that such women are uncommon in our great Dominion. Our women are not lacking in their share of good looks, but they will never attract international attention by the beauty of their voices. And yet what a potent charm a lovely woman's voice is! I would rather hear an Irish girl say something nasty to me, than hear most Canadian girls say "Take me, Mr. Marchbanks, I am yours". A man likes his eye to be refreshed, but beauty perishes. A beautiful voice, however, goes on until death, and it can call up the ghost of vanished physical beauty more readily than any other spell. Let the Canadian Female ponder this in her heart.

✧ ✧ ✧

SATURDAY: Reflected today that if I had an income of $50,000 a year, after taxes, I could have a lot of fun. I would hire thirty people and keep them busy writing letters, along lines which I would dictate, to newspapers, the C.B.C. and other sensitive bodies. It has been my observation that newspapers and radio companies are abnormally sensitive to written criticism. If they get a letter which shows disapproval, they fuss and stew for days; if they get five letters of the same sort, the editors and station-managers are borne away screaming to rest-homes. With my thirty stooges, writing a letter a day at fifty cents apiece, I could control every newspaper in Canada, and revolutionize the C.B.C. I could abolish the Wednesday Night program, or get it extended to every night in the week. I could compell the press to admit that the C.C.F. has a chance in the next general election. I would be the uncrowned King of Canada. Newspapers and the C.B.C. pretend that they do not care what the public thinks, but they do, they do. Those darkened crying-rooms in every newspaper office are for editors who feel that somewhere there is somebody who does not utterly love and trust them. In the C.B.C. they have to cry in the corridors, because of lack of space.

THE NEW TENANTS

Letter To The Editor

DISCRIMINATION IN PARKING ENFORCEMENT

Sir: Is the spirit of justice in Peterborough giving way rapidly to the greed for a sizeable sum realized monthly for parking infractions? And is the time coming when those not owning garages will have to hang their cars on a lamp post each night?

Like a great many others, I rent a place which has no garage and no place to park overnight but on the street. It is a quiet side street far from downtown and from factories and stores. The car, like so many others seen at nights on side streets, does no possible harm, but a police ticket was on it yesterday morning "for longer period than six hours" parking infraction.

Where does one park his car in such a case? Many hundreds here live in shared dwelling or apartments where there are no garages or parking lots. What then must they do with their cars during the night? What must night workers do where there is no parking lot available? Leave them on the streets, certainly, and risk paying fines, even though they be on side streets where not a car an hour passes by.

Is this fair when you see the police casually walking by downtown when trucks and cars, too, are double parked in heavy traffic? You see them ignore these infractions a dozen times a day. It appears that the spirit of justice does not exist here in this respect.

Sincerely,
FAIR PLAY.

Old Indomitables

(Manchester Guardian)

As a patron I find that the pastoral office has its moments (declares "H.C.S."). Visiting an old lady of 87 I was rather staggered to hear her begin a sentence with "And whether I live to a ripe old age or not...."

But I suppose that an 87-year-older would be considered as merely juvenile by the 99-year-old lady who fell and slightly bruised her face on the carpet. The family, extremely solicitous, sent off at once for the family doctor, who was somewhat shaken to be greeted by the old lady asking "Doctor, shall I be disfigured for life?"

Railway Wages

(Calgary Herald)

The railway workers have won their strike. They forced a special session of Parliament; they extracted guarantees in the resulting legislation which ensured that they would get most of their demands; and, in the last analysis, they have got them all. They have successfully bludgeoned the people and government of Canada into accepting their demands and into increasing still further the advantage which railway workers already enjoyed over comparable workers in other industries. This is "peace at any price" with a vengeance.

Mr. Justice Kellock found agruments to support his award, but those arguments did not include any reference to the effect of an additional $100,000,000 a year for railway operating costs on the Canadian economy as a whole, or on the living standards of millions of Canadians who are not fortunate enough to be organized into unions capable of paralyzing the nation at one stroke. Nor did they take into account the inevitable weakening of the railways' competitive position in relation to air and bus travel. Few Canadians outside the railway unions, we imagine, will view this award without deep concern.

FAST GOING

The man who sold the car to Albert had assured him that he would be surprised at the speed of it. So when Albert found himself in a quiet country lane, he decided to give it a real test. He pressed hard on the accelerator and felt the car leap forward, but he remembered no more until he found himself in a hospital bed.

It was carnival day at the hospital, and Albert caught sight of three students dressed as Indians.

"Indians!" he gasped in astonishment. "My goodness, what a car!"

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Know ye not, that so many of us as were baptized into Jesus Christ were baptized into his death? Therefore we are buried with him by baptism into death: that like as Christ was raised up from the dead by the glory of the Father, even so we also should walk in newness of life. (Rom. 6: 3, 4.)

Be ye not unequally yoked together with unbelievers: for what fellowship hath righteousness with unrighteousness? and what communion hath light with darkness?

Wherefore come out from among them, and be ye separate, saith the Lord, and touch no the unclean thing: and I will receive you and will be a Father unto you, and ye shall be my sons and daughters, saith the Lord Almighty. (II Cor. 6: 14, 17, 18.)

WARNED

The manager stood before the sales chart. Coloured pins indicated the name of the representative in each area.

"I'm not going to fire you, Cartwright," he said, "but just to emphasize the insecurity of your position I'm loosening your pin a little."

IT'S JUST SOME PEOPLE MOVING IN NEXT DOOR

The Peterborough Examiner carried two stories in one issue this week about fish and game infractions. The first and longest one was about a Sudbury railway section-hand who took moose meat from a Conservation Officer at gunpoint; the offender was sentenced to two years in prison.

The second story told of a Roseneath Indian tried in Cobourg for fishing through the ice, a two-time offence. He was fined $25 and costs; a slim sentence, you must admit. But here is the pay-off. Said Magistrate R. B. Baxter in warning words to the law-breaker:

"I suppose the Indians see the Americans take fish by the hundreds out of the (Rice) lake in summer and wonder why they can't have some themselves in the winter. However, the law says 'no' and you must pay the penalty."

We can only infer from the Magistrate's line of reasoning that he is not an outdoorsman. How an adult Indian (or any whiteman, for that matter) can be let down so easily and apologetically for having broken the same law twice, is difficult to understand. The offender was more than likely a guide who, by poaching in winter, was fouling his pocketbook for summer tourist employment in future.

Cracking good fines to fish and game law breakers by all magistrates throughout the province are the most important step in the whole conservation set-up. The Department of Lands and Forests, radio men and writers can rant on about conservation until they are blue in the face but dispensers of justice who are sympathetic to lawbreakers let down the whole scheme badly.

If The Name Fits, Label It

Snow worshippers are going to have to put a little more pressure in their prayers for that white stuff if their ski season is to amount to anything. There are some mighty attractive spots in the Kawarthas. Bethany to the west with two tows and rest chalet, Kemp's Hill with one tow and snack shop and swanky Trentona, down Belmont Lake way. It is only about a 50-mile drive towards Toronto to Dagmar with its two-tow, 50-person overnight guest-lodge set up. Dag's Big Ben run is said to be the longest in Southern Ontario. But yu gotta have snow, and lots of it.

Seems that Ontario skiing could be more attractively advertised after looking through New York State's smashing current information booklet. Packed with facts, maps and pictures of more than half a hundred ski centres, it is alluring enough to make everyone WANT to ski, or at least go and watch. Each run at each centre is tagged with picture-names particular to that bang-up sport—"Mabel's Twist", "Spaghetti Run", "Bonebender", "Devil's Delight", "Dippy Doodle", "Natty Bumppo", and just plain good old-fashioned "Suicide".

Department fish and game personnel warn the public to leave wildlife alone when they meet up with it, and they know whereof they speak. Provincial Constable Bert Howden cites a recent example at Apsley. A great many Peterborough people are acquainted with Bambi, the young deer at Ointment's Garage. They have stopped to admire it, buy it candy and rub its stubby horns. Seems that some village children started pasting it with snowballs and Bambi turned from a cute storybook thing to a changed personality and drove its stiffened bayonet-like forefeet at one of the tormentors. Fortunately, little damage was done. This instinctive, seasonal aggressiveness could have happened long ago with Bambi during some innocent photographic party. Play safe and play smart with "tame" animals of the wilds.

Motoring south of Bobcaygeon one afternoon, I watched an Anson aircraft tooling along about 800 feet altitude. An object on a long cable trailed from the plane's belly. Suspecting for a moment that it was The Thing in its box, I learned later it was an aerial survey plane trailing a remote camera. It was flying under contract to the Department of Highways, shooting the route for the proposed Trans-Canada, no doubt.

For New Models, Wolf Whistles

Most people these days are pressing their noses against automobile showroom windows for a good look at the latest models. A few fortunates march boldly inside and place orders for new ones. Sportsmen are thinking about new outboard motors.

Stopped in at Outboard Marine's beautifully-appointed new offices and showroom to get a sneak preview. They were certainly worth looking at. Take the Evinrude "Twin" line; five models in [illegible] blue finish,—Big Twin, Fastwin, Fleetwin, Sportwin and [illegible]man. Then there was the "Ster" class of Eltos,—Campster, Speedster and Sportser all dressed up in metallic burgundy finish and the Seahorse line in a new green paint job. Fact is, I didn't see the Big Twin, the big outboard surprise of the year and understand from adman Larry McGuire the wraps were taken off for the first time at the New York Boat Show which opened on Friday. This 25-horser will go into production in the Peterborough plant about February First, I understand. (Note to Marine'ers: This plug will cost you one reserved seat on the Big Twin's trial run. Mine.)

Now about wolves. Sixteen-year-old Jack McCracken of Dartford, near Warkworth, shot a 40-pound brush wolf at the north end of the family farm this week. Hearing a commotion at her back door in the village of Norwood, Mrs. Joseph Rae investigated to find a wolf attacking the pet dog. Her calls broke up the fight and the wolf loped off across Ralph Richardson's fields, but not before giving the house dog a bite on the hip. PFGPA are holding their second season wolf hunt on Saturday, Jan. 20th with the usual marshalling spot at the Charlotte St. parking lot. They expect a small regiment of hunters to join them from down Newtonville way, maybe 35-40 men. Shotguns only, please.

Only 46 more days to get your applications in for hatchery fish for the restocking of public waters. Lindsay district office of the Department of Lands and Forests will handle your applications and forms may be secured from that office or any local conservation officer. The forms must be properly filled out, particularly regarding name (map and local) and the location of the water areas. March 1st is absolute deadline and insufficient information will not be dealt with by correspondence.

Ladle In A Pot Of Gold

When Icicles Hang

When icicles hang by the wall
And Dick the shepherd blows his nail,
And Tom bears logs into the hall,
And milk comes frozen home in pail;
When blood is nipt, and ways be foul,
Then nightly sings the staring owl
Tu-whit!
To-who! A merry note!
While greasy Joan doth keel the pot.

When all about the wind doth blow,
And coughing drowns the parson's saw,
And birds sit brooding in the snow,
And Marian's nose looks red and raw;
When roasted crabs hiss in the bowl—
Then nightly sings the staring owl
Tu-whit!
To-who! A merry note!
While greasy Joan doth keel the pot.

"SAILING DOWN THE RIVER . . . . " is not the tune Harry F. Strickland, 81, of Bobcaygeon is playing on his violin. It could have been something like that to bring back memories of his marathon swim from Lakefield to Peterborough's Lift Lock in 1904, in five hours and five minutes. His opponent, nationally known swimmer George Hebden Corsan, gave up the grind at Nassau. Mr. Strickland won a case of breakfast cereal for his endurance feat.

Famed George Corsan Began In 1904 Lakefield-Lift Lock Swim, Strickland Won

By NICK NICKELS
and RICHARD F. CHOATE

George Hebden Corsan, who gained continental renown as a swimming instructor in years gone by, crashed the headlines recently when, at the age of 93, he married a retired Toronto teacher, 60, at Miami, Florida.

He visited the Kawarthas in 1904 to remonstrate the prowess that went with his abounding energy. Top-line publicity in those days went to long-distance performances and he determined to swim the entire length of the Lakefield - Peterborough section of the Trent Canal.

To make the trial exciting, his friend Harry Fredrick Strickland agreed to enter the competition with him. It has probably been forgotten that Corsan came out second best. The event is as clear as yesterday to Mr. Strickland who lives now in Bobcaygeon. He gave the details of the swim in an interview at his home this week.

Mr. Strickland's Story

I was a vegetarian in those days (he began) and in excellent athletic trim. When a reporter asked me what I trained on, I hold him, for a lark, that it was solely a popular breakfast cereal. This statement created a humorous twist after the race, as you will see.

Corsan, on the other hand, ate rather a heavy breakfast by reason of the tempting cuisine at our home where he was our guest. He also did some excercising routine on the tin roof of a shed, without excess drapery, and kept a watchful eye on the protective shrubbery, just in case.

The start of the swim was from the Lakefield docks. The late R. M. Roy, founder of the Roy Photographic Studio, and father of the late Fred Roy, was on hand with newspapermen in his steam launch, the Rob Roy.

Current Helped

We plunged in. It was clear sailing all the way. Former canal superintendent Dick Rogers, had all the lock gates open and the current helped us, in places. Corsan lasted as far as Nassau and crawled to the bank. I reached the Lift Lock in five hours and five minutes and there was a large crowd gathered to see the finish. The swim ended at noon and the one-edition of the Peterborough Examiner of those days published the story that afternoon.

Unknown to us, some hair-brained individual had gone over Niagara Falls the same morning in a barrel. The old Toronto World, which had also received our story, messed up the headlines of both events to such an extent that it appeared that Corsan and myself were the crackpots that had gone over the Falls.

When I arrived back at my Toronto home that evening there was a large case of my supposed swim-training breakfast food on the verandah. That was my reward for the contest.

Former Chief Inspector

Mr. Strickland, now 81, was formerly chief electrical inspector for the Ontario Hydro. He retired from that position in 1934. His hobby has always been violin music and at one time he was a member of the old Toronto Symphony Orchestra under Frank Welsman. To continue his hobby these days, he accompanies himself with the aid of a player piano in his Bobcaygeon home and has more than 400 player rolls of classical orchestrations, most of them of Mendelssohn.

Mr. Strickland has been a summer cottager in 'Caygeon for 35 years and a full-time resident since his retirement. He is proud of the fact that he is the oldest "Old Boy" of the Lakefield Preparatory School.

Mr. Corsan's Long Career

Speaking not long since at his home, Echo Valley Farm, Islington, Toronto, Mr. Corsan remarked that he had gone through much harder swims than that of 1904. Later he went all over the United States, giving instructions in the "Australian crawl." His work was under the sponsorship of the National YMCA. In the First World War period he was engaged in mass teaching in all camps on the Pacific coast, instructing 1,000 persons a day, there being ten classes of 100 each.

GEORGE H. CORSAN, now 93, renowned swimmer and instructor of the first two decades of this century, who with H. F. Strickland, took part in the marathon swim from Lakefield to the Lift Locks in 1904. Mr. Corsan, recently married, lives in retirement in Florida.

"Water doesn't drown people," says Mr. Corsan. "They drown themselves. If they'll keep their mouths and noses up properly they can stay in the water until they starve."

Although the Lakefield-Peterborough swim of 1904 was not a gruelling, endurance affair, ranking with many of those in the early years of the century, when the craze for such performances in many fields of athletics was at its height, it was nevertheless notable for its novelty and historic interest.

Walking Competitions

Within the next three or four years marathon walking competitions claimed major attention in Peterborough. The walk of the local Davy Hartley from Port Hope to Peterborough gave a fillip to enterprises in pedestrianism about 1907. Hartley arrived, puffing at the Munro House and was acclaimed in an Examiner headline as "The Heel and Toe Hero of the Hour, a Walking Wonder on the Highway." Accompanying Hartley was George Stevens, with horse and buggy.

The Brock Street rink was the scene of a six-day walking marathon which was won by Hoagland. Hartley and Cridland of Warsaw were among the competitors.

All over the continent about this time interest in marathon running was mounting to fever heat with such history making sprinters as Alf Shrubb and the Indian Tom Longboat taking part. From Hiawatha came the Indian Fred Simpson who though nosed out by Ray Best, of Peterborough, on the Norwood Fair Grounds track, later won for himself a creditable though not distinguished place in the national field.

Although not so much is heard these days of long-distance performances in the sphere of athletics, the veteran George Corsan still shows his mettle natatorially in the Florida water by swimming with hands and feet tied, while towing a raft laden with people—and manifestly he is up among the top-liners as a matrimonial marathoner.

Language Mirrors History

By RICHARD F. CHOATE

MARE'S NEST—A phenomenon long identified with the activities of the "Empire Builders," titans who moulded the political mythology of Canada in the last century. Mare's Nests were once as plentiful as flying saucers are today. They were constantly being discovered by Grits in camps of tribal enemies, the Tories, and vice versa. The Mare's Nest was a stationary affair, unlike the Red Herring, which was always being dragged across some evildoer's trail to mislead the enemy. More realistic than the Mare's Nest was "The Nest of Traitors," which was lodged in the cabinet of Prime Minister Bowell; and "the Noble Thirteen," who stood at Armageddon and battled for something or other that may be ascertained by search of the Archives. About the same period in the Political Age of Fable there were many "Jezebels" and "Judases" abroad, not to mention the "Stormy Petrels" of the Cowbird family which laid their eggs in the "Whited Sepulchres" reared by the "Hand of Essau" in the "rotten borough of Old Sarum" which had been so villainously "gerrymandered" by the "High Priests of Corruption" that it was sometimes mistaken for Sodom, the hometown of the celebrated Mrs. Lot, who tried to proceed, so to speak, derriere to the future. All in all, our young Canada in a century or so, has enjoyed a fair-sized run of political chimaera and griffin. True, we had no Populist or "Know Nothing Party" and yet—and yet—there has always been Toronto's "Tory Rump," a functionless appendage well fitted to be adorned by a Tanglewood Tail.

✦ ✦ ✦

MISSING LINK—An early Peterborough-Lindsay railway line. Not to be confused with our simian ancestor who was invented by Charles Darwin to assure the evolutionary survival of the fightingest—or, so to say, those who get there first with the most machines.

✦ ✦ ✦

NICKELODEON — An amusement place wherein cinematograph (moving) pictures were viewed by daring plungers who risked a nickel when a nickel was a lot of money. The more patient might sleep while films were spliced and projectors soldered and were sometimes rewarded with uproariously funny pictures of John Bunny or Charlie Chaplin; or of Arizona Ike's ride through Deadman's Gulch to perforate the desperadoes and cut down the hero who was about to breathe his last at the end of a noose—the sound effects being supplied by the local piano player who did the best he could single handed with "The Maiden's Prayer."

✦ ✦ ✦

OLYMPIC CLUB — Peterborough business and professional men who chartered a steamer for annual stag excursion to Stony Lake on May 24. Scenic beauties were enjoyed pictorially at tables on shipboard, according to Hoyle, with pauses at ports of call for the stretching of legs at conveniently placed rails. Always recrowned as Queen of the Cuisine was Mrs. John Holmes, dinner hostess at Burleigh Falls, whose famed lemon pie moved the tiredest business man to rhythmical outbursts which were unrecognized in the selection of "Lyric Poetry" for standard Canadian anthologies.

✦ ✦ ✦

OPERA HOUSE, BRADBURN'S —Upstairs theatre heated with large box stoves. World-renowned stars of stage and screen appeared on its stage. The democratic niceties were preserved by interspersed billings of Marks (not Marx) Brothers, who saw to it that the tastes of the Common Man were served and that he was not pushed around by the Highbrow Elite.

✦ ✦ ✦

WESKIT—Otherwise vest; an article of clothing which might be worn "as is" openly and unashamedly by men. The weskit was also an article of feminine apparel—with reservations. Under a convention dating back to Beaumont and Fletcher, the wearing of a weskit without outer covering was the sign of a loose and profligate woman.

As Many Hotels and Taverns As Houses! And Whiskey In The 60's Was 25c Gallon

By HOWARD PAMMETT, M.A.

Mention has been made of numerous hotels and taverns in Peterborough and Ashburnham, nearly all grouped on the streets where farmers, teamsters, lumbermen and others passed most often: George, Simcoe, Hunter and Elizabeth Sts. By the nature of their business, these premises burned down, changed ownership and names with bewildering rapidity. The following are recorded in the early sixties: George St.: Commercial Hotel, Caisse Hotel, Huffman House, Fisher's Hotel (at Simcoe), Lawson's Hotel (at Brock), American Hotel (at Brock), McGregor's Hotel, Wellington Hotel, St. Lawrence Hotel (at Hunter), St. George Saloon (at Hunter), Market Hotel, Maple Leaf Hotel Market Block), Widow Lannin's Tavern, Chartrain's Saloon. Simcoe St.: O'Brien's Hotel, Dunn's Tavern, O'Donnell's Saloon. Charlotte St.: Sovie's Tavern, McDonald's Tavern. Aylmer St.: McKellar's Hotel. Brock St.: St. Maurice Saloon. Hunter St.: Stewart House (at Water), Farmer's Home. Elizabeth St.: Sedgewick's Hote l (rebuilt as Star Hotel), Simpson's Hotel, Farmers' Inn, Fisher's Tavern. Not all of these operated at the same time.

Temperance forces, in their battle against the "Demon Rum," compelled a poll in Feb., 1865, on a bylaw prohibiting sale of liquor, but apparently it was defeated, since in April, 1865, the town issued 13 tavern licences at $50 each and six liquor shop licences at $60 each. In addition to their bars, the hotels and taverns of course furnished other necessary services: room accommodation, sample-rooms for commercial travellers, livery stables and stagecoach offices, billiards and bowling, and good 25c meals.

28 Liquor Outlets

By 1870 Peterborough (excluding Ashburnham and others outside the town limits) had 10 stores, 12 hotels and six saloons selling liquor to thirsty citizens, and to the hundreds of farmers who came to town and lumbermen who invaded the town each spring and autumn. Caisse's Hotel (George), Commercial Hotel (George), Ross's Hotel (George), Ontario House (Hunter), Stewart House (Hunter and Water), Shaver's Hotel (Hunter, formerly Simpson's House), Union Hotel (Hunter), Royal Canadian Hotel (Simcoe), New Dominion House (Simcoe), Phelan's Hotel (Simcoe), St. Lawrence Hotel (Brock), Black Horse Hotel (Aylmer), Dunlan's Saloon (George), McGregor's Saloon (George), Noble's Tavern (George), Simposon's Saloon (George), Henthorn's Saloon (Hunter), Metropolitan Saloon (Simcoe).

Rowdyism

From time to time the main streets must have been as crowded and much more disorderly than on any modern Saturday morning. To assist the Chief Constable in suppressing rowdyism, the Council in 1862 appointed Messrs. Coughlan and McDonald as night-watchmen at 5s. a night each. But the police were helpless in any serious situation, such as the near-riot of March 17, 1863 when the district Orangeman gathered to stop the St. Patrick Day parade. When lumber-drive gangs paraded into town looking for diversion, or when district people gathered in town for elections, exhibitions, circuses, markets, assizes, quarterly fair days (first Tuesdays in January, April, July and October), etc., the swinging doors of the barrooms were never still, and by nightfall the fighting and fun were loud and furious, no matter how often sober church-goers denounced "Hell Street."

As Matthew Young with Irish exaggeration commented about 15 years ago: "Peterborough was a great town 70 years ago. . . Every second door was a saloon and there were almost as many hotels in the town as private houses. You could buy a quart of milk for 3c in those days, but I'm afraid not many drank milk with good whisky selling at 25c a gallon. . . Lots of money floated about town Friday night, the evening of the lumbermen's payday." One typical jest has come down to us: "It's all wrong about the Irish bein' such stout fighters. Sure, last night me and me brother and two other fellows took only three hours to lick Pat Rafferty."

Other Diversions

In the bustling town, however, there were many other less spectacular but more healthful recreations and activities. Young and old had the pioneer habit of going to the stations to meet the trains. In spring came sugar-making and the excitement of seeing the logs come downriver. St. Patrick's Day was celebrated by young and old. The Queen's Birthday (May 24) witnessed parades and fireworks. In 1867-68 some of the local jokesters (Dave and Bill Henthorn, Jack Robinson, Bill Wrighton Dan Haggart, etc.) organized May 24 parades called Terriblephantasmagoria, led by the Prince of Timbuctdahydrrucagrio p h i l i s with a brass band, Moonshine Minstrels, Paw-Knees Indians, and floats of steamers, locomotives, etc., which marched on George to London, across to Water, down to Simcoe, up to Rubidge, back to Hunter, over to Ashburnham, and back to the Market Square, where the festivities ended in speeches and fireworks. From 1867 on, Dominion Day was celebrated with parades and salutes also. The Orangemen paraded on July 12, with only 20 or 30 members in line, but making up in enthusiasm for lack of numbers. Much more exciting for the children was the circus which usually appeared in July. On July 14, 1862, for example, the Hippozoonomadon Exhibition, a combination of five circuses, arrived with four enormous trained elephants, a gigantic hippopotamus, Arabian horses, educated mules, equestrians, and equestriennes, tumblers and acrobats, dancers and wrestlers and clowns, with the Grand Opera Band, to be seen free in the street parade, and under the big tent for the small sum of 25c, one-quarter of a dollar.

Horticultural Society

Peterborough Horticultural Society was organized in 1861 under Pres. V. M. Clementi; it is said that before that time there were only two ornamental flower-gardens in Peterborough, those of Charles Rubidge and James Stevenson, but the Society encouraged the beautification of the town, and later took over care of the parks. The Peterborough Turf Club, organized about 1866, held driving races each summer. There were cricket matches at the Ashburnham field with teams from Lakefield, Lindsay, Port Hope, etc.; in 1861 a combined Peterborough-Cobourg team played the Toronto team in Toronto before HRH the Duke of Edinburgh.

Most of the able-bodied men drilled regularly with the Militia and from 1868 on practiced shooting with the Peterborough Rifle Association. Bandmaster Rackett by 1870 was leading the new 57th Batt. Brass Band, which in summer gave "a grand promenade concert in the Court House Park" each Thursday evening. A Regatta was held each summer on Little Lake, featured by sailing and canoe races, and others were held on Rice and Chemong Lakes. Excursions by rail to the Summit or to Lakefield, excursions by steamer down the Otonabee, up Chemong Lake, and through Clear Lake and such other diversions as boating, swimming, picnicking and hiking, filled out a full summer schedule of recreations.

Autumn was ushered in with the Agricultural Exhibition in the drillhall on Murray St. When the frost was on the pumpkin, children celebrated Hallowe'en with fun and pranks, just as much frowned on then as now. Winter brought skating, snowshoeing, bobsleighing, tobogganing and curling all healthy outdoor sports. Indoors were the concerts, lectures, readings, conversaziones and debates in church halls and temperance lodges, the stag dinners of the militia, firemen, Masons, etc., in various hotels, and the balls held by various organizations in Victoria Hall and Hill's Music Hall (opened 1869 in the Market Block on George St.) About 1869 the Peterborough Gymnastic Club (forerunner of the YMCA) under Pres. Dr. Poole used the old Union School on Hunter St. as a clubhouse where they exercised with Swedish drills wrestling and club-swinging. The Peterborough Masonic Lodge No. 155 was instituted in 1863 by Dr. George Burnham. Robert Stevenson and others to take in a group who were excluded from Corinthian Lodge No. 101; Corinthian Royal Arch Chapter No. 36 was organized in 1869 Moore Preceptory and Priory Knights Templar No. 13, Moore Conclave No. 25 in 1870. The St. George's Society after a lapse was started again in Feb. 1870.

A CAPITAL DISH OF RICE, WITH THE EXTRACT OF BONES

Six pounds or more of Bones, of any kind of meat; break them into small pieces, and boil in ten quarts of water for four hours; add three ounces of salt, a small bunch of thyme, bay-leaf, and savory. Put into a stewpan two ounces of dripping, two onions cut thin, and half a pound of carrots, turnips, celery, or other vegetables, cut thin; and half an ounce of sugar; set it on the fire for fifteen minutes, stirring occasionally; add half a pound of oatmeal, and mix well; moisten with two gallons of stock from the bones; add one pound and a quarter of rice, previously soaked; boil till tender, and serve.

An orderly housewife once said to a sluggard, "How do you contrive to amuse yourself?" "Amuse!" said the other, starting, "don't you know I have my house work to do" "Yes, I see you have it to do, but as it is never done, I thought you must have some other way of passing your time."

Oddfellows Turn On Steam Defeat Lindsay Juniors 3-2

Bun Kingdon's battling young juniors handed Lindsay Kinsmen a neat 3-2 defeat Friday night before a packed house in the Scugog town. It was the all-important game of the week and forces a first-place tie once more in the junior B hockey race.

Over 1,400 rabid fans watched as the flying Oddfellows turned on the steam from the opening whistle and sustained a withering pace to decision Red Mitchell's squad for the second time in a week in a clean, though very rugged fray. But only after a tough battle all the way.

Tempers flared in the second when seven penalties were given out but no serious mishap occurred till midway in the frame when the hard stick of defenceman Walling came crashing down on the head of plucky Jim Morrow as he skated in for a pass but ended up in the hospital instead. He was carried off the ice and today was reported resting comfortably awaiting X-rays. Referee Heffering ruled a major five-minute penalty to Walling for the slash.

Lefty Doris, who set up the plays for three goals and who rated a star on the night's play with smooth Ray Douglas and hard-working Ab Buckton, relayed the latter's pass from behind the Kinsmen net at the four minute mark to Douglas who caromed a sweet backhander past McGuire on the short side to open the scoring. Kinsmen fought back as they flew to outplay Links with a measure of success in this, their best period and Sinclair, who paced his team with two goals, flicked Vasey's forward pass past Wasson from close range at 10:37 to tie it up.

Storming back almost immediately with every man a star, Oddfellows quickly regained the lead as Doris and Douglas again combined on a heady play with the latter putting the disc from near the left crease with the speed of light. Ab Buckton, who played a fine two-way game, flailed home a Doris pass from the left boards early in the second on a smart close-in drive as Lindsay's defence were caught flat-footed to put Links two up, but Sinclair with Vasey again clicked two minutes later as the hot pace continued with neither team asking nor giving quarter. It was a piping struggle.

The finale saw Oddfellows display their most sensational form of the season to date, with Red Wasson phenomenal in the cage, the defence air-tight, and every forward plugging his heart out to score and hold as well, despite two penalties. But there was no score in this hectic frame.

Incidentally, the only carnation in evidence last night was a beauty in manager Len Symonds' hat, a present from Earl Spencely, a local florist, for the occasion. It proved lucky for Oddfellows, too.

Outstanding for Lindsay were Vasey, Sinclair, Green, Corley, Powell, Schenkel, Karrys and Lucas. Each team has now won nine, lost five, and tied one for 19 points to top the loop.

The teams:

IOOF — Goal, R. Wasson; defence, Wasson, Bigford; centre, West; wings, Wyatt, Morrow; alternates, Douglas, Floyd, Buckton, B. Robinson, G. Robinson, Doris, Armstrong, Shearer.

Lindsay— Goal, McGuire; defence, Walling Green; centre, Karrys; wings Corley, Baker; alternates, Powell, Schenkel, Hall, Vasey, Sinclair, Dysart, Lucas, Shervington.

Referee—Larry Heffering, Whitby. Linesman—Perry McIntosh, Lindsay.

First Period

The summary:

IOOF—Douglas (Doris, Buckton))) 4:00
Lindsay—Sinclair (Vasey) 10:37
IOOF—Douglas (Doris) 12:01
Penalties—None.

Second Period

IOOF—Buckton (Doris 2:50
Lindsay—Sinclair (Vasey) 4:30
Penalties—Lucas, Powell, Walling major, Doris, Green Wasson, Buckton.

Third Period

No score.
Penalties—Wasson, Wyatt.

St. Peter's Win Two Tilts Against Lindsay

Starved for victories last year and, from all appearances last week headed for a similar fate this year, St. Peter's High School basketball team came through with their first cage win Friday night. Fred Allore's bantams and juniors pleased the High School crowd at PCVS Friday night by downing Lindsay Collegiate teams in two parts of a triple-header in the Lakeshore B competition. The SPS seniors lost out, but this time by a slim margin.

Last week in Lindsay the closest game of the night was the bantam game and again this week it was close. But this time the tables were turned in favor of St. Peter's 11-10. Last week the Scugog entry won 21-14. R. Board and Bob O'Rourke were point-getters for St. Peter's, while A. Truax and R. Teel held the Lindsay cagers close.

A Bit Different

The junior fray was a far cry from last week's game in Lindsay when St. Peter's were smeared 39-13. Friday night the St. Peter's lads came through with a slim 22-19 victory on the strength of points by Cupoli and Legros. Freeman, Graham, and Sinclair were in the scoring for Lindsay.

The seniors dished out a rugged brand of basketball as the team seemed to figure it was fotball season again. Scoring was a minor point in the game as the Lindsay cage team won out along that line 19-15. Last week's game featuring quick breaks, ended with St. Peter's well beaten.

Jones and Farley led the SPS scoring, while the Lindsay scoring was fairly evenly divided between Logan, Smith, McDuffee, Lewis, Junkin and Puffer.

The line-ups:

Bantam Game

Lindsay CI— A. Truax, Teel, Blackwell, Sinclair, R. Truax, Arnold, Georgas, Rowland, McLean, Webster.

SPS— Board ,O'Rourke, Finn, Quinlan, Burns, Feeley, Killen, Kingdon, Smith, Hull.

Junior Game

LCI— Eberlee, Schenk, Ward, McLean, Achison, Lightbody, Teel, Freeman, Sinclair, Gleeson, Pennock.

SPS—Galvin, Holmes, Simmons, Cupoli, Kirkley, Corkery, Crealley.

Senior Game

SPS—Cavanagh, O'Neill, Jones, O'Reilly, O'Leary, Farley, Fitzgerald, Armstrong, Crowley, Coursey.

LCI—Georgas, Logan, Smith, McDuffee, Warden, Lewis, Maidens, Taylor, Junkin, Puffer.

Neills And CGE Take Wins In Girls' Loop

Neill's outplayed and outscored Nurses Seniors 28-17 for their sixth straight win this year in the girls' city league basketball at the YWCA. In the opener of the weekly doubleheader Friday night, CGE cagers pulled a surprise by trimming Nurses Juniors 29-22.

Neill's have yet to be defeated in league play this year. Friday night's game with senior nurses began the second round of the league schedule. Nurses Seniors were scheduled to play the Normals who defaulted.

Nurses Juniors were held to a 4-all score in the first quarter as both teams were off in the close-in shots. Mary Braund and Barb Jex counted Nurses' baskets while Fern Carveth counted four for CGE. The factory lasses sharpened their shooting eye in the second quarter to go up 12-8 at the half, thanks to baskets by Fern Carveth, Barb Luther, Marj Perrin and Pat Nixon. L. Stackhouse, Marj Flavelle and Mary Braund added the four Nurses' points.

Play opened up slightly in the third but the CGE girls kept their margin and added five more to it. Pat Nixon came through with six of the 11 CGE points in the quarter and was helped by Marj Perrin, Mary Hodson and Fern Carveth. The Nurses' six points were good by Mary Braund, Fran Hannan and Barb Jex.

Mary Braund whipped up five points in the last quarter as Nurses outscored CGE'ers 8-6. Double-pointers were sunk by Perrin, Luther and Carveth for CGE. Mary Braund topped the scoring with 12 points while CGE's Fern Carveth had 10, Pat Nixon eight and Marj Perrin six.

Started Slow

A slow start downed Nurses Seniors. Neill's snappy passing plays sent them up 9-3 in the first on points by Joan Dunk, Wilma Byers, Dot Callan and Polly Stewart. Anita Davis' basket and Bev Pringle's foul shot totalled the Nurses three. Neill's kept going in the second as they ran in eight more points while holding the nurses scoreless. Polly Stewart sent home six points and Joan Dunk two.

Joan Dunk had two baskets in a poor third quarter which saw the period score 4-all. All the Nurses' points came on foul shots. Dunk duplicated her third quarter effort in the fourth as the Nurses had the better of the play with Anita Davis and Bev Pringle providing the points. The other two Neill's points came by Polly Stewart and Wilma Byers. Joan Dunk bettered her teammate Polly Stewart by one point for scoring honors with 12. Anita Davis' nine was tops for the Civic girls.

Lineups:

Lineups—First game:

CGE (29)—Nixon 8, Perrin 6, Hodson 1, Luther 4, Barry, Carveth 10, Jackson.

Nurses Juniors (22)—Braund 12, Hannan 1, Stackhouse 1, Jex 5, Jones, Flavelle 3.

Second game:

Neill's (28)—D. Callan 2, Byers 3, Anderson, Post, Dunk 12, Stewart 11, Freeman, Castle, B. Callan, Livings.

Nurses Seniors (17)—Davis 9, Pringle 6, Martyn 2, B. Deyell, Langdon, Smith, Green, Collins.

King Edward Boys Defeat King George

A fast clean game between two senior school teams at the Civic Aren on Friday resulted in a win for King Edward over King George with a 5 to 1 score in their first scheduled game. Jimmie Sutherland of King George flipped one into his own net followed by one from Dannie Sutherland of King Edward, both in the first period. Dannie and Ross Tarkington scored one each in the second for King Edward and Ross again and Jimmie Sutherland scored one each in the third.

The line ups were:

King George: Goal, George Ellis; defence, B. Atkinson, L. Smith; forwards, D. Roote, J. Rogers, K. Barker; alternates, G. Dack, R. McKenzie, C. Butcher, G. Harding, P. McIlmoyle, P. Harding.

King Edward: Goal, Bob Hobart; defence, C. Chalmers, E. Robbins; forwards, R. Tarkington, J. Sutherland, D. Sutherland; alternates, F. Rusaw, J. Orr, J. Phillips, A. Curtis, A. Phillips, J. Mills, L. Hill, R. McIntosh, A. McArthur.

Referee—H. Wilson.

Correll Singles 350 Dunns Hit 3393

Dunn's Tailors hit 3393 to lead the Men's City Bowling league this week with mediocre bowling prevailing on all teams. Frank McCormack took the triple honors with 790 as Herb Correll showed the way in the singles with a neat 350.

Swartz Furniture indicated power for a single game with an effort of 1259. Other good game singles were rolled by Gerry MacDonald 340, Ross Jordon 308, Alf Mattuci 304 and Tony Vitarelli 303.

The largest upset of the night was provided by Cavanaghs who dumped the powerful McGillis crew for a six-count to leapfrog over last year's champions, Shockey's, and take a commanding lead over the McGillis team. This was the only shutout as all other wins were two-game varieties, Bond's, Campbell & Best, Swartz, Dunn's and Esquire from Clapper's, Sunocos, Fashion Craft, Moore's and Shockey's.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Pro wrestling returns to the city after a month's layoff at the Brock Arena next Tuesday night. With none other than Whipper Billy Watson and Yukon Eric in the main bout. Yes, that's it—two outstanding matmen who headline cards wherever they show. Neither one ever appears in a semi-final. Eric has tremendous strength while the Whip is faster and more experienced. It's a real attraction for the many city and district grapple fans to start off the '51 season. Semi-windup has Lee Henning in against colorful Pat Flanagan. With George Scott facing Les Ryan in the prelim bout. Quite a program, eh?

At a meeting of the Catholic High School Athletic Advisory Club—couldn't we shorten that to CHSAAC?—'twas decided to hold a fathers and sons night later this season for the SPS cage teams, senior, junior and bantam. And also to arrange for an NHL outing in Toronto ere the Leafian schedule is over. For fathers of players and their athletic sons. A good idea. They also are figuring on putting up prizes for the girls' bowling league. Fred Allore is head coach of the three basketball teams at St. Peter's, and of athletics generally there. The school has become more sports-minded in recent years.

Eagles Playing Petes

Monday eve at Civic Arena sees a return of OHA senior "B" hockey with Eagles playing Petes. That's one that needs no selling. These top two teams of the speedy grouping really shoot the works when they clash with each other and, to date, Eagles have proven better. But not by much as a rule, and the Petes are promising to pin back their ears this next meeting. It has all the marks of being a "natural", and quite likely will be ripped off before a capacity crowd. Bet on whichever one you like, but don't pass up a grand hockey game between two smart squads.

* * * * * * *

Frank Buckland was away this week, so we haven't found out exactly when the local senior "B" teams have to arrange about the Allan Cup playdown series, if either one should make it. You see, the half dozen or so senior "B" groups in Ontario this year have the opportunity to send representatives into playoffs to declare a provincial Allan Cup contender. This has to be done next month, we understand, and no word has been received yet as to how this grouping will declare its contender—since group playoffs won't be over likely in time. Already, we notice where Sarnia Sailors beat Chatham 7-5 to open a best-of-five series for the right to move into the senior "A" OHA playoffs for a crack at Allan Cup contention. What about our grouping?

Deserved Boost For Herb

Cobourg columnist has this to say: "The OHA hasn't got a good referee in this district, apparently, with Herb Payne of Peterborough the grittiest one of them all. He sticks to his decisions, won't take any back talk or shoving around by the players, and doesn't give a darn where the game is being played in the matter of calling the play." While we don't agree that the OHA sends so few good refs up this way, we do agree that Herb calls them just as he sees them anywhere and won't be pushed around. And we feel that several quick penalties early when teams start acting rough usually cools things off and lets fans see some hockey the rest of the way.

Petes Show Lots Of Hustle

The Petes are playing hot hockey now, and they had to be pretty warmish to down the Quinte Redmen last eve at the Civic by a 7-5 count. The Bent boys of Bella Villa—they can't be broke when they import goalies—hustled all the way, with big Vern Goyer (who is a right husky young fellow) quite a sparkplug up front. And youthful Jimmy Irvine showed plenty of promise in goal. He needs a better defence, as the Belleville forwards are okay. The Petes played good steady hockey from the goal out, the defence and forwards working real well. Scoring was spread around. Jake Wade got a lovely goal on a solo effort once, bringing back memories of old star stick-handlers. And Fred Garvey hustled to get a nice one on a partial breakaway. They all clicked, and they're confident they'll take Eagles Monday, but we'll know all about that along about 10.30 p.m. Monday.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Jim Konstanty, the National League's most valuable player in 1950, placed his signature Friday on a one-year Philadelphia Phillies contract calling for "a comfortable increase in salary."

Neither owner Bob Carpenter of the National League champions or Konstanty would disclose the ace relief hurler's 1950 salary.

A club spokesman, however, called it "a comfortable increase."

Konstanty is believed to have received about $12,000 last season.

The bespectacled right-hander who graduated to the majors from Toronto Maple Leafs, had plenty of ammunition to back his argument for more pay.

Konstanty earned his post-season awards by setting a new record of appearing in 74 games. He chalked up 16 victories and was credited with saving many others in the Phils' drive to their first pennant in 35 years.

Jim also started the first game of the world series against the New York Yankees and lost a heart-breaking 1-0 verdict. He appeared in relief in two other world series games.

A Swiss sextet yesterday handed Lethbridge Maple Leafs their fifth trouncing in seven European starts—a decisive 6-2 setback that further soured the westerners' hopes for world hockey honors.

Leafs, carrying the torch tossed by Edmonton Mercurys from last year's world hockey championships, were faulty in their passing and unco-ordinated in attack.

A crowd of 14,000 at Basle, Switzerland, saw the Canadians match score-for-score in the first two periods, then, with the count knotted at 2-2, fall before a four-goal Swiss splurge in the finale.

Lethbridge is in the midst of a 60-game, pre-championship tour of Europe. The world tournament starts at Paris March 11.

Don McLean and Bill Chandler got the Leaf goals. Captain Ferdy Beiler led Switzerland with a pair, and Deinon, Schubiger, Trepp and Duerst added singles.

St. Catharines Teepees have announced purchase of Albert (Bibber) O'Hearn from the Toronto Maple Leafs for an undisclosed sum of cash.

O'Hearn, now in his last year of junior play, is a native of St. Catharines and has been idle here since Dec. 1 after refusing to accept a transfer to St. Michael's, a Leafs' farm team.

O'Hearn played for Stratford Kroehlers last year, and at the start of this season was with Marlboro Juniors.

Branch Rickey is drafting his old Dodger standbys for baseline traffic duty with the announced intention of putting some "guts" into the last-place Pittsburgh Pirates.

Aging Babe Herman joined the coaching staff Friday. Rickey signed the ex-Brooklyn outfielder to patrol first base at Forbes Field.

Less than 24 hours previously, Rickey added ex-Dodger coach Milton Stock to the Pirate fold. His job will be calling signals at third base.

Joe Louis, former heavyweight champion, will box a 10-round bout in the San Francisco Coliseum Feb. 23, manager Marshall Miles said Friday.

Miles added the opponent had not yet been determined but might be Andy Walker, who recently drew with Rex Layne.

Louis left today for Miami where he is booked to fight Feb. 7. His Miami opponent also is unnamed but is expected to be Omelio Agramonte of Havana.

Eagles Defeat Combines For 9-2 Win

KINGSTON, Ont., Jan. 13 — Peterborough Eagles experienced no trouble in Harty Arena here last night defeating the Queen's University Combines by 9 to 2.

Referee Bill Shannon of Marmora handed out 17 penalties in the curtain raiser but could have doubled that output with ample justification. As a catch-as-catch-can demonstration of the winter pastime tie exhibition was away above the accepted par for the course but scientifically it was a bit of a dud. Both teams evidently were adhering to the Toronto Maple Leaf script which allegedly prescribes that all holds are legal when the opposition is handling the puck.

In the business of hockey, the Eagles were clearly the dominant performers both individually and collectively and they drove these facts home rather forcefully. They also served nine of the 17 penalties without being unduly disturbed by the striving Combines.

The two points gained kept the Eagles in a first place deadlock with the Petes who defeated the Belleville Redmen by 7 to 5. Both Liftlock City teams now lead Nylons by seven points.

In a rather dull first period the Eagles soared to a 2 to 0 lead on goals by Burns and Crowley, the first at 13:39 and the next at 16:20. The Combines made a good showing in the initial round although handicapped when Dave Latimer served two of the three penalties.

Two quick counters by Freddy Mortimer and Montgomery salted away the verdict in the second period before St. Pierre, a newcomer, formerly played for the Barriefield Bears tallied for the locals on a fast shot from just inside the blue line. This bit of success encouraged the locals to step up the pace but no dividends were collected and insult was added to injury when Hill went all the way alone to make the count 5 to 1, eight seconds before the intermission.

In the hectic final period play grew strenuous and 11 penalties were called with the Combines drawing six of them. Coach Johnny Carr-Harris, who, in conjunction with Don Murray spearheaded the locals' most dangerous attacks, scored at 5:52, but the visitors made amends in a hurry when Hill connected at 7:21 and Mortimer added another ten seconds later. The same pair counted again in succession in concluding the debacle.

Hill, with three goals and an assist, was the top point getter of the game while Crowley and D. Mortimer each scored once and had two assists. The Combines assembled only four points and these were distributed among as many players.

Teams:

Eagles: Goal, Nicholls; defence, Montgomery and Munroe; centre, Rochetta; wings, Vitarelli and Crowley; alts., Parnall, Greenlaw, Stewart, Hill, F. Mortimer, D. Mortimer and Burns.

Queens: Goal, Boivin; defence, Latimer and Graves; centre, D. Murray; wings, Carr-Harris and Dunn; alts., St. Pierre, Sweetman, Keenleyside, Ohlke, Klym, McKelvey, Shepherd and R. Murray.

Norwood Late Rally Provides 11-7 Win

MARMORA, Jan. 13—(ENS)— Although having the better of play in the first period and holding in the second, Marmora Millionaires failed to resist the attacks of Norwood in the last period to lose a fast hockey game by 11-7. Over-eagerness near their opponents' goal cost Marmora goals which should have made the margin smaller.

Three veteran players did the hat trick, Brown and Payne for Norwood and Lavender for Marmora. Each team got four penalties in the third through roughing and one fight.

Five hundred spectators saw the game.

The teams:

Norwood—Goal, Renwick; defence, Rogers, Fennell; centre, Brown; wings Thompson, Payne; alternates, Treen, Petersen Williams, Gilbert, Webb, Whitnall, Ferkuson, Wilson, Mongraw.

Marmora—Goal, Borland; defence, Doyle, Kerr; centre, Stewart; wings, Lavender, Trumble; alternates, McInroy, Maynes, Mantle, Brown, Jones, Nayler, Gray.

Referees—M. Carson and D. Barrett Belleville.

The summary:

First Period

Marmora—Lavender (Trumble, Stewart) 1:08
Penalty—Treen.

Second Period

Petes Down Redmen, 7-5 In Speedy and Clean Tilt

The Petes downed Belleville Redmen 7-5 to keep up their winning ways in the OHA senior "B" race here last night before a fair-sized crowd at Civic Arena. They had to hustle all the way as Belleville fought hard, but the Jopling bunch looked good to earn the decision. It kept them in a top-place tie with the Eagles and did not improve the third-place Redmen's position any.

It was 2-1 for the homesters in the first frame and, after a two-all second chukker, the Petes shaded Belleville 3-2 in the third, though the Quinte squad came on strongly in the last half of that period and scored the final two goals. It was the cleanest tussle seen in Peterborough this season, with but three minor penalties handed out, two to the Petes.

Quite Speedy

Play was quite fast and pretty even all the way, with both sides sticking strictly to hockey. The opposing goalies showed up well, young Jim Irvine playing the angles almost as well as the veteran Ray Harding, the latter having more protection from his defence, Jopling and Horton being outstanding, with Tompkins and Earl Leonard also effective. Gus Leonard is side-lined with a fractured rib. Jake Wade and Arn Dugan led the local snipers with two points apiece, the scoring being well spread around. Single points were gained by Mason, West, Fryia, Garvey, Tompkins, Floyd and Jopling. Big Vern Goyer shone up front for Wally Bent's bunch with four points, as two each were counted by Wardhaugh, Mulvihill and Jones. MacDonald and Williams had singles.

Wade got the smartest goal of the night to open the scoring in the first, as he stickhandled past several from centre ice right in to sink the disc. As the Petes pressed in, Mason slipped home a rebound on a play built up by Dugan and Wade as the first line clicked all the way. Green was robbed by Harding later as the Redmen ganged up and then Irvine thefted Dugan on a breakaway. MacDonald put the visitors back in the game on a nice one in close with Wardhaugh and Jones aiding, and they poured in hard near the finish when Fryia was waved off for cross-checking.

Tied It Up

Goyer tied it up on a hot angle shot in the second with Mulvihill's forward pass. Horton drew an interference penalty. He just got on the ice, but not in the play, when Dugan scored in a scramble. The Fryia line pressed for a space and later it was fast and even again. Goyer took Mulvihill's delayed pass with the defence out of position to give Harding no chance on the goal. West got that one back right away neatly from Floyd as they tore in fast. Schreider was gated for tripping near the finish of the stanza.

The Petes had a margin on play the first half of the final frame. Fryia batted in a screened shot from Jopling early and later Garvey beat defenceman to the puck on speedy skating to score on a partial breakaway neatly. Tompkins finished it off with a sliding shot from Dugan in close. Belleville roared back and kept most of the play in the Petes' area the final seven or eight minutes. Williams' screened shot from Goyer whittled the count down some, and then Wardhaugh's blast was partly stopped by Harding but trickled over the goal line, Jones and Goyer being in on the play. The Redmen were fighting fiercely at the finish. The teams:

Belleville: Goal, Irvine; defence, Schmidt and Schreider centre, Goyer; wings, Green and Mulvihill; alts., Jones, MacDonald, Wardhaugh, Free, King, Bastedo, Williams and Day.

Petes: Goal, Harding; defence, Horton and Tompkins; centre, Wade; wings, Mason and Dugan; alts., Fryia, Mortimer, Collins, Garvey, West, Floyd, E. Leonard and Jopling.

Referee, J. Crombie; linesman, R. Ouimet.

Summary:

Warsaw Edges Hastings 5-4

HASTINGS, Jan. 13—(ENS)— Hasting intermediates dropped a 5-4 verdict to Warsaw in Hastings Arena last night in a regular EPL game.

It was a clean game, slowed down by heavy ice. Hastings fought from behind all the way, tying it up twice but after Warsaw took a two-goal lead in the second period were only able to add a single. Hastings carried the entire play for most of the third period but couldn't score only once.

Hastings—Goal, McKenty; defence, Petticrew and Brown; centre, L. Scriver; wings, Oliver and Edwards; alternates, Crowley, Greenley, Laver, Stevenson, Cobbledick, Thomas, West, Lockhart, Mueller.

Warsaw—Goal B. Payne; defence, G. Payne and Eadie; centre, L. Lonsberry; wings, Patterson and Evans; alternates, Watts, Smith, S. Lonsberry, Clements, E. Payne, M. Batten, Dennis, Andrews.

Omemee Boys Whip Brooklin

OMEMEE, Jan. 13 —(ENS)— Omemee intermediate A's in their third encounter in the ORHA series Thursday night, shut out Brooklin in Omemee Arena 3-0.

The Brooklin boys played a good game all through, but Fisher's good goaltending kept them from scoring. O. Crawford, Armstrong and Parker lead for Omemee. On both sides, boarding and tripping was a bit too prevalent to call it a clean game, but it was at least an energetic one. In the first period Jamieson of Omemee and Cook of Brooklin had two clashes for which they went off together, and in the second Omemee's Parker and Brooklin's J. Hooper suffered a like penalty for too fond an embrace.

WHIPPER WATSON, above, who takes on Yukon Eric in the main bout of next Tuesday's mat card at the Brock Arena. What a bout this should be! The semi-final brings together the Whip's pal, Pat Flanagan and Leering Lee Henning. This match should be quite a dish too. The opener will feature George Scott against Les Ryan. This is the best card to be lined up this season and should be witnessed by a capacity crowd.

Hawks In Toronto Tell Sad Story Leafs Still Wary

By MEL SUFRIN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The Ebenezer Blues, a subtle, sometimes-successful strain of hockey psychology, are being chanted once again within nearing distance of Toronto Maple Leafs.

After an intermission of almost a month, Ebenezer Ralston Goodfellow, Ottawa-born coach of the National Hockey League's lowly Chicago Black Hawks, is back in Toronto singing a sad song and hoping thereby to lull second-place Leafs into the dangerous depths of false security.

Heard This Before

Back in mid-December, Ebbie visited Maple Leaf Gardens with a refrain, similar in its unhappy tale of injuries. Almost everyone was certain the Leafs would win in a walk over the Hawks, a team so desperate it brought up five rookies from the minors.

The Windy City crew left the fans with their mouths open in astonishment as they bounced the then-league-leaders 3-2. The psychology worked.

This time it's much the same. Ebbie has been wailing about the loss of injured Black Jack Stewart and Bill Gadsby, his two defence stalwarts.

"I've never seen anything like it," said Ebbie. "I've used 30 players this year, and only about four of them have escaped injury."

Recalling the Dec. 16 game when he used the kids from Milwaukee to beat the Leafs, Goodfellow said:

"Perhaps I should have brought all the Seagulls up for this game. But they're playing in Denver and that's a long way to travel for one game."

No Wins In 12

There's no doubt that Hawks, who haven't won in their last 12 games, rate some sympathy; but they shouldn't expect it from the Leafs, who should be properly wary of hard-luck stories by this time.

Coach Joe Primeau has been having his injury troubles too of late, but things are looking up. Captain Ted Kennedy, out with an ankle injury, will be back for the Chicago game tonight, and injured defenceman Bill Juzda is just about ready.

Two other games are scheduled for tonight and the six teams will be in action again Sunday night.

Richard Flying

Third-place Montreal Canadiens, revitalized by the upsurge of Maurice (Rocket) Richard of late, will play host to Boston Bruins. A win for Boston would give them a tie with Montreal. In the other game the league-leading Detroit Red Wings are at home to the fifth-place New York Rangers.

Sunday Toronto is in New York, Montreal is at Detroit and Chicago at Boston.

The top two positions will remain unchanged as a result of weekend activity, but the other four spots—with six points separating the teams—could have new occupants Monday morning.

Hull Hexs Cornwall With 3-Goal Splurge

OTTAWA, Jan. 13— (CP). — Trailing in the Eastern Canada Hockey League, Hull Volants held onto a hex they have over the league-leading Cornwall Calumets and defeated them 3-2 at the Auditorium Friday night.

Generally weak finishers, Volants pumped in three goals in the final frame to coral the game. It was a tripping penalty to Jean Payette which made the difference as Marcel Legris shot in a rebound on a power play while Cornwall was short-handed.

After a scoreless opener, Giles Genereux sent Cornwall ahead in the second. Pit Richer and Carman Marshall clicked for Volants and Jim McEwen evened it. Legris got the clincher in the final three minutes of play.

Army Decisions RCAF As Rally Fails

OTTAWA, Jan. 13 (CP)—Ottawa Army took a 3-2 Eastern Canada Hockey League decision over Ottawa RCAF at the Auditorium Friday night, to give themselves a one-game edge on seven meetings between the teams to date.

The Army men assured victory with a goal in each period, while Air Force, looking weaker than in previous games, scored only in the third period with a rally insufficient to carry the game.

Ab Renaud notched two for Army, while Roy Forbes piled up the third. Air Force scorers were Bob Greenlaw and George Greene. Work of the netminders sparked the game.

Skiing Good In Spots Poor In Local Areas

TORONTO, Jan. 13 (CP). — Ontario's skiers will get their first real crack at snow this year when they hit the hills this weekend.

The Ontario Travel Department reported Friday that light snows during the week improved skiing conditions generally. Only Kenora reported skiing impossible.

Elsewhere, conditions ranged from poor to excellent. Skiers at Haileybury, Havelock and Sundridge will find trails and bush in tip-top condition with packed or powder snow. Skiing is good at Fort William, Port Arthur, Huntsville and Midland, and fair at Barrie and Orangeville.

No skiing was reported from the tow hills at Flesherton and Markdale, but conditions in the bush were fair. Conditions at Cobourg, Collingwood, Dagmar, Peterborough, Haliburton and Toronto Summit were poor.

Dutchmen Stall Marlies 6-2 Scramble Out Of Cellar

By The Canadian Press.

The Ontario Hockey Association's major series has two main contests. There is one between Toronto Marlboros, last season's Allan Cup champions, and Toronto St. Mike's Monarchs for the No. 1 spot in the four-team loop. And there is the battle between Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen and Hamilton Tigers to keep out of the circuit's basement.

But that doesn't mean the lower-ranking clubs can't belt the pants off the upper crust.

For instance in Toronto last night the Dutchmen pretty well dominated the show when they met the second-place Marlies. They won 4-2 to climb into third place in the league, one point ahead of the Tigers and five behind the Dukes.

Score On Open Net

The Dutchies got their first counter after 36 seconds of play and pushed the last one into an open net—when Marlboros' coach Flash Hollett pulled goalie Ed Rafferty in an effort to tie the score—with only one second of play left.

Don Oberholtzer, Mickey Roth, Dennis Flanagan and Maurice Levesque each counted once for Kitchener-Waterloo. Jack MacKenzie and Red Johnson were Toronto goal-getters.

There also was jockeying last night for top places in the OHA's Junior A division.

Flyers Win 6-2

Barrie Flyers staved off an attempt by Windsor to take over the runner-up spot by downing the third-place Spitfires 6-2. Flyers' victory moved them within one point of the leading Toronto Marlboros and three up on Windsor.

Oshawa Generals joined Guelph Biltmores in fourth place by handing Stratford Kroehlers a 5-2 defeat.

Rene Leroux, George Samolenko, Lou Jankowski, Herb Dejordy and Ted O'Connor were the Oshawa goal-scorers while Roy Leckie and Bob Bailey poked in the rubber for Stratford.

St. Catharines moved up to take the place Oshawa had shared with Galt by trouncing Waterloo Hurricanes 12-1. The Teepees collected a 5-1 lead in the opening period, added five more in the middle chapter. It was the Hurricanes' 30th loss this season.

Skip Teal, Albert (Bibber) O'Hearn, newcomer to Teepees line-up, and Billy Young each got three goals. Boone, Pierre Pilotte and Don McCombs got singletons for St. Catharines. Ron Murphy picked up Hurcs' lone counter.

MEDICINE AND CHRISTIANITY: Missionary Pilot Larry Montgomery's seaplane is a sharp contrast to the primitive dugout canoe (left) as he visits a Piro Indian family in Peru's jungles.

Bible Institute Students Now Using Airplanes

CHICAGO —(NEA)— The missionary, who used to struggle through dense jungles for weeks carrying the word of God to remote villages, has discovered the airplane. Today's flying missionaries, traveling on a wing with a prayer, take the gospel anywhere.

The Moody Bible Institute, along with its regular training for missionaries and Bible students, gives a special 'missionary technical course." Besides such subjects as Bible doctrine, personal evangelism and pagan religious psychology, the technical students take flying instruction, radio and communications and photography.

According to Moody, missionaries feel the airplane is the most profitable of all modern inventions to them. Rev. Paul Robinson, who is coordinator of Moody's missionary technical course, flew deep into the Mexican jungle to visit a hitherto inaccessible tribe, the Lacandone Indians. It took him 12 minutes. On land, it would have been a hard journey of several days.

Missionary pilot students at Moody learn to navigate and maintain their planes, as well as to fly them. When they finish their four-year course, many of them will find themselves in remote outposts. They'll have to be a one-man airport, besides a one-man church.

Moody's technical students also study radio operation and photography. Radio is handy to keep in instant touch with other missions, to get help in case of emergencies and to get the latest weather reports for aid in safe flying.

And the missions, in their reports to the people and their home churches, find photographs tell the story better than words. So Moody trains the technical mission specialist as a crack photographer.

The first flying missionary worked in the Bolivian jungles in 1941. But Moody's course, designed to turn out enough to satisfy the need, wasn't organized until 1946.

Six Light Planes

Then there were only three students. Now there are 38, with eight instructors. Six light airplanes, the type used in the field, serve for pilot training and a work shop and several classrooms are used for ground training. The school is approved by the Civil Aeronautics Administration.

After two years of basic Bible training, plus primary courses in aviation, radio and photography, the students specialize for two years in the technical aspects of the curricula. With their intensive training, they qualify for a commercial pilot's license and an amateur radio operator's license.

No tuition is charged by Moody, but the waiting list for the missionary technical course is long. Only those who show a real aptitude for the specific type of training are accepted.

"In the mission fields," says Robinson, "pilots must have the ability to get into and out of difficult places and terrain. They have to know how to survive under primitive conditions. That is why missionary-pilot training must be unusual and practical. Pilots only get lost once in dense jungles."

Mrs. D. Lang Heads Quilt Club

CAVAN, Jan. 13 —(ENS)—The Pot Luck Quilters Club of the seventh and eighth lines, Cavan, met at the home of Mrs. A. Coyte on Wednesday. There were 15 members present and a pot luck dinner was served at noon. One quilt was made for the Red Cross and patches made for another quilt.

Eight pot luck dinners and quiltings were held during the year, the hostesses being Mrs. A. Coyte, Mrs. D. Lang, Mrs. H. and Mrs. B. Dawson, Mrs. Wilbur Larmer, Mrs. T. Douglas, Mrs. W. Elson, Mrs. John McKnight and Mrs. Milton Challice.

Two euchre parties were held, one in Whitfield's School, sponsored by Mrs. H. C. Argue, and one at the home of Mrs. Ira Gillis. The total proceeds for the year amounted to $254.27. A donation of $30 was sent to the Manitoba relief fund, $8 was given to buy cod liver oil tablets for the pupils of Whitfield's School, a bedside table was bought and donated to the Red Cross loan cabinet, Millbrook, and a Christmas box was sent to Clayton Hannah. These donations and the expenses for the year for quilting supplies amounted to $152.72, leaving a balance on hand of $101.55.

Fourteen quilts were donated to the Red Cross Society, Millbrook.

At the election of officers, which followed the reading of the report, Mrs. Donald Lang was re-elected president and Mrs. H. C. Argue was elected secretary.

Air Raid Shelters

OSLO—(CP)—Nearly 800,000 cubic feet of rock will be blasted from beneath a hill near the royal palace in the centre of this Norwegian capital to make room for the first of four public air raid shelters planned for Oslo. It will accommodate about 4,000 persons.

Instal 1951 Officers At Auxiliary

NORWOOD, Jan. 13 —(ENS)— January meeting of the Evening Auxiliary of the United Church was held at the home of Mrs. Fred Patterson on Wednesday evening with a good attendance. The president, Miss Pauline Weir, opened the meeting with a hymn, followed by the business and annual reports. It was decided to continue using the year card as a means of raising funds for the Auxiliary.

The installation of officers for 1951 was conducted by Mrs. Reta Pakenham, a former president. The following are the officers: President, Miss Pauline Weir; vice-president, Miss Lila Kirk; recording secretary, Mrs. Armar Weir; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Percy Kempt; treasurer, Mrs. Russell Gardner; missionary monthly secretary, Mrs. George Peoples; supply secretary, Miss Clara Jenkins; associate members secretary, Mrs. Earl Hamblin; Christian citizenship and temperance, Mrs. Jack Stewart; community friendship secretary, Miss Rose Squire; press secretary, Mrs. David Hall; group leaders, Mrs. John McConnell, Mrs. Stanley Flett, Mrs. Geald La Brash.

Mrs. J. McConnell was in charge of the worship service. She was assisted by Mrs. D. Hall. The topic taken from the study book was "The United Church Re-enters Japan Through Partnership in Church Work." Mrs. McConnell, assisted by Mrs. R. Gardner, Mrs. Kenneth Pakenham, Mrs. J. Stewart and Mrs. A R. Atkinson, gave reports of the work of the church in Japan on Christian education, youth work, women's work, rural work and Christian literature. Lunch was served by the group.

New City Hall Construction Moving Quickly

Work on the new city hall is moving along says superintendent Frank Paddock. All steel work has been completed for some time, and the only holdup at present is caused by some large pieces of stone which have not yet arrived.

Otherwise, stone-laying and bricklaying is being done quickly enough for winter weather. In other years, contractors have been wary of laying stone in the winter.

Mortar is mixed in special mortar sheds, and sent to the various gangs, who keep it warm in steel boxes known as 'salamanders." These are heated by kerosene lamps. Larger salamanders are used to take the chill off large pieces of stone before they are laid.

The mortar is mixed with a special quick-drying cement.

Windows in the basement will probably be in early next week, Mr. Paddock said. All concrete for floors and the roof has been poured.

Weather In 1950 Slightly Colder

Highest temperature in 1950 was 7½ degrees lower than the 1949 high of 92½, recorded on August 9. Last year's high was on June 8.

In fact, it was colder all round in 1950. The coldest day—March 4—was 12 degrees lower than 1949's chilliest, November 26. Then, the mercury dropped to 24 below

Average temperatures show, too, that last year was cooler. Average for 1949 was 43.64 against 42.4 for 1950.

Total precipitation for 1950 was 26.63 inches, made up of 18.9 inches of rain and 79.25 inches of snow. In 1949, total precipitation was 25.53 inches, composed of 20.43 inches of rain and 51 inches of snow.

The figures were recorded and collected by James Harrison of the filtration plant.

Two Bus Passengers Suffer Slight Injury

Two women reported themselves slightly injured Friday after the collision of a city bus and a city truck on George St. near Ware St.

Considerable damage was done to the front of the truck and the rear of the bus.

The women are: Mrs. Oscar Matchett, 113 Maude St., and Mrs. Cecil Watson, 76 Ware St. Mrs. Matchett said at first her back was hurt, but later told police it was all right. Mrs. Watson complained of injuries to her right shoulder, right hip and leg.

The city bus, driven by Jack Cochrane, 540 Waterford St. was south-bound on George St., and the truck, driven by David Innes, 162 Aylmer St., was driving behind it.

Cochrane stopped the bus at Ware St. to let off passengers, and Innes, unable to pass the bus because of north-bound traffic, aplied his brakes. The truck skidded and hit the rear of the bus.

Exhibition Went Into Red $760 Despite Higher Gate

The Peterborough Exhibition went $760.35 in the red in 1950. The reasons were clear as R. B. Arnold, treasurer, read out the detailed financial statement and pointed out that most receipts were down and expenses were up. Total receipts were $46,362.68, and expenses were $47,123.03.

Receipts from admissions were up, as were exhibit and race horse entry fees, but rentals, proceeds from the midway, memberships, and other items decreased from 1949.

On the disbursement side, more prize money was paid out, insurance costs were greater, costs went up for the grandstand performance and maintenance was more expensive in 1950 than in 1949.

HUGH STEWART

Only two expense items were down—rental of tents, tables and chairs, and the rent for the starting gate and the announcer. About half-a-dozen remained the same.

$18,317 Paid Admissions

Admissions totalled $18,317.25, rents from the grounds were $5,453, proceeds from the midway totalled $4,644.98, and booth space rentals were $4,425.50. Grants from the federal and provincial governments totalled $6,000, and $2,000 was paid the board by the city toward the cost of constructing a road through the park.

Prize money paid out totalled $14,256.57, wages and salaries were $5,569.45, the grandstand performance cost $3,605, and maintenance of the grounds and buildings cost $2,151.88. Improvements for buildings and property cost $5,891.89.

Total costs for ground improvements were $9,060.89, for general operations $5,609.06, and direct costs of the 1950 exhibition were $32,453.08.

Broken down, receipts were as follows: ground improvements, $8,000; general operations, $5,453; and direct receipts from the fair, $32,909.68.

Two Druggists Get F & G Lease

Two of Peterborough's perimeter druggists are joining hands and moving toward the city's business centre. They are Bert O. McLeod of Park and Albert Streets, and Murray D. Irwin of Hunter St., Ashburnham.

They are associates in acquiring the lease of the F & G store at the corner of Charlotte and Park Streets, and intend to move in early in March. They are separtely continuing their present stores, but are uniting in the Charlotte St. enterprise.

Mr. Irwin's first engagement in Peterborough was as a drug apprentice with Mr. McLeod. He went on to the Ontario School of Pharmacy where he made an outstanding record, and then went into business for himself near the corner of Mark and Hunter Streets.

Incidentally he is now a member of the Board of Education.

Man's Sentences Total 135 Years

COBOURG, Jan. 13 (CP) — James M. Frost, 31, of Belle Ewart, Ont., Friday was sentenced to concurrent terms of five years on each of 27 charges of having—and passing—$10 counterfeit bills.

The charges covered offences at five Ontario points—here, at Bowmanville, Brockville, Barrie and Kingston.

Magistrate R. B. Baxter, in passing sentence, noted that Frost's criminal record dated from the age of 16 and included convictions ranging from petty theft to rape.

High Commissioner's 3-Day Visit To City

The Right Honorable Francis Forde, Australian high commissioner to Canada, will be a guest in Peterborough for three days, arriving on January 28.

Invited officially by the Knights of Columbus to be their guest speaker at the second of their Christian Culture series on the evening of January, 29, the high commissioner informed P. D. Scollard that he would spend three days in Peterborough. The purpose of his longer stay is to visit the industries of the city.

The Honorable Mr. Forde will be given a small civic reception at the Empress Hotel on January 28 by the mayor and council. Sunday he will speak at the Christian Culture Series and Monday tour the city's industries.

Wolves Kill Deer In Belmont Twp.

HAVELOCK, Jan. 13 (ENS) — Evidence that wolves are coming within a short distance of the village was found a few days ago by Harry Petherick who lives about five miles north east of here when he noticed their tracks near his home. On going out the following morning he found the partly eaten carcass of a deer on the outskirts of his pasture land and the number of tracks around it showed that there had been several wolves in the pack.

QUIET COMMUNITY OF GORE'S LANDING has boat-building as its only winter industry. Pioneer settlers were half-pay officers of the Royal Navy and, of particular interest to Peterborough, immigration land agent, Capt. Charles Rubidge came from there. Boatbuilder Lyle Wallace, TOP LEFT, sits at the wheel of a 25-foot mahogany runabout that he has just finished. The chancel of St. George's Anglican Church is shown at TOP CENTRE. Watercraft builders Milton Ames and Wallace Pratt discuss a finishing problem, RIGHT TOP. A handsome hand-carved wall plaque in the Anglican Church, ABOVE, is one of the many rich appointments.—Examiner Staff Photos.

Winter Stills Gore's Landing Quiet As Its Nelson Flag

By NICK NICKELS

The settlement of Gore's Landing is about as quiet a community as one could visit, especially in January. On a mid-winter afternoon there is little, if any, stir. Where the Coldsprings Road drops down to the Rice Lake waterfront, and develops into "Main Street" for the last half-mile, it passes a service station, several boarded-up summer cottages, year-round residences here and there, a United Church, two empty summer hotels and a village store. There is little life on the street until the children straggle home from school, bending against the strong sweep of winds from the wide expanse of Rice Lake.

Though the community has all the appearances of "Sleepy Hollow," one has only to call on a few leading citizens to learn that there are one or two things that burn within them brightly, and though part of their past history, they speak of them at the outset of the most casual conversations, even to strangers.

Their chief pride is that the late Primate of the Church of England in Canada, the Most Reverend Derwyn Trevor Owen, was raised in the settlement. They will show you the exact photographs showing the late Primate, as a very young man, standing with large groups of people on the verandah of the old Rice Lake House.

And they insist on one visiting St. George's Anglican Church that crowns the western slope of the village.

This small fieldstone edifice is possibly one of the prettiest country parish churches in the province, if not in the dominion.

Designed by Alfred Harris, it was built in 1908 on the ample space of a promontory that commands a splendid view of Rice Lake in three directions. The church is beautifully appointed. A tall stained-glass memorial window, set into the west wall, provides excellent natural lighting. It commemorates the late George Ley and his descendants who were prominent in the community. It was designed by Louis Davis, an English artist.

Nelson Battle Flag

Here is the second feature of importance to the citizens of Gore's Landing. There is a White Ensign displayed in the church's chancel that is said to have been one of Lord Nelson's battle flags used at Trafalgar. It was presented to St. George's Church in 1929 by the late Judge John A. Barron, a relative of the founder of the Glen Navy School for boys which was located in the settlement some years ago.

Accompanying the flag was a letter to one of the parish principals which explained its historical background:

"In 1627 the British Fleet was divided into three squadrons on its expedition to the Isle of Rhe. The Duke of Buckingham, in command of the 1st squadron, carried the Red Ensign at the "maine topp." The Earl of Lindsey commanded the 2nd and displayed the Blue Ensign and Lord Harvey of the 3rd carried the White. The other sections of the Fleet showed the Crosses of St. George and St. Andrew.

"The object of these various flags was to make each squadron more distinguishable but they were never carried on Foreign Stations, only on battle intent.

"Sometimes such squadrons numbered as many as 200 sail each and much confusion resulted. In order to prevent this, Lord Nelson, on going into action at Trafalgar, ordered the whole British fleet to hoist the White Ensign. It is often called the "Old Banner of England." The use of the three color Ensigns was continued and the "White" was set aside for ships of war on commission. The "Blue" was given to British Merchant ships and the "Red" to all other ships belonging to British subjects.

"For any person to hoist this flag (White Ensign) on his flagstaff is shocking bad taste and only the very ignorant would presume to be so offensive. But it frequently hangs in the chancel of an Anglican Church and I ask permission for it to be displayed in the Little Church on the Hill."

Veritable Relic?

There seems to be some doubt in the wording of the above letter that the White Ensign in St. George's is an authentic relic of Nelson's time. An examination of the flag, now on a staff behind the Bishop's Chair, leads to further uncertainty.

It appears to be a product of mass production and the holes with which it is riddled could be blamed on moths rather than grape shot. But whether authentic or not, it was a splendid gesture on the part of the Barron family to the Little Church on the Hill. The ladies of the Women's Auxiliary have recently decided to have the "relic" preserved for safer keeping and will have it placed in an oak case on which a plaque will describe the historical background of the contents.

Modern Boat Building

It is a far cry from the ships of Nelson to modern-day boat building but the community's sole industry draws some sort of parallel in its three boat factories.

The Rice Lake Boat works, headed by Wallace Pratt, has been making skiffs, canoes and outboard craft for well on to 70 years. At peak production times, it employs 15 men but at present only a skeleton winter crew are busy on a few models. Next door at the Wallace Boat Works, owned by Lyle Wallace, about 50 cruisers and runabouts are stored for the winter. In an upstairs shop, Mr. Wallace uncovered a shining 25-foot mahogany runabout that he has just built, and sold. Repair work is being carried on at the third plant, the Harris Boat Works.

These modern shipbuilders show little, if any, concern about the Nelson Ensign in St. George's Church. Towering, canvas-covered "Ships of the Line" and their accoutrements hold small interest compared to gleaming hulls, chromium fittings and power plants that turn up thousands of revolutions per minute. The sparkling summer water of Rice Lake, not the oceans of the world, are their horizons.

Fox Hunters Claim Bounties On 38 Pelts In Two Weeks

Peterborough county hunters are sharpening up their sights to cash in on the $3-a-pelt bounty for foxes. Up till today they have bagged 38 since the beginning of the year. At the closing session of the county council it was decided to re-introduce the $3 bounty to help eliminate the large number of foxes that roam the district. Victoria county and the counties of Durham-Northumberland are also paying $3 a pelt this year so there is no incentive for unscrupulous hunters to "bootleg" pelts.

The Peterborough county season will end February 28, but there will be an extra five days allowed so fox hunters, particularly those in northern townships, will be able to bring in their bag. There will be no bounty paid on those shot or trapped after February 28, however.

Shot 14 Foxes

Top hunter to date is Albert Taylor of Curve Lake. He has collected a total of $52 for shooting 14—11 in Harvey township and three in Ennismore.

Here are the results up to the end of this week: Ben Taylor, five shot in Smith; O. E. Crowe, Otonabee, three shot in Otonabee; S. Purser, Peterborough, one shot in Douro; Albert Dewdney, Smith, one shot in Smith; W. Jones, Peterborough, four shot in Smith; Mark Lonsberry, Warsaw, three shot in Asphodel, three in Dummer; Reginald Parcells, Young's Point, one shot in Douro; and Albert Taylor, Curve Lake, 11 shot in Harvey and three in Ennismore.

All pelts must be brought into the county clerk and treasurer on Thursday. They must be skinned and dried before being presented for payment.

As yet this year there have been no bounties paid out on wolves. This is a $25 award, $15 of it from the county and $10 from the provincial government.

Square Dancing PCVS Students

A new extra-curricular activity will be added next week to the list already at PCVS for the students. Once a week during the noon hour those students who wish to learn square dancing will have the opportunity. The first session will be held next Thursday at noon.

Supervised by the Students Council, the new square dancing period is primarily for the rural students who are at the school during the lunch hour.

The rural students, said one teacher who is assisting with the organization of the project, miss most of the other extra-curricular activities when they have to catch buses home at 4 p.m.

Students from the city will be allowed to take part in the square dancing; it is not restricted to rural students.

At many of the school dances the music is supplied by records but not so with the square dancing. The classes, which will be held every Wednesday after the first session, will have a piano, a guitar and a violin to provide the music. Two or three will do the calling.

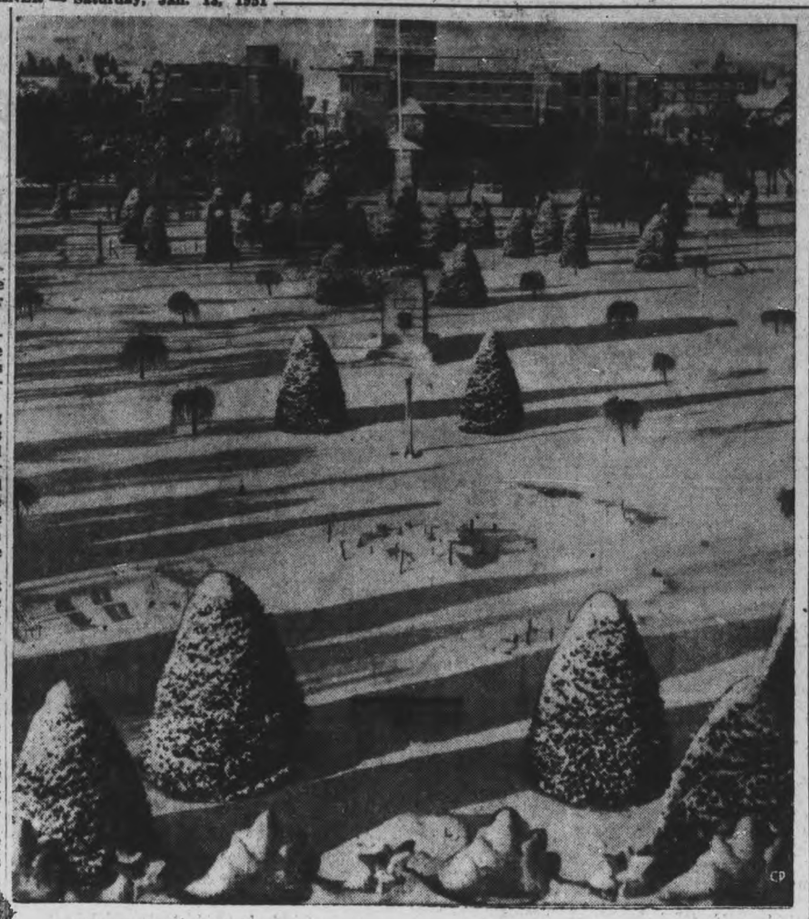
New U.S. Draft Won't Affect Hollywood Stars

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 13 (AP)—The new US draft calls will have little effect on Hollywood's star ranks.

Unless the age limit for selective service quotas is raised, there will be few film personalities called into the service in the near future.



Most of today's top-ranking male stars are more than 40 years old, and those between 25 and 40 were either in the service or exempted during the Second World War. (Some are in the reserve and may be called.) There is only a handful of male film names under 25 and therefore eligible for the draft.

This situation points up a fact which many theatre men have been complaining about: the lack of new, young faces to augment the established names . . .

No Girls

The ads for "Halls of Montezuma" show pictures of beautiful girls as well as the Marines. There are no women listed in the cast and gals are not even seen in the picture except for a few brief glimpses. The ads are an effort to get sex appeal into an all-male picture . . .

The Roman Catholic Legion of Decency has taken one of its biggest slaps at current pictures. It placed "objectionable in part" rating on "Born Yesterday" for "suggestive situations and dialogue; low moral tone." "For Heaven's Sake" got the same rating for "suggestive sequences; material morally unfit for entertainment audiences." And the Legion said "Vendetta" also contained material "morally unfit" for the general public . . .

WINTER MAGIC — Standing in sharp relief as brilliant sunlight followed a heavy snow fall, trees in Calgary's Memorial Park looked for all the world like carefully painted miniature window decorations when this photo was taken. 80th Council Of Omemee Holds Inaugural OMEMEE, Jan. 13 (ENS)—The village council met in the council chamber Monday at 11 a.m. to sign their declarations of office after which they adjourned to inspect village property and to meet at 8 p.m. for the first session of the 80th year of the council of Omemee. Present were Reeve H. Deyell and Councillors George Stephenson, Walter Mitchell, L. M. MacKenzie and Smithson Nurse.

The treasurer's report showed a balance in the general account of $1,622.75, and in the fire department of $2,797.73 was accepted on a motion by Councillors Stephenson and Mitchell.

On motion of Councillors MacKenzie and Mitchell, W. Whitney's claim was turned over to the insurance company.

The offer of M. Brandon, of Fenelon Falls, to pay half the expense of moving garbage from his Omemee property was accepted.

Three by-laws were duly read, signed and sealed. They were as follows: By-law No: 747, appointing Dr. G. N. Earle medical officer of health for 1951 at a salary of $65 per annuam plus $1 per child for scarlet fever and diphtheria immunization, plus material; By-law No. 748, appointing L. M. McQuade and James Gladding to the Board of Health and appointing E. Dawson as school trustee for a term of three years; By-law No. 749, authorizing the borrowing of money from the Bank of Toronto up to $8,000.

On motions of Councillors Stephenson and MacKenzie the following bills were ordered paid: Street lights, $95.05; fire hall lights, $13.95; Coronattion Hall lights, $8.75; Muncipal World, $20.06 (subscription and supplies); R. Given for garbage hauling, $12; J. Carew Lumber Co., $98.64; Bell Telephone Co. (police), $4.80; Miss P. Harris (printing statement), $55.00; Grand and Joy books, etc., $19.40; Cartwright and Sons (statutes), $25.00; Carnegie Smith (building) $304 53; R. Broom (police duty), $6.75; W. R. Stevens, salary, $80.00; allowance on speeders, $19.92; spring for door, $8.05; H. W. Hill (register of births, deaths and old age pensions for 1950), $13.50; R. Rehill (deputy returning officer), $10.50; J. W. Rehill (poll clerk), $7.88; fire department for fire call, $27.00.

The Annual Meeting of Shareholders
The Royal Bank of Canada

Voluntary Curb on Spending Would Speed Re-armament and Preserve our Free Economy

Physical controls useful but no substitute for a real attack on inflation. Non-military expenditures must be cut. President proposes four point anti-inflation programme

How the inflationary spiral can undermine the very basis of free Canadian democracy and the positive steps which should be taken now to meet this threat were emphasized by James Muir in his Presidential address at the annual meeting of shareholders of The Royal Bank of Canada.

The Korean war, said Mr. Muir, and the threat of war elsewhere, had posed new inflationary problems on an economy already fatigued by the long struggle against inflation since the close of World War II. "We no longer have that excess capacity in capital and manpower that made possible more guns and more butter in the early years of the last struggle.

"Full employment of me nand resources is a symptom of economic strength in peacetime. It means however that any additional demands upon the economy can be met only by curtailing demand elsewhere. This means that the additional demand upon our economy arising out of rearmament must be met by cutting back our normal peacetime demand for capital and consumption goods.

COST OF REARMAMENT

"This curtailment of peacetime demand is the cost of wartime rearmament. This cost cannot be postponed. It must be met at once. And the fundamental problem of war economics is to ensure that only the least essential part of peacetime demand is thus curtailed.

"In this way we can reduce the dislocation of our economy caused by new armament expenditure. If we can reduce this dislocation we can increase the effectiveness of our war effort, and at the same time we can ensure that the freedom we aim to defend will in fact be preserved.

"What part of peacetime demand can most economically be sacrificed to the needs of defence?

"There are broadly three areas of demand in which cut-backs might conceivably be made. They are (1) the demand by consumers especially for durable goods; (2) the demand by business for materials needed in the expansion of plant and equipment; and (3) the demand by government for non-military goods and services.

CONTROLS NOT ENOUGH

"Once the limits of voluntary saving have been reached we are forced to rely on increased taxes, and on physical controls. Physical controls may operate indirectly through credit curbs or directly through government allocation of scarce materials combined in various degrees with price control and rationing.

"These physical controls are not, properly speaking, deflationary at all. From bitter experience after the last war, we know that physical controls conceal but do not directly reduce inflationary pressure. They attack the symptoms and leave the disease itself unchecked. Their proper use is to divert demand from scarce to relatively less scarce goods and services; or, in some cases, to provide a stop-gap until fiscal and monetary policy can reduce inflationary pressure through direct action. Physical controls have their use, especially in total war, but they are no substitute for devices that really attack inflation.

TO FIGHT INFLATION

"The suggestions made in this appraisal of ways to fight inflation would, I think, be broadly acceptable to a majority of citizens, whether inside or outside the government. I would summarize them as follows:

1) Voluntary saving through the patriotic restraint of consumption should be encouraged, by the precept and example of government, business, and private citizens; i.e., through less non-military expenditure by government, less capital expansion by business, and less consumption (especially on credit) on the part of private citizens.
2) Voluntary saving should be encouraged, borrowing discouraged, and fiscal policy made effective by allowing a continued movement towards higher interest rates.
3) Taxes required to prevent inflation should penalize consumption and reward saving, whether through direct taxes on consumption or through income taxes that exempt to some degree the bona fide saving of the public.
4) Direct controls, especially in the form of price control and rationing, should be measures of the last resort, and should be treated as stop-gap devices, not as substitutes for a true anti-inflationary policy.

INCOME TAXES COULD BECOME TWO-EDGED SWORD

The most powerful weapon in the fight against inflation is generally supposed to be a stiff increase in the income tax. But the test of efficiency must be that any income tax increases shall penalize spending and reward saving.

Such a criterion would rule out drastic increases in corporate taxes, especially excess profits taxes, tend to encourage waste in management; and, in addition, excess profits taxes are arbitrary in their impact and inflationary in their final effect.

The personal income tax itself is a blunt instrument that may hit spenders and savers alike; nevertheless it may prove to be the only weapon with sufficient power to check spending, even though in the process some saving is hit as well.

To minimize these faults and to ensure fairness, I would suggest that any increase in income tax burdens should recognize: (1) that an effective attack upon inflationary spending can only be made by broadening the tax base through lower personal exemptions; (2) that equity demands the vigorous reduction of income tax evasion, now all too apparent outside the fixed wage and salary group; (3) that equity and efficiency alike demand the exemption from income tax, wherever possible, of the bona fide saving of the public. In its simplest form, this might include the limited exemption of insurance premiums and of net purchases of savings bonds over the year.

I am aware that to implement the third suggestion may be work for a genius in political and social invention; but, if so, we should be looking for him. Otherwise, as tax rates rise, the blunt instrument of the income tax may become a dangerous and perverse weapon that penalizes saving even more than it penalizes spending.

The failure to exempt saving when income taxes are very high will not only reduce their power to prevent inflation in the short run, but may in the long run prove a positive danger to democracy itself. The extremes of "left" and "right" in the world today are mediated in the great democracies by a strong middle class. It would be a tragedy indeed if democracy should perish because, in the supposed interest of its own defence, it liquidated this guardian of democratic institutions.

"Perhaps we should not ignore the possibility that, having failed to realize their hopes of capitalist collapse through post-war depression, the communists are now trying to engineer capitalist collapse through the inflationary pressure of a continuous armaments boom. But once the required amount of armaments expansion has been determined, the inflationary problem created by that expansion must somehow be met.

"As a means to this end I should like once more to emphasize the moral and economic obligation of democratic governments to maintain ordinary expenditures at the lowest possible level. If democratic governments fail to meet this obligation, they will in effect be giving a measure of aid and comfort to the enemy. At this stage, the most important weapon in the whole arsenal of war controls is the control of ordinary government expenditure.

Emphatically, the price of our safety is not only the expenditure of vast sums provided by savings and taxes, but eternal vigilance over the uses to which these funds are put. A major defence effort has such an impact upon our economic resources and our standard of living that a democratic government would be guilty of criminal negligence if it did not do all it could to preserve the free economy by confining its ordinary expenditures to the absolute minimum.

"We have all heard it said at one time or another that American capital is taking over our economy. My reply is simply that, if this is true, then we have no one to blame but ourselves. If Canadian capital is not playing a large enough part in developing our resources and expanding our industry, the reason must be not that Canadian capital is too meagre for the job, but that, in spite of the high stakes Canadian capital refuses to take the risk. From here on let us see to it that our vision our energy and our risk-taking spirit are not found wanting.

Actually a new spirit of enterprise is abroad in the land—personally I have great faith in it. I believe this is the spirit appropriate to the true Canadian character.

It may not be too much to hope that Canada may become, as it were, a working model of the free economy in action, and a constant reminder to the world at large that the road to economic freedom is also the shortest and safest road to social progress."

General Manager Reports 2 Million Deposit Accounts

T. H. Atkinson, General Manager, in reviewing the bank's 1950 Annual Report, stated that total assets of The Royal Bank of Canada now exceeded $2,497,000,000, the highest point in the field of Canadian banking. Deposits had also increased materially to reach $2,337,503,468, the highest point in the history of the bank.

There had also been a gratifying increase in the number of the bank's depositors, the actual number of accounts being over 2,000,000, practically 1,900,000 of which were in Canada. "Since January 1, 1945, the number of accounts on our books in Canada has increased by about 600,000, or 45%," said Mr. Atkinson.

An increase of $926,895 in profits was noted by the General Manager. After providing for the usual deductions, including taxes of $4,012,000, and dividends, there was a carry-forward to profit and loss account of $3,059,725, bringing this account to $6,920,039. From this total, $6,000,000 has been transferred to the Reserve Fund, which now stood at $50,000,000.

NEW BRANCHES

"During the year, 15 new branch offices were completed, in addition to which rather extensive renovations were made to 63 other offices. Work was commenced on an additional 14 new branch buildings and 19 extensive alteration projects which work had not been completed by the year's end. We have opened 24 full-time branches and 1 sub-branch. We are now operating 653 branches and 57 sub-branches in Canada."

AID TO TRADERS

The General Manager reported another satisfactory year for the bank's branches in the West Indies, Central and South America, and in other areas outside Canada. He noted particularly the important service performed by these branches in facilitating and promoting trade between Canada and other nations. An important and necessary complement to the Government's trade activities "are the banking services and first-hand knowledge which our branches abroad can and do contribute. With our chain now numbering 61 offices outside of Canada and with officers who have been trained on the ground, speak the language, and are fully conversant with local requirements, we are in an unrivalled position to assist Canadian exporters and importers and all those directly interested in the development of foreign commerce. Over the years the foreign service of the bank has offered excellent opportunities to young Canadians who have desired to make a career of international banking. Such opportunities still exist for young men of courage who have the background and preparation required to qualify for important posts in our foreign network of branches.

TRIBUTE TO STAFF

"The gratifying figures we have before use today are due to a very large degree to the efficiency, enthusiasm, and aggressiveness of the members of the staff from junior clerk up, and it is fitting that I should say to them a formal but very sincere 'thanks' for a job well done.

"In the ordinary day-to-day business of the bank, our staff continued the happy tradition of friendliness always associated with The Royal Bank of Canada.

"For their friendly conduct of business as well as for their readiness to rise and meet emergencies I express the thanks of management to our almost 12,000 staff members and as well to those other employees of the bank who contribute so much to the efficiency of the organization.

"I can assure the Directors and shareholders that morale is high, and that whatever new crises come upon us in the now-opening year, your staff will measure up.

Discuss Farm Markets At Downeyville Forum

DOWNEYVILLE, Jan. 13 — (ENS) The King's Wharf Farm Forum resumed activities Monday night at the home of Mr. Ambrose Herlihey with an attendance of 28.

The market question was discussed and all were in favor of more markets for farm produce.

Mr. Peter Perdue was chairman and Mrs. Earl Herlihey secretary-treasurer. After the discussion a lunch was served.

Abandon Plan For Airliners

LONDON, Jan. 13 —(CP)—The government is deliberating on the future of another giant experimental aircraft, the 140-ton Princess flying boat, after its decision Thursday to abandon its project for a fleet of 100-passenger Brabazon airliners.

Three of the flying boats were ordered four years ago at an estimated cost of £2,800,000, but production costs have since soared.

The Princess was to have a wingspan of 200 feet and carry 100 passengers across the Atlantic at 360 miles an hour. Plans included space for a cocktail bar, a lounge, movie theatre and separate dining salon.

Original delivery date was 1949, but construction troubles set the date back first to 1951 and more recently to 1953.

One plane now is more than half finished; the second has been started, but there is nothing to show for the third.

And the estimated construction cost has risen to £9,000,000.

A spokesman for the Civil Aviation Ministry said plans for commercial production of the Brabazon airliners were dropped because development of jet-air-er types has reached the point where the hulking craft "is not a practical proposition."

The government has spent £11,500,000 on the Brabazon experiment.

Pelted With Flowers

NAIROBI, Kenya, Jan. 13 (AP) —Rita Hayworth and her husband, Prince Aly Khan, were pelted with flowers and cheered wildly by Moslems when they arrived here by plane Thursday. They are on a four-month trip through Africa and the Orient which will take them to areas populated by members of the Ismaili sect of the Mohammedan religion which Prince Aly's father, the Aga Khan, heads.

Mother Also Slayer Visits Doomed Son

OSSINING, N.Y., Jan. 13 (AP) —A scared 20-year-old youth died in the electric chair Thursday, after his mother bade him an 11th-hour goodbye and then left Sing Sing's death house to go back to prison herself.

The mother—a convicted slayer, like her son—was brought from another prison for a brief reunion with the condemned man, Harley G. Lamarr.

She was his first and last visitor during nine lonesome months in Sing Sing's grim death row.

"Thank you for coming, ma," he told her.

He was executed for the rape-slaying of a Buffalo woman.

The mother, Mrs. Amelia Paliwodzinski, 48, is serving 30 years in women's state prison at Bedford Hills for slaying her husband a year ago.

Hastings Auxiliary Instals 1951 Officers

HASTINGS, Jan. 13 —(ENS)— Mrs. R. Bevinham was hostess to the Evening Auxiliary on Wednesday when Mrs. A. E. Metcalfe, president of the Peterborough presbyterial of the United Church installed the officers.

The program and worship were in charge of Mrs. Clifford Scriver, assisted by Mrs. Alton Thompson, Mrs. W. A. Thomas and Miss Marjorie Scriver.

Mrs. Metcalfe then installed the officers. Mrs. Burnham thanked Mrs. Metcalfe.

Reports for the year were given by secretary, Mrs. Alton Thompson; treasurer, Mrs. F. Crate, who reported that the allocation was $100.00 and that $113.00 has been sent to the presbyterial secretary; press secretary, Mrs. W. Thomas; stewardship, Mrs. A. Orr; temperance, Miss Marjorie Scriver; literature secretary, Miss L. Humphries; associate members Mrs. C. Scriver; Mrs. L. Humphries and Miss Marjorie Scriver were appointed auditors for 1951.

Receipts Total $483 For Roseneath WA

ROSENEATH, Jan. 13 (ENS)— —Total receipts for the year were $483, in the annual financial statement presented by the treasurer, Mrs. James Brown, at the January meeting of St. James' Anglican WA. This amount of money was made by 15 members. From quilts, members made $121 and the balance was received from egg donations, collections, birthday money and a bazaar fund.

Expenses for the year were $254.06, including payment in full of pledges and affiliation fees sent to the diocesan treasurer; $25 to Manitoba Relief Fund; $64.53 paid for new windows for the church. The balance expenditures were for Sunday school supplies, good cheer and miscellaneous accounts.

The secretary, Mrs. Jack Webb, reported 15 members enrolled, 10 meetings held with an average attendance of 13.

Found Innocent

TORONTO, Jan. 13 —(CP)— A county court jury Thursday found Harold Patterson and Mrs. Marion Smith innocent of a charge of possession of counterfeit United States $10 bills. Police said they found 10 bogus bills in a room Patterson rented from Mrs. Smith. Lawyers argued that the bills were "planted" in Mrs. Smith's house and that Patterson was "an unfortunate victim of circumstances."

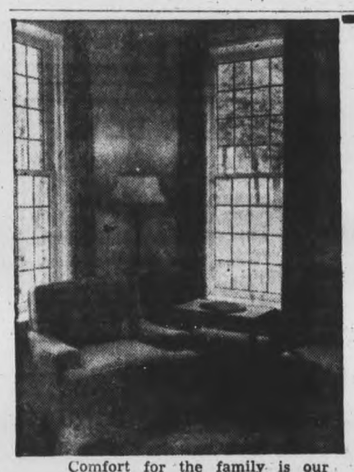
Deny 3,000 Deaths In Liverpool Epidemic

LONDON, Jan. 13 — (AP) — Influenza cases continued to increase in the Midlands and Northern England, but Health Ministry officials Friday denied that there had been 3,000 deaths in Liverpool alone the last two weeks.

"Official reports are completed up to Jan. 6 and in the week ending that day there were 90 deaths from influenza in Liverpool, a ministry spokesman said. "Deaths from all causes were just over 700.

"We expect that the record after Jan. 6 will show an increase in deaths, but an impression that all Liverpool has been prostrated by the disease is incorrect."

All influenza cases were reported to be due to a non-virulent virus. It appeared to be especially dangerous to elderly persons.



WAITER RETIRES — Fred Krampe, who for 37 years waited on royalty and many celebrities visiting the Chateau Frontenac in Quebec City, has retired. The 63-year-old waiter who learned his trade in London and Paris hotels, considers the 1939 Royal Tour the biggest assignment of his life. He waited on the King and Queen not only at the Chateau but travelled to various other Canadian Pacific hotels to serve the royal party.

ASIAN EXPERT — T. J. Brook, 45-year-old native of Toronto, is the director of the government's technical assistance service. That puts him in charge of a two-way Canadian effort to aid south and Southeast Asia by sending technical aid there and by training young men from India, Pakistan, Ceylon and elsewhere who come to Canada.

Have All Comforts Of Home At Canadian Camp In Korea

By WILLIAM BOSS

MIRYANG, Korea, Jan. 13 (CP) It's "plumbing by Brown — of Calgary" in this Canadian camp in a chestnut grove alongside the Miryang River.

Hot showers—could anything be more civilized after a dusty day's training in the nearby hills where the 2nd Battalion Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry is preparing for action?

Capt. Owen Brown of Calgary and Cardston, Alta., second-in-command of A Company led by Maj. George Flint of Montreal, thought not and dreamed up an installation.

Flint's men now use the showers in the evening, once the day's work is over, and others in the battalion may use them until their companies build their own. The charge for visitors is 25 cents a time, the proceeds going to the company canteen fund.

Brown chose a low-lying cliff sloping to the river bank for his set-up. On the higher ground are located the heating plants and tanks. In an alcove carved below into the cliff face is the shower room, covered in by tarpaulins.

Walled By Rocks

The room, illuminated and heated by an oil stove, is walled by rocks hauled from the river. The rocks, three deep at the base and tapering to one at the top, sloped back and are faced by tarpaulins, too, lest any man slip and hurt himself on jagged edges.

"That masonry," Brown boasts, "proves that the Romans weren't the only ones who could build with rocks and using no mortar or cement."

Most of the excavating and construction work was done by Ptes. Armand Filiatrault of New Westminster, BC, Ross Colquhoun of Clinton, Ont., and George Burnett of Victoria, BC.

Pte. Ron Bourgon of Ottawa mans the heating apparatus—there is no pump and the water is carried from the river in pails.

Bourgon's stoves can raise the ice cold river water to warm-shower temperature within 10 minutes. Another five and the water is boiling.

Scrounge Materials

Lieut. Harold Hayes of Vancouver scrounged the materials, most important of which were the four 55-gallon oil drums, lengths of piping, faucets and two coffee tins which, when punctured, became the shower heads.

Korean artisans worked 8½ hours by hand in Miryang to carve a thread into the pipe so that the faucet could be screwed on.

The bath can become a steam room by the simple addition of heated rocks on to which drops of water are thrown.

Pte. Doug Ames of Fredericton, one of the first to use the installation, emerged gleaming after lathering away a heavy coating of Korean dust, to pronounce his captain's dreamchild "swell—the finest shower this side of the Pacific."

Company visitors agree they get a good two bits' worth, too.

To Defend Operator

SASKATOON, Jan. 13 (CP).—John Diefenbaker, Saskatchewan criminal lawyer, Friday night said he is prepared to pay $1,500 registration fee to appear in British Columbia court. The Progressive Conservative member of parliament for Lake Centre, Sask. is defence counsel for John Atherton, 22-year-old telegraph operator. Atherton is charged with manslaughter in the Canoe River train wreck.

FOUR BUDS ON THE ROSEBUSH.—Proud father Kenneth Rosebush looks at his four new children, born to his wife in a Pontiac, Mich., hospital. Rosebush, a stonemason, and his wife have four other children. The quads, two boys and two girls, "are doing fine." Sister Mary Niceta is the nurse.

Stewart Resigns As 'Ex' Head

Hugh Stewart, president of the Peterborough Exhibition Board the past three years, resigned at the board's annual meeting Friday night.

"The pressure of my business makes it impossible for me to give all I'd want to," he said. "And it is with great regret I ask the board to acept my resignation."

Mr. Stewart, a nationally known horse-breeder, said he would help out in any way he could, but that he could no longer stay as a member of the board. He has served seven years on the board, the last three as president.

Harold Rehill, recently elected alderman, said he too would be unable to stay with the board.

Otonabee Borrows $50,000 To Meet Costs

KEENE, Jan. 13 — At its inaugural meeting, Otonabee township council passed a bylaw providing for borrowing $50,000 to meet expenses until taxes are paid.

The welfare officer, James McCarthy, told council that nine families were receiving assistance form the township at a monthly cost of $619.50, half of which is repaid by the provincial government.

J. R. Cooney, assesor and building inspector, resigned.

The following officers were appointed for 1951: school attendance officer, J. M. McCarthy; medical officer and sanitary inspector, Dr. W. H. Ford, member of board of health, Dep. Reeve D. N. McIntyre; sheep valuators, William Drummond, Gordon Savigny, Percy Chamberlain, Allan Hayes; fence viewers, Kenneth Petrie, William Hutchison, William Davidson, William Torpey; pound keepers, R. R. Humphries, Louis Shaw, Peter Thompson, William Davidson, William Drummond, Sidney Benentt, James Stewart and David McNevan; welfare offcier, J. M. McCarthy.

Appointed to the rink committee were Reeve Stewart and Dep. Reeve McIntyre; and to the athletic field committee, councillors McConkey and Mather.

Doubts Assault

SARNIA, Jan. 13 (CP).—An assault charge against Dr. D. J. Kingsley was dismissed Friday by Magistrate J. C. Dunlap who said the evidence left him in doubt about whether the assault ever took place as described. Mrs. Maisie Edie said she had been knocked down and punched by the doctor. He and another witness said Mrs. Edie had become hysterical and was slapped twice in an effort to calm her.

Think He's Crazy?

BRANTFORD, Jan. 13 (CP)—About three years ago James Clement, then 17, was ordered to pay $60 restitution for smashing a radio in a burglary here. Yesterday Clement, merchant marine sailor, asked in court for 48 hours freedom—he still hadn't made restitution and wanted two more days time. "Do you really think I'm that soft?" said Magistrate R. J. Gillen, "If I let you out you might not come back for another three years." Clement was remanded in custody until Monday.

Labor Scores Lazy Unions

TORONTO, Jan. 13 (CP). — The Ontario Provincial Federation of Labor heard criticism Friday of unions which ask government help in obtaining certain improvements instead of "doing a job" themselves.

Delegates at the federation's fifth annual convention referred back to the resolutions committee a request by the Hamilton branch of the Amalgamated Association of Street Railway Employees for support of their demands on the provincial government for a five-day, 40-hour week.

Hamilton street car and motor trolley drivers now work a six-day, 60-hour week, the convention was told.

The federation adopted resolutions urging:

1. Compulsory use of respirators and half-yearly medical examinations for men operating paint-sprayers.

2. Restoration of a now-inoperative provincial law requiring an employer to guarantee at least 40 weeks' employment a year to an apprentice and requiring the apprentice to attend school for eight weeks in a year.

3. Compulsory examination of all food and beverage handlers every six months.

Vets To Co-operate

TORONTO, Jan. 13 (CP). — Veterinarians at annual meeting this week of Ontario Veterinary Association, declared their intention of co-operating fully with civil defence committees.

A resolution, moved by Dr. Trevor Jones, acting principal of the Ontario Veterinary College, made veterinarians available in civil wartime emergencies.

TV Set Stolen

TORONTO, Jan. 13 (CP). — It may be the first theft of its kind in Canada. At least Toronto police listed it as their first case of theft of a television set from a private home. They said housebreakers entered the home of Harry Clark while it was unoccupied yesterday for less than 90 minutes and stole the set.

34 PCVS Students To Visit Hospital

Interest groups in nursing, engineering, teaching and other professions in which the PCVS students may enter are now being formed at the collegiate by the vocational guidance department.

The first large group to investigate their interests will visit the Civic Hospital on Tuesday. These 34 girls, interested in entering nursing next fall, will see movies and demonstrations and will be conducted through the buildings.

Howard Moebus, guidance director, has arranged the visit.

Early in February the annual interest group in teaching will attend the public school classes. This group numbers 33 boys and girls. Other interest groups are planned to the Ryerson Institute of Technology in Toronto and the CGE apprenticeship and engineering.

Elect Directors Of 1951 Fair

There will be two new faces on the board of directors of the Peterborough Exhibition this year — Charles Quinlan and Clarence Bacon.

Two former members — Hugh Stewart and Harold Rehill—have resigned from the board. Mr. Stewart was president the last three years.

Elected to the board Friday night were: C. E. Moore, Charles Quinlan, Norman McConkey, Mrs. G. K. Fraser, Don Milburn, R. L. Dobbin, Col. F. E. Birdsall, John Kitney, Clarence Mann, Frank Savigny, Vern Campbell, Claire Collins, Haig Kelly, Clarence Bacon, Manson Cathcart, Melville Johnston, Alex Huston, and Clayton Sanderson.

The New Canadian Five Cent Coin is a piece of Pure Nickel...

THE CANADIAN METAL

It was in the year 1751, that a Swedish scientist named Cronstedt obtained from a piece of ore a metal hitherto unknown to science. He named the newly-discovered metal "Nickel."

Since that time, nickel has become the metal of a thousand uses, in industry and in the home. Because 80% of the world's nickel comes from Canadian mines, nickel can truly be called the Canadian metal.

The new Canadian nickel, commemorating the discovery of nickel 200 years ago, is minted from pure Canadian nickel.

The new coins are being minted from material processed prior to nickel rationing.

NATIONAL OFFICER OF THE IODE Mrs. J. B. Smart pictured with the famous Queen Mary carpet which she is bringing for display to Peterborough citizens next week, January 18 to 21. The carpet may be seen in the Richard Hall store following official opening of the display at four o'clock next Thursday afternoon, at a ceremony arranged by a committee of IODE Chapter regents and conveners, headed by Mrs. W. G. Hall, regent of the Municipal Chapter of Peterborough.

Queen's Carpet to Visit City

Queen Mary's carpet—a million of the most travelled and talked about stitches of wool worked into 12 individual panels and border, signed by Her Majesty—will be in Peterborough January 18-21, and will be on display under supervision of the IODE at the Richard Hall store.

Fourteen pounds of tapestry wool were used in the making of this famous needlepoint carpet and the color scheme was designed by the Queen herself. Patience and perserverance, self sacrifice and devotion went into this gift which the Queen Mother gave to her country when Britain's economic crisis became acute. Her only stipulations were that it be sold as a dollar export and that it should eventually hang in a public place.

The carpet is unique in design; it is equally remarkable for being the only one of comparable size to be worked by a Queen. It is ten feet two inches by six feet nine and a half inches in size and took eight years to complete.

An artistic chest of British craftmanship was designed to hold the carpet and protect it on the transatlantic tour to America. It is a brown oak case, lined with stainless steel, standing 44 inches high on solid bronze feet and is fitted with hand-made locks incorporating security devices will come into operation at any attempt to open the chest by means of false keys or picks. However, the carpet will come to Peterborough in an aluminum cylinder in the care of an IODE officer.

The Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire is endeavouring to raise as much money as possible, with the minimum objective of $100,000 with which to purchase the Royal carpet for the people of Canada. So it is hoped every loyal citizen will visit the display in this city and make a small contribution to the fund.

On completion of the fund the carpet will be presented to the National Gallery, Ottawa, as the gift of the Canadian people.

275 Couples Enjoy Annual "Purple and Gold Ball"

The Purple and Gold Ball, held in the Brock Ballroom Friday evening, followed in the tradition of these very successful affairs. There were 275 couples in attendance, enjoying the arrangements made by the sponsoring group, Civic Hospital Nurses' Alumnae.

EDITH CARLETON CHAPTER

The meeting of Edith Carleton Chapter, IODE, was held at the home of Miss Mary McRae on Hunter St. with 13 members present.

Regent, Miss Wanda Devell conducted the business meeting. Members were requested to donate school books for Indian children, and also to try to have their work, either knitting or sewing, finished by January 15th.

Miss Mary Ann Ashmore took the chair while nominations were held for regent. It was decided to have the remaining officers keep their positions.

Refreshments were served by the hostess.

57th REGIMENT CHAPTER

Regent Mrs. M. E. Clarke presided at the regular meeting of 57th Regiment Chapter, IODE, Wednesday evening in the Officers' Mess at the Armouries.

Members brought in a quantity of good used clothing for shipment overseas. Donations of money were voted to various IODE funds.

Mrs. S. Gibbs, hospital convener, Mrs. P. Latchford, post war convener, and Mrs. C. H. Stuart, flower convener, presented monthly reports. Mrs. D. Miller, Mrs. F. Frape and Mrs. C. Whatley were appointed a nominating committee.

Mrs. H. Dodds and her committee are making arrangements for a military euchre to be held in the near future.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. L. Gilders and assistants.

District WI Prexy At Mt. Pleasant

MOUNT PLEASANT, Jan. 13 (ENS)—Mrs. W. E. Nichols, district president, was guest speaker at the January meeting of Mount Pleasant Women's Institute when the treasurer, Mrs. M. Handley was hostess.

Mrs. Nichols, in her official visit, used the motto of Women's Institutes, "For Home and Country," as the theme of her remarks.

Thanks of the meeting were expressed to Mrs. Nichols by the president, Mrs. E. McLean, and a vote of thanks by Mrs. Yowe.

The president and Mrs. G. McLean, secretary, were asked to arrange for a short play and monologue for an evening's entertainment, with a supper committee, Mrs. McLean, Mrs. Tully, Mrs. M. Jones and Mrs. A. Bland, to be held on St. Valentine's night.

Mrs. R. Carr gave a paper on "Tobacco Farming in Canada" and a contest, "Old Fashioned Flowers," by Mrs. L. Handley. Mrs. J. Lawson and Mrs. D. Armstrong were co-hostesses and assisted Mrs. Handley in serving.

CROWN PRINCE CARL GUSTAV, Sweden's four-year-old prince charming, dons a Lapland cap for frolic in the snow. The little prince is also Duke of Lapland (in the north of Sweden). With his sisters he enjoyed the company of their cousins — the three princesses from Denmark. Queen Ingrid of Denmark is a daughter of the king of Sweden.

Capping Ceremony Marks Acceptance of 30 Nurses

Thirty preliminary students were formally accepted into St. Joseph's School of Nursing at the capping exercises Friday evening. The residence auditorium was appropriately decorated with the school colors and Mrs. A. Bradamore, president of St. Joseph's Alumnae, as chairman, welcomed a large gathering of parents, relatives and friends of the students.

The program included readings, "Motivation" by Miss R. Leveque, and "To the Probationer" by Miss J. Ellery, senior students. Also, "Irish Lullaby" sung by the Misses Doris Calberry, Elaine Graham, Rose Anne Morrow and Jacqueline Rogers, and a solo, "My Task," by Miss Calberry. Piano selections were played by Miss J. Arnott.

An inspiring address was given by Sister Priscilla, superintendent of St. Joseph's Hospital, on the Nobility of the Nursing Profession and the confidence that is placed in the nurse, emphasizing the importance of kindness in administrations to the sick.

The Sister referred to the cap as a distinctive part of the nurse's uniform and the receiving of it as the first milestone achieved. "But continued fidelity to duty is essential to reach the final goal of a registered nurse," she said.

The caps were presented by Siter Gonzaga, director of nursing, assisted by Sister Benedicta, educational director, and Miss M. McCarthy, nursing arts instructor.

Miss Jane Holland, class representative, expressed words of appreciation to the teachers in the classroom and on the wards for their instruction and guidance and the hope that this class would uphold the high standards of the hospital and the school of nursing.

The talent of the class was demonstrated by the originality of the class song, sung to the melody of "The Thing", and they identified the "thing" as their probationary cap.

At conclusion of the exercises, refreshments were served by members of the social committee of the Ladies' Auxiliary, Mrs. J. J. Crowley, Mrs. P. J. Anglesey, Mrs. Vincent Sullivan, Mrs. Jack Finn and Mrs. Grace Poole.

A uniform dance competed the evening.

Members of the class are: Eiveen and Ruth Boyce, Lakefield; Ann Brick, Ennismore; Faye Butts, Kinmount; Shirley Clysdale, Keene; Doris Calberry, Anne Corkery, Peterborough; Elizabeth Crough, Ennismore; Catherine Farley, Helen Fitzgerald, Joan Gray, Peterborough; Elaine Graham, Havelock; Alice Hogan, Indian River; Marie Hogan, Lindsay; Jane Holland, Hamilton; Evelyn Jacket, Fenelon Falls; Shirley Lazure, Orillia; Anita Lyons, Rosemary Maloney, Renfrew; Bernadene Moher, Lakefield; Jacqueline Molyneaux, Parry Sound; Georgina Mousseau, Kalabogie; Rose Anne Morrow, South Mountain; Eileen O'Brien, Peterborough; Rose Quinn, Campbellford; Jacqueline Rogers, Norwood; Linda Rohpla, Cobourg; Ethel York, Fenelon Falls; Noreen Stevens, Minden; Sister St. Dominic, Peterborough.

Alluring Traits Often Fail To Pay Off In Living

One of the things that makes marriage such an unpredictable adventure is the fact that the very qualities that allured us into marriage with a man or woman are so often the very ones that prove unendurable to live with.

Take helplessness, for instance. Before marriage there is nothing so appealing to a man in a woman as helplessness. That is why the clinging vine always finds a support. There is something in the spectacle of a woman who doesn't know what it is all about, and who just sits down and wrings her hands when she encounters any of the practical problems of life that brings out all the chivalry in his nature and that makes him feel that it would be just simply heavenly to spend the remainder of his life taking care of the poor darling and protecting her from al the hardships of a cruel world.

Dorothy Dix

But after marriage helplessness does not appear to the man to be the cardinal feminine virtue. It seems about the worst vice. For the husband finds that his clinging vine is not a flowery wreath about his neck. She is a millstone. And when he has to do his wife's work as well as his own, and put up with sloppy housekeeping and wastefulness and extravagance because he is married to a woman who never learns how to cook or run a budget, he wonders what the fool-killer was doing that it didn't get him on the day he picked out a helpless wife.

The Dumb Ones

Then there are the beautiful but dumb; golden locks but absolutely nothing under them. Never read a book in their lives. Conversational range that runs from "he said" to "she said" and 'they said."

Thousands upon thousands of intelligent, highly educated men marry these feminine morons just because they are easy on the eyes. They think they will be content to look at a living picture all their lives, and that it is cute to have a wife who rolls her eyes at you and what you think she thinks. But the living picture turns into a chromo after a few years and a cultured man gets tired of talking to a wife who has to have everything explained to her in words of one syllable, and who never knows what he is talking about when he tells a good story or discusses a new play or the political situation. Many a poor, bored husband discovers that what was charming artlessness at 18 is nothing but dull stupidity at 40.

Then there is sensitiveness. Many men are fascinated by the highly strung, neurotic, emotional girl who goes to pieces over everything and bursts into tears at the slightest provocation. They feel that she is something rare, fragile, delicate, different from the ordinary millrun of commonplace women and they have the same yen for her they might have for some exotic bit of costly bric-a-brac for which they had no need, and which they wouldn't know what to do with after they got.

More Trouble than She's Worth

But after marriage the man who is married to a sensitive woman finds that he is doomed to spend the remainder of his life walking on eggs, for his wife keeps her precious feelings spread all over the place and, be as agile as he may, he can never keep from stepping on some of them. Also he finds out that while it was thrilling to comfort a pretty girl who was weeping on the third button of his vest, there is mighty little kick in having to deal with a wife who is a chronic weeper, and who is always pickled in brine about something or other that has gone wrong. Likewise, it is borne in upon him that sensitiveness is an alibi for temper and selfishness, and that every time he asserts a few natural rights he has to give in, or else be drowned in salt water.

Of course, there are lots of other qualities in women that look good before marriage and not so good afterward. Beautiful dressing and grooming, for instance, that are not so enticing when you have to pay the bill. Vivacity when you would like to stay at home and read a new book instead of stepping out every evening to places of amusement. Domesticity after you have got fed up on a wife who smells of bread and butter and who has no interest outside of her own home. And so and so on.

All of which shows how hard it is to pick out a wife who will suit you.

Readers' Saturday Column by Mary Moore

QUESTION: I was intrigued by your reference to an oyster casserole. Would you tell me how this worked out? How much it cost and how many it served and repeat the recipe? Since reading about it some friends of mine had an oyster supper and there was so much talk about it I thought I would entertain another crowd that way. I would have to have all of the details though. Include the cocktail sauce for serving raw oysters too if you do not mind. Lena.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: One quart of oysters costing $2.40 served 10 people.

✧ ✧ ✧

Emem's Oyster Casserole (Scalloped Oysters with Corn)

Butter a large casserole generously. Have ready 1¼ cups fine bread or cracker crumbs mixed with 3 or 4 tablespoons melted butter. Sprinkle half on sides and bottom of the buttered dish. Put in a layer of oysters, cover with a layer of niblet canned corn, using half of a 12-oz. tin. Repeat by putting in another layer of oysters and corn and carefully pour over all a ½ cup cream or top milk. Sprinkle remaining crumbs over top and sprinkle generously with salt and pepper. Bake at 450 deg. Fahr. for about 25 to 30 minutes. Do not make three layers of oysters or middle layer will not be cooked. I served for dinner with this Brussels Sprouts in parsley drawn butter sauce and candied yams. Scalloped tomatoes might have tasted better with it but two scalloped dishes did not sound right, for a dietitian to serve together.

✧ ✧ ✧

Cocktail Sauce for Seafood

Two-thirds cup catsup, 2 tablespoons chili sauce, 2 tablespoons horseradish, 3 tablespoons lemon juice. Chill before serving.

✧ ✧ ✧

QUESTION: Cakes, cakes and more cakes—that is what I want to see in your column. I want to make a new kind every week. My husband is a big eater and carries his lunch and I've found out he boasts about my cake-making to his friends at the plant. I thought different kinds of cakes would be a surprise for him. Lorna

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I love to be in an this kind of fun.

✧ ✧ ✧

Burnt Sugar Cake

Before mixing the batter caramelize ½ cup granulated sugar by melting it in heavy frying-pan or high heat until it is light brown. Very slowly add ½ cup boiling water. It will sizzle and steam and go hard, but keep on stirring and it will melt and mix with the water. Boil a minute or two until it is reduced to ¼ cup thick syrup.

Cream very well 1½ cups sugar and 2-3 cup butter or margarine or half butter and shortening. Add 2 egg yolks and beat very well then add 1 cup milk. Sift together 2½ cups cake flour and 3 teaspoons baking powder and sift them into the first mixture alternately with the cooled syrup. Fold in 2 stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour into 2 medium loaf pans buttered and lined with wax paper. Bake at 375 deg. about 35 minutes. OR bake in layer cake tins. If layer cakes are made put date filling between and Mocha Frosting on top.

✧ ✧ ✧

Mocha Frosting: Cream 2 or 3 tablespoons butter with 1 teaspoon vanilla and 2 tablespoons very strong cold coffee and 2 teaspoons cocoa. Beat in enough icing sugar to make of spreading consistency.

Another version of this cake is to bake it in a sheet cake tin, when cool spread with date filling and spread mocha frosting over that. This cuts into neat squares and keeps well, because the dates keep the cake moist.

(Watch this column for "different" cakes for a few weeks.)

Changes Career For a Garden

REGINA (CP). — Miss Sarah Isabella Faskin is a six-generation Canadian.

And in her family the railway tradition runs strong. She has worked for the Canadian Pacific Railway for 30 years and is retiring from her position of hotel housekeeper.

Of her six-generation Canadian ancestry Miss Faskin says: "Away back on my father's side there is Scottish blood. My mother's original ancestry is English but mostly we are Canadian, and proud of it."

Grey-haired and dressed meticulously in black, Miss Faskin has been used to a life that kept her on 24-hour call. Now she admits that "a quiet life is going to take some getting used to."

The Faskin family came from Elora, Ont. They moved to a fruit farm at Armstrong, BC, and later Miss Faskin became a maker of custom wedding dresses in a large Vancouver dress store. Later she went into the linen department of the old Vancouver Hotel, beginning her 30-year association with the hotel business.

Now she will leave Regina and settle in a small house in Vancouver to devote her time to two hobbies—gardening and needlework.

What's Right

WRONG: Say, "I don't believe I know you."

RIGHT: Say: "I'm Mary Smith"—introducing yourself and giving the other person a chance to do the same.

In Poor Health For Years—Tells of Relief

Suffered 3 Years — Stomach Troubles, Headaches and Rheumatic Pain. "Feel Like Different Person Since Taking Syntona," Says This Man.

In every section of this city and vicinity grateful men and women tell how Syntona has helped to build up rundown systems and relieve common disorders of the stomach, kidneys, liver or bowels. Syntona helps cleanse the system of excess acids and poisonous waste matter and promotes better assimilation of food for increased strength and energy.

Results such as those experienced by Mr. Thomas Searston, 49 Allan Street, Hamilton, Ontario, are quite commonplace and hundreds of people have given public statements so that others may know of its merits.

MR. THOMAS SEARSTON

"For three years I suffered with stomach disorders," said Mr. Searston. "I would have indigestion, gas, cramps and a heavy, bloated feeling after eating even the lightest foods. My entire system became rundown so that my nerves were all on edge and I would get throbbing headaches. Rheumatic pains in my legs, arms, back and joints had become so bad it was difficult for me to do my work.

"Although I had tried many different medicines and treatments without benefit, I heard of Syntona and I decided to see what it would do for me. After finishing the first bottle I could see that I was feeling like a different person. My food is digesting well now for the first time in many months, nerves are calmed down and I am free of headache. I have no muscular cramps or pain, appetite is improved and I am getting more sound, restful sleep at night."

Syntona is sold and recommended in Peterborough at Elliott's Drug Store.—(Advt.)

Blizzard Fails To Stop London Bargain Hunters

By MURIEL NARRAWAY.

LONDON (CP). — London's January sales opened during the worst blizzard since 1947, but bargain-hunters refused to be daunted.

This year's sales crowd had grim determination and purpose —to beat the promised 40-percent increase in wool prices and lay-in a store of household linens and kitchen utensils, in case of shortage.

The rush for household linen far outweighed that for clothes and an Oxford Street store official said that, in 50 years, he had never seen a bigger crowd of bargain-seekers.

Biggest disappointment for most householders was the absence of low-priced blankets. These were snapped up before the special sales following announcement of a 65 per cent price-rise scheduled for January.

Many housewives bought pots and pans at normal prices, scared into panic-buying by metal shortages. There was almost a "war rush" on other articles despite the Board of Trade warning that stockpiling was the only thing likely to cause shortage in kitchen ware.

In fashion, the call was for heavy winter coats, suits and woollen dresses. Every type of woollen garment was in big demand due to the present wool crisis.

This was direct reversal of last year's sales when an abnormally mild winter brought a heavy turnover on summer dresses, beachwear and sandals.

Coats, suits and dresses, during the current sales, were cut to half price or lower and business was brisk up to the £5 ($15) bracket. Front-window "draws" —model coats, suits and dresses at £1 and £2—were snapped up within half-hour of opening-time.

Store managers reported that among the shoppers were many Canadian visitors, searching for good bargains in heavy woollens to take back home.

One of the biggest sales surprises was the low price in shoes. Good quality suedes and leathers in up-to-date designs sold for anything from 10s to 20s and real "finds" could be had for 30s.

Grand Old Woman Born In Barn

SHELLBROOK, Sask. (CP).—Mrs. Annie (Granny) MacTaggart—"I was born in a barn in Toronto" — celebrated her 97th birthday here.

Relatives, friends and members of the Ladies' Aid trudged through heavy snow to congratulate the grand old lady of this town in Prince Albert district.

With a twinkle in her eye, Granny MacTaggart explains how she came to be born in a barn.

"When we arrived from England, there weren't houses enough so a farmer turned his big barn into living places for the immigrants.

"When I was a little girl Toronto was not any bigger than Prince Albert ((population 15,000) is now, with gas-lit streets," Mrs. MacTaggart said.

She came west with her husband and six small children in 1888. The family left a farm in Scarboro, Ont., to make a new home in the west. Mr. MacTaggart became the first postmaster of Shellbrook.

Granny MacTaggart still is spry. She insists on spading her garden patch, splitting the kindling and getting in coal from the shed.

For Quick Cough Relief, Mix This Syrup, at Home

You'll be surprised how quickly a bad winter cough can be relieved, when you try this well known recipe universally used throughout Canada. It's no trouble to mix and costs but a trifle.

Into a 16 ounce bottle, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex; then fill up with granulated sugar syrup to make 16 ounces. Syrup is easily made with 2 cups of sugar and 1 cup of water, stirred a few moments until dissolved. No cooking needed. Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup. This makes four times as much cough medicine for your money. Never spoils and tastes fine.

Quickly you feel its penetrating effect. It loosens the phlegm, helps to clear the air passages, and soothes the irritated membranes. This explains why it brings such quick relief.

Pinex is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, well known for its soothing effect on throat irritations. Money refunded if it does not please you in every way.

FOR EXTRA CONVENIENCE GET NEW, READY-TO-USE, PREPARED PINEX.

6—In Memoriams

FERGUSON—In memory of Pilot Officer William Kennedy Ferguson of 401 Spitfire Squadron RCAF, killed in active service January 15, 1943. Buried in the Communal Cemetery of St. Martin des Entrees, France.
Faithful unto God and man,
And to his duty true,
He died to live forever
In the hearts of those he knew.
—Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Ferguson and family, Strathroy, Ontario.

McCOY—In loving memory of father, Mr. J. T. McCoy, who passed away January 13, 1941 and mother, November 4, 1945.
"Thy will be done" 'tis hard to say
When ones we loved have passed away,
Some day, perhaps, we'll understand
When we meet again in that promised land.
—Ever remembered by their daughter, Keitha Taylor.

PAYNE—In loving memory of a wonderful mother, Mrs. David W. Payne of Lakefield, who passed away in January, 1950.
No one knows how much we miss you
No one knows the bitter pain
We have suffered. Since we lost you
Life has never been the same.
In our hearts your memory lingers,
Sweetly tender, fond and true,
There is not a day, dear mother
That we do not think of you.
—Velma, Harold, Melvin and Bettie Wilson of Keene.

TOBIN—In loving memory of mother, who passed away January 14, 1950.
Sweet memories will linger forever,
Time cannot change them, it's true,
Years that may come cannot sever
Our loving remembrance of you.
—Ever remembered by Kate, Les and Katherine.

TOBIN—In loving memory of Mrs. Patrick Tobin, who passed away January 14th, 1950.
Those whom we love go out of sight,
But never out of mind,
They are cherished in the heart
Of those they leave behind.
—Always remembered by her oldest daughter and grandchildren.

TOBIN—In loving memory of Mrs. P. Tobin, who passed away one year ago, January 14, 1950.
When days are dark and friends are few,
Dear mother, how we think of you.
Friends are friends if they are true,
We lost our best friend when we lost you.
—Ever remembered by dad, Mary and Bernard.

TOBIN—In loving memory of Mrs. Patrick Tobin, who died Jan. 14, 1950.
Sweet memories will linger forever,
Time cannot change them, it's true;
Years that may come cannot sever
Our loving remembrance of you.
—Ever remembered John, Mary, Patsy.

7—Cards of Thanks

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bell and family wish to thank the Dominion Woollens, the Athletic Association, the Silver Cross Chapter of Women, Sullivan's taxi drivers, the attending doctor, sisters and nurses of St. Joseph's Hospital, the Canadian Legion and all those who helped in any way during Mr. Bell's illness.

The family of the late Archie Millar wish to express to their many friends, relatives and neighbors their heartfelt thanks and appreciation for acts of kindness, messages of sympathy and beautiful floral tributes, extended to them in their recent sad bereavement. Especially attending doctor and nurses of Civic Hospital. Also the visiting clergymen for their comforting messages.

90% Race Stables Lose Money Few Win On Bets

TORONTO, Jan. 13 (CP). — W. M. Morrissey, Canadian president of the Horsemen's Benevolent Protective Association, said Friday that nine of every 10 racing stables lose money. An occasional one makes a profit by betting, he said.

He was commenting on a decision by the income tax appeal board which ruled taxable some $13,000 won bets in 1947 and 1948 by James Badame, Toronto horseman. The decision, it was emphasized, applied only where wagering was an integral part of the taxpayer's business or occupation.

Mr. Morrissey said, "a few men, like Badame, who practically eat, sleep and live with their horses," make money at betting, but the average horse-owner who hires help hasn't much chance.

On the average, he said, the government may lose more money in deductions claimed than they'd make in taxing winnings.

"More people lose than win. There is so much money taken from the betting dollar for taxes and track overhead that the money is taken from circulation. It takes a well-informed horseman who is at the track day and night to consistently win bets."

DICK IRVIN, coach of the Montreal Canadiens, has come up with a game-winning plan that has out-done the New York Rangers secret brew. The Habitant plan is no secret. It's a weight and measure scheme. When the Boston Bruins defeated the Canadiens recently Irvin called a club meeting and told the boys that they were 87 pounds away from the play-offs. So the boys started shedding under the diet plan of the club's doctor. In a little over a week the team is 55 pounds lighter and have won their last three games since the Boston encounter. The happy quintet who seem arranged for a few bars of song, in the above photo, harmonized on the Montreal Forum freeze as the Canadiens tripped the Chicago Hawks. Leading the pay-off chorus again with two goals was "Rocket" Richard, front and centre. At his right is goaler Gerry McNeil, who was in brilliant form, while back row, left to right, are Bert Olmstead, Glen Harmon, and Elmer Lach, who pitched in with some fine notes during the fray. In the lower shot "Rocket" Richard is seen blazing home for the first of his two goals against the Chicago goal tender Harry Lumley.

Charles Stops Oma In 10th To Meet Walcott

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK, Jan. 13—(AP)—"I'll keep on fighting and I'll keep on winning and then maybe the people will give me full recognition as champion."

A puzzled and somewhat-bitter Ezzard Charles, heavyweight champion of the world, made the statement shortly after he had stopped veteran Lee Oma, of Buffalo, in 1.19 of the 10th round of their 15-round title bout in Madison Square Garden.

"Maybe I'll show 'em more the next time," said the sleek, poised Cincinnati Negro.

Walcott Next

The next time is going to be late February or early March against Jersey Joe Walcott in Detroit, Miami or St. Louis. All that is expected to be ironed out today at a conference at the International Boxing Club. Charles won his crown by whipping Jersey Joe in Chicago June 22, 1949.

Right now Charles is running ahead of Joe Louis' record time schedule. His defeat of the 34-year-old Oma was his sixth defence of the crown. That leaves Ezzy six down and 19 to go to tie the old Brown Bomber.

Five of his title defences were won by knockouts or technical knockouts, and his triumph over Oma was almost according to the script. He methodically wore down his playboy rival with searing body punches and Oma "ran out of gas" as predicted—Oma said so himself. It could be that Oma, arm-weary by the 10th, decided he was going to take no more punches than necessary.

Referee Steps In

Referee Ruby Goldstein halted the often-dullish bout with Oma still on his feet—he was never knocked down during the evening—but reeling around the ring from a barrage of punishing lefts and rights to the head. Oma was on the verge of a knockdown when Goldstein stepped in. Maybe Ruby was only a step ahead of Oma in calling it all off. Lee likes to keep his handsome face the way it is.

The odds were fully justified, although Oma put up a better exhibition than figured. Charles, who was outweighed 125 to 193, was a 6-to-1 favorite to win and a 1-to-2 choice to stop his foe.

Yet, despite the victory, Charles felt disturbed and disillusioned by the boos and catcalls that came from many of the 11,504 paying fans. The booing was provoked by low blows, punches that cost Charles the fifth and eighth rounds.

Want Killer

"I'm sorry the crowd didn't like the fight," said Ezzard as trainer Ray Arcel tended a slight cut over his left eye and a bruise under the same orb. "They want a bigger man, a man who is a killer. No matter how many times I win or how easily I win, I don't know whether the public will accept me.

"Maybe they will the next time. I'll show 'em. I felt so good in there. Never was sharper in my life. I could have gone ten more rounds. You see, I beat Nick Barone five weeks ago and I've been training since. I felt real good. Maybe it would be better if I don't feel so good the next time I fight.

"Oh well, Stephen Foster wrote some beautiful songs but nobody appreciated him until he was dead."

Oma was in good shape when he left the arena, stopping to shake hands with many well-wishers. He earned $9,456 as his share of the $54,185 gross and his $2,250 cut on the television-radio money.

The show was broadcast nationally and telecast.

An estimated audience of 25,000,000 heard or saw the bout via the airwaves.

First Period Burst Hastings Wins 7-0

KEENE, Jan. 13—(ENS)—Two fast goals in the first minute of play decided the Keene-Hastings game Friday night. Hastings went on to win 7-0 before a large Keene crowd.

The monotonous Hastings' scoring was broken in the rough period when Petticrew of Hastings attacked a spectator while going to the dressing room. For this offence he drew a match-misconduct penalty.

Hastings chalked up four goals in the first period and added another in the second as the hockey remained fairly clean. In a rough third session Hastings finished with two more.

Lineups:

Keene: Goal, E. Musgrave; defence, Brown, Thomson; centre, D. Musgrave; wings, Hayfield, Sallaby; alternates Kemp, Whalen, Stock, G. Sallaby, Manbeck, Davidson, Colby.

Hastings—goal, West; defence, Petticrew, T. Brown; centre, Oliver; wings, Crowley, Edwards; alternates, Greenley, West, Laver, Cobbledick, Thomas, Lockhart, Stevenson, Isaac.

Referees—Scriver and Shearer.

Summary:

First Period

Amateur Boss Defends Team On Europe Tour

TORONTO, Jan. 13 — (CP) — George S. Dudley, secretary-manager of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, today issued a statement in which he defended the CAHA's choice of Lethbridge Maple Leafs to represent Canada in the world championship hockey tournament.

The Leafs, who yesterday were defeated by a Swiss team for their fifth trouncing in seven European starts, have been criticized in some sport circles for ineffectiveness.

The statement in part:

Where Get Team?

"It is easy to talk about sending a stronger team, but no one has explained to the association where such a team can be obtained. Everyone knows that it is an utter impossibility to take a team from one of the major leagues or from one of the outstanding junior leagues in Canada as this would completely disrupt the important schedules in those leagues, and there are very few outstanding hockey players available outside of those organizations.

"When attempts were being made by me to reinforce the (RCAF) flying hockey team for the Olympic Tournament in 1948, appeals were made in all quarters, including the universities, for assistantce, but very little interest was taken . . . ."

"Another thing must be remembered in connection with the games which the Lethbridge club has played. It has not played against English, Scottish or European players but the clubs which it has met are composed of Canadian players and . . . probably all-star aggregations. The club now has gone to the continent and I am satisfied that there will be a different story. I have not had a chance to see the club, but responsible hockey men in Western Canada feel it is capable of upholding Canada's reputation.

Appreciated In Europe

"In any event, having had some considerable opportunity to meet the people who are most concerned with hockey in Europe, I can say that Canada's selection of the calibre of teams which it has been sending is greatly appreciated in Europe, where hockey people realize that the clubs which we are sending over are not composed of the top-notch players in Canada but are such clubs as will enable competition to be carried on in a sporting way. I do not think it will add greatly to Canada's reputation to send over clubs which will beat all competitors by lopsided scores."

Mr. Dudley said that every year when the Canadian hockey team begins to play hockey in Europe, violent criticisms break out in many quarters as to the kind of team which is representing Canada. But "very little is said by the critics about their achievements" when world championship takes place and the criticized team emerges the winner, as has happened on all occasions except two, 1936 and 1949.

Two Hockey Players Hurt In Local Games

Two Peterborough hockey players were injured in out-of-town games Friday night.

James Morrow, 17, of 267 Townsend St., was admitted to Civic Hospital at 11:30 Friday night with concussion and a bruised neck. He received these injuries when he was hit in the back of the neck by a hockey stick in the Junior B game in Lindsay.

Donald Batley, 25, of 283 Townsend St., was admitted to Civic Hospital this morning at 9:35 with a broken nose that he received playing with the St. Peter's team in Campbellford Friday night.

Havelock Takes Three From Marmora

HAVELOCK, Jan. 13 (ENS).—Havelock Juveniles took a 6 to 2 win over Marmora Juveniles at the Havelock arena on Friday night in the third game of the series and their third win.

The star performer of the evening was Bill Laing who scored five of the six goals for Havelock, one of which he got unassisted, and four with two assists each, going to Jim Chase and R. Pollock. The latter also got a goal unassisted. J. Hickey and T. Brooks were the scorers for the Marmora team, each getting a goal unassisted. There were two penalties in the game to T. Brooks of Marmora and G. Heath of Havelock. The first period ended with a score of 2 to 1 in favor of the locals, the second period ending with four for Havelock and two for the visitors. In the third period Havelock added two more goals to their count.

Marmora: Goal, P. Nicholson; players and alternates, W. Drummond, T. Parenok, J. Brownly, J. Hickey, T. Brooks, H. Clemmons, I. Lynch, R. Logan, M. Walker, J. O'Connor, R. Bell, B. McNally, T. Bonter, H. Sabine.

Havelock: Goal J. Southward; players and alternates, J. Laing, B. Pollock, B. Laing, J. Chase, R. Pollock, A. Patterson, M. McCabe J. Ruttan, J. Thompson, G. Heath

The Havelock Bantams lost to Warsaw Bantams by a score of 6 to 4 at Warsaw on Friday night.

Qmemee Boys

Teachers Gets $300

LONDON, Ont., Jan. 13 (CP)—Board of Education Friday at a special meeting granted a $300 across-the-board increase to its teachers, in addition to the yearly increment which, in the majority of cases, will be $200. The pay boost will amount to more than $150,000, about 1½ mills on the tax rate.

Atlantic Pact Men Study At Army College

OTTAWA, Jan. 13—(CP)—The 1951 course of the Canadian Army Staff College opens at Kingston Ont., Monday with a list of 52 students reading like a United Nations roster and including the first to come to Canada under the North Atlantic Treaty training plan.

Defence Minister Claxton, announcing details of the new, 10-month course Friday night, said it would include the college's first two North Atlantic treaty organization trainees, Capt. R. G. Chaigneau of France and Capt. Piero Santoro of Italy.

Canada has offered to train 150 pact nations army officers a year and already is training about 100 Air Force men for her pact allies.

The minister recently said Canada had offered to take more Air Force men for training.

In addition to 41 Canadian Army officers selected to take the staff college course at Kingston, there are two from the RCAF, two from the British army, two from the United States army and one each from the armies of Australia, India and Pakistan.

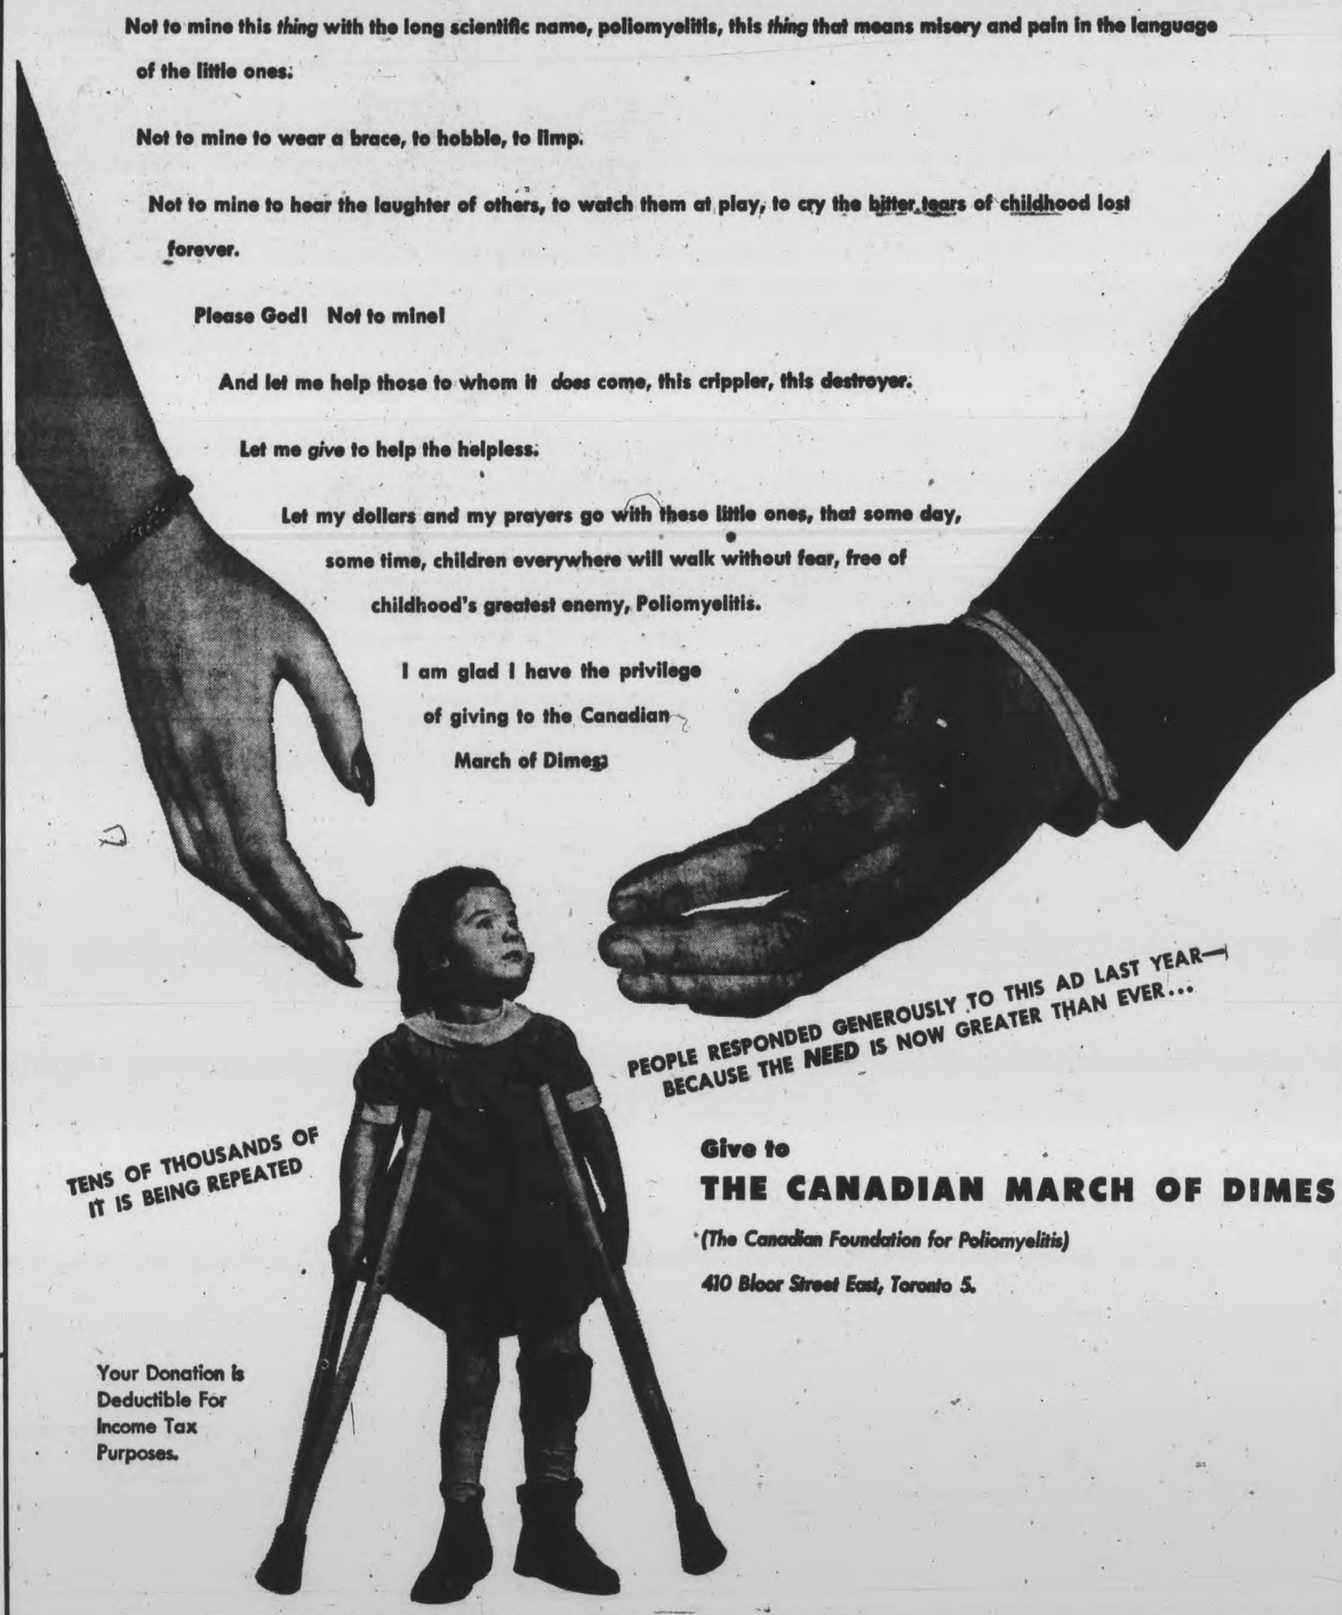
Please God! Not to Mine!

Not to mine, this horrible crippler.

Not to mine this thing with the long scientific name, poliomyelitis, this thing that means misery and pain in the language of the little ones.

Not to mine to wear a brace, to hobble, to limp.

Not to mine to hear the laughter of others, to watch them at play, to cry the bitter tears of childhood lost forever.



Please God! Not to mine!

And let me help those to whom it does come, this crippler, this destroyer.

Let me give to help the helpless.

Let my dollars and my prayers go with these little ones, that some day, some time, children everywhere will walk without fear, free of childhood's greatest enemy, Poliomyelitis.

Let Good Pictures Enhance Your Room With Beauty

With the stress and strain of the present time it is very important that we make the effort to surround ourselves as much as possible with the things which will tend to divert our minds from the upsetting matters of the day.

There are many things which will help to do this—pictures can, and for a comparatively small amount of money. There is no reason whatever who one should approach the idea of owning a painting as a luxury since pictures are both cultural and decorative and should be considered as much a part of the home as any other form of decoration, possibly more. Few forms of decoration give more quality and character to a room than do pictures and it is to be hoped that people will more consciously realize this fact and develop an appreciation for pictures in their homes.

Your Taste Decides

There is always the question of the kind of picture to use. For the most part use pictures you like and pictures that mean something to you. It is not at all necessary to have a painting by a great artist or an expensive picture in order to derive enjoyment from it or gain an effect. Many homes which are beautifully appointed have inexpensive pictures which have been well chosen and lend an atmosphere of elegance without great cost.

Pictures whether they are paintings, water colors, etchings, color reproductions or photographs, each and all, contribute and lend taste to a home. The whole point of having a picture on the wall is to decorate it and, therefore, the picture should occupy the position of importance. To be sure, certain paintings will not appear at their best advantage on certain backgrounds and one does have to be careful but it is always a great mistake deliberately to start out to find a picture that has a lot of red in it simply because the room in which it is to be hung happens to have red curtains.

Watch Those Frames

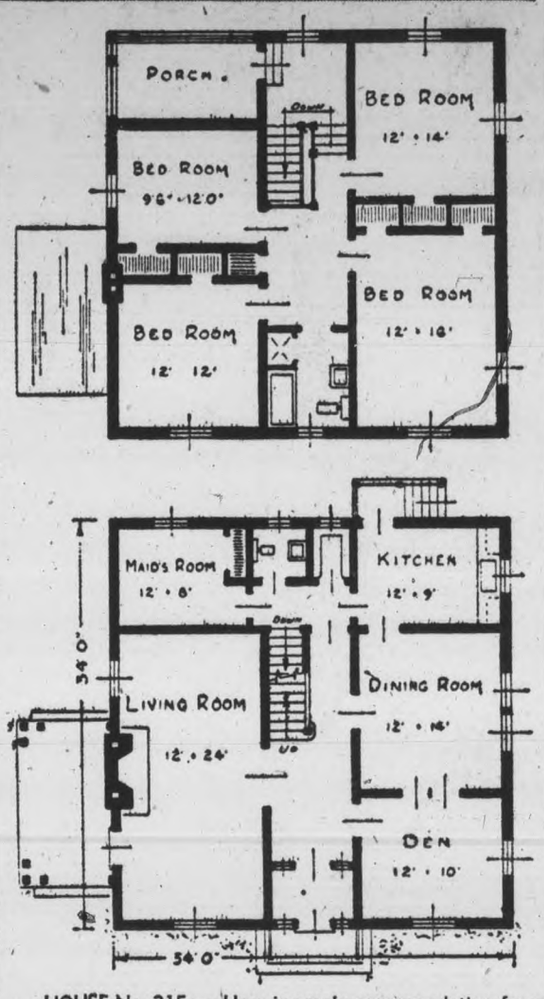
The same suggestion applies to framing. A frame should be chosen primarily for the picture. Do not choose a mahogany frame just because you have mahogany furniture in a particular room, and, thereby, spoil the effect which might be gained by using a lighter toned frame—complimentary contrasts are usually successful.

While there is no set rule to follow as to the type of picture to use in certain rooms, the following suggestions may prove helpful.

The style of picture actually makes no difference in the decorative scheme of the room. Old -or modern paintings can be used just as well in a Colonial house as a house of any other period.

Pictures of still life, flowers, fruit, etc., are probably better in a dining room or hall.

Scale Picture To Room



If you have a particular picture you like, hang it in whichever room you wish and do not be too concerned as to its appropriateness.

Do not try to find a picture that matches the predominating color of the room in which it is to be hung. Pictures that have perspective and depth naturally tend to make a room look larger since you look into the picture and it gives one the sense of seeing beyond the walls of the room.

The place and hanging of pictures is important, generally the obvious place for a picture is over a sofa, mantelpiece or any large piece of furniture.

A painting, placed in a key position in a room sets the whole character of the room.

Pictures may be hung in groups or twos or threes or as many as one can use in good proportions to the area.

HOUSE No. 315 — Here is ample accommodation for a good sized family. This square, Colonial style home is in buff brick. It was erected on a fine suburban street. Notice that there are two porches, the side porch and one over the maid's room. The latter could be used as a sewing room or a child's playroom for rainy days. Tiny but not to be missed is the breakfast nook next to the kitchen. Living room is large, with an open fireplace centred on the long outside wall and is dramatized by being opposite the entrance to the room! For working plans, write Home Building in Canada, 372 Bay St., Toronto.

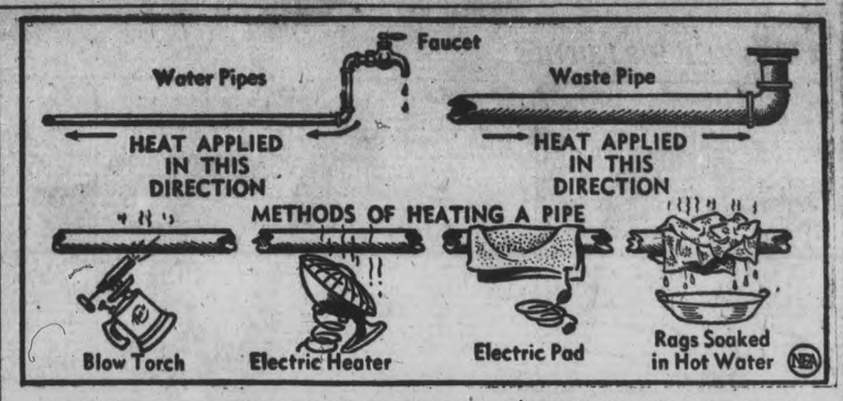
Church Women Buy Coal

GORE'S LANDING, Jan. 13—(ENS)—At the Tuesday business meeting of St. George's WA the members were asked for monthly contributions for the annual bazaar which is held each summer. The women decided to help the church by buying coal for the remainder of the winter.

Mrs. Melville Harris and Mrs. Lyle Wallace were chosen as a committee to meet with the women of the United Church to arrange a program for the World Day of Prayer, February 9. This special day will be celebrated this year in St. George's church.

The next meeting, January 25, will be at Mrs. Clare Harris' house for a quilting bee on one of two quilts given the WA by Mrs. Stanley Harris. Mrs. A. W. Smith offered to make three linen purificators for the Communion linen.

Mrs. O. MacIntosh read a chapter in the study book on the Moslem religion and various ceremonies in connection with the daily religious observances. Mrs. Karl Harris read an article on the advent of Christ.



After Mrs. A. W. Smith pronounced the benediction, a social hour was held.

An essay contest in conjunction with Health Week was announced today by the Peterborough branch of the Health League.

The contest is for public and separate school pupils, and eight prizes will be awarded—first and second for grades 7 and 8 and first and second for grades 5 and 6.

Health Week will be held early in February. Topic of the essay is "Health is a Blessing."

Here's how to keep pipes from freezing and how to thaw them when they do freeze up.

Pipe Freezing Is Common Hazard In Wintertime

By BOB SCHARFF

Fortunate indeed is the homeowner who never needs to worry about frozen water pipes. However, for those others, any pipes which are exposed to freezing temperatures should be covered, especially if located out of doors or in unheated spaces.

Smaller water pipes are more likely to freeze than larger waste or sewer pipes, since the latter carry water that has usually been warmed to some extent, and which flows off quickld, leaving the pipe empty.

For pipes located in an unheated basement, attic, garage, or out of doors where they are likely to freeze, it is well to incase them in rock wool or hair felt, in esbestos pipe covering or in cork.

In severe climates, it is advisable to apply two thicknesses of this insulation and to break or stagger the joints and seams in order to make the insulation tight. If exposed to the weather, insulation should be protected by wrapping it spirally with cotton fabric tape or strips of saturated felt, followed by two coats of asphalt-varnish.

When pipes are laid underground they must be buried deep enough to be protected from damage by heavy vehicles passing over them and to eliminate the possibility of freezing. In the extreme northern states a depth of 4 to 6 feet is required; in the central latitude states, pipes should be placed from 2½ to 3 feet in the ground, and in the southern states a depthof from 1½ to 2 feet is usually enough covering to protect them from freezing damages.

Should your water-supply pipes become frozen, they require prompt thawing out to avoid possible bursting. In the lead and soft copper pipes, a bulge in the pipe will generally disclose the location of the frozen area, while in other metal pipes, no such bulge will appear.

To melt the ice in the pipes some form of heat will be required. The heat may be applied to the exterior of a frozen pipe by direct flame or application of hot water. In thawing out water pipes, it is best to work toward the supply end, keeping a faucet open to indicate when the flow starts. When thawing out a waste or sewer pipe, it is best to start at the lower end and work upwards, to allow the water to flow off as the ice is melted.

Direct flame may be applied to frozen pipes with a gasoline blow torch, provided there is no danger of burning the adjoining woodwork. The flame should be played gradually along the pipe to spread the heat evenly.

A small electric reflector heater is a safe and excellent substitute for the blow torch. The radiant heat quickly warms the frozen pipe.

Hot applications on a frozen pipe do not produce as quick results as direct flame, but are much safer because they lessen the fire hazard and the possibility of bursting the pipe. The frozen pipe can either be wrapped with cloths saturated with boiling water or the boiling water can be poured directly over the pipe. In both cases, a receptacle should be placed below the pipe to catch the water.

Frozen traps, waste pipes, drains, rain spouts and sewer pipes may be opened by pouring boiling water into them through the drain opening, gutter opening or trap. If this is not successful, a can of lye or drainpipe cleaner dissolved in two gallons of cold water in a porcelain container should be carefully poured into the drain opening or trap. Do not use hot water with lye or cleaner and avoid splashing the solution on face,hands, or clothing.

Troops Gain 12 Miles In Sudden UN Offensive

WHAT ARE WE WAITING FOR? Skipper, the mascot of 421 (F) Red Indian Squadron, is shown in the cockpit of one of the squadron's Vampire jet fighters, all ready to go with the squadron on their scheduled move to England on Tuesday. Skipper is the only dog known to have flown in a jet fighter. He got his "jet time" in with his master, Flying Officer Fred Evans of St. John N.B., when he was a pup, but his career as a jet pilot came to an end when he outgrew the limited space of a fighter cockpit. Flying Officer Evans was a member of 421 (F) Squadron on the continent during World War Two and is a member of the Squadron aerobatic team that toured Canada last summer giving exhibitions of precision flying.

UN Waiting Answer To Peace Bid

Optimistic Peiping May Accept Latest Proposals

LAKE SUCCESS, Jan. 15—(AP)—United Nations diplomats paced the corridors today, waiting for Communist China's reply to their latest peace bid.

If previous experience is any criterion, their vigil promised to be long. The Communist Peiping regime twice kept the U.N. on tenderhooks for more than a week before it rejected two previous appeals.

But some were optimistic this time. The new offer, adopted by the 60-country political committee Saturday, gives the Chinese reds much the kind of a deal they have been demanding.

Previous resolutions only asked for a cease-fire in Korea. The new proposals offer the Communists, after fighting is halted, a political conference on Far Eastern questions including Formosa's future and Red China's demand for a U.N. seat.

Gets Careful Consideration

Diplomatic advices received in New Delhi from Peiping said that the Communists are carefully considering the new U.N. proposal and consider it an advance on anything yet put forward.

This information said Peiping's first reaction was that cease-fire negotiations should be part of the political talks, rather than a preliminary to them.

The new proposal was put forward by India's Sir Benegal N. Rau and supported by the Commonwealth countries. The U.S. also voted for it—primarily, delegate Warran R. Austin said, to maintain the united non-Communist front and to go on record as having made every possible move for peace in the Far East.

If the bid is spurned, the U.S. plans to press for drastic U. N. action against the Red Chinese. A majority of delegates here have said they then would support the U.S. move.

The United States State Department, however, already is under fire from its critics for having given even reluctant support to the latest peace plan. These critics echo Nationalist China's charges that the offer is a sell-out to the Reds.

If the proposed conference — with Britain, Russia, Communist China and the U.S. talking — comes about, observers predict an American political explosion.

Taken In Tow

SYDNEY, Australia, Jan. 15 — (AP) — The migrant ship Liguria, with 930 displaced persons aboard, has been taken in tow by the British freighter Chandpara after floundering two days in heavy seas some 500 miles northwest of Fremantle. The ships are expected to reach Fremantle Wednesday. The 7,475-ton, Panama-registered Liguria sent out distress calls Friday reporting engine trouble.

Defer Freight Rate Inquiry Until March 5

OTTAWA, Jan. 15 (CP)—The Board of Transport Commissioners today deferred until March 5 its general freight-rate inquiry after eight provinces had objected to going ahead with public hearings now.

The postponement was ordered after the eight provinces—all except Ontario and Quebec — had asked that the hearings be delayed until the report of the Royal Commission on Transportation had been received by the government.

Chief aim of the board's inquiry is to devise a plan of equalizing freight rates as between the different regions of Canada. The Canadian Pacific Railway had prepared suggestions for equalization to be presented today but they were withdrawn when the board decided to delay the hearings.

The prairie governments led the move to have the hearings put off, and they were joined by the Maritimes, Newfoundland and British Columbia.

Give Ultimatum

Wilson E. McLean of Toronto, acting for the prairie provinces, called for the postponment and indicated that, if the board went ahead with sittings now, those governments would not take part in the proceedings.

Mr. McLean said that, because of the possibility of imminent changes in railway legislation resulting from the report of the Royal Commission, the prairie governments feel "no useful purpose would be achieved by embarking now upon an extensive investigation carried on in accordance with....existing legislation."

The Royal Commission report, he said, "may well recommend important changes in the legislation with the result that the scope and approach to the general investigation will be materially altered."

He added:

"In our view, such an investigation will be much more effective if undertaken in the light of the recommendations of the Royal Commission and in the light of any legislative or other changes which may be made as the result of that report."

Truman Asks Tax Boost Of 16 Billion

Budget of $71 Billion Presented Congress To Cover US Defence

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15 — (AP)—President Truman today laid down a $71,594,000,000 spending budget for the United States government next year and declared sound policy requires that taxes be increased $16,456,000,000 to balance it.

"This is a budget for our national security in a period of grave danger," Truman told the new Congress, which will have full say on new taxes.

The huge expenditure Truman proposed for the fiscal year starting July 1—more than half of which would go to the military—figures out to about $471 for every one of the some 152,000,000 men, women and children in the U.S.

And if Truman has his way, just about that same amount will be collected from the average citizen although some of it, of course, will be in the form of hidden taxes.

In a sense Truman's bulky budget message was a more-controversial document than his "state of the union" address delivered last Monday.

Expect Repercussion

The fact that the budget proposed a slight increase in non-defence spending rather than the reduction many congressmen have been demanding seemed certain to arouse ire in some congressional quarters.

So did the fact that the message called for many of Truman's pet "fair deal" measures, such as the civil rights program and a major part of the Brannan farm plan.

In its broad aspects, the budget:

1. Estimated U.S. military service costs for the year starting July 1 at $41,421,000,000—58 per cent of the budget total. That is more than double the $20,427,000,000 Truman estimated would actually be spent in the current year. It counted on strength of active armed forces of nearly 3,500,000 by mid-1952, with "our troops supplied with the best weapons in the world."

Injured In Rush

ROME, Jan. 15 — (AP)— The stairs of a Rome building crashed today under the weight of several hundred girls who answered an advertisement for stenographers. More than 40 of them, some gravely injured, were taken to hospitals.

Stewardess Dies After Saving 10 Passengers

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 15 (AP) —A 24-year-old stewardess, only five months in flying service, died on duty Sunday after rescuing 10 passengers from the flaming wreckage of a National Airlines plane in which seven perished.

Mary Housley, five-foot-three, died a heroine in the fire-swept DC-4. The big four-engined plane skidded over a runway, crashed into a ditch and burned in landing at International Airport. Four other women and two babies lost their lives.

Miss Housley died with one of the victims— a four-months-old baby—in her arms. She was credited with leading to safety at least 10 of the 19 passengers who escaped with minor injuries.

Survivors of the crash told how the hostess opened the cabin door and cautioned them to "take it easy." Then she made repeated rescue trips into the plane until she was swallowed up by the flames.

The pilot, Howell Barwick, and the co-pilot Edward Zatarian, emerged uninjured and were whisked away by airline officials before they could tell their story. Civil aeronautics authorities later interrogated them, but nothing was disclosed of the questioning.

"The plane overshot the runway," said Col. J. Victor Dallin, chief of the Philadelphia Aeronautical Bureau. "Ice and snow on the ground probably contributed to the fact that the pilot did no have enough normal braking action. However, we are not sure of that."

Airport Guard Charles Rogers said he was making a tour of the airport in a car and that he had to apply his brakes, skidding off the road in order to avoid being struck by the plane. His car was covered with gasoline.

He said he was 100 feet from the plane when it skidded off the runway and crashed into a pair of concrete embedded floodlights.

Air Attack Mows Down Red Soldiers

US Army Staff Chief Pledges Troops Will Stay In Korea

TOKYO, Jan. 16—(Tuesday) —(AP)—American and Allied forces gained up to 12 miles Monday in a sudden offensive on the western Korean front south of Seoul.

Tank-infantry teams by nightfall had recaptured three towns—Osan, Kumyangpang and Chon.

The attack by an army that had been in retreat since late November came only a few hours after Gen. J. Lawton Collins said American forces "will certainly stay and fight" in Korea.

Collins warned, however, "I am not going to go into the future, but as of now we intend to stay and fight."

He explained on a visit to Korea that the Eighth Army withdrawal of recent weeks was the only possible manoeuvre for any army not large enough for its theatre and faced by overwhelming numbers.

Taking Care

The Eighth Army's sudden drive came shortly after Collins concluded that "we are not going to do anything to endanger it—it is our only army in the field."

Collins made his fighting statement during a visit to Korea.

A blazing morning strike by Fifth Air Force fighters and bombers paved the way for the attack.

Gen. Collins, U.S. Army Chief of Staff, said troops replacements will begin to flow into Korea in two or three months. He added at a press conference during his fourth visit to the Korean theatre:

One regular army division will be organized. National Guard units will be called into service. Some replacements for American troops already are going to the front.

Lash Suwon

Allied warplanes lashed at Suwon today with a blazing one-two punch. B-26 light bombers roared down on the airport city, 20 miles south of Seoul, shortly after daybreak, bombing and strafing enemy troops and buildings. Then the fighter-bombers swooped low, rocketing and machine-gunning the fleeing Reds.

Ban Construction Of Stores, Offices In US For Month

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15—(AP) —The government today banned the construction of new stores, restaurants, office and other commercial buildings until Feb. 15.

Thereafter, each private new commercial structure must be specifically authorized by the National Production Authority.

N.P.A. issued the order to save materials for the mobilization program.

Commercial building will be authorized, in general, only if it furthers the defence effort, is essential to public health, welfare or safety; or alleviates or prevents a hardship in a community.

The order applies to new construction "starts" and not to building already under way.

During the initial one-month freeze, N.P.A. said it will grant permission "only in emergency cases."

Come Under Ban

The types of construction regulated include banks, hotels, office and loft buildings, barber and beauty shops, garages, service stations, laundry and dry cleaning establishments, shoe repair and tailor shops, eating places, printing shops, motels and tourist camps.

Undertaking and cemetery buildings, community and neighborhood structures, facilities for the storage, distribution, sale or display of consumer goods, including all retail stores and shopping centres, are covered by the order.

The order was made effective as of midnight last Saturday.

The order was issued as an amendment to N.P.A.'s general construction order, under which builders are prohibited from erecting new night clubs, theatres, amusement parks and other amusement places.

Requirements Eased For RCAF GroundCrew

OTTAWA, Jan. 15 — (CP). — The RCAF announced today entrance requirements for men enlisting as ground crew "have been altered considerably" in an effort to solve one of the worst shortages facing the armed forces.

The new standards are virtually those which would apply in wartime.

The educational requirement is fixed at Grade Eight for all ground crew recruits, their age limits are being raised from 30 to 40 and aptitude and classification tests are being eased.

The shortage of ground crew is probably the most serious manpower obstacle confronting the RCAF's plan to triple both its operational and training activities this year.

Ground crew entrants now must be 17 or over, and must not have reached their 40th birthday. Parents' consent is required for those under 18.

Freezing Rain Halts Planes and Buses

TORONTO, Jan. 15 — (CP) — Freezing rain in southwestern Ontario Sunday night disrupted airline and bus schedules but the two major railways reported the bad weather had no effect on train arrivals or departures. Only one flight was reported out of Malton airport after 5 p.m., a flight to Sault Ste. Marie and the Lakehead. Bus lines reported delays of an hour because of bad spots on Highways at St. Catharines, Ingersoll, Paris and west of Kitchener.

$100,000 Fire Damages Cornwall Store and Apts.

CORNWALL, Jan. 15—(CP)—Fire caused an estimated $100,000 damage early today to the F. W. Woolworth Co. Ltd. store on Pitt Street in this Eastern Ontario city's main business section. Fifteen apartment dwellers fled from the building. None was injured. Firemen led by Chief Corey Moore brought the blaze under control within an hour and extinguished it in two hours. R. W. MacKay, store manager, said an immediate start will be made on repairs. He said he hopes to re-open the store before Easter.

Wakened By Smoke

The fire was discovered about 5:30 a.m., when tenants in the apartments above the store were awakened by heavy smoke and sounded an alarm.

Firemen said they believed the outbreak started in a freight chute in the basement at the rear of the two-storey building.

Damage to the main sales floor was caused chiefly by smoke and heat. The apartments suffered smoke damage. The building is owned by H. Yates and Company of Cornwall.

The smoke also caused considerable damage to the adjoining Fullerton drugstore.

The fire scene was a short distance north of the area in which a $1,000,000 fire swept several Cornwall business premises Dec. 24, 1947.

Ilse Koch Gets Life Sentence

AUGSBURG, Germany, Jan. 15 —(AP)—Ilse Koch was sentenced to life imprisonment today for causing the murder of Buchenwald concentration camp prisoners.

The "Red witch of Buchenwald," 44 years old, was convicted of crimes against Austrian and German prisoners of the Nazis. The widow of the camp's wartime Nazi commander was not in court to hear the verdict.

Mrs. Koch broke into a hysterical frenzy in her prison cell Sunday night. A court doctor testified she was in no condition to attend the session today and hear the sentence.

It was the second life imprisonment sentence for Mrs. Koch. The first, imposed by an American War Crimes Court after the war, was commuted to four years. She was convicted by the U.S. court for crimes against Allied personnel.

The German court, which spent seven weeks hearing shocking accusations against the woman, convicted her specifically of inciting the murder of one person, inciting the attempted murder of another and inciting serious injury of five others.

Engine Trouble Delays Plane

OTTAWA, Jan. 15 — (CP). — Prime Minister St. Laurent paid an informal visit to the Icelandic government today while the RCAF prepared to fly in a new part for his plane grounded at Keflavik Field by engine trouble on a flight home from Europe.

In a long-distance telephone conversation with Defence Minister Claxton the Prime Minister reported everything was "fine." He told how his four-motored DC-5—a modified North Star — had to return to Keflavik early this morning when trouble developed in a carburetor.

A new part is needed. Late this afternoon an RCAF North Star will take off from Dorval Airport, Montreal, to fly it to Keflavik.

Air Force officials, after morning of frantic signals with Keflavik Field, said the Prime Minister would come home either in his DC-5, or in the Air Force North Star if that can be refuelled and made ready for the turnaround flight quickly. There is also the possibility that a regular Trans-Canada Airline commercial flight from Britain might be diverted to Keflavik to pick up the Prime Minister and his party.

General Mark Clark Will Visit Ottawa

OTTAWA, Jan. 15—(CP)—Gen. Mark Clark, Chief of the United States Army field forces, will hold a press conference here during his four-day Canadian visit starting next Monday, it was announced today.

He will be greeted on arrival by military authorities and a Guard of Honor will be a guest of his old wartime colleague, Viscount Alexander, the Governor-General.

After conferences here with Defence Minister Claxton and other defence leaders, Gen. Clark will go to Kingston Wednesday to address students at the Army Staff College and cadets at Royal Military College.

He will spend the night at Vimy Barracks, Kingston. If flying weather permits, he will go on to Camp Borden, Thursday. If not, he will visit signals and engineer schools at Kingston.

He will return to the U.S. Friday from Ottawa.

May Make Atomic Bombs In Mass-Production Plan

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15 —(AP) — Atomic bombs may be going into something like mass production, President Truman hinted in his budget message to Congress today.

In a section covering the Atomic Energy Commission, Truman said that in the fiscal year beginning next July 1 extensive work will be carried on in development of new and improved weapons and in what he called:

"Industrial-type production of weapons of the latest approved design."

He did not elaborate his reference to turning out weapons in the manner industry produces other items. However, he commented that "the very substantial increasese appropriated for the Atomic Energy program in (this) fiscal year 1951 will provide fo renlargment of produuction capacity for atomic materials and weapons."

For the next fiscal year, Truman asked $1,277,000,0000 for the Commission, an increase of $459,000,000 over the estimated expenditure for this year.

He also proposed the Commission be given $870,000,000 to make contracts next year.

In his message today, Truman made no direct reference to the attempted production of a hydrogen bomb which scientists think may be as much as 1,000 tmes more powerful than the conventional-A-bomb.

But he did say increases in the new budget include items for "the investigation and development of new and improved weapons."

Slayer Of Eight Found In Mexico

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Jan. 15 (AP)—Sheriff Bert Strand said he was informed that badman Bill Cook, suspected slayer of eight, has been captured in Mexico.

The information received by the sheriff's office was that Cook was about 600 miles below the border in the desolate region of the lower California peninsula.

With him, the report said, were two California prospectors, Forrest Damron, 32, and James Burke, 33, missing for 10 days. They were said to be unharmed.

Cook, 24-year-old Joplin, Mo., ex-convict has been sought throughout the United States since the disappearance of an Illinois famliy of five in Oklahoma.

Mexican authorities at Tijuana, across the border from here, were advised that Cook and the two prospectors he was believed to have abducted in his desperate flight were being brought to Tijuana by airplane.

Four Children Perish In Bungalow Fire

RIVER HEBERT, N. S., Jan. 15 (CP).—The four children of an unemployed stable-hand died today when fire roared through their tiny bungalow home here.

Children of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Ripley, the dead are Dara, 4, David, 3; Donald, 2, and Hazel, 1.

The fire of unknown origin raced through the house while both parents were away. Mrs. Ripley said she had just gone across the street to get some milk.

Neighbors soon arrived to help fight the fire but were unable to rescue the little children.

Bull Leads Police Merry Highway Chase

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Jan. 15 (CP)—Operation bull was successfully carried out on Queen Elizabeth Way Saturday night when Provincial Constable J. G. Hepplestone, assisted by Humane Society officials, successfully lassoed a big animal which jumped off the back of a transport while en route to the Buffalo stockyards.

The bull caused $100 damage to a car driven by J. Bruce Elder, Toronto, and tossed the provincial policeman to the ground, before he was finally lassooed. The truck driver proceeded to Buffalo unaware of the loss of part of his load.

Boy Killed, 3 Injured PlayingWithDynamite

RIVERTON, Man., Jan. 15 (CP) —A 14-year-old boy was killed Sunday and three companions injured when a box of dynamite detonators exploded in their faces.

Bobo Bensley was killed when a jagged piece of copper penetrated his heart. Injured were Richard Leach, Christian Olson and Allan Sveinson, all about 14.

Riverton is 80 miles north of Winnipeg.

Dr. Frank Scribner of Gimli said the lads removed powder from some of the caps and touched a match to it. The flare exploded 100 other detonator caps in a box.

The injured were removed to Gimli hospital. Their condition was described as fair.

Boy Testifies Seeing Beating

HAMILTON, Jan. 15—(CP)— Thomas Burnham, 38, of Beamsville, went on trial today on a charge of murder in the taxi-office slaying of Mrs. Bertha Stone.

The woman was fatally beaten last October after what the Crown claims was a street-corner altercation with Burnham. She was found in a deserted cab-stand and died later in hospital.

Seven-year-old William (Billie) Turnbull testified that he watched through a window while a man "banged" the woman's head on the floor and against the walls of the taxi office.

The boy said he was playing with a chum, Johnny Archer, when they decided to go to the taxi stand to "see if they had any pop bottles."

He and his chum then went to tell a policeman what they had seen, the boy added.

22 Tanks Reinforce US Garrison In Berlin

BERLIN, Jan. 15—(Reuters) — Twenty-two of the United States' heaviest operational tanks — the 45-ton Pershing—arrived here today to strengthen the U.S. garrison in Berlin.

Meanwhile, the East German news agency ADN today reiterated charges that the western powers intend to turn West Berlin to a jumping-off base for aggression.

Reports from East Berlin this morning said that during the next two weeks the East German peotern Allies — are to double the beled semi-military by the western Alies — are to double the strength of their first-line troops around Berlin.

Today's American armed reinforcements brings the total Allied strength in West Berlin to an estimated 34 medium and heavy tanks, about 16 other light armored vehicles, and between 12,000 and 15,000 troops.

West Germany Rejects Parley

BONN , Germany, Jan. 15 — (Reutefs)— The West German Chancellor, Konrad Adenauer, today rejected East German Premier Otto Grotewohl's offer for talks on the unification of Germany.

Adenauer told a press conference his government would only start discussions "with those who are willing unconditionally to recognize and to guarantee a regime based on the recognition of law, a form of government which respects liberty, the protection of human rights and the maintenance of peace."

However his government would "leave nothing unattempted to re-establish German unity."

Canadians Get Taste of Oriental Warfare

Find New Zealand Neighbors Brutally Tortured By Guerrillas

By BILL BOSS

MIRYANG, Korea, Jan. 15 — (CP)—The slash and savagery of oriental warfare was driven home to Canadians here during the week-end.

In separate incidents, guerrillas ambushed vehicles from a New Zealand gunner regiment training near the 2nd Battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, killing two men and wounding two others.

The slain men had been brutally killed after being tortured. As the news spread through the Canadian camp, the Patricia's silent fury over this treatment of their Commonwealth comrades gave an added sense of purpose to their training.

Killed were a "Kiwi" battery sergeant-major and a driver whose jeep was ambushed after dark. The Canadians' standing orders insist that there always be at least two men in any vehicle leaving camp and that they all be off the roads before nightfall.

Badly Tortured

Both victims had their hands tied behind their backs before they were clubbed about the chest, bayonetted in the stomach and finally shot through the throat.

The sergeant-major was stripped naked and apparently dragged to a hilltop, where he was tortured.

Then, though bayonetted, he appears to have escaped to a nearby hamlet minus one hand, his captors having amputated it to remove a wristwatch. A trail of blood and stained doorways indicated houses at which he vainly knocked in search of shelter and marked his last crawl to a haystack where he died.

Responsible For Clearance

The Patricias already are responsible for guerrilla clearance in the area. Lt.-Col. J. M. (Big Jim) Stone of Edmonton and Salmon Arm, BC, their commanding officer, has Lieut. Peter McKenzie of Vancouver, an intelligence officer, trying to discover the band's whereabouts.

Lieut. McKenzie is a 'round-the-clock man. In daytime, he discharges his normal intelligence duties. At night, he simulates an enemy force commander—as he did last night when he led the battalion's scouts and snipers in attempts to infiltrate mountain positions occupied overnight by a company led by Maj. George Flint of Montreal. He threw in detonations, other noises and flares for good measure.

Britain Ready To Carry Heavier Burden

LONDON, Jan. 15 (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower gets first-hand assurance today that Britain—the Second World War's "outpost of freedom"—is prepared for heavier sacrifices to help shore up the West's defences.

During the day the supreme commander of Atlantic forces in Europe conferred with Britain's defence minister, Emanuel Shinwell. Leaders of Britain's defence armies stood by to tell Eisenhower the role their services would play in the program.

Among other things Eisenhower was scheduled to hear were still-unpublished details of Britain's biggest peacetime defence program.

It is expected to include an expansion of last September's £3,600,000,000 ($10,710,000,000) three-year defence estimate to between £4,,000,000,000 and £5,-000,000,000.

Other objectives are reported to be increased production of all kinds of armaments the drafting of 200,000 reserves for as much as three month' training and a renewed spurt towards 1951's goal of 10 regular and 12 territorial or reserve divisions.

Impose Heavy Burden

The new program will impose a heavy burden on a country already staggering under austerity. It is expected to be ready for parliamentary action by the second week in February.

Before leaving London for Lisbon tomorrow, Eisenhower will confer with Prime Minister Attlee and Foreign Secretary Bevin, and will attend a meeting of the Atlantic Pact's council of deputies.

He is expected to call the deputies' attention towards the apathy he encountered in his brief European tour preceding his arrival here. Possibly he will suggest a psychological campaign to combat Europe's diffidence in the face of danger.

Western Europe has made no secret of the fact that it looks without any great enthusiasm on the project of gearing to defence economies already severely strained by the Second World War.

RCN Destroyer Sioux Leaving For Home

OTTAWA, Jan. 15 (CP).—The destroyer Sioux is to leave for home today after six months under the United Nations banner in Korean waters, the Navy said today.

She is due in Esquimalt, B. C., early in February, the first of the three destroyers sent to Korea last summer to return home.

The destroyer Nootka is believed to have arrived in Japan Saturday (Canadian time) to relieve Sioux. In the absence of a message to the contrary, the Navy said it it presuming Nootka has arrived.

MORE ABOUT—
Air Attack

The Fifth Air Force said nearly 1,000 Communist troops were cut dawn as they fled northwards.

While Collins was taking a close look at the Korean war situation, Allied troops withdrew under heavy fire from Yongwol, on the east-central front. They had recaptured the fire-blackened town only Sunday.

Mounting Pressure

The withdrawal highlighted the mounting pressure against the U.S. 2nd division, which has been holding off powerful Red forces near Wonju, 30 miles northwest of Yongwol.

Also a grave threat to the 2nd Division's defence of roads fanning out into the heart of South Korea was a Communist force of possibly 30,000 far behind the front.

This Communist force was reported operating in the rugged mountain area 25 to 55 miles south of Wonju. It threatened to choke off the second division's withdrawal route back to the main body of Allied troops.

Pour In Reinforcements

Meanwhile, Communist reinforcements were reported pouring into the area north and west of Wonju. There they would be in position for a frontal assault against the stand-fast American, French and Dutch troops of the division or a flank sweep building up the cut-off threat.

Collins' promise that the U.S. would stay in Korea followed a series of high-level talks in Tokyo. These brought together Gen. MacArthur, Collins, Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, U.S. Air Force Chief of Staff; Lt.-Gen. Walter Bedell Smith, Chief of the U.S. central intelligence agency; and Maj.-Gen. Alexander R. Bolling, Army Chief of Intelligence.

High naval officers also sat in.

The talks touched off a flurry of speculation—even that Nationalist China's troops might be permitted to fight in Korea.

No announcement was made by the high command.

Collins, howeyer, in his Korean press conference, said:

"I am not going into the future, but as of now we intend to stay and fight in Korea."

Adds To Mystery

This modifying reference to the future added to the mystery of just what are the U.S. intentions.

Another puzzling development was the abrupt switch in the command of the 2nd division. Maj.-Gen. Clark Louis Ruffner was named to replace Maj.-Gen. Robert B. McClure. There was no explanation, but McClure is an expert on China and formerly was Deputy Chief of Staff to Chiang Kai-shek.

McClure had commanded the 2nd division only since Dec. 11, after it lost one-third of its men holding back Chinese forces while the Eighth Army withdrew from North Korea. The 2nd's Wonju campaign since then has been partly successful—the only allied campaign to click since MacArthur's November offensive backfired.

Larger Assignment?

Thus it was assumed that he was not removed for any reason except that of a larger assignment. This might be liaison or a command position with the Chinese Nationalists, who have an army of around 400,000 trained men in Formosa.

The threatened 2nd division, which has stood off for a week fierce Red attacks near Wonju, saw relatively little action Sunday.

The recapture of Yongwol was announced by the U.S. Eighth Army. Its commander, Lt.-Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, said Monday that he was confident the Eighth could hold off Chinese and North Korean hordes.

Yongwol is strategically important because strong Red Korean and guerrilla forces there had partially outflanked the 2nd division.

The allied troops were fighting a rugged battle in rough terrain and bitter weather to hold their hard-won positions 1½ miles south of Wonju, where seven vital roads meet.

A Quiet Day

The Eighth Army communique said 1,000 Red troops were killed Sunday—a day generally considered quiet.

Associated Press correspondent Don Huth reported three enemy battalions in the Yongwol sector. At least two Chinese regiments, Huth added, were three miles northwest of Wonju. This supported the belief that the Chinese Communists were using North Koreans as a ramrod and were saving their own forces for the final smash.

The Red Koreans filtering into the Sobaek mountains south of Wonju were reported spread over an area bounded by the towns of Hamchang, Yechon, Chungju, and Chechon, all vital transport centres.

Hamchang, the point farthest south of the U.S. 2nd division, is 55 miles south of Wonju and only 42 miles north of Waegwan, pivot of the old Pusan perimeter.

2. Proposed a $7,461,000,000 outlay of military and economic aid to friendly foreign countries — compared to $4,726,000,000 this year—to further the cause of "international security." The foreign program would take nearly 10 cents of each dollar spent.

3. Assigned $22,712,000,000 or 32 per cent of the total to the multiple other home-front costs of government, a $122,000,000 increase over this year. Truman said in this connection that "the requirements of national security are reflected in every major function of the budget."

To Expand Production

4. Included in this total proposed outlays of $1,100,000,000 to help expand production of such basic products as rubber, steel and aluminum; $1,277,000,000 to enlarge output of "atomic materials and weapons;" $276,000,000 to enforce the price-wage controls Truman says are inescapable; $24,000,000 for rent controls; $90,000,000 for business loans.

5. Tucked in quietly most all the major items which fly the Truman "fair deal" flag—the FEPC plan for equal job rights for negroes, federal aid to state schools, federal medical insurance with a first-year payroll tax totalling $275,000,000, housing for low-income groups, the main part of the Brannan farm program, the St. Lawrence Canadian-American power-seaway project. But Truman put them all on a "defence needs" footing.

6. Confronted Congress with an over-all budget $24,384,000,000 bigger than this year's and one within $27,209,000,000 of the Second World War peak.

7. Faced Americans with prospects of the stiffest taxes in history, draining more than 27 per cent of the national income into the federal chest. The $16,456,-000,000 tax-raise suggestion, details of which will come later, posed nearly a 30-per-cent increase in revenues. Only last year they were jacked up by $8,000,-000,000 or so a year to a record level.

8. Called on the country to "work longer and harder" and be prepared for prolonged sacrifices because "the present emergency may be of long durfation and we must be prepared for crises in the more-distant as well as in the immediate future."

Polish Scholar Interpreter In Toronto Court

TORONTO (CP)—Walter Uwaniuk, 35-year-old poet and scholar, is the new Polish interpreter in Toronto magistrate's courts.

A graduate in economics of the University of Warsaw, Uwaniuk speaks five languages, Polish, French, German, Ukranian and Russian. And he can make himself understood in Spanish if necessary.

His other interests range from collecting rare first editions to athletics, and he was once honored by a Polish literary review as that country's young "poet of the year."

He was born in the town of Chelm in Poland, and after graduation entered the diplomatic service studying tropical agriculture. He was at a research station in Argentina when the Second World War broke out.

Joined Army

He returned to Europe and joined the Free Polish forces in France. He participated in the abortive raid on Narvik in Norway in 1940 and later that year was travelling to Gibraltar when his boat was intercepted by Spanish patrols and he was interned.

Uwaniuk says he was released in 1943, rejoined Polish forces and participated in the Allied invasion of Europe. During occupation duty in Germany he won Corps Awards in the sprints and javelin throw.

He came to Canada in 1948 and lived for a while in Edmonton before coming here. He now contributes to the Polish Literary News published weekly in London, and to Culture, a Polish-language monthly printed in New York.

Montreal GE Workers Ask For New Union

MONTREAL, Jan. 15 (CP).—The aftermath of a Communist purge within the Canadian Congress of Labor will be brought before the Quebec Labor Relations Board Jan. 17 when a petition for certification will be presented by the Employees' Association of the General Electric Company, Ltd., Montreal works.

The 1,000 employees, represented by the Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of America, are said to have indicated they would rather belong to the EAGECL.

The UERMWA recently was ousted from the CCL and CIO because of alleged Communist leadership. Since then, the CCL has morally supported the TAGECL although it is not one of its affiliated bodies.

Truman Stresses Seaway Urgency

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15 (AP) —President Truman today said the defence program was created "a new and special urgency" for construction of the St. Lawrence seaway and power project.

Construction of the joint Canadian-American project, he told the Congress in his budget message, should be started "at the earliest possible date."

"I urge the Congress to authorize this program without delay."

In line with this recommendation, which not only reiterated but emphasized his many previous statements in behalf of the long-controversial project, Truman proposed that $20,000,000 be appropriated for use in the year starting July 1 to initiate construction.

Industrials Declined Steadily On Exchange

TORONTO, Jan. 15—(CP)—Industrials declined steadily as the session progressed on the Toronto Stock Exchange today.

Losses ranged to more than a point with a wide list of issues lower. Steels and papers lost the most with a solid array of declines.

Golds eased slightly from earlier strong gains. Senior producers remained firm with fractional advances while junior producers turned mixed with gains and losses limited to pennies.

Base Metals were irregular. Consolidated Smelters, East Sullivan and Quemont posed small gains while Sherritt Gordon, Steep Rock, Golden Manitou and Falconbridge dipped fractions.

Western oils drifted lower with losses up to 25 cents. Home Oil, Okalta and Anglo-Canadian paced the group downward.

Five Die In Air Crash

CHICAGO, Jan. 15—(AP) — A B-26 Superfort bomber crashed northwest of Chicago early today, killing its five crew members. The crew of three officers and two enlisted men were members of the Illinois Air National Guard based at nearby O'Hare Field.

FRECKLES AND HIS FRIENDS —By Merrill Blosser

Pats Forbidden To Use Hoods, Can't Hear Noise

By BILL BOSS

MIRYANG, Korea, Jan. 14 — (CP)—Members of the Canadian UN force today discontinued using the hoods of their fur-lined army parkas while on duty.

The hoods prevented sentries, both in camp and while on manoeuvres, from hearing properly and also prevented full concealment, said Lt.-Col. J. M. Stone of Edmonton and Salmon Arm, B.C., commander of the 2nd Battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry.

The 1,000 members of the battalion have been training in this mountainous campsite for more than two weeks since their arrival in Korea. The area, near Pusan, is about 150 air miles from the fighting lines.

Wearing the hood while on duty with the battalion henceforth will be punished by the offender losing his parka for a week for the first offense and for two weeks for the second.

Sentries Deaf

The order was given after complaints that sentries have been unable to hear noises and commands while in camp. In the field Col. Stone several times surprised platoons supposedly on the alert in slit trenches. They failed to hear him scrambling up rocky cliff faces in the dark to infiltrate their positions.

"It's in your own interest," Col. Stone told his troops. "We are trying to teach you to fight and remain alive. Doubtless your positions would hold if infiltrated, but equally doubtless some would be killed unnecessarily if the enemy's approach is unheard."

From the point of view of concealment the white fur trimming doesn't blend with the Korean countryside, making its wearer look like a white bunny.

With the hood rolled back the Canucks clad in the parka and wind pants blend perfectly with the countryside whether standing or in slit trenches.

The hillside on which a company under Maj. Vince Lilley of Hamilton practiced defensive tactics didn't betray the presence of a single man when the hoods were rolled.

When the signal ending the exercise was fired, the hillside came to life. Seemingly from nowhere the troops appeared—from behind rocks, trees and terrace ledges.

Ask To Provide $1,000 For Site

LAKEFIELD, Jan. 15 (ENS)—The village council met with Reeve William C. Grant presiding and present were Councillors J. L. Fraser, K. Jakins, J. O. Kingdon and K. Morris. L. Withers intimated that he was satisfied with the present sanitary and garbage contract, but asked the council to consider the entire cost of haulage if the new dump were located too far from the village limits.

E. H. Northey, member of the Lakefield and District High School Board asked the village to make available $1,000 to complete the purchase of the new school site, this $1,000 to be added to the debentures to be raised for the building and equipment. The council decided that the school board should submit a written request for the $1,000 and also send a copy of the motion as passed at the school board meeting.

It was moved by Councillors K. Morris and K. Jakins that L. Withers be given the sanitary and garbage collection for 1951.

It was moved by Councillors K. Jakins and J. L. Fraser that the village purchase 200 ft. of 2½ inch hose; 1 leader line connection with gate and 1 10 lbs carbon dioxide fire extinguisher.

Councillor K. Jakins and one other councillor (whoever is able to go) was authorized to go to Toronto to purchase $300 of furniture for the council chamber.

C. J. Davis and Mrs. W. H. Fife were appointed to the library board to fill the vacancies left by Dr. Reg. Campbell who is now on the public school board and Mrs. W. Whetung who resigned.

John G. Bell has been appointed member of the Lakefield District High School Board to replace Allan Clarke who resigned.

Canadian Hurls Challenge For Tug Race

AMHERSTBURG, Ont., Jan. 15 (CP).—A Canadian commodore challenged an American admiral Sunday to a tugboat race on the Detroit River.

Capt. J. Earl McQueen, retired commodore of the Royal Canadian Navy, flung the gauntlet to Edmund J. Moran, a New York towing company magnate, who served as a rear-admiral on General Eisenhower's staff during the Second World War.

What he wanted, the Canadian tug man said, was "a real he-man tugboat race, by boats that work every day for a living."

There was such a race on the Detroit River last summer and McQueen chugged to victory with an 80-foot Diesel named Atomic. Moran didn't enter a tug in that race, but he said soon after that he'd bring a boat here for the next one.

McQueen decided not to wait for Moran's formal challenge. So the defending champion sent one out himself.

"We'll lick anything that enters, American or Canadian," he said.

The 210-pound McQueen served during the last war as director of harbor defense for both coasts of Canada and Newfoundland. Since then he's operated four diesel tugs based on the Lake Erie side of the Detroit river.

The big race is scheduled to be held May 19, sponsored by the International Tugboat Racing Association.

2 Women Appointed To Attend WMS Meet

SPRINGVILLE, Jan. 15 (ENS) Springville WMS met at the home of Mrs. Staples for the January meeting. Twenty ladies answered the roll call.

The American 'Defeat'

The U.N. forces in Korea are chiefly American; therefore it is chiefly the Americans who are retreating, who have, as some say, been defeated. Reasons are now being advanced for defeat. For instance, the London Daily Mail's chief war correspondent in Korea advanced these reasons for the American reverses in the peninsula:

1. Lack of an efficient intelligence service.
2. The wrong kind of equipment.
3. Insufficient training.
4. Slack discipline.
5. An adversary accustomed to difficult terrain and climate and able to live off the land.
6. Local population were either compelled or they consented to provide cover for the enemy.

* * *

The war correspondent overlooks the chief reason for the 'defeat': politics. The Americans were undoubtedly beaten back at the frontier of Manchuria by superior Chinese forces for many of the reasons which the correspondent gives, but they are not being driven out of Korea for these reasons.

* * *

It is nonsensical to believe that the forces of the great U.S.A. with its superiority in the air, in bombing facilities, in ships, and in war material could have been driven out of Korea by the present Chinese forces or by any Chinese forces now massing in Korea or Manchuria. Their beachhead stand at Hungnam proved it. They could have held that beachhead indefinitely, ringed by a wall of fire and roofed by bombing planes. If the Americans had wanted to go all-out in Korea, and send over by air tens of thousands of additional troops, they could have held.

* * *

The point is that the withdrawal now is dictated by political factors and by world-wide strategical considerations. The so-called "defeat" in Korea is a misnomer. The American forces were caught off balance and defeated in the north, but they have not been defeated by the Chinese throughout Korea. International politics and strategic elements in that international scene have defeated the Americans and forces of U.N. —not the Chinese.

Democratic Processes Withheld From 800,000 Americans

It seems strange that citizens of the capital of a great democracy should be fighting for home rule, and that it should be withheld from them by the legislative body of that democracy. Yet that is exactly the situation in Washington today, and has been for many years past. The United States capital's new "City Council" sat for the first time a little over a week ago; it is, of course, the 82nd Congress, for Congress governs the entire District of Columbia.

Washington's 800,000 citizens are completely disfranchised. Their municipal affairs are in the hands of a Congress in which they are not represented. Municipal legislation is signed and made legal by a President in whose selection they had no part. There is a good deal of active resentment in Washington because of this situation, and a determined campaign for home rule is being carried on.

There had been hope that the 81st Congress would pass a bill granting home rule to Washington, when it received practically unanimous approval in the House of Representatives. The twenty-one day rule to force a House vote on legislation bottled up in committee apparently did not apply to the District Committee, and the members of that committee were hostile. They smothered the bill for the entire session, and an attempt to secure a discharge petition fell short by a few votes. The 82nd Congress will now be called upon to deal with the problem.

It is difficult to understand why Congressmen should be opposed to granting home rule to Washington. Control by Congress involves assumption by that body of a number of petty tasks which can only be regarded as nuisances, and which could be done more satisfactorily by a duly elected City Council. It is an odd spectacle when the Congress of the United States takes time out from consideration of grave national and international issues to deliberate on such matters as bills to permit the killing of starlings, to regulate the keeping and running of goats in the District, to regulate weed removal and the number of taxicabs. The general sentiment in Washington was probably well expressed by Columnist Harry N. Stull, when he declared that the whole thing is so ridiculous as to require no further comment.

The Wretched Koreans

In both north and south Korea towns have been reduced to ruins, crops and stores of food wiped out, factories destroyed, and the means of communication disrupted. It is the usual result of war. Apart from these is the human misery. Hundreds of thousands of Koreans of both the north and the south are homeless, and hundreds of thousands of refugees are fleeing hopelessly, their miserable possessions on their backs. They are dying like flies.

The Chinese radio is professing affection and sympathy for the Koreans; in fact, making propaganda capital out of their plight. It does not seem to occur to them that a very practical way of reducing the suffering of the Koreans would be to co-operate with the U.N. in bringing about a cease-fire.

Misery because of war is not a new thing to the Koreans. Even though Korea did not take part in the last war, and war's guns and bombs did not reach the peninsula, Korea suffered; from the Japanese masters who both pillaged and neglected the land, and after August, 1945, from Russian dismantling and occupation.

The worst damage during the war was done by the Japanese in North Korea, the industrial area. Mines were flooded, iron and steel plants ruined by the simple process of letting the fires die out, and factories were wrecked. This was carried out by the Japanese towards the end of the war, to prevent the industrial and commercial utilities from falling into Russian hands. When Russians came in to occupy north Korea they plundered mercilessly, removing machinery and goods. They did this even though they were intending to, and did, set up a communist puppet state there. In this regard, it may be remembered that political sympathy for the Chinese Communists did not stop the Russians from plundering Manchuria.

The political result of present and past destruction in Korea has been to influence the Koreans against the Americans, who in the last months have been bombing and shelling the land and the people and who are now supporting the Japanese who during the late war were the masters of Korea, and in 1944-45 pillaged it. It should also prejudice Koreans against Russians, but the Russians have stayed much in the background of destruction, and even minimize the looting they carried out in the north in 1945 and 1946.

South Korea suffered more from the division of the whole country along the 38th parallel than from earlier Japanese sabotage, by cutting off the flow of power and manufactured produce from the North. The division into two segments by the 38th parallel was, the West believes, forced on Korea by the Russians. But not all Koreans are convinced of this. However, the Southerns should know that it was Russia which in May 1948 severed the electrical power from the north. The American attempt to remedy the situation by introducing new generators has not compensated for the loss of power from the North. The south this winter needs 220,000 kilowatts but probably has less than 60,000. The foxy communists can show that even in this one matter, control of the whole country by them will improve the lot of the people.

Why Not Quick Freeze Christmas Trees?

On Wednesday last Peterborough collected all its old Christmas trees in one city-wide swoop of sanitation department trucks. Some 12,000 trees adorned Peterborough homes during the Christmas season. Now, these trees at a minimum average of a dollar each cost the families $12,000. That is not the end of the story. To dispose of them is costing the ratepayers a minimum of $350—three cents a tree. Next year the story will be the same: twelve to fifteen thousand dollars spent on buying trees, another $350-$400 to take them to the incinerator there to be burned. That process is known as conspicuous waste. It's pretty hard on wood-lots, too, for in this district most of our Christmas trees are not got from Christmas tree plantations as such, but from nooks and crannies in meadows, ranches and farm lots.

Science and commerce in this brave new world should be able to devise less costly ways of getting and getting rid of Christmas trees. True, there are plastic and glass ornamental ones for the table, but few spruce-smelling Ontarians are content with these when the real green thing can be had for a dollar or two. Why not quick-freeze Christmas trees? Take 'em down after a day or two of festivities, freeze 'em into staying green, store 'em, and trot 'em out again each December 24th.

We foresee that such a method would be economical and have snob value. Fifty or a hundred years from now the family would get their tree—by that time a real family tree—out of storage, set it up, and say smugly to all Yuletide visitors: "Have you seen our tree? It's the one grandfather had when as a toddler I spent my first Christmas under his roof. It was cut north of Buckhorn, I believe . . . We inherited it, along with grandmama's pearls. Real heirloom".

NOTE AND COMMENT

It is suggested in a letter to a Toronto paper that we all take one minute each day to hate the Russians. During the First Great War the Germans worked up a similar scheme for hating the Allies, and look what happened to them. All hate can do is give you ulcers.

Musical Notes

By PETER PIPER

THERE is no gainsaying the fact that musical terminology is in a frightful mess. The scientist, accustomed to having all his terms more or less exactly defined, holds up his hands in horror at the chaos that has been created by the music-makers of all ages. Even the commonest terms, such as bar, part, voice, and so on, have so many different meanings, and this often leads to misunderstanding. The symphony obstinately refuses to be defined. In the early eighteenth century the term was applied to a short instrumental movement, usually in an opera or oratorio. Later on it assumed the meaning that it usually has nowadays, though many symphonies are thinly disguised symphonic poems. Even the convention that a symphony was a purely instrumental work was broken by Beethoven in his Choral Symphony, and later on by other writers. The concerto is a work for one or more solo instruments with orchestra. What, then, of Bach's Italian Concerto, for harpsichord solo? Even the word Requiem, applied normally to a setting of the Roman Mass for the Dead, was changed by Brahms to mean a setting of passages from the Bible specially selected by the composer. Delius' "Mass of Life" is a setting of extracts from "Thus Spake Zarathustra" by the anti-Christian Nietzsche; surely that was carrying things a little too far!

✧ ✧ ✧

INDICATIONS of speed are in a muddle too. Allegro is commonly held to mean fairly fast, while Andante is on the slow side. We come up against an apparent contradiction in the chorus "For unto us a Child is Born", which is marked by Handel Allegro. Here Handel uses the terms in their original Italian meaning. Andate in Italian means "going", i.e., at a walking pace, while Allegro simply means "cheerful", and is not necessarily a guide as to speed. As for Andantino, it originally meant a slower pace than Andante, but ever since the classical period it has meant a faster tempo. As for ornaments, scholars are still wrangling over them, the truth being that at no time were they standardized. And yet somehow or other musicians have "muddled through", and it is very unlikely, now that most of the damage has been already done, that they will decide to tidy things up; in fact the cure would be even worse than the disease.

✧ ✧ ✧

DURING the past twenty or thirty years the standard of technical virtuosity amongst professional performers has risen to a point never attained before. This is probably due to improved methods of training and to the fact that each generation builds on the experience of the past. Pianists in particular show an extremely high level of dexterity: feats that only a Liszt or a Rubinstein could accomplish in the nineteenth century are now a commonplace. Modern fingerings, aimed at cutting down hand shifts to the minimum, have smoothed out many an awkward passage in the standard works. The only branch of performing in which there has been no significant advance has been in vocal technique. In fact there is evidence that there has actually been a falling off in sheer vocal agility, to judge from the cadenzas of Agujari, Patti, and so on. Modern audiences are more interested in beauty of vocal tone and expressive quality, things that no instrument can hope to rival; whereas the cleverest vocal gymnastics are easily excelled by most modern instruments. There is still a public for vocal fireworks, but the voice is so easily outdone in this sort of thing by instruments that the glamour has largely gone.

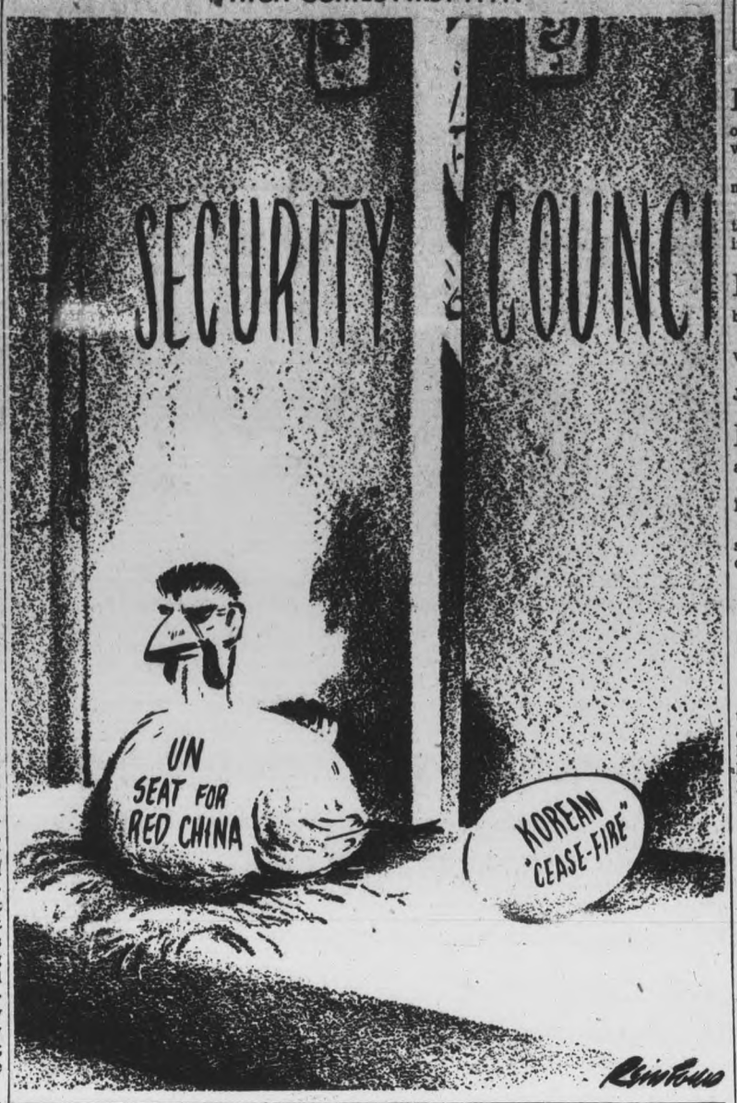
✧ ✧ ✧

I MUST confess that I have a soft spot in my heart for obsolete musical instruments. One of the most picturesque-looking of these was the Chinese Pavilion, sometimes called the Turkish Crescent or Jingling Johnny. It consisted of a pole with crossbars on which were hung little bells. The whole was surmounted by an ornamental pavilion or hat and a crescent. It was used in military bands in the eighteenth century and presumably came from the music of the Turkish janissaries, which attained such a vogue in those days, as witnessed by Beethoven's March from "The Ruins of Athens" and Mozart's "Rondo alla Turca", which are essays in that genre. The tambourine is the nearest thing we have to it in the modern orchestra. The harpsichord and clavichord have been revived in recent years, and they are actually being manufactured on a small scale at very reasonable prices. The old square piano, as used by Beethoven, Mozart, Haydn and others, has been completely superseded by the modern iron frame piano. This is a pity, for it has a charm of its own, and certain passages, notably glissandi in sixths and octaves, which are to be found in that piano literature of this period, are very effective on the square piano owing to its light and shallow action. These passages are seldom successful on a modern piano, and it is customary to fake them in some way or other.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE serpent is an instrument much used in the minstrels' galleries of churches in the eighteenth century in England which fell into disuse. This curiosity was shaped like a snake and made of wood, but was blown like a horn and had finger-holes, a sort of duck-billed platypus of the musical world. The great drawback was that the finger-holes were rather far apart and had to be made too small for a good tone. An attempt to overcome this disadvantage was made by reshaping it to resemble a bassoon. This was the Russian Bassoon, about which Forsyth comments caustically in his monumental Treatise on Orchestration. More successful was the Ophicleide, which had keys for the holes. Mendelssohn writes effectively for it in his Overture to A Midsummer Night's Dream, but nowadays the part is taken by a trombone. It might be worthwhile to revive the idea of keyed brass instruments. Their distinctive tone might well attract composers in search of novel effects. This incidentally brings me back to my first point about the inexact terminology of music. The instruments of the serpent family were as often as not made of wood, and yet they are classed as brass instruments because of their mouthpieces. On the other hand the saxophone, which is a single-reed instrument like a clarinet is classed as wood-wind. Flutes and other "woodwind" instruments have been made of silver, ebonite, and many other substances. Yes, it is a muddle!

JUST A FORMALITY



The young man who had been calling frequently at last went to see Mabel's father.

"It's a mere formality, I know," he began, "but we thought it would be pleasing to you if it were observed in the usual way."

"And may I inquire," the father asked, "who suggested that asking my consent to Mabel's marriage was a mere formality?"

"Mabel's mother."

Letter To The Editor

APPEAL TO PRESERVE THE COUNTY FOREST

Sir: Your editorial of the sixth instant "More Forest Cover", seems timely and should be of interest to the county council and every ratepayer of the county.

Special attention should be given because it referred to this area of which our county forest is a part, saying that from 70 to 90 per cent. of the country between North Bay and Kingston should be of forest cover.

Advocates of reforestation and conservation in the past have endeavoured to persuade the public of this necessity. In late years we have seen the necessity of conservation of forest cover in the Gananaska watershed and the floods on the Thames in Haldimand county as well as so many other streams and rivers that have flooded in the spring and dried up in the summer.

Peterborough county council for many years appointed committees to make a study of this matter and in 1938 were successful in securing three thousand acres from the Department of Lands and Forests at a nominal cost of one dollar an acre. This was not altogether a reforestation project, but conservation, as most of it was a natural growth. I believe that approximately two thousand acres more have been purchased and some planting has been done.

Now, Sir, the thing many of us cannot understand is, why the county finds itself in such a difficult financial condition that it cannot continue this important work without sacrificing even a part of this county forest.

I have always been interested in this undertaking for several reasons:

1. Because it would be one area the public could control and keep from being a barren land like so many others in Ontario.
2. It would help to hold the moisture to feed the Ouse River that rises there and feeds the springs in Asphodel and Dummer and could be made a beauty spot along its course through the village of Norwood.
3. A natural ground and home for deer, partridge and other game and the Department of Lands and Forests have planted thousands of trout in the three branches or spring creeks that feed the Ouse River.
4. Last but not least, is the heritage we would pass on to those who in years to come would have something to point to with pride and should be a revenue producing forest.

The decision to go ahead with lumbering was made in the dying days of the county council of 1950. Some members had been defeated at the polls and some had a narrow escape or retired. Surely this matter will be reconsidered by the new council and if you need a couple of thousand dollars more—we are getting used to providing tens of thousands for things of no more importance.

I appeal to members of the council from other townships to act in the interest of the whole county and let us keep what we have for those who come after us. I believe that in years to come those who come after will bless you instead of condemning.

The whites took this country from the Indian. Why? We in our day should do our part in proving it was for the best.

What is your answer?

Thanking you,

E. N. McDONALD.

Moose Can Be Tamed

(Saint John Telegraph-Journal)

The wonder of it is, if moose are easily converted from wild animals into farm livestock, that this hasn't been done on a wide scale before, as the Lapps and Finns did with reindeer.

New Brunswick old-timers do recall that there were several domesticated and harnessed moose in these parts back in the last century—but they were regarded more as freaks than as forerunners of a trend.

A Penobsquis man had a tame moose that ambled along placidly, hauling his carriage, and there are stories of a moose-drawn sleigh that outraced horse sleighs in a race from Saint John to Fredericton on the river ice.

An Amherst man had the same success in pitting his moose against horses in harness races on the ice of the Tantramar Marsh country.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

God that made the world and all things therein, seeing that he is Lord of heaven and earth, dwelleth not in temples made with hands; neither is worshipped with men's hands as though he needed any thing, seeing he giveth to all life, and breath, and all things. (Acts 17: 24, 25.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Lord, thou hast been our dwelling place in all generations. Before the mountains were brought forth, or ever thou hadst formed the earth and the world, even from everlasting to everlasting, thou art God. (Ps. 90: 1, 2.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Thou visitest the earth, and waterest it: thou greatly enrichest it with the river of God, which is full of water. . . . Thou crownest the year with thy goodness; and thy paths drop fatness. (Ps. 65: 9, 11.)

✧ ✧ ✧

O bless our God, ye people, and make the voice of his praise to be heard: which holdeth our soul in life, and suffered not our feet to be moved. (Ps. 66: 8, 9.)
